The Treating System.

One sister who complained of the inequality between the hotel accommodations and the prices for the same at the recent session of a certain state assembly was said to have been met with the argument: "We cannot afford to make as cheap a rate to a gathering of women as to the same number of men, because they do not patronize the bar."

The recent legislature in Massachusetts to prohibit treating is one of the longest strides in the right direction that has ever been taken. No one custom has ever brought so much disaster in its train as the absurd custom of treating. An exchange, in commenting on this subject, wisely says:

"There would be just as much good fellowship in asking one to have a cake of soap, a pound of crackers or sugar, a gallon of oil or a clean shirt, as there is in inviting him to turn himself into a tank or a smokehouse at your expense. When a group of hail fellows get together they not uncommonly line up before a bar, and in turn 'stand treat' until each has 'set 'em up,' and then they separate, uncomfortably full of soda, sarsaparilla and ginger ale, or something stronger."

The ends of companionship would have been served as well if they had visited a gents' furnishing store and loaded up with collars, buttons, neck scarfs, hosiery and like accessories to a gentleman's toilet. It might sound a little strange at first to hear "What'll you have?" answered by "A pair of socks, thank you," but the novelty would wear off and mankind would be gainers by the innovation.—National Rebekah.

The W. C. T. U. of South Dakota will oppose the resubmission of the prohibitory law by the legislature this winter.

A bill will be introduced into the next legislature of New Hampshire, prohibiting the manufacture of spirituous and malt liquors.

Lord Roseberry stated at a recent public meeting that it is the purpose to re-introduce a Liquor Veto Bill in the next parliament.

The annual parliamentary returns show the revenue from the liquor traffic in England for the year ending March 31st last, to have been £34,015,699—an increase over previous years.

New Jersey W. C. T. U. won the prize banner given by Mrs. Hunt for the largest number of scientific temperance instruction superintendents appointed during last year.

The supreme court of Indiana has rendered a decision that it is unlawful for a woman in that state to hold a saloon license, and no debt contracted by a woman in that business is valid.

Prominent ladies of several Chicago churches have organized, it is said, for the purpose of placing free lunch counters in churches to offset the influence of the saloon free lunch.

Nineteen out of every twenty of the women and girls received into the W. C. T. U. Rescue Home at Eau Claire, Wisconsin, are saved to a better life. This result is due largely to the wise and loving care of the superintendent, Dr. Annette J. Shaw.

A horrible story comes from the New Guinea Islands of a massacre and cannibal feast of which whiskey was the instigator. The natives, it is said, stole the whiskey from a trading post, and inflamed by the stimulant, killed and ate the traders.

Two new state W. C. T. U. papers have been started recently—the Colorado W. C. T. U. Messenger, to be edited by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Sarah L. Teeter, Denver, and the Kentucky paper, with Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, of Lexington, in charge.

An examination of the books at the freight office revealed the fact that four times as much beer is used in "high license" Plainfield, with its 16,000 inhabitants, as is sold in the entire state of Kansas, according to the reports of the U. S. internal revenue department.

Compare our holiday celebrations with that fearful disaster attending the one at Silver Lake, mentioned elsewhere in today's HERALD, and no one will gainsay our occasion for thankfulness at least that no mishaps befell us. But that one should not fail of warning us that our public halls and church buildings and school-houses are not constructed up to the times for safety from a similar visitation in this community.

The Academy Literary society will give an entertainment at the Academy on Saturday evening, Jan. 12. The entertainment will consist of a literary program, one of the chief features being a joint debate between the Fishtrap Lyceum and the scholars of the academy. A small admission fee of 10 cents will be charged, and the scholars wish to present the school with a library. Every one should come out and help them along in their good work.

Mr. and Mrs. Judge Nosler indulged in holding a little family reunion last Tuesday—New Year's day—though only those were present who were conveniently located to participate. There were present to enjoy the occasion, Judge and Mrs. Nosler and Bird, of the immediate household, and J. T. Nosler and family, and J. W. Nosler and family, resident here. It was no less a joyful occasion to those who made up the circle and left its happy impression.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

Its Labors Practically Completed Results Not Yet Reached.

The state board of equalization practically completed its labors yesterday, finishing the equalization of class I, embracing town lots and improvements thereon, and class II, embracing lands of all kinds, improvements on deeded lands, railroad and telegraph lines. There are six separate divisions of property in the latter class, hence the work of figuring percentage and carrying out results is necessarily tedious, and it could not be completed immediately.

The board adjourned to meet Wednesday morning. In the matter of town lots and improvements thereon the following action was taken: Benton, Coos, Curry, Crook, Gilliam, Grant, Harney, Josephine, Klamath, Lane, Lincoln, Malheur, Morrow, Sherman, Wallawa, Wasco and Yamhill were allowed to stand as returned by the counties; 10 per cent was added in Baker, Lake, Multnomah, Tillamook, Union and Washington counties; 12 1/2 per cent was added in Linn county; 15 per cent was added in Marion county, and 5 per cent in Unatilla; a reduction of 5 per cent was made in Clatsop and Douglas; 10 per cent in Clackamas, Columbia, Jackson and Polk.

