GOOD-BYE, OLD PARTIES, GOOD-BYE

The Positions of Prominent Old Party Leaders on the Issues of the Day--Free silver or a Bolt.

Quite a number of prominent men in the west, congressmen and others, have served notice on their parties that they will bolt in case gold standard platforms are adopted at the national conventions. Among those thus announcing themselves are ex-Governor Boies, of Iowa, Senator Carter, of Montana, chairman of the Republican national central committee, Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, Senator DuBoise, of Idaho, and Senator Teller, of Colorado. It is said by those who claim to know that Cleveland himself has predicted a breaking up of the old parties and a complete reorganization on new lines. This is simply admitting that the financial question, and not the tariff, will constitute the great issue of 1896.

The contest will of necessity be sectional, the south and west against the east. The east being the money loaning and manufacturing section is in favor of a single gold standard and a high tariff. The west and south being the producing sections want a larger money supply and no more high protection. All self-respecting men of the west and south will, therefore, align themselves with the interests of their sections, and unite with the people for free silver and an expanded national currency.

A Faithful Servant.
Senator George C. Perkins, although a monopolist, is a man whom the people may trust. Unlike Grove Johnson, he has not been, and will not be, false to his pledges to the people. The Sacramento chamber of commerce adopted resolutions in favor of the Funding bill, which they sent to the senator, and requested his support. This was his manly response:

"The people of California have, by party declaration and by resolution of the legislature, instructed its representatives what to do in this special case. I have no discretion in the matter. I must obey or resign, for I am a firm believer in the fundamental idea of our government--that in the people resides the power, and that legislative bodies have no right to act in opposition to the wishes of the people. If the voters cannot secure legislation for which they elect representatives it seems to me that government by the people and for the people has come to an end. There is no chance to mistake the wishes of California on this subject, and, as one of the representatives of that state, it is my duty, to which I cannot be false, to let the public be in error, if I oppose such measures as the people have directed me to oppose."

Senator Perkins puts into practice the theory that "public office is a public trust."--S. F. Star.

You ought to see Senator Ben Tillman's "allegorical cow" in the New York World of March 2d. She's a lovely beast. She stands with her head west of the Mississippi river and feeds on the wheat, corn and cotton of the great west and south, while her hind feet are planted in Wall street and the "great financiers" do the milking act. A western farmer who could take a look at this cow and not see the point would be obtuse indeed.

S. F. Star: How many important railroads in the United States will there be, in a few years, that are not, or have not been, in the hands of receivers? The Baltimore and Ohio is now to be recuperated that way. So far as the practicability and desirableness of government ownership of ship being a question, it now looks as if, in the United States, it is the only way that railroads can be run without robbing stockholders, the public, or both.

You voted the Republican ticket and the country went from bad to worse. You changed off and voted the Democratic ticket and the country went from worse to still worse. You went back and voted the Republican ticket again and the country kept growing worse. Now brother, try voting with the people awhile, and let the parties go to the dogs, and see if the country will not begin to improve.

The single gold standard has reduced the value of the people's property over one-half. A vote for either of the old parties is a vote to continue the single gold standard. A vote for the Populist party is a vote for the money of our fathers--gold, silver and treasury notes. Then vote to again increase the value of your property and reduce the value of your debt. Vote with the people.

Did you read congressman Hartman's scorching of Cleveland, in a speech on the floor of the house, for his contemptibly mean fling at the western people in his famous address at the recent missionary meeting in New York? It makes a genuine western man's blood boil to hear such slanderous rot about the west as Cleveland indulged in. Hartman gave him what he deserved.

Jefferson said: "National banks are a greater menace to the peace and prosperity of this nation than standing armies." The Democratic party and the Republican party are both national bank parties. The Populist party is in favor of the government issuing the money direct to the people instead of giving it to the banks to issue. Vote with the people.

It's a blue outlook for a silver Democrat, and it's a bitter dose for a silver Republican. But if you are a silver man you can find congenial company in the Populist ranks, and there is where you belong. Don't let the political demagogues whip you into line any longer, but break the chains and be free.

S. F. Star: It is believed by some of those who have most closely studied the subject, that the profit of the western union on its real investment has been as high as 414 per cent in one year.

Wife--What in the world do you want with a trombone? You know that the man next door has driven us nearly wild by his performance on that awful instrument. Hubby--Calm yourself, my dear. That's the one I've bought.

THE CHASE FOR SAM BROWN.

Did the Douglas County Officials Want Him?--Telling Through Their Hats.

Dona, Or., March 9, 1896.
EDS. HERALD: As there has been some talk through the country, and reports and statements made in the press in regard to the Sam G. Brown chase and disappearance, I beg leave to make some corrections in regard to James Batty's statement in particular. It seems late in the day to give these corrections, but others are urging me, and I will try and give a correct statement and let the public be the judges.

