Before the law was written down with parchment or with pen;
Before the law made citizens, the moral law made men.
Law stands for human rights, but when it fails those rights to give,
Then let law die, my brother, but let human beings live.

An Open Letter to Chief Justice Fuller.

To Mr. Fuller, Chief Justice of the United States.

Dear Sir: The supreme court was established as a conservator of the public weal and as a safeguard to American liberty. It was believed that nine men, raised to the highest eminence on earth, and clothed with the supreme dignity and power of a court of last appeal, would hold the scales of justice with a steady hand. It was believed that when nine minds, each eminent for legal lore and power of discrimination, were brought to bear upon any subject, unalloyed truth would be separated from the rubbish of falsehood and error and a decision reached unsullied by sordid motives or the bias of meaner souls. But we have been disappointed. Your opinion setting aside the income tax law as unconstitutional is regarded by every patriot as unjust and revolutionary. Your decision consigning Eugene V. Debs to a felon's cell denies the right of a laboring man to counsel other laboring men. You, Mr. Fuller, have decided, other justices concurring, that the poor man shall bear the burdens of the rich. You have reversed the former decisions of the court. You have set aside all precedent relating to income tax both in America and England and entered in the records of our highest tribunal an opinion unjust to every producer of wealth in the United States. We believe you have disgraced the ermine and forfeited the respect of men. You are a menace to American liberty. You stand as a barrier and hindrance to bar our progress towards that equality which is guaranteed by the constitution. More than a quarter of a century ago the supreme court ruled that a negro had no rights which the white man was bound to respect; but the people reversed the decision. You have virtually ruled that the toiling men have no rights that the bondholder is bound to respect. We, sovereign citizens of the United States, protest against your decision. In the name of oppressed humanity and appealing to the great Jehovah we denounce and condemn and utterly repudiate the action of yourself and concurring justices. We hold your decision in supreme contempt and hereby call upon you to resign. In behalf of outraged justice we demand that you come down from a seat which you are in no wise worthy to occupy that the ermine may be entrusted to men who not only fear God but who also love justice and will dare to do right while raging bondholders and landlords oppose in vain.

The Judiciary Again to the Rescue.

In another column we give a summary of Judge Ross' decision, adverse to the government in its suit against the Stanford estate for $15,400,000. It is a voluminous document, the "points" in which we must take time to analyze. In an interview, Judge McKissick, the learned attorney for the government—whose argument in the case was a masterpiece of logic and law—says he is as thoroughly convinced that Justice Ross is conscientious as that he is wrong, but adds:

"In sustaining the demurrer, Judge Ross did not base his decision upon the arguments presented by Judge Garber. In fact, the court sustained my position that the Pacific roads are liable to the government to pay the bonds and interest at maturity. But Judge Ross held that under the peculiar legislation of congress the government's intent was not to exact from the individual stockholders their proportion of that debt, and that under the laws of '62 in California they are not responsible for their proportion of that indebtedness. This is the first time in the history of California that such a decision has been reached by any court in the state. Hitherto no lawyer has so construed the law, and in the argument presented to Judge Ross, Judge Garber did not make this contention."

One significant fact we notice in the decision is that the judge, while extolling the important national character and military aspect of the railroad enterprise, started in the midst of a civil war, is careful not to state that the entire benfits were gobbled up by five men who robbed first the stockholders and then the entire people, as far as they could reach them, both as a government and as individuals. He might truly say that such comment would be out of place in a judicial opinion; but it would be no more so than what he says in eulogy of the purposes and advantages of the road and the implied enterprise of the magnates in building it with other people's money, getting paid for it three times over, holding the virtually stolen property and repudiating the debt without contracting which they could never have built the road at all.

Without Judge McKissick's confidence in Justice Ross' "conscientiousness," we believe, with him, that the decision is wrong, and when we have studied it more carefully we will probably conclude that it is a crime.—S. F. Star.