A Grand Literary Entertainment.

The closing feature of a grand literary entertainment, to be given at the academy under the auspices of the undersigned committee on Saturday evening, Jan. 12, will be a joint discussion between the Fishtrap Lyceum and the Academy Literary society on the following question: "Resolved, That men of thought have been more beneficial to the world than men of action." The Fishtrap Lyceum will champion the affirmative, represented by Anderson Lamb, Ralph Edmunds, John Lamb, Sherman Paul and Ed Fish. The Academy Literary society will sustain the negative, represented by C. H. Bunch, Oliver Sanford, Fred Waterman, John Leek and Ben Lawrence.

We will endeavor to make this the best entertainment ever given by the society. An admittance fee of 10 cents will be charged for the purpose of purchasing a library for the use of the school and society.

Hill's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hill's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. A Parting Hit by the Rev. Sam Jones of Tennessee.

An amusing incident occurred at the close of Sam Jones' sermon at Pulaski the other day. Stepping down from the pulpit, folding his hands across his breast and looking solemnly over the audience, the great revivalist said:

"I want all the women in this crowd who have not spoken a harsh word or harbored an unkind thought toward their husbands for a month past to stand up."

One old lady, apparently on the shady side of 60, stood up.

"Come forward and give me your hand," said the preacher. The women did so, whereupon Jones said:

"Now, turn around and let this audience see the best-looking woman in the country."

After taking her seat the revivalist addressed the men:

"Now I want all the men in this crowd who have not spoken a hard word or harbored an unkind thought toward their wives for a month past to stand up."

Twenty-seven great big strapping fellows hopped out of the audience with all the alacrity of champagne corks. "Come forward and give me your hands, my dear boys," Jones gave each one a vigorous shake, after which he ranged all of them side by side in front of a pulpit and facing the audience, looked them over carefully and solemnly, and then, turning around to the audience, he said: "I want you all to take a look at the twenty-seven biggest liars in the state of Tennessee."—Hartwell Sun.

Burning Quality of Tobacco.

The various properties of the tobacco leaf—burning qualities, size, weight, color and fermentive properties—are all more or less affected by the variety of tobacco, the soil, time and manner of maturing, climate and the time of ripening. The properties of tobacco may also be affected by the manner of curing and the weather during the curing. The fact that so many factors play an important part in determining the quality of tobacco makes this part of the subject a difficult and tedious one to study and understand. To secure the desired burning quality, the amount of chlorine must not rise above a minimum, nor the amount of potash sink below a minimum. From studies made of 46 samples of tobacco, grown in Baden, Germany, on different soils and with different manures, the conclusion was that tobacco continued to glow longer—i. e., burned (softer)—the more potash and less chlorine (sodium chloride) it contained.

In general tobacco will be of inferior burning quality if it contains more than 0.4 per cent of chlorine and less than 3.5 per cent potash. As a result of investigations made at the Alabama station and reported upon by Alex J. Bondurant it was found that while tobacco from sandy soils contained on an average only 0.29 per cent of chlorine, that from heavy soils contained 0.92 per cent of chlorine, and that tobacco from light soils averaged 2.8 per cent potash, while that from heavy soils averaged 2.4 per cent. From these indications, to secure the best burning quality, tobacco should be grown on light soils and not on heavy clay soils.

Of Interest to Cotton Planters.

The attention of cotton planters is called to the superiority of Indian and Egyptian cotton baling in consular reports on the needs and conditions of foreign markets. According to the reports, the Indian cotton is pressed into small, compact bales, securely covered with jute and wrapped continuously, as it were, with iron bands, whereas much of the American cotton arrives in bad condition—the iron bands broken and the baling rotten or otherwise mutilated, and often rotten from exposure to the elements or from having lain in the water, which causes the weight of the cotton to be fictitiously increased. Cotton thus saturated with water and increased in weight is necessarily greatly depreciated in value.

The utmost pains are taken in the packing of Indian and Egyptian cotton shipped to Europe. Compressing is done by steam compressors, and the bales, which are so securely covered with jute as to be almost impervious to the elements, are fastened with at least two iron bands or ties more than are used on the American bales. On an average, four bales (say 1,568 pounds net) of Indian cotton go to a space of 40 cubic feet, so presses making even 100 bales equal to 21 tons measurement. The Egyptian bales are somewhat larger than the Indian, but are equally well wrapped with jute and bound with iron bands.

Saved Her Life.

Mrs. C. J. Woodruff, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"One of my children had Croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's harsh breathing, and on going to find it strangled. Realizing that the child's condition had become possible in spite of the medicine given, I reasoned that since remedies would be of no avail, having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and in a short time, she was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. I can give alive and well for years, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

G. A. R. NOTICE.

We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new Commissioner of Pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors, and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department as soon as possible.

If U. S. soldiers, sailors or their widows, children or parents, desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the laws now in effect for their benefit. Address, JOHN WEDDERBURN, Managing Attorney, P. O. Box 385, Washington, D. C.
