Before the law was written down with parchment or with pen; Before the law made citizens, the moral law made men.

Law stands for human rights, but when it fails those rights to give, Then let law die, my brother, but let human beings live. -Rev. Miller Hazeman.

Voters, Have a Thought. ED. HERALD: We are too apt to hurrah for party, without having a thought as to what or where that party is leading or driving us.

Here are some of the questions that we should ever keep in view, in which we never let them out of our sight if we would be free: Does every one in this government help to support the government according to his ability?

Are the laws administered justly, equally and speedily, without unnecessary expense, and if not who is responsible? Are all the laws just and righteous, and have we a sufficiency of them?

How far does the law meet the aim and purpose of law to protect the weaker against the stronger in person and property? By whom and for what party or class are those laws made and executed? For it is by keeping these questions constantly before us, and acting according to the dictates of our consciences, emulated with the spirit of brotherly love, that we can expect to retain freedom and become freed men.

Too often we are made machines of to howl for the party without thought - to "vote 'er straight" regardless of consequences. I have known some of the most consummate scoundrels elected to office by just such machines.

The privilege of voting and running for office are no part of freedom itself, but they are the instruments, the birthright and trusts bequeathed to us by our noble forefathers to enable us to defend and preserve our freedom.

Cursed be the man who will sell his birthright for a drink of whisky or for the money of tyrants. This great trust should not be waived even for the benefit of one's own friend or party, much less for whisky or the money of lords.

These "worthy" lords, political, selfish demagogues, have lived and transformed freedom into various shapes in order to dupe the voter. They have told him that voting and running for office were freedom. They have erected a large image far out at sea with a large flambeau in its hand and called it "Liberty."

They have stamped a million little goddesses on silver which you may love as you love money. But the voter should worship no image which Nebuchadnezzar sets up, for all this is calculated to distract attention from the truth. If the truth make you free, you shall be freed indeed.

J. H. J. A Few "Sound-Money" Men. The First National Bank at Pella, Iowa, is closed. E. R. Cassell, its president, lost $14,000 gambling, and the bank couldn't stand the pressure. Cassell has since cut his throat, but is not dead.

One of Cleveland's "sound money" postmasters, at Breckenridge, Texas, is short $2000. The money that he stole is not good in "Yurup," either.

C. L. Woodbridge & Co., importers of dress goods, trimmings, etc., New York, have failed, owing $200,000. They probably understand by this time that money that is good in "Yurup" don't make business hum - unless there is plenty of it.

The Stevens Cotton Mills, Lancaster, Pa., have failed, owing about $100,000. Single standard dollars don't go very far in the struggle for business existence.

Chas. W. Gryne, "sound money" dude and all around sport, left Richmond, Va., a few days ago by the light of the moon, after over-drawing his bank account to the tune of $600.

The Milford, N. H., Savings Bank has suspended payments. It claims to have about $900,000 in deposits, but cannot realize on securities to pay pressing demands.

There it is Securities are so low. Well, didn't you goldbugs make 'em low! Now sweat.

Hard times and "sound money" has Birmingham, Ala., too poor to pay the interest on her city bonds.

J. M. Heffner, agent for Adams Express Company and C. B. & Q. R. R. at Rock Island, Ill., has gone with $2500 good in Yurup.

W. W. Taylor, the "sound money" treasurer of South Dakota, who ran away with $387,000 state money on the 7th of last January, has voluntarily returned and will be tried.

He has turned over all his property to his bondsmen. The state offered a reward of $20,000 for his arrest, but detectives failed to locate him. -Progressive Farmer, Raleigh, N. C.

Slavery at Last. Spring Valley, Ill., July 5. -The community is excited by 300 miners offering to go into slavery, if guaranteed, for themselves and their families, comfortable homes, plenty of fuel and food, and serviceable clothing. They represent the best element among the miners, and are willing to serve thus without a cent of wages. They say they will sign an iron-clad contract.

The miners say that this attitude will prove that the present trouble which threatens to end in a strike is not of their seeking. During the past three years they have suffered for the necessities of life, and that rather than see their families suffer any more, they will become serfs. -Associated Press Report.