S. F. Star: The two robbers who "held up" the train the other day were more considerate than Huntington and his "pals." The former refused to take anything from women or men whose appearance indicated that he worked for a living. The latter robbed everybody, including the widow and orphan, and, as in the case of the Mussel Slough settlers, sometimes supplemented robbery by murder.

S. F. Star: In Austria prizes are given to encourage farmers to recover waste lands, and also to build stables and shelters for cows at high altitudes. Here the government taxes people for doing such things.

Human life would be much more secure if all the "doctors" were dead.

Railroad Monopoly and Postal Deficit.

U. S. Senator Vilas was at one time postmaster-general, and in a speech in the senate last session (to which the Twentieth Century calls attention), he stated that, while the total value of 740 railroad postal cars was only $1,600,000, $2,000,000 a year was paid by the government for their rent alone. The maintenance of these cars costs annually $722,360; but whether that sum is paid by the companies or the government is not stated. The Pennsylvania railroad alone received more than $2,000,000 annually for mail transportation and $575,000 for rent of 50 postal cars.

Senator Vilas then moved to appriate $500,000 for the purchase, ownership, and management of the necessary postal cars, but the bill was promptly laid on the table by 23 to 10.

Of course the Associated Press dispatches were entirely silent as to the senators expose and bill. Steps should be taken to ascertain the entire annual payments for rent of cars and carriage of mails, and the approximate weight of mail thus carried. We think it would then be easy to show that the deficit in the postal revenue is covered three or four times over by the amount paid for rent of cars and carriage of mails exceeding cost of service. The notorious "star route" scandals of some ten years ago, in which the present U. S. Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, was up to his eyes, showed that the postal revenues were plundered of millions annually then (as probably ever since) that could have been saved by honest and economical management. Taking the "star route" and railroad services together, the indications are strong that, with government railroads, the postoffice department, instead of being some $9,000,000 behind, would be, at present postal rates, at least $20,000,000 ahead annually. Yet successive postmaster-generals keep up a continuous whine about the deficit which they claim arises from carrying printed matter at a loss, not giving the least hint of the real cause therefor.—S. F. Star.

GENERAL NEWS.

A HORRIBLE TALE.

Elwood, Ind., July 3.—Lilian Favors, aged 13, was bound and gagged by a gang of 15 men and kept in the woods for four days near New Corner. She reached home finally more dead than alive. A mob is searching for the scoundrels.

DOING POOR BUSINESS.

Washington, July 3.—Over $6,000,000 expended in two days is the record for the beginning of the present fiscal year. This is $2,000,000 daily in excess of receipts.

DESTROYED ALL PROOF.

Lexington, Tenn., July 3.—The courthouse, mayor's office, and all the county records were destroyed by an incendiary fire today. The investigation of alleged forgeries in county grants now under way is supposed to be the cause of the fire. There is no insurance. Whitecappers, against whom indictments were issued, are held responsible. The loss is $35,000.

BABY RUTH'S NEW SISTER.

New York, July 8.—A special to a local paper from Buzzard's Bay, Mass., says: There is rejoicing at Gray Gables, the president's summer home, over the arrival of another little girl, which interesting event accurred at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The little stranger was the general subject of conversation among all people.

DURRANT'S TRIAL.

San Francisco, July 9.—The jurors in the trial of Theodore Durrant have been summoned for July 22. One hundred and fifty names were drawn by County Clerk Curry, who performed the work in person. Of the jurors drawn, 75 will be summoned to appear on the morning of July 22 and 75 to appear on the following day.

BRIBERY ALLEGED.

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—In an interview with the reporter of a Chicago paper, Governor Altgeld says: "It is a fact that certain members of the general assembly were paid large sums for their support of the Humphrey racing bill. One of the members, I am told, was paid $5000 by an officer of the association. These facts will be made public at the proper time and place."

POOR FELLOW—THEY HANGED HIM.

Pittsburg, July 9.—Daniel Wenting, who shot and killed his wife July 7, because she had him sent to the workhouse for drunkenness and abuse, was hanged today.

Questions, Questions, Questions!

