LOCAL MATTER.

J. G. Fish has built a nice two story boot and shoe store near Dr. Flentge & Perkins' drug store. Boots and shoes will be made to order.

Hon. J. H. Roberts one of our enterprising merchants is at Bandon looking out for his goods on the schooner Parkersburg Mr. Roberts is at a great loss on his friends to help him by paying their honest debts (look a leettle out.)

The mill was idle a couple of days last week for want of logs. The raise in the river brought them plenty of good timber and fine lumber is being turned out at present.

Indicott a young lad 16 years of age fell from the roof of J. G. Fish's new building last Tuesday and broke one of his legs near the ankle. Dr. Brower was called and soon reduced the fracture and we learn that he is doing well.

The large building being built by Mr. Jensson for a hardware and furniture store on Myrtle street opposite J. Lewellen's place is being pushed forward as fast as timber can be procured. It will be fifty feet in length and two full stories high.

The baking powder with which there is glassware premiums and a chance to win a gold watch at Wise & Benders store creates considerable amusement each evening while the populace are waiting for the mail to be opened. It only costs 10 cents to try to win a can of baking powder, some elegant glassware and perhaps the time piece by shaking dice.

Born, at the residence of Mrs. Sarah J. Adams on Kitchen creek, November 21, 1889, to the wife of J. M. Johnson, a son, weight 11 pounds. James came to town the same day his big son arrived and we noticed that on every feature of his smiling countenance joy was depicted. Sam says he is glad to be uncle because it makes him think he may be called papa some day.

Tuesday evenings the crowd is large at the postoffice as that is the day the Coquille City HERALD arrives. Every subscriber in town is eager to get his number, and those who have not subscribed yet wish to borrow one of their neighbor. This is proof that that journal through its enterprise in gathering news, and its energy in endeavoring to build up the country has won for it many friends who often remark that the HERALD is the best local paper on the Pacific coast, and that it is newsy from the first column on the outside to the last line in the fourth page. Such a paper should be supported under all circumstances in preference to any publication that is printed on one side with cheap literature copied from some ten cent novel. Home news and good moral lessons is the kind of reading that suits best, hence the popularity of the HERALD.

The Myrtle Point Brass band made an excursion to Bandon Saturday and surprised the militia company by attending the grand annual ball given by company K Second regiment, O. N. G., at their armory. The band was well received and entnrtained, and the members of that organization speak in the highest praise of Col. R. H. Rosa, Capt. Blumenrother and his subordinatas as gentlemen and ssldiers. The ball was one of the most pleasant affairs of the season, not a discord or an unpleasant circumstance appeared to mar the pleasure of anyone, unless Isom Clinton or Cass. Goodman waltzed too frequently with the pretty girls. "This was as it should be" for Bart Green was otherwise engaged. We have other jokes on these chaps and others that we expect to publish in due time. So come forward with hush money soon, boys.

Apples! Apples!

A few choice apples for the holidays will be diiivered on the steamer at Norway at 75 cents per box. E. CORMAN.

PORTER.

The mill is only running eight hours a day now, Owen' to the Short days, but the Co. are comtemplating putting in electsic lights and running ten hours. An electric light plant would be a great improvement and one that is badly needed.

The boys all report having had a good time at the ball given by the Trombone band, but they were surprised not to see any of the young ladies from your City. Boys, the next time you come, bring your girls. Some of the young men of this place talk of visiting your city at Christmas. (All right, welcome home boys, She Devil) There seems to be considerable attraction over that way for some of the boys.

Mr. Elmer Thomas, the head sawyer in the mill, met with an accident last Tuesday which came near costing him his limbs and probabaly his life. He was rolling a log onto his carriage when it came in contact with the lever, starting the carriage at a fearful rate. Mr. Thomas blew the whistle to stop the engine and started to get out of the way when he was caught by the chain of the canting gear and thrown across the carriage, which was approaching the saws with great velocity, when fireman, Harry Crain, shut the steam off from the steam feed, thus stopping the carriage when Mr. Thomas was within a few inches of the teeth. It was a very narrow escape from a horrible death, and Mr. T. is to be congratulated. He will not be able to work for some days owing to the bruises he received.

The schooner Scotia, is due here for lumber for the city.

Mr. Geo. Wallen has the new two-story building nearly completed, and Porter now has the best accommodations for the men of any place on the bay.

Our young friend Jimmie Henry is going to leave this burg and take up his residence at Parkersburg. We are sorry to lose Jimmy faom among us. He has our best wishes for his future welfare.

Capt. Tom Campbell, of the steam schooner Onion, with a party of friends went fishing last week up Kentuck slough. They report catching three hundred and eleven trout in a little less than an hour. This beats the record, if correct, and we have no pronognifying cause for doubting the correctness of Mr. C's statement.

We notice in the News that Jim had gone to Washington, D. C., to obtain a pension. We understand that it was refused on the grounds that he contracted the rheumatism by hunting coons at night instead of in the services as set forth in his application for a pension. "Jim was right about the smoothest 'coon hunter we ever saw."

Porter can compare favorably with any place its size in the production of stories. One of our neighbors claims to have had a turkey-buzzard confined under water for three hours, after which it came out alive and well, while another claims to have had an insect immersed in muriatic acid for fome hours without the aforesaid insect suffering the least inconvenience. We submit these two without comment.

The weather has been fine on the bay for some time, but has been rather moist for a few days.

More anon, UNO.

The Parkersburg Ashore.

On Monday of last week the Parkersburg in attempting to sail into the river met an adverse wind after passing the bar and was just entering the river. Thus she was driven a quarter of a mile up the coast and beached, where every body thought she would go to pieces. She laid there and thumpped on the beach at every high tide till, with capstan, blocks and fall, she was pulled around—the way she went up—again to the mouth, and her bow placed on the north spit on Friday, ready to come in with the first high tide. Although she was high and dry at low tide while on the beach, her freight—about 90 tons of goods for river merchants—was left in her, Capt. Parker's good judgement assuring his ability to get his good ship back to the river.

Up to yesterday she had not not leaked any, but she lies against Rackliff rock and is only kept from going to pieces against it by bales of hay which are used as fenders. Capt. Parker seems to think he will save her, but others fear she cannot be moved across the sand spit.

A Good Idea.

EDITOR HERALD.—Steamboat men like deep water and farmers like good roads. Why can we not put our heads together and have both. As your correspondent from Dunham's camp writes that it would pay the county to make Beaver slough navigable for a small steamer, etc., allow me to add while dredging out the channel to dump all the dirt on the bank where it is needed, which is only 170 rods between Green Point and the mouth of Beaver slough thereby making a good wagon road for summer travel, connecting the lower river roads with the Coquille and Coos bay road. For fear of the waste basket I will close. M. L. R.
