WHAT COQUILLE CITY NEEDS.

Coquille City needs better school advantages. Every other town in Coos county, unless it be Empire City, is ahead of us in the matter of schools and school buildings. We do not say this to the disparagement of Prof. Kinnicut, our present efficient teacher, nor are we inclined to criticize the school board, because a board of school directors can move no faster than the citizens of the district permit. But the fact remains that we are behind in school advantages. We are not in favor of saddling a debt upon this or any other town for public improvements, but our people are abundantly able to purchase or build a larger or more modern public school building, one that will accommodate all of the pupils in our district, and as many as wish to come from the outside. We note that pupils are gathering to Bandon to attend the school at that place from over the county. There is no reason why they might not be attending here except that we have no room for them in our school building. There is no better evidence of a live town than the sight of an attractive schoolhouse, standing on some slightly spot, built after the modern style of architecture, and casting an air of refinement over the city. There is no one thing that will do more to encourage people to settle here than the erection in our town of just such a school building. It need not be a costly one, but it must be large enough to accommodate our school, and it must be up-to-date in every particular. Some of our old fossils, who got our education in "the old log schoolhouse on the hill," imagine that the same kind of institutions are sufficient for the present; but in this we are greatly mistaken. Conditions are changed since we were school boys, and the world is on the forward march, and will not stand still to accommodate any of us. Some of us were born and nurtured in log cabins, and we are not to blame for it either. It was the best that could be done at the time, but we have moved out of the cabin into better houses now, and so we must do in connection with the school question. We must keep pace with the times, and with other towns, in school matters as in other things. We hear that a meeting is to be called in the near future to elect a new director and also to consider the schoolhouse question further. It is to be hoped that our people will take advanced ground in the matter, and do themselves honor by planning for a good, attractive edifice for our public school. It is one of our greatest needs.

NOW FOR A DUKEDOM.

When Secretary Carlisle was in New York several days ago he was approached by a Gotham millionaire with the proposition that the government could raise all the money it needs or is likely to need by establishing and selling patents of nobility. The man wasn't joking, either. He was in dead earnest. He told Mr. Carlisle that he believed there were more than one hundred men besides himself who would gladly pay $1,000,000 or more for a title similar to that of Duke in England and the privilege of a lifetime seat without pay in an American "House of Lords," which it is a part of his scheme to establish. That man isn't crazy. He is simply a victim of the millionaire fever. He, like all his kind, wants to buy something to distinguish him from ordinary men who possess only a few thousands or hundreds.

Apropos to this, we note that a paragraph is going the rounds of the eastern press to the effect that Francis G. Newlands, congressman from Nevada and a millionaire, has in contemplation the resignation of his office and the purchase of an Italian dukedom. Mr. Newlands has not seen fit to deny the statement up to date. Straws show which way the wind blows.

Where is the spirit of our Revolutionary sires?

The North Carolina Settlement.

EDITORS HERALD: As heretofore indicated, I will now proceed to give a brief history of the North Carolina settlement, on the upper South Coquille river, Coos county, Oregon, and for that purpose, will commence at the mouth of the South Coquille canyon, at the high-bar mining claim of Humphrey, Bradley & Co., who are now busily engaged in making preparations for bringing water on their diggings.

Passing down the river we arrive at the farm of Urah Stevens. He and his brother Bartlett are busily engaged in hauling out a farm in this heavily timbered region. They already have several acres in cultivation and raise a bountiful supply of grain and vegetables. They have an excellent dwelling house and new barn.

Adjoining this ranch is Myrtle Dale (the pre-emption claim of T. C. Land). There is but little improvement on this claim, though it is a fine body of land, partly river bottom and swale land, and has an immense amount of fine fir and white cedar growing upon it as the world affords. There is a nice little creek running by his little log cabin which affords an ample supply of good, pure water the year around.

Adjoining this is the excellent ranch of J. M. Dale. He has an excellent dwelling house, good barn and several acres prepared for cultivation; there is also an immense amount of fine fir and white cedar on this ranch.

We next come to the upper ranch of John Hayes, known as the Widby ranch. This is a fine body of land, with considerable improvement on it, and the soil is exceedingly fertile and productive.

Crossing the river we arrive at the beautiful farm of Calvin Gant. He has an excellent dwelling house, good barn and has his farming land well improved and raises fine crops of grain, grass and vegetables. Mr. Gant resides at the terminus of the wagonroad. Here people going to the Johnson creek mines leave their wagons and take their supplies over the mountains on pack animals.

