OF INTEREST TO THE PEOPLE.

The Beast, Greed.
CHAS. A. SHEFFIELD.

There's a hideous beast abroad in the land, A beast of the mongrel breed,
With the head of a wolf, the wings of a bat,
The paws of a hog, and the claws of a cat,
And the name of the beast is "Greed."
There is not a home on the prairie lone, Untouched by his cruel paw;
There is not a child in the crowded town, Whose rent goes up and wages go down, But is torn by his horrid jaws.

Sometimes to the lathhouse mine he crawls, Where the white slaves toil in gangs, Far down as the stroke of pick is heard,
On the heart where hope is never stirred, He fastens his cruel fangs, Sometimes to the parrot foul he flies, Where the sweat-shop rocks with death;
Where the eye is robbed of its luster bright, And the nose chokes grow pale with fright, As it feels the fetid breath.

By the drops that fell from his dripping mouth,
I have tracked him to his lair, I have seen him in the jungle dense,
But within the palace walls he dwells, With a heartless millionaire, I have seen white, jeweled fingers put His horrible, panting sides, For love of the pet whose instincts true Shoot out on the home of the favored few,
To protect the spoil it hides.

Will a Sampson soon in his wrath arise To destroy this cursed beast?
Or a skilled enchanter seek his lair,
And move him in sudden rage to tear All the inmates of his lair?
Once home to this monster fell a prey, When her sons became her slaves,
And ere his ravages reach an end, O rich, he may turn on you and rend, And his kuppels may be your graves!

—Commonwealth.

Dives and Lazarus.

Fifty years ago there was but one reputed millionaire in the United States. Today there are 80 in Cleveland, as many as a half century ago could have been found in the United States worth a hundred thousand dollars. Ninety years ago the queen of Prussia pledged her entire jewels to free her country from the grasp of Napoleon. They were valued by the jeweler of Berlin at thirty thousand dollars. Last winter a queen of American society led the cotillion afish with gems valued at two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, while within the shadow of her palace thousands of children went supperless to bed.
There are three thousand children in Chicago who do not attend school for want of clothes; one thousand children die yearly for want of food.

Opening a magazine I read:
"Eighty thousand Durham miners hew coal in seams two feet thick while lying in water and under a shower bath from the roof. They rise at 3 in the morning, are queer in their legs in early manhood, and die of age at 50." Is it strange they struck in '93 against a reduction of 7 1/2 per cent in their scanty wages?

Twenty-two thousand coal miners in Ohio have earned during the last year, on an average, $4.34 per week with which to pay for their supplies in the mine and from the remaining support themselves and families. Francis Willard tells us of Chicago women who make a dozen white shirts for 75 cents, and furnish thread. The recent strike in New York revealed that the price has fallen to 60 cents. In Boston, Rev. S. A. Banks found women finishing cheap overcoats at 4 cents a piece, and knee pants for boys at 16 cents a dozen pairs. While these things are going on, fruit markets are thriving on the whims of the rich, selling Hamburg grapes at $10 a pound and Florida berries in winter at $4 a cup, 13 berries in a cup. And not to be outdone in extravagance, while Mrs. Bradley Martin gives a $300,000 ball, young Mr. Gould presents his lady-love with a fan costing $100,000, made of ivory, carved by the masters, and jeweled with diamonds and rubies to attract the vulgar gaze as she shall "fret her hour upon the stage and then be seen no more." Let us turn to a picture of a former time and ask why we did "that fair mountain leave to feed and batten on this moor?" At a banquet at the Weddell House, in this city, in 1865, upon the completion of the Atlantic and Great Western railway, Sir Morton Peto, the British statesman and railroad builder, said: "After our journey west and east, we can say there is only one thing which we have not seen in this country which can be seen in every other country. We have not seen a single man asking alms. In other countries, no matter where, we could not have traveled a day without being appealed to on all sides by beggars; not a port could we enter without being met on the landing by appeals for alms. Here we can say we have not seen a beggar, nor a person whose appearance indicated want. That is a great fact, and one of which you may well be proud." Since then all Americans have pocketed their pride save the vultures who sit by day on the topmost branches of our tree of liberty, and roost at night in the lobbies of legislation.

