A PROBABLE BOND ISSUE

Recent press dispatches bring to us the information that Mr. Cleveland and his counselors will in all probability make another issue of bonds (amount not stated) before the meeting of congress, for the purpose of replenishing the gold reserve in the treasury, that has again dwindled to about eighty-five millions. Mr. Cleveland is well aware that if he waits until congress meets, or in his own way of putting it, until "he has a congress on his hands," he may not have quite as smooth sailing in the bond business as he can now have while he is "monarch of all he surveys."

It may be an impertinent question, but we would like, just the same, to ask how long this issuing of interest bearing bonds to purchase gold to keep one hundred million dollars of gold coin piled up in the United States treasury is to continue?

Who is to be benefited by this one hundred millions hoarded in the treasury? What benefit is it to the government or anybody else? It has been lying there now for over twenty years, and we have yet to learn of anybody having derived any benefit from it except a few bankers and money speculators. A few of these have profited by it, and these are the men who clamor for its maintenance. The whole country is suffering from a depleted and insufficient currency. Banks are breaking, business enterprises are collapsing, working people are idle, and thousands of our worthy people are actually suffering for want of the necessities of life.

People are literally starving to death in this boasted rich country of ours, where the products of the soil are so abundant and cheap that they do not pay the cost of production. And yet the money supply is so scant that thousands of the people cannot get a sufficient amount to buy what they need for their comfort. And yet our government continues to practice the idiotic policy of piling up a hundred million dollars of gold coin in the treasury as a gambling stake for Wall street money sharks and thieves. And so scrupulously must this gambling stake be guarded that the president of these United States must actually sell interest-bearing bonds to maintain it, thus increasing the interest-bearing debt of the people, who are already staggering under a burden they cannot bear.

The plea that is put up for this villainous policy is that we cannot maintain our credit with other nations without this gold reserve. This falsehood, like all others, emanates from the father of lies; it is simply not true. Our financial system is the laughing-stock of the civilized world; and there is not another nation under the sun that does not know more than to hoard the money supply in the national treasury and let its constituency starve to death. It remains for these glorious United States to set the world this ridiculous spectacle. If the American people do not soon get their eyes open and take the government into their own hands, and run it for a while on common sense principles, and for the benefit of the masses, it will be but a short time until they will have no government to run. In fact it is now a government of the millionaires, by the millionaires and for the millionaires, instead of a government of the people, for the people and by the people.

Since our last issue the Myrtle Point Enterprise, a bright, new newspaper, just started at our neighboring town, came to our table. The Enterprise was formerly the Riddle Enterprise and was recently moved to Myrtle Point by its enterprising proprietor and publisher, Mr. Connor. We congratulate our Myrtle Point neighbors on this evidence of their thrift, and the HERALD wishes to assure them of its good will, and the hope that its need will command a better support than its predecessor received. We gladly place the Enterprise on our exchange list and extend a cordial greeting to its editor and publisher, Mr. Connor. We are not the kind of people who are jealous of competition, but on the other hand we are glad to encourage any new enterprise that promises to help develop the resources of Coos county and the state of Oregon. Neither are the honest citizens in Coquille City in the least jealous of the prosperity of our neighboring town, Myrtle Point. There are a few narrow-minded people in every town who cannot see an inch beyond their own narrow personal interests, and who consequently are always willing to try to tear others down in order that they may build upon their ruins. But we believe that Coquille has as few such as any other town. So we extend the Enterprise our best of cordial greetings.

Fine Timber of Coos County.

Capt. J. J. Winant to the Bandon Recorder:
Ed. Recorder: It may be well to call the attention of our lumber dealers and those who take an interest in lumber to the fact that "The Forest Trees Committee," which is connected with the State Board of Emigration, are gathering up and soliciting samples of lumber for exhibition in Portland, after which it will be sent to Washington for permanent exhibition. Mr. R. H. Rosa sent a cedar plank to Portland by the last trip for the exposition, which was very much admired and the committee requested him to turn it over to them, which he promptly did. Now if some other enterprising citizens would take the trouble to furnish a sample of some other kinds of lumber, it might add materially to the state collection and prove a good advertisement for this section of the state.

