Before the law was written down with parchment or with pen;
Before the law made citizens, the moral law made men.
Law stands for human rights, but when it fails those rights to give,
Then let law die, my brother, but let human beings live.

THEY THREW UP THEIR HANDS.

Umatilla County Farmers Who Have Abandoned Their Farms.

Juniper, Oregon, May 27, 1895.—Ed. Alliance Herald: As times are hard, the result of a gold basis, money scarce and firewood at Helix sells for $5 a cord, cash, I concluded a few days ago to take a team and drive from my place, six miles north of Helix, over to Wallula, Wash., for a load of wood. The trip was a most melancholy one. When I reached the Rennick place, on the range line, I could not but stop my team and gaze a few minutes on the scene before me. What a desolate sight met my eyes! The Rennick place was deserted, the old man now past threescore years of age, was gone. He had raised a large family, mostly boys, who were, without exception, upright, honest and industrious. Under the land laws they gained possession of quite an extensive farm, reclaiming the land from its savage state and subjecting it to a high state of cultivation. Once the ranch was a busy place, but now the cheerful voice of agriculture was stilled and there remain only the grades, the roads, the well, the trees and the houses. It was with sorrow that I noticed the absence of this worthy family.

Passing by this place, I followed the ridge road for a distance of 18 miles, going through three school districts where each Sunday morn two years ago could be seen as many teams of farmers as could stand around the schoolhouses, but now, alas, how different! The schoolhouses are falling into decay; the religious services of Sundays are things of the past; the devout congregations are scattered; the prattle of the school children is heard no more; all was desolation! In traveling the entire 18 miles along this road I did not meet or pass a team! Three years ago this road led through a continuous wheat field, but now there was no wheat all along the entire road; not a fence up; not a single farmhouse that appeared to be inhabited; wells, windlasses, cisterns, corrals, windmills, houses, farm—all deserted. Where once was an unbroken field of waving wheat is now an 18 miles long wild mustard waste. There are three railroad stations in Vansycle canyon lying under the lee of this belt of land, but there will be no occupation for wheat receivers at these stations this year. If wild mustard could be maketed at a profit, the receivers would be kept busy enough. Great numbers of farmers have left this region and are seeking for places to lodge their families, even temporarily, and many more are about to remove—in fact, all this region is being depopulated.

Were all these men poor farmers? Were they all extravagant and reckless? Were they all land-grabbers, who mortgaged their quarter-sections to gobble up adjoining tracts and themselves were eaten up by usury? Or were they brave, industrious and honest yeomen whose lives have been blighted, their fortunes wrecked and their families turned upon the highways as wanderers through the devilish machinations of goldbugs? Is it bad management by these farmers or bad laws which have caused this ruin? The demonetization of silver and the resulting shrinkage in value of all products brought 20-cent wheat—and bankruptcy. We have the "honest money" of John Sherman and Grover Cleveland so that honest men cannot pay their debts; we have "sound currency" but unsound farmers. "Sound currency" has transformed this once beautiful and prosperous farming region into a wilderness.

I got back with the load of wood, all right, but I felt so lonesome on the way that I felt that I ought to write my impressions.

Yours, truly, L. M. HUSON.

Painter's Journal: The railroads of this country employ nearly 900,000 men. Of this number 3000 were killed during the past year and 31,728 injured.

Although society is an organization of which each individual is a part, the life of the whole is greater than the life of any part, and each part must work for the welfare of the whole.

Prostituted journalism is not less venal than the weak and fallen creature of the filthy brothel. One appears gilded with authority, while the other besmirched in its helplessness, still remains in the soul the flower of honesty which survives the first fall of woman.

The common people are patient and of long suffering. Long years of misrule and oppression may force them into a subtlety of contrivance to gain a point; to artifice, stratagem. It may prove their only protection against the heartless persecutions they are open to on every side. If the strong by their tyranny force the weak into the last retreat left open to them, on them be the guilt of the habits they have engendered.

Pendleton Herald: The East Oregonian, Democratic, and the Pendleton Tribune, Republican, are both hostile to free coinage of silver. These papers fairly represent the view of the old parties on the money question. Free silver men, get out of the goldbug parties! The People's party demands free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, regardless of Queen Victoria, Kaiser William or the Rothschilds, whose puppets these princes are.

Rev. Myron Reed: St. Paul also says that the husbandman that laboreth must be the first partaker of the fruits. I commend that text to the careful and prayerful consideration of the carbuilder and church-builder, Mr. Geo. M. Pullman. It is plain that he is first to pay his workmen "fair day's wages for a fair day's work." He is to attend to that and then, if there is anything over he may declare a dividend. The dividend of the laborer is the first thing to be considered.

Pendleton Herald: Some of the goldbug organs point with triumph to the rise of wheat in Chicago and then ask: "Why does not silver also rise?" That is an easy one. The speculators can raise or lower the price of any commodity at will. A few weeks ago they made a corner on oil and raised the price enormously—this in face of the fact that the visible supply of oil was as great as ever. Then they made a corner on meat and raised the price of that to suit their own sweet wills. Now they have made a corner on wheat for purely speculative uses. The news from Germany and England that the movement in favor of silver is growing suggests the idea that these same speculators will soon begin to boom silver. When speculators have practical control of the making of the news they can get up a boom in anything.

Port Orford Tribune: Brother Dodge, of the Myrtle Point West Oregonian, has sold his press to the Coquille City Bulletin, and now has the Oregonian printed at Coquille City and published at Myrtle Point, rather an awkward undertaking. If the town cannot support a press, better suspend the paper, and retire from the butcher business.

