

Troubled Aspect. London, Sept. 21.—The uneasiness and uncertainty of the European aspect, it is felt, is much aggravated by the abandonment of the proposed meeting of the Czar and the Emperor William at Stettin. Of course, it is yet possible that they may confer at Turne Munde, as originally proposed, but the falling Bourse of Berlin and the tone of the Cologne Gazette discredit the probability of such a meeting. The triple alliance is now openly dead, and the Kalonky and Bismarck meeting emphasizes its demise. The two chancellors have substituted Italy for Russia, and British military officers who know the perfection of the Italian army, regard that power as no mean ally. But Russia is now playing a hand entirely her own. The Czar who manages his own foreign policy, evidently wants to keep free from all entangling alliances. Private letters from Berlin declare the existence of almost feverish anxiety in high places to be ready to strike sharp and strong against any further combination between Russia and France and to secure Italy as an ally for the defence of Austrian territory against Russian Aggressions. It is believed that the English foreign office is already committed to that responsibility but this is not generally accepted.

Myrtle Point. Ed. HERALD:—Edward Roberts, a logger of Bear creek, lectured at this place last evening on the labor question to a very attentive audience. His arguments were very forcible and were accompanied with an earnestness that is bound to carry conviction. This question has not interested our community much before, from the fact, we are all farmers; but Mr. Roberts has created an interest and set people to thinking, and it is hoped by many that he will visit us again, and then the people will be better prepared to receive him.

Two weeks more will wind up the threshing in this vicinity. Grain is turning out well, and has escaped the rust, so common the last few years.

In one more week our hotel will change hands. Mr. and Mrs. Major will take charge. Mr. and Mrs. Giles have made this house a home and comfort for the weary traveler, and their retiring will be felt; but we are glad to note that good hands will take their places. Judge Livero.

Myrtle Point, September 25, 87.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Congressman Wilkins, of Ohio, said today that he believed the President will call an extra session of Congress to avert the impending financial panic. His reasons are as follows: "Money is scarce. The brokers can borrow money only on call. They want it on time and they cannot get it. All the treasury can do in the way of redeeming and buying bonds and anticipating the payment of interest will not be sufficient to relieve the market, and the legality of the treasury's action in buying bonds is questionable. If Congress is not called in special session there will be a waste of time, for during the first month or six weeks nothing will be done. But if the President calls an extra session to meet in November for the purpose of reducing the surplus, the members will come to Washington with the urgency of that subject on their minds and there will be immediate action."

Kilbride Elected to Parliament. Dublin, Sept. 21.—Kilbride, who accompanied Wm. O'Brien to Canada, was today elected without opposition to represent South Kerry in the House of Commons. Kilbride was one of the Marquis of Lansdowne's principal tenants, paying $3,800 per annum for a farm valued by government appraisers at $2,100. The men who executed the eviction order broke into Kilbride's house through the doors and windows and threw the furniture out.

[Gold Beach Gazette.] The steamer Ferndale carried a cargo of railroad ties from Port Orford Friday last. The roads from the vicinity of Port Orford to the landing are alive with teams, hauling railroad ties, matchwood, hewn logs and other timber to the wharf for shipment. The new addition to the wharf is now out some 150 feet and still building. Altogether it looks as though that boom had drifted down there from Bandon. Let us hope it has come to stay. The fact is forcing itself upon the people that railroad ties are legal tender at Port Orford, and so when they must come in there for supplies they may as well bring a load of ties to help pay for them.

Sixes river is destined to be the Eldorado of Curry. New discoveries of mineral are being made almost daily there. A rich chrome vein has been located by J. W. Wilson of which I saw specimens; another by Geo. Guerin. Indications of a good gold quartz ledge are found where McBride, Deadmond and others are sluicing. The Divilbiss have made a rich discovery of copper and gold which is likely to make their fortune, and other finds have been made by parties with whom I am not acquainted.

Considerable prospecting has been done in the mountains of Curry during the past summer, and several new discoveries have been made, which promise to be good paying properties when developed. There is no doubt that valuable mines exist within our borders, and all that is needed is men with means to develop them.

Omaha Herald: Smith—Say, Jones, can a man get drunk on beer?

Jones—I don't know. Let's try. Waiter, two beers. Smith—Yum, yum! I could drink that all night. Waiter, two beers.

Jones—Of course; so could I, and be clear as a bell. Waiter, two beers.

Smith—Why, I am just beginning to get thirsty. We'll try two more. Hi, there, waiter two.

Jones—Good stuff. Makes a man bright. Lesh have a couple more.