We next arrive at the ranch of Henry Wigant, on which Mack Arnold now lives. There is considerable improvement on this ranch, and the land in cultivation is quite fertile and productive.

Adjoining this is John Hayes' home ranch, on which he now resides. He has considerable improvement on this ranch, good dwelling house, two barns and as fine an orchard as any on the river, embracing a great variety of such as fine fruit as the world affords.

Rural postoffice is located here. We next arrive at T. C. Land's homestead ranch, on which the North Carolina schoolhouse is situated. There is some improvement on this ranch, though the greater portion of it is covered with a dense forest of fir, cedar, myrtle, maple, madrone, etc.

Adjoining this is a small fraction of land belonging to David Wagner. There is a small creek running through it, near the mouth of which is a flouring mill of sufficient capacity to do the grinding for the settlement. There are also a few acres in cultivation. Mr. Wagner has an excellent dwelling house, good barn, fine orchards, and seems to be getting along finely.

Crossing the river we arrive at the beautiful farm of Isaac Bingham and C. Morris. This is a large farm, partly prairie, and a considerable portion of it in a fine state of cultivation. There are suitable buildings on this ranch and the owners seem to be doing very well.

Re-crossing the river, we arrive at the splendid farm of Darin Gant. This farm is principally prairie and is exceedingly fertile and productive. Mr. Gant has an excellent dwelling house, good barn, a fine orchard, plenty of stock, and seems to be enjoying life.

Nervous Prostration.

E. W. JOY COMPANY—Gentlemen: I have suffered from a nervous prostration from financial losses. Can any Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla cure me. My liver, stomach and bowels have been very inactive, but since taking your remedy I am entirely well. All business men and women should use it. Please publish. (Signed.)
MR. WM. HENRY JONES,
Butte, Mont.

Backache, Dizziness, Tiredness, give way to Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla.

Gravel Ford Greetings.

Gravel Ford, Nov. 30.—I send you the program of an entertainment held at Gravel Ford ball on Thanksgiving night. We had a basket supper in connection with the program. There was a good crowd in attendance and a very pleasing entertainment.

The following was the program: Song—Throw Out the Life-Line; address by G. G. Swan—[the manuscript of which we have not room for.—Editor]; recitation—Mama's Darling, by Fanny Sturdivant; song—Will You Go Out West with Me, by Freddy Pollard; dialogue—How He Managed, by T. Sumerlin, Ella Sturdivant, Lia Hammerlof and James Johnson; song—Pass It On, by seven voices; tableau—Women's Rights; song—All Around the Mulberry Bush, by several voices; song—I Am Going to Write to Papa, by Ella Clifton; recitation—First Courtship, by Lawrence Dunbars; song, with banjo—Anne Rooney, by T. Sumerlin; tableau—Pyramid of Flowers; recitation—In Those Old Days, by Willie Swan; dialogue, entitled Box and Cox, by T. Sumerlin, T. Johnson and Jennie Pollard; song—Little Wave, by five little girls; recitation—Grandpa's Courtship, by Ida Hammerlof; tableau—The Drunkard's Family; recitation, by four little boys; song, by Ella and Maggie Clinton; dialogue—Dox's Diplomacy, by Cordie Gorden, Viola Weekly, Ella Sturdivant and ten school children; song, by T. Sumerlin; recitation, by Jennie Pollard; recitation, by T. Sumerlin; tableau—Guardian Angel.

At the conclusion of this musical and literary program, a sumptuous basket supper, free to all, was announced and heartily partaken of.
DON REX.

ADDITIONAL GRAVEL FORD DOTS.

Gravel Ford, Nov. 30.—As items from these parts appear so seldom, I thought I would send a few. The rain has set in for the season. Gravel Ford Sunday-school gave an entertainment last Thursday night. The program was varied and very appropriate, while everything was conducted in first-class style. After the program a free basket supper was given by the ladies of the vicinity. The table was well loaded with nice things, and all ate heartily. Many then went over to Mr. Culbertson's, and there spent the rest of the night in dancing.

Nolan Ingram is home from the logging-camp to spend a few days. Come again, Nolan; she is always ready to greet you.

We hear that Nolan Ingram, Henry Brown, Perry Hatcher and Hardee Mast have arranged to spend the last day of the hunting season in a grand hunt. We wish you good luck, boys. ROXIE.

Empire Cityisms.

