OF INTEREST TO THE PEOPLE.

Must Be Something Wrong.
BY MISS MELBA COOK.

When earth produces, free and fair
The golden harvest corn;
When fragrant fruits perfume the air,
And fleecy flocks are shorn;
While thousands move with aching head,
And sing this ceaseless song:
"We starve, we die; oh, give us bread!"
There must be something wrong.
When wealth is wrought as seasons roll,
From off the fruitful soil;
When luxury from pole to pole
Keeps fruit of human toil;
When from a thousand, one alone
In plenty rolls along,
While others only know the house,
There must be something wrong.
And when production never ends,
The earth is yielding ever
A constant harvest of bread,
But distribution never;
When tolling mill-wheels work to fill
The wealthy coffers strong;
When those are crushed who work and toil,
There must be something wrong.
When poor men's tables waste away
To barrenness and drought,
There must be something in the way
That's worth the finding out;
With surfeits on great table lands,
While numbers move alone,
While scarce a crust their board extends,
There must be something wrong.
Then let the law give equal right
To wealthy and to poor;
Let justice use the arm of might;
We ask for nothing more,
Until this system is begun
The burden of our song
Must, and can be, this only one,
There must be something wrong.

WHICH IS THE BETTER?
What the Farmers Get or What They Might Have Received.

The goldbugs assume that they can fill Mr. Bryan's heart with anguish if they can show that the people of his state are enjoying a few of the blessings of heaven independently of what the country's financial system is doing for them. Some one has figured that the state of Nebraska will this year market 3,000,000 bushels of wheat, 300,000 bushels of corn, 35,000,000 bushels of oats, 2,000,000 bushels of rye and 5,000,000 tons of hay, besides a large increase of all the other products of the farm and dairy. It is stated that if this crop had been actually marketed on Saturday, Aug. 14, the produce alone as above mentioned would have brought $95,869,500. It is also stated with much flourish that if this same crop had been marketed last year on the same day it would have brought only $77,000,000, or more than $18,000,000 less than it brings this year. They would have the farmers think that these figures show that the gold standard is good enough.

Every thing is good enough if it is the best that can be had. Nothing is good enough that is not the best that can be had. Will the Nebraska farmers in the midst of his counting of his gold dollars to estimate what would be his wealth this year if he were permitted to receive silver dollars on a free silver basis? To make the computation simple, let it be supposed that the silver in the dollar is now worth 50 cents in gold. It follows that an agricultural crop that brings $95,000,000 in gold now would bring $190,000,000 under conditions of free coinage. If Providence has been good to Nebraska under the gold standard, it is plain that the same Providence would be twice as good under the bimetallic standard. Let the goldbugs themselves answer which is the better with which to pay off mortgages, $95,000,000 or $190,000,000.—Detroit Tribune.

CHEAP MONEY.
An Object Lesson in the Result of a Depreciated Currency.

The gold organs are carefully avoiding a discussion that relates to the cheap and depreciated gold dollar which we now have with us. They admit that it is bringing prosperity, but they will not discuss the facts behind it.

Well, we are happier over the prospects of prosperity than any of the gold organs, for they have declared that higher prices—that is to say, depreciated money—would be hurtful to the interests of the workingman, but we are not too happy to reason about the facts of the case. Here are some of them: With respect to wheat, we have what may be termed a 60 cent dollar—that is to say, while a farmer had to pay a bushel and half of wheat for a dollar a few weeks ago, he can now buy the same bushel in New York city with one dollar.

With respect to wool, we have a 50 cent dollar—that is to say, the farmer who was compelled to give a certain quantity of wool for a dollar can now buy the same dollar in the open market for half the quantity necessary awhile ago. But this is not all. We have a depreciated currency with respect to corn, oats and other farm products. We have "cheap" and therefore "unsound" money with respect to stocks and other securities. And behold, this depreciated money, instead of plunging the country in ruin, is actually bringing prosperity! The gold organs not only admit it, but insist on it. And yet this is precisely what the Democrats said would happen if we could get higher prices—which is another name for cheaper money. It is an object lesson not likely to be lost on the people.—Atlanta Constitution.

HANNA'S WAR RECORD.
His Patriotism Went So Far as the Hiring of Two Substitutes.