If everybody were just, would anybody need to be kind? This question naturally rises from the Five-Minute Sermon in EVERY WHERE for July. Is Naples a good place to visit in the summer? EVERY WHERE answers the question, by taking its readers there, on one of its famous "Lightning Tours," and ascending with them to the very top of the volcano Vesuvius. Is there any use of taking cold? The Health Civil Service Examination Department of our paper answers that question, promptly and accurately. Did you ever run away to a-swimming? If so, the illustrated poem of WILL CARLETON (who edits this bright journal, and writes for every page of it) will bring back each step of the way, and every plash of the cool water. Send fifty cents, and you will get the most original of papers for a year. Or mail ten cents in stamps or specie, for sample copies, agent's outfit, and instructions how to make "big money." Reader, did you ever take SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR, the "KING OF LIVER MEDICINES?" Everybody needs take a liver remedy. It is a sluggish or diseased liver that impairs digestion and causes constipation, when the waste that should be carried off remains in the body and poisons the whole system. That dull, heavy feeling is due to a torpid liver. Biliousness, Headache, Malaria and Indigestion are all liver diseases. Keep the liver active by an occasional dose of Simmons Liver Regulator and you'll get rid of these troubles, and give tone to the whole system. For a laxative Simmons Liver Regulator is BETTER THAN PILLS. It does not gripe, nor weaken, but greatly refreshes and strengthens.

Disgusting Worship of the Calf.

One of the daughters of John D. Rockafeller has recently become engaged to a young chap in Chicago, and in mentioning the fact the papers occupy columns in describing the enormous wealth to which she is heiress, and one would think that her sole recommendation. The manner in which we fall down and worship the golden calf is most degrading. It has about come to that point where the standing of either man or woman is gauged by the number of dollars that can be shown up, and yet we wonder that men—hard-working, honest men—become dissatisfied with their surroundings. When natural worth and inborn integrity are estimated at their true value we may hope for more contentment all around us. It is not natural or just that men who have talent and honesty to recommend them, but lack dollars, should be cast aside for a lot of worthless nincompoops who have nothing on the face of the Lord's earth to recomend them but the dollars which their father obtained by hook or crook.—Litchfield (Dak.) News.

PATENTS

NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household, on the farm, and in official life, require continual accessions to the appurtenances and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration of government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of the government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially is this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee then due. THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, as well as general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepares and prosecutes applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trade-marks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives especial attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents.

Honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who served ninety days, or over, in the late war are entitled, if now partially or wholly disabled for ordinary manual labor, whether disability was caused by service or not, and regardless of their pecuniary circumstances.
WIDOWS of such soldiers and sailors are entitled (if not remarried) whether soldier's death was due to army service or not, if now dependent upon their own labor for support. Widows not dependent upon their own labor are entitled if the soldier's death was due to service.
CHILDREN are entitled (if under 16 years) in almost all cases where there was no widow, or she has since died or remarried.
PARENTS are entitled if soldier left neither widow nor child, provided soldier died in service, or from effects of service, and they are now dependent upon their own labor for support. It makes no difference whether soldier served or died in late war or in regular army or navy.
Soldiers of the late war, pensioned under one law, may apply for higher rates under other laws, without losing any rights.
Thousands of soldiers drawing from $2 to $10 per month under the old law are entitled to higher rates under new law, not only on account of disabilities for which now pensioned, but also for others, whether due to service or not.
Soldiers and sailors disabled in line of duty in regular army or navy since the war are also entitled, whether discharged for disability or not.
Survivors, and their widows, of the Black Hawk, Creek, Cherokee, and Seminole or Florida Indian wars of 1832 to 1842, are entitled under a recent act.
MEXICAN WAR SOLDIERS and their widows also entitled, if 62 years of age or disabled or dependent.
Old claims completed and settlement obtained, whether pension has been granted under later laws or not.
Rejected claims reopened and settlement secured, if rejection improper or illegal.
Certificates of service and discharge obtained for soldiers and sailors of the late war who have lost their original papers.
