OF INTEREST TO THE PEOPLE.

BIMETALLISM. Its True Meaning Explained By Ex-Congressman C. A. Towne.

Ex-Congressman C. A. Towne of Minnesota awakened a great deal of enthusiasm during his recent address on "The Theory and Practice of Bimetallism" at Carnegie hall, New York.

"The forces vaulting themselves in the control of the nation say that such subjects as finance and the tariff must be taken out of politics. They'll never do it. It took the human race 2000 years to put them in politics, where they belong.

"Prospective isn't subjective. If you can't see it, there isn't any. No description of a splendid feast will fill an empty stomach.

"The term 'bimetallism' has cloaked much astute political dodging. Its true meaning is not that you should simply coin the two metals, but they should both stand upon the same privileges at the mint, both be accepted as money of final payment.

"We don't want you to do anything for silver. Silver can take care of itself. We want you to do something for humanity.

"International bimetallism and independent bimetallism are merely two different methods of getting at the same thing.

"They tell us you cannot do anything with money by legislation. They seem to have done a great deal. It is a case of mounting into power by the ladder of the law and then kicking over the ladder so that your pursuer cannot catch you.

"You can't create value by law. Nobody will contend that. But you can affect value by law.

"If you speak in behalf of all of your country and not a part of it, you must be for bimetallism.

"There isn't any such thing as intrinsic value. Value is a relation, an accident. A dollar is only worth what you can get for it.

"The surplus capital piled up in the banks of New York is a false indication of a prosperity that does not exist. The place for gold and silver coin is out in the byways and highways of commerce, measuring the products of honest labor and granting just compensation for it.

"You must do something to stop the fall in prices. They say you can't make a dollar out of 50 cents, but they've made 50 cent pieces out of dollars."

The speaker read the criticism of Dr. Rainford, which created such lively discussion of the Bradley Martin bill, and called attention to the fact that the minister did not say to his congregation that the lavish display of wealth was wrong, but that it was "unwise" that it would furnish a fresh text for the agitators in the west.

"Oh, most noble correction of his flock," exclaimed the speaker, with benevolent sarcasm, "that they might escape the criticism of the rowdy west rather than that they should meet the reprobation of Almighty God! But then it might not have been politic to administer any stronger rebuke. He had to throw mere sprays of rosewater."

In an address to the farmers of Illinois, "About Farming in Illinois," Col. R. G. Ingersoll made use of the following words: "For my part, I do not ask any interference on the part of the government except to undo the wrong it has done. I do not ask that money be made out of nothing. I do not ask for the prosperity born of paper. But I do ask for the remonetization of silver. Silver was demonetized by fraud. It was an imposition upon every solvent man; a fraud upon every honest debtor in the United States. It assassinated labor. It was done in the interest of avarice and greed, and should be undone by honest men." The foregoing is unquestionable authority from a distinguished Republican source. It was not written during the last campaign, but at a period subsequent to the enactment of that rascally piece of legislation. It can be found in Ingersoll's works, and is only one of many authorities from a Republican source upon the same subject. U. S. Attorney General Pierpont, a distinguished Republican, held the same opinion. More anon.

At Pueblo, Colo., E. V. Debs was offered a sleeping car ticket for the long ride to Chicago. He absolutely refused, and added that the boycott on Pullman sleepers would never be off for him; that if I should try to sleep in a Pullman berth, the ghosts of women and children starved to death in Chicago by that infamous scoundrel would haunt me to my dying day.

Another Dred Scott Decision. That plutocratic body known as the United States supreme court, always on the side of capitalists and opposed to labor, has made another Dred Scott decision. Seamen who leave a ship against the will of their masters, if captured in any part of the United States, can be brought back in irons if necessary and be forced to work. That leaves them in a worse condition than were the negro slaves of the south, and if the seamen do not revolt against such barbarism they deserve to be put on auction-blocks.

MUST ATTEND SCHOOL.

Superintendent Irwin Defines the Law on Compulsory Education.

State Superintendent Irwin has had a circular letter prepared and printed to be forwarded to the various county school superintendents and school boards, calling the attention of those officials to the law prescribing compulsory education for children of a certain school age, which law is now so heedlessly violated in every part of the state.

Following is the letter in full: "The attention of the county superintendents, and through them, the attention of the boards of school directors, is called to the law pertaining to compulsory education."