When Mark Hanna entered the banquet hall at Buffalo where there was feasting the select coterie of G. A. R. members and at the head of the main table was seated the president of the United States, some guests forgot their good manners and respect for the properties and screamed a welcome to the mighty political boss. The president, infected by the prevailing enthusiasm, sprang from his seat, rushed toward the advancing hero and embraced the puissant politician, to the amusement of the assembled war veterans and of the country.

The Republic soon afterward commented upon the incident and asked for some of Hanna's admirers to provide the country with the political manipulator's war record. A man over whom old soldiers made such a demonstration ought to show some evidences of his valor on the battlefield or patriotism in the halls of legislation during the four years of bloody strife which tested the strength and endurance of American institutions. Mr. Hanna has himself come forward with a brief autobiography of that epoch. "No," he said to an eager newspaper interviewer, "I did not serve in the army, but I hired two substitutes and sent them to the front."

What patriotism is here proclaimed, my countrymen! What sacrifice and danger are here avowed for preserving this Union! And how Hannaesque! The prevailing rates of wages for substitutes in the war was $13 a month. Some patriots hired only one substitute, but Mr. Hanna hired two. He doesn't say how long he kept them in the field, but whatever the length of their service might have been we know that it cost him $26 a month. For this noble sacrifice Mr. Hanna is publicly embraced by the country's chief magistrate, who went into the war as a private, supplied the fighting soldiers at Antietam with hot coffee and came out with the rank of major.

Mr. Hanna's $26 a month is entitled to recognition. Had he not spent it for substitutes the Union armies would have been short two soldiers. Wherefore, three cheers and a tiger for Hanna, the unscarred veteran who poured $26 a month into the overstrained treasury at Washington to keep the furnaces of war ablaze and roaring!—St. Louis Republic.

S. F. Star: When courts and railroads defy the law the people have a right to defy the courts and railroads. It is only a question of expediency. Abraham Lincoln: I hold it true that if the Almighty had created a class of men whom he intended should do all the work and none of the eating, he would have made them all hands, without any mouths. Stockton Mail: We are very glad that the arrogance and un-Americanism of the federal courts has been carried so far. We are glad that men have been massacred by armed thugs led by an officer of a Pennsylvania court. The price is cheap if all this brings back liberty. The danger which Jefferson foresaw has come upon the land. The federal judiciary has become tyrannical and utterly careless of constitutional restriction. The federal judges have exalted themselves above all that is called law. They think to rule us by injunction. Phil Francis, in Stockton Mail: The farmers in India raise all the food used in India. Yet when famine came the farmers were the ones who starved—eight millions of them. The people who did not grow an ounce of food had plenty. The farmers in Ireland grow the food of Ireland. And yet the farmers in Ireland are threatened with famine, while those who do not grow food are in no danger. Now I would like to have some of these profound economists who are cocksure that trusts, tariffs, land tenures, gold standards and all the machinery of social life are at the height of loftiest wisdom, at which only fools rail, tell why it is that the men who grow all the food do not have any food in times of scarcity. You are fond of styling the farmer a chronic kicker. Did it ever strike your most sapient jackassship that the farmer has a right to kick?

Security and Chance.

The instinct to lay by stores for a rainy day" is the instinct of self-preservation and of civilization. It has led to the development of life-insurance companies and banks and savings institutions of all sorts. It leads the well-to-do to forego high rates of interest in order that the income from their wealth may be as certain and secure as possible. It is this same instinct that leads careful persons of limited means to turn to the government as the only absolutely safe custodian for their small savings.

In establishing postal savings banks a nation carries its people forward a step in civilization, inasmuch as it is giving to them an additional security against misfortune. A person who puts his savings into the postoffice bank will know that when hardship and want overtake him, whether because of misfortune or declining years, his money will be forthcoming. The fact that there is such a safe place of deposit provided will induce many to make provision against future want who otherwise would permit themselves to become charges upon society when misfortune overtakes them or when old age finds them unprepared to earn a support by their labor.

To the persons for whom the postal savings bank is intended the rate of interest paid on deposits is of minor importance. What such persons want above everything else is absolute security against loss. They want to eliminate from life the danger that in their declining years they may find themselves without the means of sustaining existence. Congress should establish a system of postal savings banks for the people of the United States without further unnecessary delay.—Chicago Record.

Biblical Bimetallism.

The Hebrew Bible is for bimetallism, straight and simple. It is written: "When silver and gold increase, then everything thou possesseth will be multiplied!"—Philadelphia American.

