MATRIMONIAL.
Married people will please read as written, single ones can read the first line, then the third, and then the second, and finally the fourth in each verse.

That man must lead a happy life,
Who's freed from matrimonial chains;
Who is directed by his wife
Is sure to suffer for his pains.

Adam could find no solid peace,
When Eve was given for a mate—
Until he saw a woman's face,
Adam was in a happy state.

In all the female face appears
Hypocrisy, deceit and pride;
Truth, darling of a heart sincere,
Ne'er known in woman to reside.

What tongue is able to unfold
The falsehood that in woman dwells;
The worth in woman we behold
Is almost imperceptible.

Cursed be the foolish man, I say,
Who changes from his singleness;
Who will not yield to woman's sway,
Is sure of perfect blissfulness.

THE DEVIL.
A few weeks ago we did our best to give Major Bateman a send off. He no doubt appreciated it but then he put too much reliance in the item and tried to use it as a screen. Later developments show that the screen was not as durable as he supposed and gave way at an improper time. The result is he is flitting flies in California under his own vine and fig tree. He should have known better for we do not like to spend time and space on someone who will go back on us the next minute. We have put our faith in another two-legged mortal but will not descend on his superior ways until he is going to commit some terrible sin. We can't offer Major Bateman eternal life and will have to do as the church did, sit down on him. We will, however, advise him to use Dr. Brown-Sequard's elixir of life which will bring him nearer eternal life than might else. We stayed with you Major until the church went back on you and of course you know when it cut the bowser and left you drift helplessly away we could not do anything more than pity you. We hated to do it but the breakers were running too high to let go and help you. We seen you land safely a short way below and our heart gave an exultant thump, especially when we seen plenty of sea gulls for you to subsist on while we were compelled to sit on the black sand and catch craw-fish for our supper. You were taken in by a fisherman and given dry clothes while we followed our guide throughout the storm with out even changing socks, but we are working for our reward hereafter. Just as we passed over the hill we seen you shaking dice for a warm drink with the bartender and we had a refreshing drink of river water with the tide full. We have lost sight of you Major but hope you are coming our way for our reward is sure to come later on.

Mr. Bird Nosler has a tobacco patch near the HERALD office that is the envy of all the other boys in town. He planted it, cultivated it, and last week took us to the patch and surprised us by picking off plugs of tobacco six inches long. Mr Bird certainly has the key to the secret of this patch as it is the first we have heard of that you can go and pluck the tobacco ready for chewing. He does not pass it through the negro process as other manufacturers do nor does he have the wholesale of it—simply a retail business. He made a tall on ascension from this patch some time since but he would not tell us the particulars.

Little did the inhabitants of this sphere of ours dream that the earth was going at the rate of twenty miles a second through a belt of meteors 8,000,000 miles across all this month. Such is the fact, however, and we were engaged from morning till night at the common duties of life never dreaming that at any moment the earth was liable to strike some of these meteors and stop so suddenly that we would find ourselves sliding around to some other portion of the earth and some other fellow sliding around to our portion. The outcome of a shock of this nature would be all right for us on this coast for by the time we would slide around to New York the earth would gain its momentum and go along in its old fashioned way. But the fellows in New York where would they be? "Ask of the winds" and waves of the Atlantic and the answer would most likely be "in Paris attending the exposition." Then, again, the vacation, if it was forced on the people of New York, would no doubt do them good and on their return they would find trusty servants carrying on their business for them. This would give the entire population a day off and besides the ride over to the Atlantic from here, at the rate of twenty miles a second, would be instructive, invigorating and draw our attention from business troubles for a short time. The astronomers would not tell us anything about it until all was over so we could put on a clean shirt and collar, but they wanted the country represented just as it is. It seems a pity it did not happen. We are now informed that we have a clear track until 1890 with nothing but automatic switches and good ballast roads to ride over.

