THOMAS JEFFERSON'S UNOSTENTATIOUS INAUGURATION.

Thomas Jefferson was the first president inaugurated at Washington. For four months previously he had presided over the senate during the second session of the Sixth congress—the first to meet in Washington—lodging at Conrad's boarding-house, within a stone's throw of the capitol. The north wing had then been so completed as to be occupied by the senate, and the house met in a temporary brick building in the south wing, called at the time the Oven.
The senate met at 10 o'clock, Hillhouse, of Connecticut, presiding.
A quiet, dignified little man advanced to the desk and was received by the vice-president, who administered the oath of office. Aaron Burr repeated it after him, and took his seat in the chair as vice-president. There was no formality. The on-looker would not have been aware of any change except that the two men had changed places.
A little later President Jefferson left his lodgings on foot in his ordinary dress, his appearance being very much like that of a tall, raw-boned farmer, and walked across the square to the capitol. He was accompanied only by Secretaries Dexter and Stoddard, of John Adams' cabinet, and several members of the house. President Adams had fled from the city, leaving only the secretaries of the treasury and navy to turn over the government to his successor.
Into the north wing the new president walked, with his little company of friends. Vice-President Burr rose and greeted him, seating him in the centre chair on the platform. Chief-Justice Marshall occupying that at Jefferson's left, and Burr that at his right.
After a short pause, to let the small audience quiet down, Jefferson rose and read his inaugural. When he had finished he turned to Marshall, who administered the oath. The ceremony was over.
Jefferson then returned to Conrad's boarding-house, where he was congratulated by a few foreign agents in Washington and his friends.
John Davis, an Englishman, published a lying book of American travel in 1803, in which he asserted that he saw Jefferson ride on horseback to the capitol, hitch his horse to the palings and go in and take the oath. Davis was not in this country at the time, and though the story was untrue it will live. Charge d'Affaires Thornton wrote to Lord Grenville that Jefferson was "escorted by a body of militia artillery" in his walk across the square, but this was an error caused by a visit of a platoon of Virginia militia to the city. The inauguration was of the simplest kind, yet full of dignity.
Personal expenses of Thomas Jefferson on his inauguration as president..... none.
Cost to government..... none.
Expenses of entertaining and stage parties to the national capital and anchorage there..... $5,000

Chicago Post: The community at large is distinctly the gainer from a change involving a general revival of activity in so important an industry as that of steel rails. Its effects are wide and far-reaching, as it stimulates the railroad industry and many other branches of business in close connection therewith.
If the present prices are too low a reaction is soon bound to develop, but no restoration of the conditions prevailing under the pool is probable or desirable.

Chicago Tribune: The steel rail pool, which has existed under one form or another for the last 30 years, and has extorted millions of dollars from the American railroads, seems to have gone to pieces for good.
Its downfall is due to the determination of the roads, which are not making much money at present, not to buy rails at a price which they know is grossly exorbitant and also to the fact that Messrs. Carnegie and Rockefeller have decided that there is more money in cheap rails than in dear rails.

Resolution of the Temporary House of the Oregon Legislature, March 5, 1897.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
SALEM, March 5, 1897.

Whereas, On the 11th day of January, 1897, pursuant to the constitution and laws of the state of Oregon, the Legislative Assembly met for the nineteenth biennial session, and the senate organized permanently and the house organized temporarily, by the election of Hon.
E. J. Davis, as temporary speaker, and R. E. Moody, as chief clerk; and Whereas, A caucus of the Republican representatives was held on the afternoon of that day, at which twenty-eight Republicans were present, including two members of the house committee on credentials, thereby hindering the work of that committee until within fifteen minutes of the time the committee should have reported to the house, the said caucus having named the candidates for speaker, chief clerk, and all officers of the house, solely in the interest of John H. Mitchell's re-election to the United States senate, notwithstanding the fact that ten Republican members refused to enter said caucus and the number present was not sufficient to elect the officers nominated; and Whereas, On the said 11th day of January, 1897, the members of said caucus attempted on the floor of the house by revolutionary methods to overthrow the temporary organization, discharge the committee on credentials without a hearing, and substitute for the report of said committee the list of supposed members as published by the secretary of state, and seating one Nosler as a member of the house, well knowing that his right to a seat was contested, on the ground that he was not a citizen of the state of Oregon at the time he claimed to have been elected, seeking thereby as a minority to gain full control of the organization of the house, and to seat said Nosler in defiance of law and the constitution of Oregon, well knowing that the friends of John H. Mitchell have prevented said Nosler from appearing before the committee on credentials to answer the questions of said committee, thus preventing all members who understood the facts and were opposed to such arbitrary and revolutionary methods either to go outside the bar of the house and break the constitutional quorum or submit to the results of such proceedings and the control of a minority; and Whereas, Thereafter on the 21st day of January, 1897, pursuant to the action of said caucus, said twenty-eight members composing said caucus and two Democratic members acting under protest, aided by said Nosler, by unwarranted and unjustifiable means, in the absence of a constitutional quorum, undertook to destroy the temporary organization and to permanently organize the house of representatives, by electing the nominees of said caucus as officers of said house, in violation of law and custom and the constitution of the state; and Whereas, Thereafter on the morning of the 22d day of January, 1897, the said pretended officers of said pretended organization commonly called the Benson house, attempted by force, and employment of armed thugs, to dissolve and destroy the temporary organization which had been effected by all the members of the house on the first day of the session, and one of the Democrats who acted with the so-called Benson house shortly after its pretended organization left the same and refused to act further with it, because he was convinced that it was illegal and unconstitutional; and Whereas, All the political parties in their platforms had promised certain remedial legislation to the people of Oregon; and

