Before the law was written down with parchment or with pen; Before the law made citizens, the moral law made men.

STOCKWELL'S BAD BOY. Everything Favoring the People is Un-constitutional.

Pa, what is a constitution?

It is the embodiment of the wisdom of ages, it is the bulwark of our liberties, it is the grandest document ever penned, it is the—

Say, pa, Judge Brown says in his decision just handed down that the fee and salary law passed two years ago is unconstitutional.

What does that mean, pa? It means that it was not according to the constitution, so it could not stand.

Didn't the people all over Indiana want the fees and salaries reduced? Yes, all but the office-holders.

Didn't the people two years ago want a reduction of fees and salaries? Yes, everybody did, Republicans and Democrats both.

Didn't both the old party platforms contain planks demanding heavy reductions? Yes, they did.

Didn't the speakers in private and on the stump promise, if elected, to reduce salaries? Yes, they did.

Now the constitution comes in and knocks it all endways.

Yes, the law was unconstitutional. Who promised us to reduce salaries?

The lawyers. Who passed the law, pa? Lawyers.

Who made the constitution? Lawyers. Who declared the act unconstitutional? Lawyers.

Who will be benefited by the in-operation of the law? Lawyers.

Who wanted salaries reduced? The people. Who pays the salaries? The people.

Pa, do you know, I think the constitution a queer thing? Why; how—

Slavery used to be constitutional. It was constitutional to chase negroes nearly to Canada, catch and take them back into slavery. It was constitutional to sell them like hogs.

It was unconstitutional to help a fleeing Eliza escape the bloodhounds of Haley and Marks. It was unconstitutional to convict a white man of a crime upon negro evidence though 100 negroes might have seen a murder committed in cold blood by a white man.

My son, you are talking anarchy. Pa, which is the biggest, 2,000,000 of people who are unjustly taxed, or a little musty piece of paper made by lawyers, for lawyers, tucked away somewhere in a pigeon hole in the dark vaults of the state house?

Why, ah!—the constitution of—I know one time, pa, when the people were the biggest.

When, my son? When the emancipation proclamation was proclaimed.

Oh, well, yes, that is all changed now; slavery was wrong, everybody admits that now.

If the constitution was wrong once isn't it liable to be again, pa? Ah, you—you see it won't do to admit that—we would have no law.

It's constitutional to make and license and sell whisky, to make men drunk.

Ah, yes, I believe so. Who is benefited by the whisky traffic? Saloon keepers and lawyers.

Why are lawyers benefited? They get big fees for defending saloon keepers who violate the law and drunkards who fight and beat their wives and—

Pa, according to Judge Brown's decision it will be impossible to ever reduce the salaries in Indiana.

It does begin to look so. A few years ago the judges received $2500 a year in some counties, now they get $5000.

Let's see, back a few years ago when money was plenty, wheat was worth $2.50 a bushel, then it would have taken 1000 bushels to pay their salaries. Now it will take 6666 bushels to pay one of them. This is the kind of a bag you used to fill to pay it:

This is the size now required: My son, we are getting down to a solid basis.

Yes, too d—d solid, pa. My son, I'll raise wets on your cuticle as big as the state of Rhode Island for profanity. [Exit boy.]

Norman (Okla.) Voice: Some people did not seem to understand how it was that the government could make money out of paper; however, we expect they will be able to explain how the banks can under the Baltimorean plan.

S. F. Star: They have a "solid five" in the board of education at San Jose, as we have a "solid seven" here, that awarded a contract for desks at $1 a head more than the lowest bidder, on pretext of patronizing home industry, all the desks being made outside of the state.

The Capital Journal, a Republican paper at Salem, says: This office is receiving a series of circulars, sent out, no doubt, by a propaganda of manufacturers, making war upon labor unions.

These essays set forth that unions and their strikes are wholly responsible for hard times, and that their workings are a crime that should be punished. The acts of some men connected with unions may be criminal, but what of the trusts of these manufacturers, who seek to crush not only the laborer, but every consumer of their products?

Salem Capital Journal (Rep.): The New York Reform Club sends us an elaborate pamphlet to prove that France has the single gold standard. The Oregonian, at Portland, has a big lot of them on tap to distribute in this state.

We cannot see what we have to do with France or any other country on this subject. None of them are any too prosperous. All of them are suffering under the heavy hand of capitalistic extortion.

This nation is powerful enough and ought to be independent and brave enough to determine its own financial policy and maintain it regardless of France, Germany or England.

There must be some mistake in a late interview with ex-Senator William M. Everts as to the profits in farming these days. If we take the Coast Mail and its ilk, the little cucos and strikers of the old he demagogues and railroad attorneys(?), the old ex-senator doesn't fit the times nor know as much as he used to.

A newspaper reporter says: "Ex-Senator William M. Everts, who has become nearly blind, spends most of his time at his summer home in Windsor, Vt. It is difficult for him to either read or write, though he takes great interest in the news of the day. The other day a neighbor asked the ex-senator if he made his farm pay. "Yes," was the reply, "by crediting the farm with everything taken off put on it and charging nothing for it."

Nevertheless, Mr. Everts is considered by his neighbors to be a model farmer. S. F. Star: Mrs. William Vanderbilt gave a "reception" at her marble palace the other evening, which is said to have surpassed in magnificence and extravagance anything that even royalty ever dreamed of.

Flunkies dressed in rich satin, their pates adorned with powdered wigs, received the guests—the most "highly respectable," and, of course, wealthiest of Gotham's citizens. There were such dazzling displays in Rome during the decline of the empire by the privileged class, while the disinherited masses were starving; and in France, just before the revolution. Will history repeat itself here in America? Or shall we, by the law of services, through the single tax, make the "dogs in the manger" go to work or starve, and give to all an equal opportunity to enjoy the earth, which God intended for all, every man to have and own only that, but all that, or its equivalent, which he produces.