The passage is in Deuteronomy, viii, 13, and reads: "And when thy herds and thy flocks multiply, and thy silver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou hast is multiplied."

Again, in the same book, vii, 17, speaking of a king that the people would thereafter set over them, it says:

"Neither shall he greatly multiply to himself silver and gold.
"Silver and gold" are thus linked together seventy-five times in the Old and New Testaments—nine times in the latter. But the early Christians, seemingly, wanted to "Jemonetize" both metals. When you want to secure a real "Bible sharp," consult The Star. We keep a large stock of them on hand to select from. In fact, we manufacture them at less than 1 per cent of the college cost, by means of improved machinery, self-lubricating.—S. F. Star.

Kentucky Standard.

It was reserved for a Republican newspaper, the New York Sun, to heap upon Kentucky the deepest insult she has received since she degraded herself by voting last fall for the Hannanite dynasty. It tells its readers that "perhaps the Hon. Henry Clay Evans is the best known of the Kentucky Henry Clays." In the first place, his middle name is Clay, and in the second he is a Tennessee carpetbagger from Pennsylvania. The Sun's ignorance is no mitigation of the slander placed upon Kentucky's maternity.

New Dispensation Corvallis, Or.: The Savior of mankind was crucified with full legal formality and ceremony. The whole machinery of law, ecclesiastical, political and military, was called into requisition. The conspirators were priests and rulers, they assembled at the palace of a high priest. The captive was condemned by Jewish and Roman law, the one religious, the other civil and military. The soldiers carried out the sentence, the unthinking mob applauded. The church added its benediction to the crime, and hurled its anathema at the man. Christ is a symbol of humanity, which is continually crucified under the same kind of law.

S. F. Star: The supreme court decision did not give the S. P. all the Oakland water front it wanted, and it is therefore building fences and grabbing some that the decision clearly declared had never been in litigation and that the title had never gone from the state.

THE PACIFIC RAILROADS.

President McKinley Has Agreed to the Re-organization Scheme.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says: The Union Pacific reorganization committee proposition for the settlement of the company's debt to the United States will be accepted, the government mortgage will be foreclosed, the road sold and the company reorganized. This statement is made on the highest authority.

For several days past the president has had conferences with the representatives of the company and before he left Washington he agreed to the sale of the road and its reorganization upon the basis which the reorganization committee suggested. The announcement of the decision may be looked for at an early date. It will come in an order for foreclosure issued by the president to the secretary of the treasury.

The agreement to which President McKinley has decided to give his sanction is the same which was submitted to congress by President Cleveland last January. Under this agreement the reorganization committee will bid for the road under a foreclosure sale the sum of $45,000,000.

In order to give an intelligent statement of what this bill will mean to the United States, it is necessary to enter briefly into the history of the Union Pacific obligation to the government.

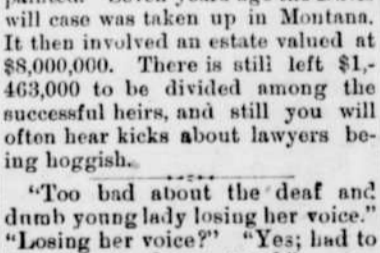

The principal debt of the Union Pacific to the United States was $35,530,512. A portion of his has not yet been advanced by the United States. The interest paid by the government amounts to $36,954,893. The whole indebtedness on the 1st day of July, 1897, was $70,485,405. The sinking fund of the Union Pacific in the hands of the treasurer of the United States on the same day was $17,738,209. After deducting the sinking fund, which is an asset of the company in the hands of the United States for the purpose of paying the debt of the Union Pacific Co. to the government, the sum of $28,015,850 remains to be paid. That is the only sum which the Fitzgerald reorganization committee, as it is known, will be required to pay the government.

The loss to the government is the difference between $35,000,000, which is the net amount due the government in round numbers, and the $28,000,000, making a loss of nearly $25,000,000 in round numbers according to the figuring of the opponents of the agreement.

The agreement for the foreclosure sale also contains a provision for the reorganization of the United Pacific Railroad Company and its Kansas Pacific branch. The reorganization committee consists of Louis Fitzgerald, Jacob H. Schiff, T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., Chauncey M. Depew, Marvin Huggitt and Oliver Ames. The capitalization of the new company under the Fitzgerald plan will be $100,000,000, 4 per cent bonds, $75,000,000 of preferred stock and $61,000,000 of common stock.