Smith—All right, Jonesy, jus you shay. Now have some 'ith me.

Jones—No, shir, 'smy turn. I'm a gentle(hic)man, and pay my share.

Smith—I shay 'smy turn. You mus' be drunk.

Jones—Any man says I'm (hic) drunk 'shar. Only drank little little beer. Can't get full'n beer.

Smith—Thash so, Jones, Not possible. Perfectly redi(hic)ulous.

Jones—Nex' feller shys man can get drunk on beer jus shend'm to me.

A survey for a railroad from the bay to the Coquille via Sumner and Cunningham creek is in progress. We learn that the iron, including good T rails, is en route to Coos bay, and that actual work is to begin at once. It is not likely that it will be run further than the divide this winter, as that will take the road into the timber of the company—the Oregon Southern Improvement—that is to build the road. Messrs. Loggie and Buchanan have been over the ground the past week, and it is said they are favorably impressed with the route.

McEwan has received a big lot of new stoves. Go and see them.

You should not let this opportunity go by without securing a dozen of those fine Cabinet photos at McMillan's gallery; this will be your last chance to get fine cabinet photos at $4.00 per Doz.

Here is a good one from The Dallas Sun: Since the people will not drive the nails down in the sidewalks, would it not be well to pass an ordinance requiring property owners to raise the sidewalks to a level of the nails.

A delayed harvest item: When a young man tells his girl that he is a regular self-binder, though he may be nothing but a rake, and proceeds to bind her in his embrace, she, instead of becoming disgusted and sickle, calls for mower.—Ex.

The case of the Chinese murderer, of Marshfield, has resulted in a continuance of the case, and Coos Co. has him to feed till another term of court.

San Francisco physicians have discovered 107 cases of leprosy among the hoodlum class of boys who smoke cigarettes made by Chinamen.

Forty men were maimed, and some fatally, by the firing of rockets from a British man-of-war at Halifax on Wednesday. The flesh in many instances was torn from the bones of the victims.

A seventy-ton meteor fell at Macadam's Junction, N. B., a few days ago. It scared people almost to death as it came down sizzling red hot. Thousands are going to see it daily. It appears to be sand stone.

G. A. Brown has an interest with Glenn Aiken in the stage line between this place and the bay. They make the regular trips and use the best stock, and best vehicles to be had. Give them a share of the patronage.

Mr. J. W. Hume has been using coal from S. B. Barrows' ledge east of Coquille City in his cannery, and says it is the best he has ever used on this coast. His engineer also pronounces it the best, and especially for steam.

Harry Dalmas, of Randolph, arrived in town last night for medical treatment for injuries received by a fall from a horse which he sustained while coming up from Port Orford a few days since. He was badly bruised about the head and face, had a big, ugly gash in his scalp, and one wrist dislocated. He was unconscious four hours.

McMillan's idea in putting the price of his excellent cabinet work down to $4.00 per dozen on this visit to the Coquille is simply to advertise their new and excellent work, which is owing to the immense improvements in the process of photography and the fact that he has some new and fine back-grounds which make his photos just beautiful, and equal to any made in San Francisco. The old price of $6.00 per dozen will be restored on future visits, so now is your time—Sunday, October 2nd positively the last day.

Coming, Coming, Coming!!!

COQUILLE CITY!

The coming Town of S. W. Oregon!

Few towns possess the natural advantages that Coquille enjoys, and which will, in the near future, cause it to blossom as the rose. It has a beautiful and pleasant site, being situated, for the most part, on a level plateau on the sunny side of the Coquille River, thirty miles from the Pacific Ocean, which is reached every day by a four-hour steamer ride. Coquille City is at the center of the converging wagon/road system of Coos County, and is at the head of deep-water navigation, and in the central part of a vast body of rich, river bottom land, which is the source of all true and enduring prosperity. The country round about is filled with precious metals, minerals and coal to an unparalleled extent, and is covered with a variety of timber that for quantity and quality is not excelled by that of any place on the Coast, if indeed equaled. As a dairy and stock-raising country, and a sanitarium for those seeking health, it is bound to come to the front rank. The fishing industry will prove an important factor, while the numerous mills and factories, completed, in course of construction, and contemplated, will make the whole county a buzzing hive of industry and wealth. Coquille City is in the center, is the most eligible and will enjoy all. Its school, church, and society advantages are second not one in the county. Building material is cheaper at this point than at any other in the county. It has the advantage of a corporation, and is to soon have a mountain stream of water run through it for protection against fire. Property responsible. J. A. DEAN, AGENT, Coquille City. M. J. McDONALD, PROP., San Francisco.