Whereas, All the undersigned members of the house of representatives were and are of the opinion that the purported permanent organization of the house, called the Benson house, was unconstitutional and illegal, and not for the purposes of legislation, but solely in the interest of the re-election of John H.
Mitchell to the United States senate, and that all legislation would be subordinated to that end, and that it would not result in the fulfillment of the aforesaid promises nor any of them; and

Whereas, Every act of said pretended organization has been for the purpose and wholly in the interest of the re-election of John H. Mitchell to the United States senate, in proof of which are the facts that although they claim their pretended organization to be legal and constitutional, they never appointed their committees, nor attempted to pass any bills, remedial, economic or otherwise, nor ever attempted to compel the attendance of absent members as required by the constitution, nor attempted in any manner or form to redeem any pledge to the people of the state; and Whereas, Neither the senate nor any officer of the state ever recognized the so-called Benson house as a legal and constitutional organization, but always refused to in any way recognize or acknowledge the so-called Benson house or to receive any communication therefrom; and Whereas, No offer of compromise or agreement has ever been made by the said pretended organization to the legal temporary organization looking toward the fulfillment of the promises heretofore made to the people of Oregon for necessary remedial and economical legislation; and Whereas, The temporary organization has every day since the 11th day of January, 1897, met in regular session and the roll-call every day showed less than a constitutional quorum present, and since the 21st day of January, 1897, no members of the pretended permanent organization, commonly called the Benson house, except the one member who abandoned it as illegal, have never answered to said roll call, except one time when seven of them did so as a joke; and Whereas, It was impossible to organize the house constitutionally while the so-called Benson house was in existence; and

Whereas, The undersigned members have regularly met from day to day since the dissolution of the so-called Benson house, and have since that time employed the powers conferred on the house by the constitution to compel the attendance of absent members; and

Whereas, Three of the members arrested by the sergeant-at-arms applied for writs of habeas corpus and escaped from the power of the sergeant-at-arms, and then dismissed their application for the writ of habeas corpus, thereby showing bad faith and a desire to prevent a legal and constitutional organization of the house; and Whereas, It is clearly shown and proven by the returns of the sergeant-at-arms and his assistants on the writs served upon the absent members that it was impossible to compel their attendance without great danger of bloodshed and loss of life by conflict with armed thugs who were sympathizers with John H. Mitchell, and presumably acting under his directions; and

bers of the house have, ever since the first day of the session, and do now most earnestly desire to effect a lawful and constitutional organization of the house of representatives, in order to fulfil the pledges of all parties made to the people of the state of Oregon; and Resolved, By the members of the house now in attendance and who have signed this resolution, that we will return to our respective homes, at all times during our term of office awaiting the call of the governor of the state for a session of the legislature assembly, hoping that the members may yet in a legal and constitutional organization fulfil the pledges made by their respective political parties to the people of Oregon.

There is considerable discussion at Washington as to the admission to the senate of appointees from Kentucky, Florida and Oregon. It is thought that owing to the failure of the Oregon legislature to organize that the appointee from that state stands a better chance of being seated than those from the other two states.

Within the next few days the navy department will issue advertisements for bids for over 8000 tons of Harveyized steel armor for use on the three battle-ships now building.
The price must be not over $300 per ton, and favor will be shown to bidders who agree to make the promptest deliveries.

Captain Butler Weyler's latest edict is said to be an order that all women arrested in Cuba as "suspects" shall be tried by court-martial. Weyler says that women are harder to subdue than men, and that if he had his way he would kill them first and try them afterward.

A bill has been introduced in the New York legislature providing for the placing of all the newspapers in the state under the censorship or supervision of state authorities.

each machine.

A strictly high-grade Sewing Machine, made throughout in the best possible manner. It possesses all modern improvements, and its mechanical construction is such that it is combined simplicity with great strength, thus insuring ease of running, durability, and making it impossible for the machine to be put out of order. It sews fast and makes a perfect stitch with all kinds of thread and all classes of material. Always ready for use and unrivalled for speed, durability and quality of work. Notice the following points of superiority:

The Head of the "Arlington" swings on patent socket hinges, firmly held down by a thumb screw. Strong, substantial, neat and handsome in design, and beautifully ornamented in gold.
Bed plate has rounded corners and is inlaid or counterpane, making it flush with top of table.
Highest Arm—Space under the arm 18 inches high, and 9 inches long, and is fitted with the largest skirts, and even quilts. It is Self-Threading—Absolutely no holes to put thread through except eye of needle. Shuttle is on the right side, and is self-adjusting. It is self-oiling. The take-out bobbin holds a large amount of thread. Self-Regulator is on the bed of the machine, beneath the bobbin winder, and has a scale showing the number of stitches to the inch, and can be changed from 8 to 32 stitches to the inch. Feed is double and extends on both sides of needle; never fails to take goods through; never stops at seams; movement is positive; no springs to break and get out of order. Can be raised and lowered at will. Automatic Bobbin Winder—For filling the bobbin automatically and perfectly smooth without holding the thread. Machine does not run while winding bobbin. Light Running—Machine is easy to run, does not fatigue the operator, makes little noise and sews rapidly. Stitch is a double lock stitch. The machine does not wobble, and can be changed without stopping the machine. Tension is a flat spring tension, and will admit the thread to a good position without changing. Never gets out of order.
Attachments—Each machine is furnished with necessary tools and accessories, and in addition we furnish an extra set of attachments in a velvet lined metal box, free of charge, as follows: One raffler and gatherer, one binder, one shirring plate, one set of four hemmers, different widths up to 5/8 of an inch, one tucker, one under braider, one short or attachment foot, and one thread cutter. Woodwork of finest quality oak or walnut, gothic cover and drawers, nickel-plated rings to drawers, and casters, and a device for replacing lool.