On Thursday, January 23d, I, in company with others, took Brown's track from where he left the road after the shooting and capture of Pool, and found he had gone down the East Fork road toward Myrtle Point. I, with D. C. Krantz and Wm. Krantz, on the morning of the 24th, tracked Brown down to the Taylor brothers, and also on the other side Krantz brothers found where he had taken up the hill. Then James Batty, R. A. Cribbins and I got together on the west side of the hill and went up through an old barn, to the top, looking for tracks, when just at the top of the hill I saw whom I supposed to be Sam Brown about thirty steps from me, in the edge of the brush. I looked around to see if Mr. Batty saw him, as I was about ten or fifteen steps nearer Brown than he. I observed that he saw him also, and I motioned Batty to come up to me, then I turned my eyes back for Batty to come to me--then looking around I saw the brave knight, Batty, crawling behind a small log. As I thought, now if Batty wanted to capture Brown, he had a good show at my expense. But after Batty performed the brave act of getting behind a small log, I followed suit and asked Batty what he thought we had better do. His reply was, he wasn't certain it was Brown and he thought we had better not halt him. Then I looked around for Cribbins, whom I saw on a point north of us, and I motioned him to us. He came and we told him we saw Brown, and he, Cribbins, while he was by me, he got the brush crack, but Brown had gotten out of sight. Then Cribbins went down and reported to the rest of the crowd--not Batty, as he states in the Plaindealer. Then Batty and I staid behind our small log some little time, and after Cribbins went down the hill Brown came in sight and was in sight more or less for twenty steps, moving very slow, then he disappeared in the brush. The Plaindealer says Batty was only about one half hour behind Brown when he left Taylor's. I say Batty had no trace of Brown the morning he left Taylor's until he and I saw him about 10 o'clock, which was two hours after he left Taylor's.

Batty says he waited about two hours for aid to come up. I say he had all the aid he needed between him and Brown if he had been disposed to capture Brown.

A short time after Cribbins left us Batty wanted to see his partner, Hamlin. I told him to go and see what they were doing, as none of them came up where we were, and Batty went. They either did not want Sam Brown, or his gun was too much in their way.

Of course we all were satisfied Brown got on a piece of log from the signs on the bank of the East Fork of the Coquille river; and further, if the officers in pursuit of Brown were satisfied he was drowned, it would have been easier to have taken him out of the river than out of a Coos county thicket, as he could not use his gun.

The Douglas county men were given all the help they asked for, and more, to help capture Brown, but when the chance came to halt him, Mr. Batty crawled behind a small log and let Mr. Brown pass out of sight. The Douglas county boys were good on tracking, but they seemed to like the track best that was a day or two old.

Yours, for truth and justice.
G. G. SWAN.

Young wife--Hubby, dear, do you love me better than your pipe? Young husband--What a foolish question to ask, dear. Young wife (sadly)--Yes; I might have known without asking.

Prof. Adler defines matrimony as "a treaty of perpetual peace between husband and wife." When the mother-in-law comes in and violates the Monroe doctrine then Prof. Adler's idea goes by the board.

"I know why so many of our girls are unhappy when they are married to foreigners," said Maud. "Why?" asked Mamie. "They can't get well enough acquainted with their husbands to pronounce their names."

There are people who never wear dark glasses and yet they never see anything bright. It is the people who are dyspeptic and soured. Everything is out of joint with such people. "I suffered many years with Dyspepsia and liver troubles but have been relieved since taking Simmons Liver Regulator. I know others who have been greatly benefited by its use."--James Nowland, Carrollton, Mo.

PATENTS

NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household, on the farm, and in official life, require continual additions to the apparatuses and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration of government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of the government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially in this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee then due. THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, as well as general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepares and prosecutes applications generally, including mechanical inventions, designs, patents, trade-marks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives especial attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents.

The Cosmopolitan Magazine, ($1.50), and the HERALD, ($2), both for one year for $2.50.

The Cosmopolitan is a splendid magazine for the people and we offer it in connection with the HERALD at a surprisingly low rate.

IN ADDITION TO THE ABOVE CLUBBING RATES FOR PAPERS, We have concluded to offer the following books as premiums for cash subscribers:

Coin's Financial School, price 25 cents, and Coin's Hand-Book, price 10 cents, and one year's subscription to the HERALD, all for $2.

COIN'S FINANCIAL SCHOOL, by W. H. Harvey, illustrated, 150 pages and 64 illustrations. It simplifies the financial subject so that an ordinary schoolboy can understand it. It is the text book of the masses, absolutely reliable as to facts and figures, and the most interesting and entertaining book on the subject of money published.

COIN'S HANDBOOK, by W. H. Harvey, deals with the elementary principles of money and statistics.

Shylock, price 25 cents, and The Anarchists of Wealth, price 10 cents, and the HERALD one year, all for $2.

In reference to the above publications, it is necessary to say but little. Everybody knows what magnificent papers the "Examiner" and "Call" of San Francisco are, also the Thrice-a-Week New York World and Twice-a-Week Boston Traveller--each of which are worth the price asked. The Home and Farm is a splendid agricultural and family journal, large 16-page paper, and of itself worth the price of both papers.

Womankind is a most attractive and entertaining home monthly, heartily welcomed by and instructive to the mothers and daughters; and the Farm News is edited by a staff of experienced agricultural writers, is handsomely printed, and contains what the practical farmer wants.

Word and Works is Rev. Irl Hicks' paper of St. Louis. This is a scientific journal and is full of excellent reading matter. The Almanac, given with the paper, contains 100 pages of forecasts and other useful information and is a valuable book.

The Road is a large, wide-awake Populist paper, published by "middle-of-the-road" Herbert George, of Denver, Col. Of the Silver Knight it is only necessary to say that it is Senator Stewart's fearless paper, and is published in Washington City. Our Nation's Crisis is best advertised by saying that it is owned and edited by Gov. Waite, Colorado's great Populist governor, the War-horse of the Rockies. It is good reading.

The Rural Northwest is an Oregon farm journal, and is clean and well managed. It will be worth the price we charge for both papers to any farmer in Coos county.

These Club Rates, of course, imply payment in advance. We can only make these splendid terms where cash is paid in advance.