In 1892 the New York Tribune said there were 1103 millionaires in that city. In a recent year, 119,000 persons were evicted and turned out of their homes in three judicial districts of this modern Babylon. We read in the papers that while a ball costing $50,000 was in progress at Delmonico's, on the curbstone in front a woman crying and thinly clad was asking charity with a child in her arms. A passer-by spoke to her and looked at the baby. It was dead; literally starved and frozen at her breast.

In Scotland one-third of the families live in a single room, while the hunting grounds of an American millionaire extend across the highlands from sea to sea. This gentleman has said in a recent article that the surplus wealth of rich men is held in trust for society. Does he not fear society may administer upon the trust and discharge the trustees? I repudiate this doctrine of a trust, unless it be a trust which Chauncey declares over property obtained by fraud. I have no more interest in the millionaire's property than he has in mine. The demand that rich men shall be charitable in their wills implies a flaw in the title, and it is impudent criticism. The practice of endowing libraries and other charities to still public clamor is on a par with that of the western bandit, who, having held up the stage coach, tosses the luckless passenger a dollar ere he disappears in the sage-brush. Let every man be just before he is generous.

Charles Booth has made an analysis of London population and finds 1,292,000 or 30 per cent, living in poverty. Talk about Dante's hell; man who walks through the shambles of civilization needs no fantastic pictures of the poet to teach him terror.

The wealth of Croesus, if we can trust history, was eight millions of dollars. There are 70 American fortunes, each one four times as large.
And if recent published accounts are reliable, Mr. Rockefeller's income since the late presidential election is four times the entire fortune of this plutocrat of the ancient world.
In the Forum of January, 1891, Thomas G. Sherman predicted the advent of the billionaire in 40 years.
Men thought him wild brooding over the mysteries of the single tax.
Without the gift of prophecy Mr.
John Rockefeller has figured it out and announced his arrival at the goal if allowed a life of four score years. Twelve years ago a state senator from this county was appointed a committee of the senate to investigate the Standard Oil company on the subject of freight rebates. Frank Rockefeller told him his brother, John, often said his ambition in life was to become a billionaire, and that if his fortune grew in the future as it was then growing, he would have a billion in 30 years. His yearly income is accredited at 35 millions. The advance of Standard certificates this year leads the press to figure his income at 55 millions. This fortune makes him equal in wealth to all the people of Kansas, and in income to the entire commonwealth of Iowa.

The army of shame is recruited from the arms of toil. Of the first 2000 fallen women interviewed in New York, 1740 had been shop and factory girls. The tenderloin or black districts of cities are shadows cast by the mansions on the avenue.
During the year ending July 1, '97, the New York police and associated charities gathered from door-steps, alleyways, delivery wagons, ash barrels and rubbish heaps, 1907 abandoned babies.

Nine-tenths of these infants are now dead from need of mother's care. This has happened in the shadows of temples dedicated to the humble Nazarene. Magnificent shrines, whose proud spires comb the clouds, and at whose altar prismatic colors are reflected from jeweled pride and penitential tears!

Our age should render glory to God by making wealth to fertilize the lowest valleys of humanity instead of rearing piles of ecclesiastical splendor. It is grander to expand the dome of thought, for those that are and are to be, than to rear St. Peter's dome wherein are niched the effigies of saints that were. To clothe the naked, reform the criminals, feed the hungry, less by alms than beneficent legislation and the diffusion of education, to lift the race to a level of culture hardly attained by a class, is a loftier task than rearing gorgeous temples where paupers are to kneel.

the Cleveland Bar.]

An Ordinance to accept First Street from Property Owners.

The Town of Coquille City does Ordain as follows:

Section 1. That the Town of Coquille City, Oregon, does hereby accept that part of First street, original plat, that has been planked by the property owners along said street, and hereafter to be kept in repair at the expense of the city.

Adopted Oct. 16, 1897. Ayes—L. Harlocker, W. Drane, S. L. Leneve and J. T. Nosler. Nays—none.

