License and Liquor.

Every voter who casts his ballot for license practically throws his own mantle of character and respectability about the traffic and endorses its work.—Geo. S. Foster, M. P.

Under the pressure of high license, and to make the establishment pay back that large fee, saloonkeepers are tempted to introduce other features, to marshal other forms of vice and to link gambling and harlotry with liquor-selling so as to swell the receipts. —Rev. Herrick Johnson, D. D.

There is a phase of the question to which we wish to call the especial attention of our farmer friends. It is this: License money does not decrease your taxes one cent; but the saloons do increase your taxes enormously. You are not taxed to build sidewalks, light the streets, or do any of the things it is claimed the license money does for the town. But you are taxed, and that right heavily, to pay the county's bills for courts, jails, poorhouses, care of the insane and things like that. What do these courts do? Examine the docket of the county where liquor is sold and see if whisky is not at the bottom of fully one-half the criminal cases. —Mary Allen West.

To license a man to sell rum because he will break law and sell without license if you don't, is simply to compound felony and reward a criminal for his crime.—John B. Finch.

The saloon is the organized expression of Satan's kingdom on earth. Yet we license 300,000 men to make drunkards, put their gains in our coffers, their servants in power, their greed in government. —Mary T. Lathrop.

There are now the 1730 breweries and 4791 distilleries in the United States.

South Dakotans will vote at the coming election on giving the full school ballot to women.

San Francisco has a Law and Order League, an outgrowth of the temperance congress.

The number of hard drinkers living today in the United States is estimated to be 2,500,000.

Between the ages of twenty-five and thirty, where ten total abstainers die, thirty-one moderate drinkers die.

At a Demorest medal contest held in the college at Piracicaba, Brazil, the president-elect of the republic was present and presented the medal.

Every dollar of the circulating medium in the United States goes each year over the bar of the saloon or the counter of the tobacconist.—Omaha Bee.

The International Peace Congress adopted a memorial to be presented to each government in Europe, with a view to putting an end to the war between China and Japan.

In 1850 the ratio of criminals in prisons in the United States to the entire population was 290 to 1,000,000; in 1890 it was 1315 to 1,000,000; an increase of over 28 per cent.

Mayor Hopkins, of Chicago, has had all bill-boards containing indecent posters destroyed and has announced that any one attempting to replace such advertisements will be arrested and prosecuted.

Every member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is asked by Miss Willard to celebrate the twenty-first birthday of the national organization by sending one new subscription to the Union Signal.

Mrs. J. K. Barney, superintendent of jail and prison work for the World's W. C. T. U., will go to England in October to hold evangelistic meetings under the auspices of the British Woman's Temperance Association.

The laws for the sale of liquors in Norway on the Gothenburg system have been amended with the hope of lessening the sale. One is that a license cannot be given in a town except by a majority vote of all men and women over twenty-five years of age.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

[The following pathetic words have been received by us from an intelligent citizen of Nebraska who is in correspondence with a party here and expects to move here this winter. He has no further use for the regular crop of that state—heat, dust, cyclones and blizzards.—ED. HERALD.]

Nebraska Land.

[Tune—"Beulah Land."]

I've reached the land of dust and heat,
Where nothing grows for man to eat;
The wind that blows the burning heat
O'er all these plains is hard to beat.

CHORUS—
Oh, Nebraska land, sweet Nebraska land,
As on our burning soil I stand,
I look away across the plains
And wonder why it never rains,
Till Gabriel blows with trumpet sound
And says the rain has gone around.

The farmer goes into his corn,
And there he stands and looks forlorn;
He looks as though he is much shocked
To see the shute has missed the stalk.

We have no wheat, we have no oats—
We have no corn to feed our shoats;
Our chickens are too poor to eat,
And pigs go squealing down the street.

Our horses are of broncho race,
Starvation stares them in the face;
We do not live, we only stay—
We are too poor to get away.

A DESIRABLE MODERN BARN.

It Is Constructed on a Plan Which Insures Great Economy of Labor.

A New England farmer, who is interested in the subject and has inspected a large number of barns in several states, gives the benefit of his observations and experience to others through the columns of The Farm Journal. He says:

DIAGRAM OF MODERN BARN.

In most instances I have been pleased to note a growing demand for conveniences and space that will house a larger proportion of stock or crops to the square yard of roof surface than has been done by the shelters raised by our forefathers. The determination is also manifest to protect the manure heaps as well as stock and implements. After giving much thought to the subject I have drawn a plan of some features which the modern model should contain, with greater or less modifications. It does not embrace everything, and yet for dairying and stock feeding its main features are invaluable, as it saves time and labor without being more expensive than if it were built after the old time plans.

Nothing is said in relation as to how the stables are to be divided. This is a subject which each man must decide for himself, according to the stock, crops and local conditions. It will be found usually most satisfactory to keep the horses and cow or sheep stalls in long rows on the first floor, and clear the stables after the stock has been turned out by opening trapdoors into the pit below. A very successful farmer whom I visited in Dutchess county, N. Y., has the manure hauled out and spread every day in the year, excepting when overdriven during harvest. During this time the manure is left in the pit and got out for top dressing mowings directly after the rush. Where the splendid economy of daily drawing is practicable it is possible to construct chutes or troughs just beneath the trapdoors which will hold from one to ten loads, according to the amount of stock kept, and which can be made to discharge their contents into a wagon after it has backed under them.

A successful way of making such a trough is to use two inch plank to cover a frame made V shape out of two by four inch scantling, one side of the V to be hinged at the top and closely held against its mate at the bottom by a heavy bolt at either end which may be withdrawn at the same instant by the use of a lever. These troughs should extend to within a few inches of the top of the wagon box, so that these contents will not need to plunge too heavily into the carts or wagons.

My model may be termed a gravity barn, because the natural law is taken advantage of in handling all fodder, including ensilage and other heavy substances, no lifting nor high pitching being required. It is erected in a sidehill, from the highest point of which wagons loaded are driven into the peak at the gable end. Where a plank incline is required, an extra heavy timber frame should first be erected and then well planked. This portion of the edifice should be made as short as possible by filling in the approach. An extreme case is shown in the second cut, including the heavy frame required for such a length of incline and platform.

Directly beneath the drive floor the thrashing floor is located, and this may be filled full to the drive floor if desired through trap doors or removable sections in the drive floor. No ensilage carriers, hay forks nor machinery nor time for driving them will ever be required in such a barn. The stock enters the first floor from a level, and the manure is drawn out through a large door on the lower hillside. On this side also mowers and other machinery and farm rolling stock are run in out of the weather. The posts of this barn are 18 by 20, and the roof is a quarter pitch.

In the first cut is represented at A, platform and floor; B, thrashing floor; G, dung pit; D, cows or sheep; E, wagons and machines; F, underground foundation; H, silos. In the second cut is shown at A, platform and floor; B, thrashing floor; F, underground foundation; H, silos; I, drive; L, supports.

G. A. R. NOTICE.

We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new Commissioner of Pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors, and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If U. S. soldiers sailors or their widows, children or parents, desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address,

INFLUENZA,

Or La Grippe, though occasionally epidemic, is always more or less prevalent. The best remedy for this complaint is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Last Spring, I was taken down with La Grippe. At times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breast seemed as if confined in an iron cage. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and no sooner had I begun taking it than relief followed. I could not believe that the effect would be so rapid and the cure so complete. It is truly a wonderful medicine."—W. H. WILLIAMS, Crook City, S. D.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

DEAR SIR:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars; or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it.