It is doubtful whether any state in the union could produce a greater variety of valuable timber than Oregon, and no section of the state probably can furnish as great a variety as Coos county. Try and urge the people to make an effort, as newspapers can do a good deal in a matter like this.

J. J. WINANT.

Fishtrap Fulminations.

Fishtrap, Nov. 25.—G. R. Edmunds visited this place last week. The W. C. T. U. met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mast last Friday. The society is progressing rapidly.

Dick West and sister, Miss Etta, made a visit to Catching creek Saturday last.

The Demorest memorial contest will be held on the 29th inst, instead of the 27th as stated in last issue.

We enjoy a pleasant visit every week from our entertaining friend, the HERALD. It is growing in interest every day.

The people of this community met last Friday and made arrangements to celebrate Christmas eve. An excellent string band is expected to furnish music for the evening. Other literary features will be provided. It has been arranged that every child in the neighborhood shall receive a present of some kind through a fund which is being raised. A merry jubilee we will have.

That is a merry crew a Clinton's camp. Over there you can hear singing of great sweetness from musicians of good promise. They have christened their quarters, "Happy Camp."

Happy Camp, however, was the scene of a sad and sickening accident last Saturday at the hour of 11 a. m. George Wimer, jr., while driving the logging team at a very rapid rate, there being three logs in tow, suddenly caught his foot and fell to the ground, directly in front of the head log. The log was about 4 feet in diameter, and shot over his body, rolling him over twice, and would have killed him had it not been for the daring of Albert Clinton. Albert, seeing the danger, rushed to the rescue. Throwing his shoulder against the head log, at the peril of his own life, and placing his feet against a stump near by, succeeded in turning the log in its course. He, in turn, then threw the other two logs from the track, and thus prevented the unfortunate person being mangled and crushed to death. It was a brave and heroic deed, and is something not every man would have done.

Mr. Wimer was taken on a stretcher to his father's home, about one-half mile distant, where he is receiving the best of care. On examination it was found that his right ankle was dislocated and his trunk badly crushed, especially his hips. It is thought that he is injured internally. At this writing he is in a critical condition.

A CORRESPONDENT.

WANTED.—Several trustworthy gentlemen of Indian to travel in Oregon for established, reliable house. Salary, $750 and expenses. Steady position. Enclose references and self-addressed stamped envelope. The Dominion Company, Third Floor, Omaha Building, Chicago, Illinois.

World's Fair Highest Award.

Bandon's Budget.

Bandon, Nov. 25.—Mr. Editor, did you ever see such weather as Coos county is having this fall? Frank Holman and George Williams have each a pet on their hands that is causing them to lose a deal of sleep.

Ed Crook is laid up again. Ed must be getting warm about something, from the way he is boiling. Rey. Scott's new house is almost completed, and when done will be one of the finest houses in town.

J. B. Marshall & Son have built an addition to one of their cottages. The steamer Dispatch was beached a few days ago for repairs, and while lying on the river beach was broken in two. Your reporter has been informed, however, that the break is not so bad but that it can be fixed, and that the Dispatch will again run on the Coquille river.

Prof. Hodgins' private school has just closed, and the professor is so well liked that he has been engaged to teach the public school, which begins today.

The K. of P. ball at this place last Saturday night was the best of the season. The hall was beautifully decorated with evergreens, the designs of which were unique and contrasted well with the regalia the members wore, while everything was conducted in first-class style. The prizes to the best waltzers were won by Mr. Healy of the steamer Bandorille and Miss May Morse of Bandon. The prizes were a cigar-case and fan.

C. Y. Lowe has moved into his new store. Clarence is well fixed now, so look out for new goods. It is rumored that there will be a stock of goods put into C. Y. Lowe's old stand.

C. S. McCullough left this week for Grant's Pass, where he will go into business. His wife will remain in Bandon over winter.

Rev. W. B. Smith of Coquille, and Rev. Byron of Myrtle Point, have been holding meetings here this week.

The W. C. T. U. gave an entertainment here Saturday night of last week that was quite good and very instructive.

Rev. Paul of Arago, and Rev. Sanderlin of Bandon, are holding a series of meetings at Bear creek. The Bandon Woolen Mills Co. has established a pay day, which will make it much better for all hands.