Empire, Nov. 30.—Misses Nellie and Lottie Morgan and May Williams left on last Arago to visit friends in the city.

Town election Monday, but we are unable, at this writing, to give the result; but as there seems to be no opposition, it is evident the present officers will all be re-elected.

The work of grading G street is nearly completed and will be a great improvement, both in appearance and convenience.

Sheriff Gage has been out to the Divilbiss mines and we see notices of sale of some of the property under execution.

Thanksgiving was observed by only a few of our people, all deeming it necessary to improve the fine weather while it lasts. The street work is being pushed even on Sundays.

Mrs. Longstaff, of Libby, spent last week with us for the benefit of her health, which has been very poorly during the past year. Her symptoms indicate consumption but she lives in hopes that it is something less fatal. KRANK.

Willowdale Entertainment.

Willowdale, Nov. 29.—The Demorest medal contest, which was announced to have been held at the Presbyterian church of Willowdale, was postponed at a late hour on account of the greater number of contestants being ill, or unable to speak, so a very interesting program was arranged after the congregation had assembled, consisting of the following: Song—While the Days Are Going By; scripture reading and prayer; A Doll Drill, by three little Misses Byers; duet—Papa, Come This Way, by Misses Eva and Mary Hall; recitation—The Wrecks of Rivermouth, by Miss Rosa Williams; quartet—Courage, Brother, by Misses Ada Dorris, Eva Hall, and Messrs. C. E. Edmunds and J. M. Byers; song—The Little Birds, by Misses Jennie and Mary Byers. Closed by singing "Temperance Bells," and the benediction by Mrs. J. M. Byers.

Wanted.

WANTED.—Several trustworthy gentlemen or ladies to travel in Oregon for established, reliable houses. Salary, $750 and expenses. Steady position. Enclose references and self-addressed stamped envelope. The Dominion Company, Third Floor, Omaha Building, Chicago, Illinois.

When you need marble work of any kind, call at the HERALD office and give us an order. We can assure you of good work and moderate prices.

UPPER - RIVER DEPARTMENT.

Myrtle Point and the Upper-Coquille, and What is Going on There.

The roads are getting in bad condition. The mail from Roseburg arrives in good time.

The late Oregon mists have made the roads somewhat slippery and it is expected that wagons will soon be put under shelter for the winter.

G company kept up their reputation last Thursday night for giving excellent entertainments, when they gave their grand ball. It is said to have been the best of the season.

The schools in this place, one under the charge of Prof. F. W. Wright and one in charge of Prof. S. S. Darnell are progressing finely and giving good and general satisfaction.

We have a wagon road to Eckley which is within eight miles of Galena, or the quartz mill. Why should not the road be continued? A good easy grade can be had and the road is needed.

Thanksgiving passed off in our town with joy and feasting. As everyone has plenty in this favored spot there was no need of any charitable displays; however there were some presents bestowed as a matter of friendship.

There is much regret over the sad death of Capt. Winant. He was looked upon as the great friend of this coast. It is hoped that the route of the Bandonville will be supplied by a better steamer, but it is not expected that a better man as commander will be found than the lamented captain.

Wm. H. H. Renfro, an old soldier who was in Andersonville prison about a year and who lives on the South Fork, received a voucher for pension a few days ago, after presenting his claim four years. Mr. Renfro has the effects of gangrene on his back and hips, the result of his imprisonment in that inhuman den.

A man stated on our streets the other day that "Myrtle Point don't need any manufacturing enterprises; our resources are so prolific that wealth and happiness is on every hand." While he is partly right, he is off as regards the first proposition. And there are too many of our business men of the sleepy opinion, that we don't need manufacturing enterprises; at least there are no efforts made to secure or induce capitalists to enter enterprises that are offering large returns to investors. We, like Coquille City, need a sash and door factory. We are glad to note that our sister town is in a fair way to get an industry of that kind and Myrtle Point builders will no doubt patronize her factory.

Bandon's Budget.

Bandon, Nov. 30.—Prof. A. J. Sheppard, of this city, will open up a private school on Bear creek, Monday, Dec. 2d.

Mrs. Mansfield's school at this place closed today.

The public school commenced here last Monday, with a full house, including several from the outside districts, with J. S. Hodgins as principal, and J. H. Barklow and Miss Tyrrell as assistants. The Bandon school is spoken of in the highest terms abroad, and outside parties are constantly coming to attend our school.

There will be a Christmas tree at the Presbyterian church this year.