"Section 55. Every parent, guardian, or other person in this state having control or charge of a child or children between the ages of 8 and 14 years, shall be required to send such child or children to a public school at least 12 weeks in every school year, of which at least eight weeks school (shall) be consecutive, unless the bodily or mental condition of such child or children has been such as to prevent his or her or their attendance at school or application to study for the period required, or unless such child or children are usually taught in private schools, or have already acquired the ordinary branches of learning taught in the public schools; provided, in case a public school shall not be taught for the period of 12 weeks or any part thereof, during the year, within two miles by the nearest traveled road of the residence of any person within the school district, he or she shall not be liable to the provisions of this act.

"Sec. 66. Any parent, guardian or other person having control or charge of any child or children failing to comply with the provisions of this act shall be liable to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25 for the first offense, nor less than $25 nor more than $50 for the second, and each subsequent offense, besides the cost of the prosecution.

"Sec. 67. It shall be the duty of the directors and clerk of each school district to make diligent effort to see that this law is enforced in their respective districts.

"Sec. 68. Justices of the peace shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court in all prosecutions under this act."

This office has become aware that but little or no attention is paid to the law compelling children to attend school at least 12 weeks during the year. To look over the statistics one is impressed that there must be many children of school age who do not attend our public schools. This law was enacted for a purpose, and it is apparent that the purpose contemplated was to have the children attend the public schools in order that illiteracy and ignorance may be reduced to a minimum.

The safety and welfare of the country depend upon the efficiency of our public schools, wherein not only knowledge of books and literature is considered, but where good government, loyalty and love of country are inculcated.

The law is on the statute book, and should not remain a dead letter. The duty of seeing it enforced rests with the boards of school directors, and the clerks of the several school districts.

The clerks of the several districts having the number of pupils in statistical roll, and the teacher or teachers of the district having the ages and number enrolled as in attendance at school, some knowledge may be gained as to how nearly this law of school attendance is observed.

This is also one of the duties of the county superintendent, that he should acquaint himself with the attendance at school and give direction to the board of directors in regard to the matter of school attendance.

Bring this law before the people, acquaint them with its requirements and penalties, and it is believed there will not be so many children of the age included by the law, who do not and will not attend the public school. The state does not get near the value it deserves for the support of the common schools, because of the fact that so many do not avail themselves of the privilege. The state cannot afford to allow this neglect and indifference of the public schools to exist, but must, in some way, see that the children have some education.

A few figures are here given to illustrate how the people are being robbed by the three great trusts: The profits last year to the coal trust were $71,659,000; the sugar trust $24,000,000, while the coffee trust came out ahead by $14,850,000. This money was made directly out of the necessities of life.

Notice to Mariners.

Notice is hereby given of the following changes in the buoyage of this district, which affect the List of Beacons, Buoys and Day Marks, Pacific Coast, 1895.

Coos Bay Bar, Oregon, page 36—North Spit Jetty, Buoy No. 1—This buoy, which has been heretofore reported as a black first-class can, marking the outer submerged end of the north spit jetty, was replaced March 13, '97 by a black, second-class can buoy numbered about 1/4 mile W. W. 3 W from the position of the former buoy. The buoy is now in 17 feet of water and marks the extremity of the sand spit making out from the outer submerged end of the north spit jetty. Its bearings are: Cape Arago Light House, S. S. W. 1/4 W, 1/2 mile; South Fork Coos Bay Light, S. S. E. 1/4 E, 1/2 mile; Vessel should not pass between this buoy and the outer buoy.

Columbia River, Channel over Walker Island Bar to Martin Island, page 48—The following changes have been made to mark the recently dredged channel across Cottonwood Island Shoal: Rattier Buoy No. 1—A black first-class spar buoy was established March 26, '97, in 24 feet of water, to mark the edge of the spit off the lower end of Cottonwood Island, and should be given a berth of 100 feet. The bearings are as follows: Rattier wharf W. S. W. 1/4 W., Dobbeltower Landing Post Light S. E. 1/4 E.

Cottonwood Island Shoal Buoy No. 3—A black first-class spar buoy was established March 26, '97, in 22 feet of water, and should be given a berth of 50 feet. The bearings are as follows: East end of Cottonwood Island E. 1/4 S., Coffin Rock Post Light S. E. 1/4 E., Dobbeltower Landing Post Light W. 1/4 N.