Editor HERALD:—I wish to say a word about the recent church scandal. Unpleasant as these things are they will occasionally occur so long as men and women are not perfect. We are only surprised that they should occur among the church people. Had it occurred in the more humble walks of life but little attention would have been paid to it but coming into the tribunal of the church and that based upon the bible and its teachings whose laws to the church are infallible it is an easy matter to tell the outcome of the trial. Brother Bateman was heard to say after the sad event that he was perfectly willing to submit to such a verdict showing his perfect faith in the holy canon which reads like this: "Let the offender be stoned to death and let him that is without sin (guilty of the same offense) cast the first stone." He did not seem to think that the affair would shorten his days in the least; perhaps being a church member of long standing, of many states he had a better knowledge of human weakness than us outsiders who would have "left the skirt of our garments in her hands." Now, as to Mrs. White's case, the elders of the Baptist church on the Coquille river should at least be as just in their judgement as Jesus was in a similar case where the woman was caught in the very net. If brethren of the church without sin (guilty alike) are not forth-coming with stones to stone her let the good brothers who tried her say to her, "neither do we condemn you go thy way and sin no more."

Miners in the Minnie Mine at Aspen, Colorado, made a discovery on the 11th that caused more excitement than a rich strike in the precious metal. They touched off a heavy blast and on examination a beautiful cave was discovered, the blast having blown the debris away from the entrance. A petrified man with a flat ax and a bowl were found near the entrance. Further examination disclosed several other forms all in the same position. They were seated with their heads on their knees and their arms around their legs. They are not pronounced Indians but a race of people who preceded the Indians on this continent.

At directors meeting of the Coquille City and Coos Bay Transportation Company, held August 8th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Elijah Smith, president; Geo. W. Loggie, vice-president; P. W. Smith, treasurer and assistant secretary; R. E. Shine, secretary and assistant treasurer; P. W. Smith, transfer agent.—We are glad to learn that arrangements have been made for the building of the road, and though the commencement has been delayed longer than anticipated, it is a settled fact that Coos bay and the Coquille will, in the near future, be connected by rail.—News.

The Riverside School.
Six thousand feet of lumber the first consignment for the school building was put ashore at Riverside yesterday. Work on the house will be commenced immediately with a view to having it completed by the 15th of October. Hitherto the management has been hampered in obtaining the necessary papers and in getting the land surveyed. School will be started soon after the house is completed. Subscription papers are now in circulation which the public would do well to notice. See the paper and sign your name, it will only cost you $5 and $7.50 for four months, and you will have the conscious dignity of knowing you are helping to inaugurate a new era in Coquille education. We expect to be prepared for all comers; if there is not room we will make room. If you want a house you can buy a lot to build one; or if you don't want to build we will build for you. That's fair isn't it? Book can be had at reduced rates. Look for our advertisement and think of it.

Did you ever stop to think how much work there was connected with a newspaper? Weeklies are nothing compared to dailies but we will give a few figures of what work is done on the HERALD. We average 15 columns a week and there are 52 weeks in a year which would make 780 columns, and in each column there are 125 lines making 97,500 lines; 184 "ems" in a line makes the number of "ems" 1,793,750, or averaging two letters to the "em" would make the number of letters reach 3,587,500. Paid for at the rate of 40 cents per thousand the bill would be $717.60 per year. Besides this the advertisements are all set up new each year and we set considerable machinery which will make nearly twice as much to the column as long primer.

The Nebraska Press association returned home last month and for the most part they have not given as good an impression to their subscribers of Oregon as might be desired. The next time any of those chaps come out here let them pay their own expenses and pay no attention to them. Our people did their best to appear friendly towards them and their kindness would have received due recognition by people from any other portion. Those Nebraska fellows think when they are not charged exorbitant prices for everything the country is "dead." Start a man from Omaha for Denver Junction with a "sack" and if he arrives at the Junction with six bits left he is considered a "daisy."

Cunningham School.
School closed on Cunningham creek on Monday Aug. 5th. Miss May Leek being the successful teacher, we can recommend her to those wishing a good teacher. Then, too, we had a picnic, for a wonder, for teacher and scholars, which was enjoyed by them to the utmost. Much praise is due Mr. Wm. Beardsley and others for their interest displayed and all according to "law." Grab was plenty, nice, and good and the average Cunninghamer eat enough. Good music was in attendance.

