San Luis Obispo Mirror: A sad-eyed man walked into Sullivan's shoe store a few days ago and plunking down a $10 bill tearfully said, "Just four years ago to-day I stole a $4 pair of shoes from your store. The matter has been preying on my mind, but my pride prevented me from confessing. Take your pay out of this $10 bill." Sullivan of course was delighted to meet such a penitent contrite soul. He gave the man $6 and he departed with a light heart the ten dollar bill is very finely executed counterfeit. The next conscience-stricken individual that presents himself at that store, will be thrown into the creek with promptness and dispatch.

Crop-Weather Bulletin No. 27 for Week Ending Sept. 7, 1889.

[Oregon State Weather Bureau in co-operation with U. S. Signal Service, Central Office Portland, Oregon.] The temperature has remained about or slightly below the normal. From some of the higher regions of Eastern and Southern Oregon reports of light frosts are received. On Aug. 20th and 31st rains were general over the state, being quite heavy in western Oregon, and from a good shower to a sprinkle in eastern Oregon. The sunshine has been about normal. The smoke was considerably cleared away by the rains of last week, but during the past few days it has again been quite dense. Wild geese were flying south on the 4th, indicating approaching winter.

The weather conditions have been favorable to fall seeding in western Oregon, which in sections is being pushed vigorously, to the growth of grasses, to fruit drying and to hop picking, which is now in full blast. In spite of the long continued drouth the farmers of western Oregon will have a very large surplus of wheat for shipment. Granaries are full and additional accommodations have to be provided. Fall wheat is nearly all threshed. Oats, barley and hay are also secured. Corn is maturing, and in some sections it has already been cut. The immense fruit crop continues to be shipped and the surplus is being dried. The codlin moth has done considerable damage to apples and pears in a few sections. The warm, dry weather has caused the season to be about one month ahead of ordinary years. Farmers are through harvesting. Fruit and vegetables have matured earlier than usual, and the leaves are beginning to turn in color and fall. The fruit yield in eastern Oregon is larger this year than ever before, many sections producing fruit that a few years ago were supposed to be unfitted for orchards. Straw is very plentiful and many farmers are saving it for possible feed in the winter. In the stock country the summer range is short, and over crowded; more rain is greatly needed to give the grass a good start. In Malheur county hay is very scarce by reason of the long continued drouth, except when the land could be irrigated. In Sherman county, the farmers who relied upon their wheat crops are in a serious predicament. Many fields were not cut at all and but few paid for their cutting. At Fossil, Gilliam county, wheat is reported as being worth $1.00 a bushel, showing the scarcity in that section. At Vale, Malheur county oats are worth 1 1/2 and wheat 1 1/2 cents per pound; the quality is not extra good at that price. Hops are turning out quite well. Near Independence, Polk county, they are yielding from 2500 to 3000 pounds per acre. For a comparison, it may be said that in New York state about 600 lbs. per acre is a fair average. They are being saved in good condition and are generally of better quality than formerly. The condition of the weather for the next few weeks will largely influence the hay market next winter in many sections. Should the rains be favorable and give the grass a good start, hay will not be so high. In the Grande Ronde valley and Columbia river bottoms reports indicate that a good crop has been gathered. The wheat market has remained about stationary. The outcome of the yield in other countries must first be ascertained before prices become firm or advance. The outlook is, however, favorable to an upward tendency in price.