Tombstone Epitaph: Lawyers are not half as bad as they are painted. Seven years ago the Davis will case was taken up in Montana. It then involved an estate valued at $8,000,000. There is still left $1,463,000 to be divided among the successful heirs, and still you will often hear kicks about lawyers being hoggish.

A Woman Saved.

A CASE OF INTEREST TO EVERY WOMAN.

Mrs. Henry Younghans Tells a Story of Suffering and How She Was Cured.

From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.
Mrs. Henry Younghans, of Detroit, Mich., who resides at 1033 Grand River Avenue, said: "Ever since our last little one came I was an invalid. For years I have had the most painful experience and would lay to the door most of the time. After the last baby was born I was unable to attend to my household work. I could barely stand up and had dizzy spells. I wanted to sleep all the time and was treated by several of the best physicians. I would have the most fearful cramp, for which hot applications were used. I used these hot applications until I blistered myself several times. They laid up the blood and asked me to give them a trial. I started taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People that day and put the other medicine away, thinking it would please him if I tried the pills. Before I had taken one box I felt better. My husband noticed the improvement and bought two more boxes. I kept on using them until I had taken four boxes, and I was entirely cured. I keep them in the house now and use them occasionally, as they are a great help to all women. You would not have known me two years ago. What I am to-day is owing to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."
(Signed) MRS. H. YOUNGHANS.
Mrs. H. Younghans, being duly sworn, states that she has read the above and that it is true in every particular.
ROBERT E. HULL, Jr., Notary Public, Wayne County, Michigan.
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all kinds of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and hollow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) and come in a box or six boxes, as desired. They are made of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Salem, N. Y.

The Improved "Arlington" Sewing Machine
LATEST BEST CHEAPEST
NEW HOME STYLE
shipped to anyone, anywhere, on 10 days' free trial, in your own name, with no obligation, and no return, asking one cent in advance.

10 years' written warranty with each machine.
A strictly high-grade Sewing Machine, finished throughout in the best possible manner. It possesses all modern improvements, and its mechanical construction is such that it is combined simplicity with great strength, thus insuring ease of running, durability and perfect stitching. It is ready for use with all kinds of thread and all classes of material. Always ready for use and unrivaled for speed, durability and quality of work. Notice the following points of superiority:

The Head of the "Arlington" swings on patent socket hinges, firmly held down by a thumb screw. Strong, substantial, neat and unobtrusive in design, and beautifully ornamented in gold. Bed plate has rounded corners and is latitud or counter-sunk, making it flush with top of table. Highest Arm—Supports the needle and foot, and is long. This will admit the largest skirts, and even quilts. It is Self-Threading—Absolutely no holes to put thread through except eye of needle. Shuttle is cylinder, open end, entirely self-threading, easy to put in or take out. Feed is a large amount of thread. Stitch Regulator is on the bed of the machine, beneath the bobbin winder, and has a scale showing the number of stitches to the inch, and can be changed from 8 to 12 stitches to the inch. Feed is double and extends on both sides; never fails to take goods through; never stops at seams; movement is positive; no springs to break at the throat and no automatic regulation. Automatic Bobbin Winder—For filling the bobbin automatically and perfectly smooth without holding the thread. Machine does not run while winding bobbin. Light Kicking—Machine is easy to run. Does not fatigue the operator. Makes little noise and sews rapidly. Stitch is a double lock stitch, the same on both sides, will not ravel, and can be changed without stopping the machine. Tension is a flat spring tension, and will adjust itself to any thickness of material without changing. Needle is a straight, self-adjusting needle, flat on one side, and cannot be put in wrong. Needle Bar is round, made of case-hardened steel, with all cup at the bottom to prevent oil from getting on the goods. Adjustable Bearings—All bearings are case-hardened steel, and are held in position with a screw driver. All lost motion can be taken up, and the machine will last a lifetime. Attachments—Each machine furnished with necessary tools and accessories, and we also furnish an extra set of attachments in a velvet lined metal box, free of charge, as follows: One ruffler and gatherer, one maker, one shirring plate, one set of four lemmings, and one set of four feet of all kinds, one tucker, one under leader, one short cut attachment, and one thread cutter. Woodwork of finest quality oak or walnut, Gothic cover and drawers, nickel-plated rings to draw out dust, and a special device for replacing belt.
