Mr. G. had been away fishing on the Columbia and had just arrived at this place en route home when he was aroused from bed to be told of the sad news from his home.

THE FAIR'S OVER.

What was Done at Arago During The Fair.

The seventh annual fair of the Southwestern Oregon Agricultural Society closed at Arago, Saturday evening after a run of three days. The attendance was small and the interest light, owing to dull times most likely, coupled with the fact that the accommodations are limited. Depending on the caprices of steamboats and stages to board and lodge at towns several miles from the grounds deterred many from attending. The following are the notes a HERALD reporter picked up:

THE RACES.

In the ⅝ mile dash for three-year-olds Jas. Aiken entered "Oregon Boy;" W. G. Cleveland, "Laura D," and F. P. Norton "Nellie." Oregon Boy won, all coming out in the order named. Time 37½.

In the ⅝ mile dash free for all Frank Norton entered Arago; A. L. Hutcheson, Wolf Creek Baldy, and Alex Hall, Sam H. After two dead heats between Arago and Sam H. the stakes were withdrawn and the race declared off. Time 37.

Hylander, by Henry Stanley of Camas Valley and Clattawa by J. D. Garfield of Marshfield were the entries for the two-year-old trotting match mile heats two best in three. Clattawa won 2nd and 3rd heats. Time 3:27.

The entries in the half-mile dash, free for all, were: Arago, Wolf Creek Baldy, Oregon Boy, Bill Nye (by Capt. Harris), and Sam H. Arago came through first, Oregon Boy second with Sam H. a good third. Time 50.

Lady S by S. Bailey and Barney by Elbert Dyer were the entries for the trotting contest for four-year-olds and under. Barney won 2nd and 3rd heats.

In the novelty race of a mile dash the entries were: Arago, Oregon Boy, Wolf Creek Baldy, Bill Nye and Sam H. Arago was first to 1st and 2nd quarters, and Wolf Creek Baldy at ¾ and finish, winning the race.

In trotting contest free for all mile heats three best in five F. P. Norton entered Sir Walter and R. D. Hume John. The former won, distancing John and shutting him out in the first heat. Time 2:51

NOTES.

The finest piece of work in our judgement exhibited was that of a beautiful peacock in arasene and tinsel by Mrs. J. D. Garfield. The bird was as lifelike as possible.

The fruit and vegetable exhibit was too small to mention, though of fine quality what there was.

J. W. Wimer had one of the finest young bulls in Southern Oregon on the grounds, but owing to press of business could not stay and keep him there; so in the absence of the animal when the awards were made no premium was given. The animal would be entitled to the best premium in any fair.

The course was better than ever before, though as a rule the flyers were generally young and little trained. As a result no very fast time was made. The trot in 2:51 was fair for a backwoods county. Sir Walter, it is said, can make it in 2:30.

The Berkeshire pig belonging G. W. Wimer and from his registered thoroughbreds, weighs 193 lbs at 5 months old. Better or prettier stock than G. W. Wimer's can't be found.

The dance in the evening of the last day was an enjoyable one, but not very largely attended.

The fair can't be said to be a great success, nor a failure, financially, as it paid its own expenses.

The following to the Coast Mail is self-explanatory:

Washington, D. C.
Sept. 8th, 1890.

Ed. Coast Mail: River and harbor bill has passed and forwarded the president. Coos bay and Coquille remain as they passed house. Congratulations.
