BEAVER HILL COAL COMPANY'S

Letter Addressed to Frank Vaise, Osage City, Kansas.

Jan 29 | 95 Marshfield, Ore.

Dears Sir—I have your favor of the 15th of Jan. addressed to the coast mail asking about coal mining. the same having been turned over to me for reply. I would say that if you are a coal miner of experience and have been accustomed to working on a pitching vein you will be able to find work out here at prices which will be remunerative. In the first place I will say that there is no strike at this mine nor has there been any although we have been short of men right along This is owing to the lack of experience of the men we had on a pitching vein our mine has two veins of coal one of about three feet and one of about 3½ with about 6 inches of clay between the rooms is about 15 ft wide and the roof is such that it has to be timbered but possibly when we get down deeper we will not have so much timbering to do We pay $5.00 per linear yard that is for every three feet for the length of the room 15 feet and for the depth of both seams of coal the miners must keep the coal thoroughly clean and let it run down to the chute where our teamsters load it into the cars at least 40 per cent of each car load must be coarse lumps and the coal is of such a nature that there is no difficulty of keeping it all in lump if it is not all blasted to pieces by powder the vein pitches at about 45 degrees The proper way to come is via San Francisco thence by steamer to this place The steamers come here about every three days. We have some small houses now for families and will add more as they are needed. We will furnish all the men who come along work at these terms up to 40 or 50 men. but we will say in closing that men who do not know how to put up timbers cannot work in this mine

Yours Truly
Beaver Hill Coal Co
R. A. GRAHAM.

THE SUPPLY HOUSE.

How Pennsylvania Coal Miners Are Robbed by Their Employers.

A clerk in a Pennsylvania coal company "supply store" has made some interesting revelations regarding that particular method of robbing the workingman. There are twenty-seven "supply stores" in the coal and coke region, notwithstanding the state law on the subject, and all are owned by the coal companies, or by heavy stockholders in the corporations. Twenty thousand miners or employes of coke ovens are compelled to deal at these stores, and, assuming that the average annual purchases of a customer reach $200, we have $4,000,000 as the total of the business. All the supplies for all the stores are bought for cash by one man, who has an office in Pittsburg, and the employe quoted says he is enabled, by the magnitude of his orders and spot cash payments, to buy from 15 to 25 per cent cheaper than the individual private merchant, while the store prices to miners are from 10 to 25 per cent higher than at other stores. In other words, he figures a profit to the "pluck me" store of from 25 to 50 per cent, and concludes that the stores are often far more profitable to the coal companies than the mines are.

These company stores have no bad debts, as other merchants have. A miner can only obtain goods when he has money coming to him from the coal company. When he exhausts that balance he can obtain no more supplies until he has done more work, and, as a result of this system, he often sees no cash for months at a time.

An Illustration of Government Ownership.

ED. HERALD—Dear Sir: In the Coming Nation of the 13th inst. there appears an article entitled "Government Ownership" that reads as follows: "Hon. Tom Watson's paper has a strong point for government ownership. The Populists have been laughed at for their demand that the government should own and control the railroads in the interest of the people. The most proof of the benefits that would accrue from government ownership is found in Gov. Northen's message. In November, 1893, the Northern railroad became so worthless that the Richmond & Danville refused to pay the interest on the road's bonds. The road extends from Athens to Lula, and was under the control of the Richmond & Danville. The state of Georgia had endorsed the bonds of the road with the stipulation that if the road became involved in such a manner that the state was likely to lose anything, it might assume control of the road and protect itself. The Richmond & Danville tired of the Northeastern and it fell into the hands of the state. We suppose the Richmond & Danville considered it worthless. The state took it in charge, appointed an agent to manage and operate the road. What has been the result? Is the state losing money?

"Not a bit of it.

"The road has been operated under the most adverse circumstances, and yet since last November the net earnings approximate $12,000 and the road is now in splendid condition. So much for government control, even with a very small road, which does nothing in but a local business. This circumstance furnishes a lesson for every thinking man in the state."

If Coxey's "Good Roads Bills" had passed congress and Grover, don't you think the counties of Coos and Douglas would soon build a railroad connecting the counties and furnishing them an outlet and a market for their products and give us an opportunity to trade with them and get out into the rest of the world without doubling the horn, or being shaken into jelly, and without having to slave to pay interest to foreign money lords? Preserving Eggs for Long Periods.

