Before the law was written down with pen and ink, the law was the moral law made men.
Law stands for human rights, but when it fails those rights to give, Then let law die, my brother, but let human beings live.
—Rev. Miller Haseman.

Jim Fair Dead and Alive.
James G. Fair is dead. He left forty million dollars, but not one sincere friend. His life was one of selfishness, sordidness, vice and greed.
It was a failure. It illustrates the poverty of mere riches. There is not an honest man—however poor, if above want—who is not a richer man than was Jim Fair. Although he died "full of honors"—for he was once a United States senator!— and surrounded by every luxury that money could buy, there were no loving ones at his bedside to close his eyes or shed a tear. His wealth could not call back her whom he had discarded and sent to an untimely grave—the faithful wife and mother—nor win affection from the children to whom he had shown none in his lust for gain and gratification of the baser passions.

They thought not of him, but of his money. "The will the will the will!" they cried, and as we write—although the old man's body has not yet been consigned to the grave—they are consulting attorneys with a view to a contest in the courts. For years Jim Fair had been miserable—morally, mentally, physically. He had hardly a moment without pain, and often said that he would give all his millions for relief. Yet he kept on scheming, speculating in land values, hoarding, to the last, and passed away "unwept, unhonored, and unsung."

Jim Fair was what the world calls a "successful man." He commenced life at the bottom of the ladder, as a common miner. The preacher who reads the prayers for the dead will doubtless make a few remarks —that is customary over "them rich fellows"—in the course of which he will extol the deceased for his many noble qualities, and show how he early acquired habits of frugality, saved his wages, and finally, by sobriety, industry, and enterprise, became a multi-millionaire. And he will exhort the young men of the day to follow his example—to go and do likewise. Perhaps the "lady" writer in the Christmas Examiner—whose article "Equal Rights to Equal Men" has attracted such widespread attention—will contribute one more article on the same subject (and die), in which she will endeavor to show that the very poor are so because God has not given them brains, or because of their intemperate and extravagant habits, in proof of which she will instance Jim Fair, whose brains and character she will estimate by his possessions. That is to say, as he was worth $40,000,000, he was 40,000,000 times abler and better than the penniless man.

Jim Fair was not an extraordinary old man. He was simply a creature of circumstances, and profited by our unjust systems, which beggar a million to make one prince. He "owned the earth"—or a very large slice of it—and it gave to him its abundance. As a miner he "struck it rich." Others have mined a lifetime and remained poor, because every mine is not a Comstock. He invested heavily in real estate here and elsewhere, which has kept multiplying in value with the growth of population. If his children should do nothing with this property, but sleep the sleep of Rip Van Winkle for the next twenty years, they would awake and find that the $40,000,000 would become $80,000,000.
The whole people will have been working for them. But we forget that long before that time we will have a single tax, which will give to the community that which the community creates, and any rise in land values will not go in the form of rent into the landlords' private purse, but into the public till.

The only lesson taught us by Jim Fair's life is that we are living under unjust conditions, and that until these conditions are changed the millionaires and tramps alike will multiply, and both be a constant menace to the peace and happiness of the people.—S. F. Star.

S. F. Star: The Texas legislature may pass a resolution requesting U. S. Senator Mills to resign on the ground that he does not represent Texas. If that idea was to be carried into effect, there would not be enough left of the senate to bury.

S. F. Star: Judge Walter H.
Levy on Monday will retire from the position which he has too long dishonored and disgraced. He will doubtless become prominent in the bar association, whose members so generally endorsed him.

A MURDER SENSATION.
A Shyster Lawyer Hides Out His Murderous Client.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 7.—There was sensational testimony brought out in the coroner's investigation of the mysterious murder of General Passenger and Freight Agent Caven, of the Valley road, which occurred some time ago. Walter I. Shupe, a well-known attorney, testified that he knew Caven's murderer, and could put his hands on him at any time. He refused point blank, however, to give the name, saying the party was his client. It was brought out that Caven had been much in the society of a married woman, whose husband applied for a divorce on account of the intimacy. A man was employed to watch the pair and obtain conclusive evidence, and wound Caven slightly, if possible. The shot went to Caven's vitals, and he died almost instantly. Attorney Shupe probably will be placed in jail this afternoon for contempt, unless he divulges the name desired.

Dots from Salem.
Representative-elect Hofer of Marion is preparing two bills, one is for the referendum, and the other to prohibit corporations employing aliens, i. e., the employes must be American citizens.

Superintendent Rowland, of the insane asylum, has submitted his report to the legislature. The report states that the number of officers and employes fed daily is 108; average number of patients, 970; number of patients on December 31, 977.