GENERAL NEWS.

BYRNES TO RIVAL PINKERTON.

New York, June 3.—It is reported that Thomas Byrnes, ex-superintendent of police, will organize a private detective agency in the near future.

LARGE WHEAT SALE.

San Francisco, June 3.—The final transfer of 179,600 tons of wheat, belonging to the Fair estate, was consummated this afternoon. Four leading shipping firms, George W. McNear, Eppinger & Co., Balfour, Guthrie & Co., and Girvin, Baldwin & Eyre, were the purchasers at $17 a ton, the certified checks given in payment amounting to $3,053,200. McNear's claim against the estate for storage was $110,000. The court allowed $89,000 as commissions to the brokers who negotiated the sale. Besides the estate finds itself loser about $1,500,000.

TIMBER LAND CLAIMANTS WON.

Roseburg, Or., June 3.—The land office here today received notice that the case of the United States vs. Warner and Julius E. Miner, timber land contests, had been decided by Commissioner Lamoreaux in favor of the defendants. This was made a test case out of 50 or more entries, comprising the Julius E. Miner timber land on Rogue river. This contest was held in Roseburg, and attracted a vast amount of attention on account of a large body of timber land being involved. The land office officials here decided in favor of the government, and Miner appealed to the commissioner of the general land office, who reversed the decision.

BANK PRESIDENT SUICIDES.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 3.—Ex-Senator E. R. Cassett, president of the First National Bank of Pella, was found in the bank with his throat cut today, having attempted suicide. The affairs of the bank will be immediately investigated. Cassett is still living, but in a critical condition.

Blames the Legislature.

The difficulties of conducting an office for which no appropriation has been made is now being experienced by State Land Agent T. W. Davenport. Mr. Davenport has had printed and will send out to those portions of the state where unclaimed lands are supposed to lie, large posters, addressed "To the People of Oregon." These circulars charge the last legislature with failure to appropriate money for the selection of lands in lieu of the 16th and 36th sections of the forest reserve, and Mr. Davenport anticipates that within the next two years the best land that is now available will be taken under homestead and timber-land acts. He appeals to the patriotism of those who have knowledge of such lands to forward a description of the same. There remains an obstacle to the state acquiring lands after the selections have been made. A fee of $2 for every quarter section is required to list lands in the United States land office, and unless the board of land commissioners will assume a legislative function and find money for this purpose, the work of selecting lieu land is effectually blocked.

Among those lost by the sinking of the Colima was Mrs. E. J. Brainard, wife of Judge Brainard, of Union county.

Port Orford Tribune: The egg gatherers are ready for their season's work, and are only waiting for the birds to begin business. Ace Carey chartered the Dreadnaught one day last week to take lumber, boxes, and supplies to Island Rock, and Emil Jessine and the Bartelle boys have taken possession of two other rocks in the vicinity. These rocks, lying off Humbug mountain, are the resort of thousands of birds known as the murre, and gathering their eggs has become quite a profitable industry for Port Orford.

The editor of the Cottage Grove Echo-Leader got himself into trouble by speaking of a local millinery store kept by a very estimable lady and saying he was "very glad to see her stocking up." When the paper came out, Bro. Thorp was astonished when the lady met him and struck him over the think-dome with her umbrella, at the same time telling him that he was a liar and hadn't seen anything of the kind. He doesn't yet know what she was mad at, although he has read the item a hundred times to see if there was anything spiteful in it.

"You'll get it!" jeered the spoon, when the finger got smeared with molasses. Get what? "A licking."

She—I can't help thinking I have seen your portrait in the newspapers somewhere. He—Oh, no doubt; it's often been published. She—Then I am not mistaken. What were you cured of?

PATENTS
NOTICE TO INVENTORS.
There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household, on the farm, and in official life, require continual accessions to the appurtenances and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration of government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of the government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially is this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee then due. THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, as well as general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepares and prosecutes applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trade-marks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives especial attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents.

Honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who served ninety days, or over, in the late war are entitled, if now partially or wholly disabled for ordinary manual labor, whether disability was caused by service or not, and regardless of their pecuniary circumstances.
WIDOWS of such soldiers and sailors are entitled (if not remarried) whether soldier's death was due to army service or not, if now dependent upon their own labor for support. Widows not dependent upon their own labor are entitled if the soldier's death was due to service.
CHILDREN are entitled (if under 16 years) in almost all cases where there was no widow, or she has since died or remarried.
PARENTS are entitled if soldier left neither widow nor child, provided soldier died in service, or from effects of service, and they are now dependent upon their own labor for support. It makes no difference whether soldier served or died in late war or in regular army or navy.
Soldiers of the late war, pensioned under one law, may apply for higher rates under other laws, without losing any rights.
Thousands of soldiers drawing from $2 to $10 per month under the old law are entitled to higher rates under new law, not only on account of disabilities for which now pensioned, but also for others, whether due to service or not.
Soldiers and sailors disabled in line of duty in regular army or navy since the war are also entitled, whether discharged for disability or not.
Survivors, and their widows, of the Black Hawk, Creek Cherokee, and Seminole or Florida Indian wars of 1832 to 1842, are entitled under a recent act.
MEXICAN WAR SOLDIERS and their widows also entitled, if 62 years of age or disabled or dependent.
Old claims completed and settlement obtained, whether pension has been granted under later laws or not.
Rejected claims reopened and settlement secured, if rejection improper or illegal.
Certificates of service and discharge obtained for soldiers and sailors of the late war who have lost their original papers.