Numerous methods of preserving eggs are in use. The idea of all of this is to keep air out of the egg, as by such absence of oxygen decay can be arrested for a considerable length of time, especially if the eggs are perfectly fresh at the start and are kept in a cool dark place. The standard method, most used by speculators and dealers, is to put the eggs in limewater. The process is as follows, this recipe having been widely sold at $5 under pledge of secrecy:

Take 24 gallons of water, 12 lbs. of unslacked lime and 4 lbs of salt, or in that proportion according to the quantity of eggs to be preserved. Stir several times daily and then let stand until the liquor has settled and is perfectly clear. Draw or carefully dip off the clear liquid, leaving the sediment at the bottom. Take for the above amount of liquid 5 ozs each of baking soda, cream of tartar, saltpeter and borax and an ounce of alum. Pulverize and mix these and dissolve in one gallon of boiling water and add to the mixture about 20 gallons of pure limewater. This will about fill a cider barrel. Put the eggs in carefully so as not to crack any of the shells, letting the water always stand an inch above the eggs, which can be done by blacing a barrel head a little smaller upon them and weighting it. This amount of liquid will preserve 150 dozen eggs. It is not necessary to wait to get a full barrel or smaller package of eggs, but they can be put in at any time that they can be obtained fresh. The same liquid should be used only once.

A STRANGE CASE.

Dayton, O., April 22.—In one of the wards of the insane asylum here is an entire family. There are five persons, and beyond the one hallucination they are bright and intelligent. Their name is Youart. The eldest daughter taught school for years, though insane all the time. They believe a great fortune awaits them in Lancashire, England. It was left to them by their father, and consists of vast estates. It is surprising how many letters from prominent men, including ex-President Harrison, they have. When talking on this subject their eyes dilate, the faces and brows are flushed, and their hands are clasped nervously. The youngest son, a boy of 15, is as crazy as any of the others. Experts believe the family will become violently insane, with homicidal tendencies. It is a strangely marked case of paranoia.

THE SALT LAKE CONFERENCE.

This silver conference—free coinage 16 to 1—is to be held at Salt Lake, May 15. The governor today appointed as delegates from Oregon: Hon. D. P. Thompson, free silver Republican, Portland; Hon. J. C. Young, Populist, Baker City; Sidney Dell, Silverite, Portland.

The governor sought to represent all the silver parties or political parties at all friendly to silver. The convention is to be strictly nonpartisan in a political sense. Its activities are to be wholly dedicated to educating the public mind on the question of finance in the direction of bimetallism.

THE SILVER QUESTION IN TEXAS.

Austin, Tex., April 12.—In compliance with a call issued last week, about 100 members of the Texas legislature met in caucus tonight to take some action on the silver question. It was decided that a vigorous campaign should be inaugurated in every section of the state at once in order that when nominations are made for the state ticket, three years hence, the line should be drawn as between free-silver and "goldbug" Democrats.

Port Orford Tribune: It is reported that R. D. Hume has decided to fence his extensive possessions in the vicinity of Rogue River, and will probably erect a saw-mill at some point up the river.

During the brief term of court in Wallowa county last week, J. W. Cottingham and W. Reavis were fined $50 each for contempt of court. A criminal case against James Stockham, charged with cattle stealing, was called, and the men found guilty of contempt got hold of the principal witness for the state and filled him up with inebriating fluid until he was unable to testify. The judge ascertained the source of the trouble and wituesses were summoned to substantiate the facts. After the prosecuting witness was sobered up, the case continued, and the defendant, Stockham, was convicted.

Twenty Years a Teacher.

Campbellsville, Ky.—"I have been a teacher for twenty years, and during that time have had repeated attacks of headache. Now I am entirely free from them after using Simmons Liver Regulator. It was so mild in its action that it never interfered with my school duties."—E. A. Cheek.

Wallowa county, having broken the record for a number of odd contests, now claims to be the only county in the state without a Chinaman.

PATENTS

NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household, on the farm, and in official life, require continual accessions to the appurtenances and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration of government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of the government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially is this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee then due. THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, as well as general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepares and prosecutes applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trade-marks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives especial attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents.