The Good Templars met and organized last Saturday night.

The house of Rev. McLean, occupied by Tom Lockwood, caught fire Thanksgiving day and came near being consumed; but the prompt action of the citizens saved the house. No household goods were destroyed, and forty or fifty dollars will repair the house. As usual the life-saving crew was on hand and did good work. It must also be remembered that the crew is Bandon's fire company.

The M. E. church, south, has bought what is known as the old schoolhouse property, and will convert the same into church uses.

Elder Jones and Rev. McCain held quarterly meeting here last Sunday, assisted by Rev. Baldwin. Rev. Baldwin has been holding meetings all week, and not without some success.

Geo. Topping has opened up a law office in Judge Dyer's office rooms. Bandon now has two attorneys.

The carpenters are at work putting in new steps leading up the hill to the new school building.

Frank Langlois is building a new house on the property that he bought of Ed Ohman.

The bar has been rough all week; vessels can neither get in nor out. The weather at Bandon the last week has been cold and rainy.

Thanksgiving passed off nicely, with no excitement, except the fire. The usual services were held at the churches.

Well, well, but don't that lamp in front of the woolen mills look up big! Hannah for Bandon.
HAMBLER.

Showers and sunshine. Business seems to be quite promising.

The finest lot of trout of the season were caught last week. One man carried home 70 lbs., the result of one hour's sport.

There is quite a demand for mining stock in the Myrtle Point Mining & Development company; but there is none for sale.

There are about 1500 logs on Catching creek to be run down when there is sufficient water. J. H. Bryan cut and hauled them.

If Myrtle Point had a pork-canning establishment there would be three or four thousand fat swine ready for the institution by Christmas.

The mail robber on the Myrtle Point and Roseburg route last summer has been sent to prison. If proper detective work had been done, the other robberies which have taken place in Coos county would have been ferreted out.

This is a good time to set out shrubbery. While our eastern friends are hovering over the fire and keeping out the cold, we are favored with green meadows and the melodious songs of wild birds. Where is there a better climate than in the Coquille valley?

Parties of considerable responsibility and good standing who live near Salem have been visiting the Carrier and other mines at Salmon mountain and Johnson creek lately and they were highly pleased with the outlook. They intend returning in the spring and will no doubt make some investments.

Uncle Dan Giles, who visited the Golden Gate City recently, reports having a very enjoyable time. He saw and learned many interesting things, and he entertains his many friends since his return relating his experience. We are sorry to be obliged to report that Mr. Giles was not benefited by any medical treatment he sought for, as time was too limited.

The man that knows more about running a newspaper than the publisher, though he never made a mark to his credit in any undertaking he ever engaged in, has appeared already and has taken upon himself the responsibility to criticize Editor Corcoran's bright and new Enterprise of this place. Such critics no doubt are a necessary evil, however their presence in human society, without visible means of support, is a curse to any community. They would be more prudent to let newspaper men alone, for it would not do to have their records published. "A hint to the wise," etc.

Coos Bay Stage-Robber Convicted.

Elda Wood, charged with holding up the Coos Bay stage on the mountain near Camas valley on the 25th of last August, who has been on trial in the United States court at Portland, was found guilty as charged on November 26th, with a recommendation to the mercy of the court by the jury. He is represented as a hard character, and after robbing the Coos Bay stage he pinned a note on a tree, which read, "Catch old Wood, if you can, you—"
(Signed) "The Stage Robber."

Wood was subsequently caught, while working at a sawmill east of Ashland, having assumed the name, "James McManus." He is evidently a hardened criminal, and the recommendation to mercy will certainly not have much weight with the court.

Notice to Policy-Holders.

I will substitute North America policies for paid-up State (Salem) policies, and allow the unearned premium credit on new policies. The North America has a $3,000,000 paid-up capital and is 103 years old. It went through the great Chicago fire in 1871, paying $2,000,000 of losses; later it paid $1,000,000 in the Boston fire. Time tried and fire tested.

Geo. W. Jenkins, editor of the Santa Maria "Times," Cal., in speaking of the various ailments of children said: "When my children have croup there is but one patent medicine that I ever use, and that is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It possesses some medical properties that relieve the little sufferers immediately. It is, in my opinion, the best cough medicine in the market." If this remedy is freely given as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is also an ideal remedy for whooping cough. There is no danger in giving it to children, as it contains nothing injurious. For sale by Dr. S. L. Leneve, druggist.