Company K gave a grand ball Saturday night, and the Woodmen give one December 7. Both will prove successful. Boys, get your girls.

The sale at the Tenbrook hotel passed off nicely. Things brought a fair price and everybody seemed satisfied.

I hear that Bro. Neely is somewhat offended at an item in Bandon Budget. The correspondent has said nothing that he intended as a slur. Bro. Neely must learn to take a joke as well as give one.

The people of Bandon were today painfully startled at hearing of the drowning of Capt. Winant at the Umpqua, and the loss of the steamer Bandorille. Capt. Winant was in the prime of life, and a man beloved by all who knew him; he was without bad habits, always trying to better mankind, and kind, pleasing and obliging to a degree, and always had a pleasant word for those he met. His loss will be deeply and sincerely mourned all over this coast. His loss is particularly a heavy blow for the Coquille river, for he was always saying something in our favor.

The Women's Relief Corps gave the G. A. R. boys a surprise Saturday night, 16th, at their post meeting, in the shape of a banquet and a visiting corps from Coquille.

RAMBLER.

Empire Cityisms.

C. M. Byler and Miss Laura Turpen were married at the residence of the bride's parents last Wednesday. These are two very estimable young people and their legion of friends wish them a long and pleasant voyage and "many happy returns." We were mistaken about that postoffice removal, as Mr. Getty's house is to be occupied by the young couple.

Morton L. Tower has been awarded the contract for improving G street and also for building the street crossings on Broadway, and is pushing his work with energy. Mr. Palmer, assisted by Leo Cook and Mr. Turpen, removed the fences and laid the sidewalk in front of Mrs. Hill's property. Morton L. Tower made the survey and set the grade stakes on Fourth street last week. So, altogether, our town presented a lively appearance.

Rev. Smith had interesting services here Sunday. The gentleman has improved much since he was here during his younger days, and his sermons were then interesting.

Quite a shipment of apples from Joseph Ferry's excellent orchard, left on the train Friday for Astoria. So Webfoot wants Coquille apples. The best in the world. Fine flavor and no worms.

D. A. Huling, treasurer of the Myrtle Point Mining & Development company, is visiting the prospect works of that company on Johnson creek. We learn that he paid off the men employed for last month's work last Saturday.

The Portland ring, through the Morning Oregonian, has attacked Mr. Hermann. It serves him right. Why should he dare to let his friends vote for him for senator when the great Dolph was a candidate. Mr. Hermann should have consulted Scott before being so audacious as to let his name be used.

The debate at Arago over the question as to which is the most useful on the farm, the boys or girls, was very interesting. Some of the future Lincolns, Websters, Clays and Calhouns made some strong hits in their arguments. Those who took the side of the boys will not soon marry in that neighborhood unless they convince their best girl that they were only making fun and didn't mean what they said.

The president of the State of Salem Insurance company has written that he supposed that A. H. Schroeder's fire loss had been paid, but that Mr. S. will now be obliged to take his chance with other creditors. This insurance has been due some time and it appears that there is crooked work somewhere. The receiver states that he will surrender notes if the insured will pay the earned premium up to the time of failure; but the people say, that as Schroeder's loss was not paid, there was nothing earned for the last six months, as the institution has been unable to meet its losses, hence no one who held a policy in that company was insured or assured of getting any loss.

Death of Capt. J. J. Winant.

No accident has occurred recently in this section of country that has cast such a gloom over the entire community as the drowning of Capt. J. J. Winant, master of the steamer Bandorille, by wrecking of that vessel at the mouth of the Umpqua river on the 21st inst.

No sea-captain was better known and none more universally loved and esteemed than Capt. Winant all along the coast, from Portland to San Francisco. He was not only one of the most competent on the coast, but was in every sense a polished gentleman, and everybody's friend. Unlike most of his profession, the hardships of sea life had not in any degree hardened his heart, or made him harsh and brusque. On the other hand, he was as tender and sympathetic in his feelings as a woman. His friends are numbered by the hundreds, who mourn his untimely death. He was aged 51 years.