St. John's Church Consecrated.

The first Protestant Episcopal church ever built in Bandon, was completed this year and consecrated on Sunday, August 25th, by Bishop B. Winstar Morris, bishop of the diocese of Oregon, assisted by Rev. Wm. Horsfall. The church was built by Mrs. Belle I. Sellwood, relict of the late Rev. John W. Sellwood, in memory of her husband, and by her request dedicated to St. John's by the Sea. The attendance was very large; all the seats were crowded and a large crowd extended from the entrance a long way outside.

The bishop and Mr. Horsfall upon their arrival at the entrance of the church, and who were attired in full canonicals, were met by a deputation consisting of George Bennett, J. M. Upton, H. Neely, F. E. Palmer, H. H. Baldwin, Wm. Gallier, J. P. Tupper, G. C. Benson and John Gauntlet, and escorted to the communion table, where the bishop commenced the services with a short prayer, after which Mr. George Bennett, who had been appointed to read the request to consecrate to the bishop, came forward and before doing so, addressed him as follows: Reverend Father in God: Before I begin to read the request to consecrate, I wish to mention a very interesting fact, which is, that the first Protestant Episcopal church ever erected in Ireland, Great Britain, was built and consecrated in old Bandon in 1610, and now after the lapse of three centuries, the first Protestant Episcopal church ever erected in new Bandon, America, was built and is now about to be consecrated by our worthy bishop—Bishop Morris—assisted by our worthy pastor—Rev. W. Horsfall. It is also worthy of note that it is to Mrs. Sellwood, a lady who was born in Dublin, Ireland, and now resident in Portland, Oregon, to whom we are indebted for this church, she having built it solely at her own expense. I think it right to mention also, that the town of Bandon in Ireland was built and settled in, by an English colony from Essex, near London, and under the presidency of a London alderman, in 1588, and many of their descendants are there still, and many more have crossed the broad Atlantic to the United States, the Canadian, British America, the Australian colonies, in fact to wherever the English language is spoken.

Upon its conclusion he then read the request to consecrate, and handed same to the bishop, who proceeded with the usual services consequent upon such an auspicious event, aided by his worthy assistant, after which the regular church service was performed, and with the addition of the confirmation of eleven postulants, and subsequently the administration of the sacrament to about thirty others. When the services were concluded the congregation returned to their homes greatly pleased with the sacred services of the day. The request to consecrate was signed by Rev. W. Horsfall, the deputation to receive the bishop, and by others, and also by several ladies, among whom were M. A. Benson, Kathleen Williams, Ellen M. Joyce, Nellie Tanbrook, Mary E. Walker, Gussie Reed, L. M. Walker, Jemima Laughend and Lizzie Manciet.—Bandon Recorder, Aug. 30, 1895.

Mrs. E. E. Davis, of San Miguel, Cal., says: "I am trying in a measure to repay the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the great good their remedy has done me. For years I was a constant sufferer from weak lungs and bronchial asthma. My rest at night was disturbed by a hacking cough, so that I felt miserable the greater part of the time. Many remedies recommended by friends were tried, none of which proved suitable to my case. I did not experience any beneficial results until I began taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. After two bottles of the large size have been used I am pleased to state, my health is better than it has been for years. The soreness has left my lungs and chest and I can breathe easily. It has done me so much good that I want all who are suffering from lung troubles, as I was, to give it a trial." For sale by Dr. S. L. Leneve, druggist.

PATENTS NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household, on the farm, and in official life, require continual accessions to the apparatuses and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration of government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of the government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially is this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee then due. THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, as well as general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepares and prosecutes applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trade-marks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives especial attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents. Write for instructions and advice. PHILIP W. AVIRETT, 618 F Street, [P. O. Box 385], Washington, D. C.

Honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who served ninety days, or over, in the late war are entitled, if now partially or wholly disabled for ordinary manual labor, whether disability was caused by service or not, and regardless of their pecuniary circumstances, WIDOWS of such soldiers and sailors are entitled (if not remarried) whether soldiers' death was due to army service or not, if now dependent upon their own labor for support. Widows not dependent upon their own labor are entitled if the soldier's death was due to service.

CHILDREN are entitled (if under 16 years) in almost all cases where there was no widow, or she has since died or remarried. PARENTS are entitled if soldier left neither widow nor child, provided soldier died in service, or from effects of service, and they are now dependent upon their own labor for support. It makes no difference whether soldier served or died in late war or in regular army or navy. Soldiers of the late war, pensioned under one law, may apply for higher rates under other laws, without losing any rights. Thousands of soldiers drawing from $2 to $10 per month under the old law are entitled to higher rates under new law, not only on account of disabilities for which now no pension, but also for others, whether due to service or not. Soldiers and sailors disabled in line of duty in regular army or navy since the war are also entitled, whether discharged for disability or not. Survivors, and their widows, of the Black Hawk, Creek, Cherokee, and Seminole or Florida Indian wars of 1832 to 1842, are entitled under a recent act. MEXICAN WAR SOLDIERS and their widows also entitled, if 62 years of age or disabled or dependent. Old claims completed and settlement obtained, whether pension has been granted under later laws or not. Rejected claims reopened and settlement secured, if rejection improper or illegal. Certificates of service and discharge obtained for soldiers and sailors of the late war who have lost their original papers. Send for laws and information. No charge for advice. No fee unless successful. THE PRESS CLAIMS CO., PHILIP W. AVIRETT, General Manager, P. O. Box 463, Washington, D. C.