Cottonwood Island Shoal Buoy No. 5—On March 26, '97, the number of this buoy was changed from 1 to 5. This buoy should be given a berth of 50 feet.

A HAPPY COUPLE

'Squire Moore and his Estimable Wife Interest a Reporter.

They Speak of their Past Life, Their Trials and Hardships, and how Sickness once Entered their Home, and for a While it Looked as if it Would Prove Fatal—it was Averted, However, and they Dwell on the Means with Much Enthusiasm.

From the Tribune, Greeley, Colorado. As a Tribune representative was strolling about town the other day, looking up items of news, he dropped into Fizer's drug store. This, and that other medicines were talked of, and their curative qualities analyzed, so far as lay in their power. The curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were talked of, when Mr. Falkner, a clerk in the store, mentioned that Mrs. Joseph Moore was a firm believer in their efficacy.

Among the many good people residing in Greeley, Colorado, 'Squire Moore and his amiable wife are the best known and the most respected. The 'Squire is carrying his seventy-six years as steadily as many men who have not yet rounded their sixtieth mile post, and his wife, Ann, is a fitting companion, one of those pleasant, agreeable ladies, who make you feel perfectly at home when in their company.

This happy couple were born in the same neighborhood of the West Riding of York, England, in 1820; the husband a few weeks his wife's senior, and for over fifty years they have travelled the pathway of life together. In 1848 they emigrated to this country and settled in Derby, Conn., where they resided for a number of years. While there Mr. Moore, who was highly respected by his neighbors, was elected a member of the State Legislature in 1857.

During his residence in the United States he has been a constant reader of the New York Tribune, and was an ardent admirer of its founder and great editor, Horace Greeley, and a firm believer in that notable writer's opinions. Through those mediums he was influenced to come to Greeley in the early spring of 1871, and here he has resided ever since. During his residence in this beautiful section of northern Colorado, he has held many responsible public positions, notably that of Justice of the Peace, an office which he occupied uninterruptedly for eight years; and four years ago was re-elected to another term, his name being the unanimous nomination at the convention without his knowledge.

The newsgatherer was received cordially and in response to his inquiries, Mrs. Moore stated that her health, compared with several years ago but like a great many women, she scarcely knew the meaning of the name sickness, and she had never known anything but good health. She refused medical attendance or treatment of any kind, barring that which she drew upon from the family pharmacy or dispensary.

Being Mrs. Moore's language: "For four years I was miserable, hardly a week passed during that time but what I suffered from extreme lassitude. The least exertion fatigued me. At times when I would be sewing in a rocking chair, a sudden spasm would strike my hands, feet, arms and legs. Occasionally I would suffer from vertigo, and would sit in a rocking chair, a burning fire in the stove wrapped up in blankets, yet while my face would be scorched, the rest of my body would be chilled.

"Finally, despite my opposition, my husband called in a physician, who attributed my ailment to rheumatism and prescribed for that complaint. A day or two after he changed his opinion, and said that I was afflicted with a gripple; also changed his medicine, but to no purpose. It was going from bad to worse. The tingling sensations were resumed. At times I would be incapable of doing anything with my hands and my husband was fearful that I was suffering from partial paralysis.

"One evening, while reading the New York Tribune, he read a statement of a wonderful cure effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He and I had at times read similar testimonials, describing the great powers and virtue of these pills, but had passed them over, doubting the truth of the statements. My husband's expression quickly indicating my opinion of them. But this night in particular, I was impressed with what he read, and told him I wouldn't do any harm to try a box. The next morning he purchased a box of the Pink Pills and I commenced taking them according to directions, three times a day. Within a week I felt better, and when I had finished that box I asked my husband to get me another, and he laughingly complied, saying, 'concoct is as bad as consumption, but even if you think they are doing you some good there is a great relief experienced.' As my husband had purchased for me about a dozen more boxes, and for nearly two years I continued taking them. The result was I regained my strength, the tingling in arms and legs, hands and feet ceased and the frequent sweats which I had been subject to left me. In all truth, I am forced to state that the Pink Pills made a new woman of me. That is, I'm laughingly remarked, 'as new as you can make a woman who is now in her seventy-sixth year.' And in truth, Mrs. Moore's closing remarks are well founded. As my husband had purchased for me about a dozen more boxes, and for nearly two years I continued taking them.