ONE OF THEM.
J. S. Catching was killed by a man by the name of Pickett at Canyonville, Douglas county, August 8. Catching had a planer in a mill belonging to Pickett and he accused the latter of tampering with the machine. Some words ensued which ended in Pickett striking Catching on the head with a piece of timber from the effects of which he died the next morning. Pickett is hiding in the mountains.

The state authorities are in receipt of information that the schooner H. S. Marlow was deliberately wrecked and run ashore at the mouth of the Ozama river, by the officials of the San Domingo government, and plundered. An investigation is in progress.

A drought in Mexico has killed thousands of cattle and an epidemic is feared.

The Bell party of Roseburg passed through town Friday for their home. They have made quite an extended visit in this county, taking in all the towns and rusticiating on the beach at Empire and Bandon. From them we learn that they have thoroughly enjoyed themselves and hope to come again soon. The institute at Bandon was a feature in which they took great interest and with their help it was made a very successful entertainment. There will always be a welcome for these people here and we would like to see them come oftener.

The following dispatch will be of interest to those desiring government lands: The requisite number of signatures for opening the great Sioux reservation have been secured. The sensation of the day was the signing by Chief Gall, of the Blackfeet and the upper Yankton's following Gall. Eleven million acres which the whites have been looking longingly at for so many years will now be thrown open to settlement.

Cheyenne, August 7.—Prairie wolves have killed more than 100 valuable colts and unknown numbers of young cattle in this vicinity the past three months. Elaborate preparations are being made for a big hunt to occur next Wednesday. The pests will be driven to dens twenty-five miles south of this place. They will be smoked out and will be shot as they appear. A pack of hounds belonging to an English ranchman will be utilized.

Uncle Daniel Palaske has just built one of the finest residences in Bandon near the old Gold Beach hotel. Its fine parlors and dining rooms below, and spacious and airy chambers above, don't indicate the quarters of a bachelor or widower, and just what one of the latter at the age of 87 would want with so much elegance and elbow room puzzles many Bandonians, but his nearest neighbors can account for it and have confided to our boss (he never gives anything away) the name of the buxom widow that is to be the future Mrs. Palaske. Rev. Campbell is the builder of this future paradise, and proves himself a first-class carpenter.

"If you are going to camp out in the woods this summer and want to enjoy yourselves, said a veteran in the business, "be sure of the make-up of the party." A camp should never contain any but the most congenial spirits. A person may be a tiptop fellow, as things go every day and yet be a disturbing element in camp. There should never be a "kicker" in the party.

A man who will shirk any duty about a camp will set the whole party by the ears in a short time. You don't want with you the fellow who is always watching his chance to get the best place by the fire, the preferable corner for a bank, or who is in unseemly haste to be the first on the brook or lake with his rod. And never go into camp with three in a party. There will be trouble, sure if you do. It is a singular freak of camp human nature for men to divide in couples. Two of your three campers will thus favor one another, and the third will naturally become dissatisfied. Two is company and three is none in camp. Have your party an even number whatever you do."

A species of bowel complaint, known as "winter cholera," appeared in several cities in the Northwest last winter and is likely to be more general this season. HISTORY OF OREGON
From the earliest period to the present time
By HUBERT HOWE BANCROFT
Just published complete in two volumes, with index. A magnificent contribution to knowledge. The pride of the people who are proud of their record. A household necessity; a national treasure.
Agents Wanted Everywhere. No house ever published can at all compare with this in interest and importance to the people of Oregon, and to all others interested in the welfare of their country. It contains a record of brave doings, of grand emigrations and permanent organizations. It is the life of an important part of the nation. No true Oregonian, no true American will fail to secure this work, now for the first time offered separately from the full set of Mr. Bancroft's narrative historical series in 20 volumes.
Earnest, active workers should secure exclusive territory immediately, or they will lose a rare opportunity to make for themselves
$500 or 1,000
One needs no experience or capital in this business, for if properly presented the work sells itself, and we give our agents 30 days' time in which to deliver and collect before paying us. Address
