MR. CARLISLE AT CHICAGO.

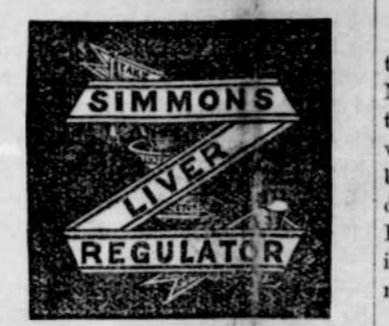

The Falseness of Himself, the Pin-tocrats and Associated Press Against the Workman.

BANDON, OR., May 1, 1896.
ED. HERALD: The recent speech of Mr. Carlisle, pretendedly to the workmen of Chicago, is being widely published and highly recommended by the single gold standard press of the country, while it is not universally known that Mr. Carlisle was not invited to speak at Chicago by workmen; that the labor organizations, upon it being announced in the monopoly organs that he had been invited to come in the interests of labor, held meetings and authoritatively informed Mr. Carlisle that workmen had no part in inviting him to come. But he came; and he well knew that his coming was distasteful to workmen, and was the carrying out of a very thinly disguised scheme of false pretense.

Therefore, as one who has, in the not very remote past, been actively identified with organized labor, holding a membership in Multnomah Typographical Union, I protest against Mr. Carlisle's false pretense in this matter. He has a right, of course, to propagate his gold standard heresies, but I insist that he shall not take into partnership in the business the workmen and farmers of the country without their consent and against their protest. Smooth, plausible, sophisticated and inherently misleading, his address at Chicago was illogical and contradictory to a degree. He asserted that the free coinage of silver was opposed to the best interests of the farmer and wage-earner because these interests would be best promoted by the prevalence of the dollar of greatest "purchasing power," ignoring the great fact that the farmer and wage-earner have no dollars--have their dollars to get--and that the struggle of these classes of producers to get a dollar is growing fiercer month by month and year by year under the John Sherman-Grover Cleveland-John G. Carlisle gold standard policy now in force in this country. Scarce dollars is the secret of the dollar of the largest "purchasing power" and this in turn means low wages, intermittent employment and low products of labor, particularly cheap products of the farm, dairy, flocks and herds. The gold standard means scarce money. Who is benefitted and abnormally enriched through the medium of scarce money? It is the money dealers and allied interests. Bankers, brokers, annuitants, salaried officials and all persons with fixed incomes have their harvest when money is scarce; this because a little money will buy so much of the products of the skill and toil and energies of the producers. Even Carlisle admitted that the restoring of silver to its constitutional place as money will raise prices, and seeks to accentuate the beauties of a single gold standard because of this fact. But I imagine the farmer with his 40-cent wheat, 7-to-9-cent wool, $9 cows, $10 cows and so on, will not feel complimented that Mr. Carlisle places so low an estimation on his intelligence as to suppose him capable of being thus converted to the financial heresies of his masters, the money dealers. But Mr. Carlisle caps the climax of absurdity when he says: "The banks, trust companies, building associations and other similar institutions owe the people of the United States today $5,353,138,-521 for money actually deposited, a sum nearly eight times greater than the total capital of all the national banks in the country, while the life insurance policies held by the people in the various kinds of corporations and associations and in force today amount to $10,203,804,357, a larger sum than has been actually invested in all our railroads, and about 15 times larger than the capital of all the national banks. In view of these facts, which cannot be successfully disputed, I submit that you ought seriously to consider all the consequences to yourself and your fellow citizens before you agree to the free and unlimited coinage of legal-tender silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, in order that these great corporations and associations may have the privilege of discharging their debts to the people by paying 51 or 52 cents on the dollar, for that is exactly what it means." Then if the above is true, the banks and trust companies are spending millions of dollars to defeat free coinage, and all to prevent themselves from doubling their capital by discharging all of their stupendous liabilities at about 51 or 52 cents on the dollar; an unselfish lot, altogether. I quote again from Mr. Carlisle's address. He says: "The naked proposition is that the United States shall coin, at the public expense, for the exclusive benefit of the individuals and corporations owning the bullion, all the silver that may be presented at the mints into dollars containing 37 1/4 grains of pure silver, or 412 1/2 grains of standard silver." All right. Does not that "naked proposition" include the "individuals and corporations" owning gold bullion as well? Will not the objection to the "free" coinage of silver apply with equal force to the "free" coinage of gold? If not, why not? And if it be answered that silver is a cheap metal I have only to remind the reader that it was demonstrated that made it "cheap"; that on the day it was demonstrated a silver dollar brought currently more than 102 cents in gold; that if gold were denied coinage at the mints of the "commercial nations" that metal too, would become "cheap." Mr. Carlisle advances another proposition which deserves notice, and that is, that under present money methods every dollar is kept as good as every other dollar in purchasing and debt paying power. If this be true Mr. Carlisle deserves the execrations of all honest men for having mortgaged the American people to syndicates in the sum of two hundred and sixty-two million dollars to get gold to pay government debts with. If every dollar has been kept as good as every other dollar, what folly, what a crime it has been to involve production and toil to millions of annual interest to get gold to pay debts with. Why were these debts not paid with silver? And not content with the persistent attempt to delude, deceive and cajole the people over to the side of the gold standard, the gold advocates have recourse to the expedient of shaming us, by saying: "Would you put the United States on a level with Mexico and Japan?" Now, this is wholly irrelevant, since Mexico and Japan are single silver standard countries, while we are contending for a return to the double gold and silver standard. Turkey is a gold standard nation. So is Italy, and Servia, and Roumania, and Norway, and Sweden and Denmark. In conclusion, one cannot escape the conviction that, all through, Mr. Carlisle's address to the workmen(?) was only consistent in its gross, flagrant, obtrusive inconsistencies. J. M. Urtos.