Dr. S. L. Leneve, the druggist, will tell you that no one is better qualified to judge of the merits of an article than the dealer, because he bases his opinion on the experience of all who use it. For this reason he wishes us to publish the remarks of other dealers about an article which he handles. Messrs. C. F. Moore & Co., of Newberg, Or., say: "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than all others put together, and it always gives good satisfaction." Mr. J. F. Allen, of Fox, Or., says: "I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have handled. Mr. W. H. Hitchcock, Columbus, Wash., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy sells well and is highly praised by all who use it."

The academy literary society has been organized and started at work last Saturday night. It promises much of interest and usefulness.

This would be a fine time to burn old stumps and logs in the streets but our citizens don't see it.
Splendid tubs for sauer kraut and beef and pork barrels are being made by Thos. Barklow near town.

S. B. Hermann and W. H. Greer drove from Daryville to this place Saturday afternoon arriving before dark.
The frosts, it is feared, will cut the grass down on the ranges and stock will not do as well as has been anticipated.

The estate of John Barklow, deceased, will be settled up by J. D. Barklow, administrator, at the next January term of probate court.

James Johnson is logging on Conrad Miller's place four miles above town, at the mouth of Kody's creek. The Bryan team is doing the hauling.

R. P. King was billed to lecture in Myrtle Point last Saturday, but from some cause the opera house was not lighted. It is said that Mr. King is a very fluent and able lecturer.

Attorney T. J. Green believes that he is about to consummate a heavy mining deal in Idaho. He is interested in the Salmon mountain and Johnson creek mining industry, but is spending the winter at Myrtle Point and looking after his vast interests, searching for the filthy lucre.

The German-American insurance company has instructed their agent, Orvil Dodge of this place, to take up the good risks that were insured in the State, now defunct, and place them in the German-American and that company will do their best to collect all premiums due from the State and credit the sum collected on the new policy. The German-American is one of the safest companies in existence and those wishing to insure cannot do better than to insure in that company.

The sad news of the death of Charles Wilkins cast a shadow of gloom over the minds of his many friends in this city. The deceased was among the early school teachers of this vicinity, and he was a resident of this town many years. Mr. W. was a man of strong convictions and when once convinced of a fact, it was impossible to turn him; but he was honest and conscientious. However his bold stand for what he believed to be truth, led him into controversy at times in which he would seem to be a little blunt in his assertions. He was generous to a fault and seemed to always be ready to elevate humanity. He had no patience with evildoers and his decisions while holding the office of justice of the peace were sometimes severe. Charles Wilkins was a good citizen and let us hope that the world has been benefited by his honorable, but comparatively short, career. Peace to his ashes and sympathy for his family who mourn his loss.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at the little church on Wednesday evening to consider the matter of building a sash and door and box factory. Quite a number of our citizens were present and the consensus of opinion was in favor of not waiting for someone else to come here to build such an institution for us, but to go to work and do it ourselves. This means business, and it will not be long until a new steam whistle will be heard in Coquille calling the men to labor or sounding the time for the night's rest. Another meeting will be held on next Wednesday evening at which definite action will be taken and the work pushed. In the meantime a gentleman is looking after machinery in San Francisco. Coquille is surely coming to the front.

Parkersburg Pick-ups.

Parkersburg, Nov. 25.—I have not seen any items from this section of this river, so I will send a few.
Andy Radabaugh made a flying trip to Lamprey creek Sunday.

We are to have three winter schools in this section—one at Howell's camp, by Prof. Edmunds; one at Bear creek schoolhouse, by Prof. Sheppard; and one at Parkersburg, by Sarah Fahy.

Revs. Sanderlin and Paull, of the Methodist Protestants, have been holding a series of meetings at the Bear creek schoolhouse the past week, and have had a good attendance. Five gave in their names for membership. Sam Prewett was immersed Sunday.

Rev. Scott of Bandon filled his 3 o'clock appointment yesterday to a very attentive audience.
Mrs. H. Hanby has opened an assorted stock of millinery, ladies' and children's hats and caps, etc., at Parkersburg.

Prof. Cavet's singing class is advancing nicely. He has 30 or more pupils.
Mrs. J. Parker is still improving. BURG.