The Sinslaw stage, due here last Saturday night, has not arrived neither is there any word from it.
It had to come 60 miles through a very rough mountain country, and friends are uneasy for the safety of the passengers, among whom are Col. B. F. Alley and wife on their way to attend the legislature. They are afraid the stage has been wrecked in crossing some swollen stream.

Mark Twain.
Mark Twain's hair has grown white and his physique is not so robust as it was a few years ago, but he is as brave as a lion. He is a cough, which when he gives up is a most convulsive infirmity, but the humorist seems entirely indifferent to its violence. He sat in a prominent New York club a few days ago, running spasmodically from one story to another and commenting upon the talk of his companions, with a perpetual smile lurking around the corners of his mouth.
Yet at short intervals he was bent over almost double under the violence of his cough. When his companions referred to it, as they did on one or two occasions, Mr. Clemens seemed quite unaware of the fact that he had been arousing a good deal of sympathy as well as incessant laughter.—Exchange.

At Newport, Ark., Saturday night Samuel Swims, a rejected suitor of Alice Cooper, who had married James Fields, shot and killed the girl and her mother.

Dall Lashier, traveling man for a Portland whisky house, had to be locked up in the Walla Walla jail last Saturday, having developed a bad case of delirium tremens.

James Cook and Charles Hugnall of New Orleans fought a street duel last Tuesday night and both were killed. Trouble grew out of Cook's alleged intimacy with Hugnall's wife.

The latest sensation at Astoria is a sliding mountain, which appears to be traveling towards the bay.
Four or five houses have been moved a distance of from two to five feet, and in one instance a dwelling was toppled over so that the slightest jar will send it tumbling down.

The Heppner Record has referred from business, printing its last paper last week. It makes no complaint but turns up its little toes cheerfully, and manfully. It says that "Onward and Upward" was the motto, and that it has gone onward ever since it started, and now it goes "upward."

A Williamstown, Mass., dispatch says that Governor Sylvester Pen-noyer, of Oregon, has endowed Williams college with a scholarship of $34,500 in memory of his son, who died here last term. The money is to be used for the support of needy and deserving students, preference being given to Oregon students, when such are in the college.

Gen. E. L. Applegate, who resides at Merlin, Jackson county, and is known by nearly every old pioneer in Oregon, is suffering from a cancer in the right hand, which has become a serious afflic-tion. It is now considered probable that the arm or at least the hand, must be amputated to save the general's life. His many friends all over the state will earnestly sympathize with him.

PATENTS

NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household, on the farm, and in official life, require continual accessions to the apparatus and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration of government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of the government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent.
Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially is this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at immense risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee then due. THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, as well as general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepares and prosecutes applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trade-marks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives special attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents.

PENSIONS

ADDRESS A LETTER OR POSTAL CARD TO THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY

JOHN WEDDERBURN, Managing Attorney, P. O. Box 463, Washington, D. C.

Honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who served military days, or over, in the late war are entitled, if now partially or wholly disabled for ordinary manual labor, whether disability was caused by service or not, and regardless of their pecuniary circumstances, to receive a pension. WIDOWS of such soldiers and sailors are entitled (if not remarried) whether soldier's death was due to army service or not, if now dependent upon their own labor for support. Widows not dependent upon their own labor are entitled if the soldier's death was due to service. CHILDREN are entitled (if under 16 years) in almost all cases where there was no widow, or she has since died or remarried. PARENTS are entitled if soldier left neither widow nor child, provided soldier died in service, or from effects of service, and they are now dependent upon their own labor for support. It makes no difference whether soldier served or died in late war or in regular army or navy. Soldiers of the late war, pensioned under one law, may apply for higher rates under other laws, without losing any rights. Thousands of soldiers drawing from $2 to $10 per month under the old law are entitled to higher rates under new law, not only on account of disabilities for which now pensioned, but also for others, whether due to service or not. Soldiers and sailors disabled in line of duty in regular army or navy since the late war are also entitled, whether discharged for disability or not. Survivors, and their widows, of the Black Hawk, Creek, Cherokee, and Seminole or Florida Indian wars of 1832 to 1842, are entitled under a recent act. MEXICAN WAR SOLDIERS and their widows also entitled, if 62 years of age or disabled or dependent. Old claims completed and settlement obtained, whether pension has been granted under later laws or not. Rejected claim reopened and settlement secured, if rejection improper or illegal. Certificates of service and discharge obtained for soldiers and sailors of the late war who have lost their original papers. Send for laws and information. No charge for advice. No fee unless successful. Address