GOOD FOR EVERYBODY

Almost everybody takes some laxative medicine to cleanse the system and keep the blood pure. Those who take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR (liquid or powder) get all the benefits of a mild and pleasant laxative and tonic that purifies the blood and strengthens the whole system. And more than this: SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR regulates the liver, keeps it active and healthy, and when the liver is in good condition you find yourself free from Malaria, Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick-Headache and Constipation, and rid of that worn out and debilitated feeling. These are all caused by a sluggish liver. Good digestion and freedom from stomach troubles will only be had when the liver is properly at work. If troubled with any of these complaints, try SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR. The King of Liver Medicines, and Better than Pills.

My Platform.
Rural, May 7.--Just laws honestly administered.

Salaries of officers reduced so as to be nearer in proportion to the wages of the laboring classes.

Gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 to be the basis of our circulating medium, or money of final payments.

Equal justice to all, and special privileges to none.

Pay officers and workmen in proportion to the business or work done.

Strict economy in the administration of county, state and national government.

Dispense justice to criminals without delay.

Curtail the number of officers so that all necessary officers may be kept busy, for

"Satan finds some mischief for us if we stand still."

Every person who has a drop of patriotic blood coursing through his veins can surely stand on this platform, for it embraces the true and tried principles of true Democracy. Surely all who are in favor of "the greatest good to the greatest number," can freely subscribe to these principles. We should all be willing to "do unto others as we would have others do unto us." If we would strictly observe this, the time would not be distant when monopolistic oppression would cease, peace and prosperity would reign supreme, and one could quietly sit "under his own vine and fig tree and eat the luscious fruit thereof, and none dare to molest or make afraid."

"Loyal Citizen" (in the Myrtle Point Enterprise) would carefully observe the above maxims, I don't think he would see much justice in the county seat being located so near one edge of the county, as he seems to desire. Ru Ral.

Our correspondent adds, in postscript: I hope the voters of the county will locate the county seat at Coquille City, for I consider it the most central point.

Don't throw away your vote--don't trade it off to a huckstering politician, who will offer to trade the balance of his ticket with you if you will vote for one man whom he will name and can handle if elected. Vote for those who are in line with you--in sympathy with you as laboring men and taxpayers, and desire such change in the laws and business methods as will benefit the whole people and not alone the few.

How can a workingman vote an old party ticket in view of them being in the interest of and for the bankers, lawyers and monopolists--the parasites of our governmental and social organisms? Don't you do it.

"Big words an' fine clothes," said Uncle Eben, "is berry frequently alike in not kibberin' much dat rely 'mounts ter anything."

Vietim--You say you supply balloons to guests on the top floor in case of fire. Are they already filled? Chicago hotel clerk--Oh, no; just wait until the fire has made progress enough and you can fill the balloon with hot air.

Hon. Binger Hermann.

Congressman Hermann has written a letter to our townsman, Henry Nichols, in which he calls attention to the fact that he has given his very best efforts in congress to the building up of Oregon and her diversified interests, but, says Mr. Hermann: "The people of Oregon, it seems, have failed to appreciate my efforts," etc.

In this, however, Mr. Hermann is mistaken. The people of Oregon did appreciate his work, and if the rank and file of the Republican party could have had their way Binger Hermann would now be the Republican candidate for congress in this district, instead of that goldbug, pettifogging lawyer, Tom Tongue.

The HERALD is a Populist paper, but it is not so intensely partisan in spirit that it cannot recognize true merit in men of other parties. Mr. Hermann has doubtless made mistakes, but he has been indefatigable in his labors for his state, and on this account has enshrined himself in the hearts of the rank and file of his party. He was not, therefore, turned down by the people, but by the Harvey Scott, Joe Simons, gold standard gang of bosses in Portland. Mr. Hermann was known to be something of a silver man, and the above goldbug ring resolved that no silver man should be a Republican candidate for congress in Oregon. So they downed Hermann, and nominated a blatant demagogue in his place. Well, the voters of this district will sit down hard on the Simons gang and their goldbug candidate at the June election.