What Is Justice? A little girl had both feet cut off by a street car in Brooklyn, and a jury gave her $12,268.68 damages. I quote from the New York World:

"The money was deposited in the Kings County Trust Company, and the court ordered the trust company to pay the girl's lawyer $7244.83." Think of that for justice! Think of justice being free in this country! Think of an order of the court to take half a fortune a jury awarded to a crippled little girl to give a lawyer for a few days work. Justice is a farce. It is an "iridescent dream," a vagary, a sound to tickle fools who vote for this system. -Coming Nation.

The Commercial Tribune says that the greatest sin a man has to answer for now-a-days is poverty. He may have grievous faults, but if he has money, his faults are overlooked, but if he is poor, God help him, for he will find few others to do so. To say a man has made a success of his life, means that he has made money, it matters not how. To say his life has been a failure, means he is poor. It is no wonder that the poor are discontented.

Exchange: Young Eckles, the comptroller, says the government cannot make a "50-cent dollar worth 100 cents by legislation." Judge McConnell, of Chicago, in replying, said: "A government that can make statesman out of brass should have no trouble in making a dollar out of silver." Mr. Eckles has taken the judge's remarks as personal.

The free coinage of silver up to 1873 did not drive gold out of this country. If it didn't drive it out then, why should it now? If you like the present condition of affairs just vote the old party ticket some more.

A Remarkable Cure.

Yuma, Ariz., July 30. -On White river, near Camp Apache, has been found a remarkable cave. For 500 feet the explorers were obliged to crawl on hands and knees, using candles and bull's-eye lanterns for light. They found between 300 and 400 human skeletons, indicating the remains of persons who had been smothered to death by smoke long years ago. Some of these were in crevices just large enough to admit a human body. The skeletons are of various sizes, some being very small. The skulls are of a brown color with the exception of a few, which are white.

The White Mountain Apaches are very superstitious about the cave, and say that within it there is a large lake of water. The visitors found no water, but intend to explore further. There are but two ways of entering it.

The Farallon, Capt. Roberts, reports passing the big raft of logs, which is being towed from the Columbia to San Francisco, Monday p. m., 29th inst., twenty miles south of Cape Blanco. It was making five miles an hour and everything well.

"Daddy," asked little Danny Groggan, "what is this new woman business, anyhow?" "It means," said Mr. Groggan, after a moment's thought, "that, instead of a man and his wife being 'an any moore,' that now he is won man an' she is another, bedad."

A Letter from the Valley. MORNING, Oregon, July 26, 1895. ED. HERALD: -Dear Sir: I promised you a letter when I left Coquille; I will now attempt to fulfill my promise. I have often thought of you and have wished that I might see the HERALD now and then, that I might scan its pages and hear of my friends and about the happenings in the vicinity of your city.

I am still breaking the bread of life to the people and recreating during the week by driving nails and sawing off boards. I, in fact, am something of a mixture - a preacher and carpenter combined. Christ, you know, was a carpenter, and I believe he worked at the trade, and though he did not, there is no more honest labor - least it be that of an editor.

I expect to remain at this place until the 1st of September, when the interest on the I. O. G. T. Arrangements have been consummated whereby I will labor for that order this fall and perhaps a part of the winter. I shall lecture and organize both subordinate lodges and temples.

I trust the lodge at your place is progressing. I would be pleased to step in on you some of these fine days and see you and the devils and devilesses.

I suppose that something of this country would be interesting, so will say - Farmers are busy making hay, harvesting and taking care of their crops. Professors and students and the elite of the cities are at the watering places, down by the "sounding sea," or in the mountains. Carpenters and preachers are staying at home mixing in the toil and turmoil of this unevenly distributed world, yet when we all gather by the "great river of waters," by their fruits ye shall know them; and though some may gather stones and shells by the "sounding sea" in this world [I forgot to say the editors were staying at home, too] we, Bro. McEwen, if faithful over the few things given us here will gather pearls on the bright celestial shore and then shall we know as we are known.

I oftentimes have wished that I might be in Coquille. I love the people there, though they do not love me, I fear.

I shall likely visit that section in the fall while on my tour. Give love to all in the office, and as the saying is, "kiss the cook" for me. Yours ever in remembrance. O. G. QUIMBY.

NEURALGIA cured by Dr. Miles' PAIN EXPELLER. "One cent a dose." At all druggists.

What did the editor get for his Christmas? A gold collar button. Well, isn't he satisfied? No! Now he wants a shirt!