No people suffer so much from physical disabilities as those whose business requires little or no muscular exertion. The lack of exercise causes the liver to become sluggish and the result is constant Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness and Sick Headache. To prevent this take Simmons' Liver Regulator; it keeps the liver active and makes one's condition as comfortable as those who have much exercise.

PATENTS

NOTICE TO INVENTORS.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the demand for inventions and improvements in the arts and sciences generally was so great as now. The conveniences of mankind in the factory and workshop, the household, on the farm, and in official life, require continual accessions to the apparatuses and implements of each in order to save labor, time and expense. The political change in the administration of government does not affect the progress of the American inventor, who being on the alert and ready to perceive the existing deficiencies, does not permit the affairs of the government to deter him from quickly conceiving the remedy to overcome existing discrepancies. Too great care cannot be exercised in choosing a competent and skillful attorney to prepare and prosecute an application for patent. Valuable interests have been lost and destroyed in innumerable instances by the employment of incompetent counsel, and especially in this advice applicable to those who adopt the "No patent, no pay" system. Inventors who entrust their business to this class of attorneys do so at imminent risk, as the breadth and strength of the patent is never considered in view of a quick endeavor to get an allowance and obtain the fee then due. THE PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY, John Wedderburn, General Manager, 618 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C., representing a large number of important daily and weekly papers, as well as general periodicals of the country, was instituted to protect its patrons from the unsafe methods heretofore employed in this line of business. The said company is prepared to take charge of all patent business entrusted to it for reasonable fees, and prepares and prosecutes applications generally, including mechanical inventions, design patents, trade-marks, labels, copyrights, interferences, infringements, validity reports, and gives especial attention to rejected cases. It is also prepared to enter into competition with any firm in securing foreign patents.

SPRY AT SIXTY.

The Remarkable Vitality of an Aged Californian.

Stands To-day Unscathed by Disease--How He Conquered Rheumatism--His Story will Interest and Benefit all Old Folks.

From the Examiner, San Francisco, Cal.

There is at least one happy man in San Francisco to-day--one man who can enjoy, despite the fact of his being sixty years of age and of corpulent build, the full and free use of all the powers of mind and body.

James Keenan is a prominent liquor dealer at 256 Brannan Street, and it is he who is now lauding those who have restored him from a bed of pain to his former youthful activity. Mr. Keenan had, to within a year ago, been blessed with the enjoyment of almost perfect health. He had never known what it was to be confined for weeks at a time upon a couch of painful disease, nor even to lose the vigorous action of mind or limb which had enabled him, through the many years of his business life, to perform his daily tasks unaided and unaided.

It was a year ago that Mr. Keenan first suffered the hand of disease to take hold upon him. At that time he was stricken down by an aggravated attack of rheumatism, which robbed him of the use of his lower limbs and of both his hands. For fully six weeks he lay on his couch, a helpless victim of the dread disease, and all the time he suffered intense pain in the affected portions of his body. He could not move himself upon his bed, and all that he ate had to be fed to him by those in attendance. He had about despaired of ever gaining release from the clutches of the frightful disease, when one morning his attention was drawn to an advertisement in a morning paper, of a remedy for rheumatism. The story of what succeeded this casual glance at a medicine advertisement can best be told in the words of Mr. Keenan himself, who when asked for an explanation of his seemingly miraculous cure, gave the following account: "It seemed to me that after all the weeks of terrible suffering that I had endured there could not possibly be a relief. I had no faith in patent medicines, and when I saw in a paper the advertisement of Williams' Pink Pills I was induced to try them only in sheer desperation. I did not feel any relief until I began taking the second box of the pills, but then the pain began gradually to leave me, my appetite became better, and I could sleep soundly throughout the night without experiencing any of the jerking pains that had before kept me awake. I continued to take the pills and it was only a short time until the rheumatism had entirely left my hands, and I had so far recovered the use of my legs as to be able to walk about the house without assistance. In about two weeks more I was entirely free from the disease, but I took two more boxes of the pills as a precaution against a return of the rheumatism. From the time that the last trace of the disease left me I have not felt the least sign of its return, and I can truthfully say that I now enjoy as few uses of my limbs as ever I did before the rheumatism attacked me.

"I have taken the pains to recommend Williams' Pink Pills to a number of my friends who are suffering from rheumatism. I think I know of no other remedy that will afford such quick and permanent relief from rheumatism as do Williams' Pink Pills, and I only hope that many others may be brought to see and feel the high curative powers that the pills possess."

The following case was also called to the attention of the Examiner, shortly after the publication of the above, and is given as vouched for by that great paper, "It speaks for all."