JOHN GOODMAN,
President of the Board.
Attest: GEO. O. LEACH, Clerk of Board.

Liberty and Freedom

Ed. HERALD: For the love of Liberty—that is what brought emigrants to the inhospitable shores of savage lands. There was a time when the words "freedom" and "liberty" meant something. Now they are a mockery. We are rapidly degenerating into European conditions. The fruits of the toiling millions stolen to build up fabulous fortunes for a few, unprecedented in the history of mankind. A vast public debt, payable in legal tender currency, has been funded into gold bearing bonds, thereby adding millions to the burdens of the people. Silver, which had been accepted as coin since the dawn of history, has been demonetized to add to the purchasing power of gold, decreasing the value of all human labor and products to the point that—

When a rich corporation thinks Labor's too dear, and your work's Not enough to monopolize greed That ignores what you need.

A vast conspiracy against mankind has been organized on two continents, and is rapidly taking hold of the world. It forbodes the destruction of civilization. We have witnessed for twenty years the struggles of the two great political parties for power and plunder, while private wrongs have been inflicted upon the suffering people.
We are gradually becoming serfs to a horde of pernicious cormorants, but it will come like the first peal of thunder that shook Sinai or the Himalayan mountains. This outrage has roused righteous wrath.

A Child's Recovery
FROM PARALYSIS AND SIX YEARS OF CONVULSIONS.

Little Fannie Adams, of Umattilla, Cured of a Dreadful Malady A Cure of Unusual Interest—A Reporter Investigates.

From the Lake Region, Easton, Pa.

For some time past the Lake Region has been receiving reports from Umattilla, Pa., of an almost miraculous cure that had been effected in the case of Fannie Adams, a daughter of A. J. Adams, of that place, and last Saturday a representative of this paper made a trip to Umattilla for the purpose of determining the authenticity of the same. The family live a short distance from the village, where it was found that the people were cognizant of the cure which had been effected, and were rejoicing with the family in their new found happiness. The father, A. J. Adams, is a hard-working honest farmer from east Tennessee, and the family came to Florida four years ago in the hope that a change of climate would be of benefit to their afflicted child. Much of their earnings have gone for doctors' bills, whose services proved unavailing. The representative was greeted by Mrs. Adams, from whom he gained the story of her great trial.

Fannie, the youngest child, was born in east Tennessee, and was seven years old on the third day of February, 1897. When ten months old she was stricken with paralysis, which affected the entire left side. This stroke of paralysis was followed by convulsions, and from the time little Fannie was ten months old until February, 1897, they were not a single day or a night that she did not have spasms of the most distressing nature. No single convulsion, but at intervals of three or four, and sometimes as high as ten in one day.

The family was all broken down with care, and Mrs. Adams states that for one year she did not go into her kitchen to superintend her household work. All the fingers of the right hand of the little girl are enlarged and misshapen, caused by her biting them during the fearful suffering. She was three years and four months old when she was taken to the hospital at Easton, Pa., where she was treated by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and she was frank to say that they could not determine the cause, or prescribe a remedy to aid the afflicted child. But what a change now in that household! For little Fannie has recently been released from her six years of agony, which brings the light of happiness to the faces of the parents. In January, this year, Mrs. Adams had purchased some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for her fourteen-year-old daughter, determined to try their effect upon little Fannie. After three or four doses, she noted an improvement, and she told the father what she had done. He at once went to the village and bought another box, and up to this time six boxes have been used. The first pills, Mrs. Adams states, were given in January, the latter part, and certainly not earlier than the fifteenth or twentieth, and the child had her last convulsion on February 30, nearly three months ago. Her general condition has improved in every way, and it was not a month after the first pills were taken when she began to walk without assistance.

The pills were bought at the drug store of Dr. Shelton, in Umattilla. In answer to the question, did she know any regular practicing physician, and as such was loath to recommend any proprietary medicine, but still he was ready to declare to all men, and he did know that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People had benefited Fannie Adams, and also solving the information that he knew of other children in the village who had been benefited by their use.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

The Head of the "Arlington" swings on patent socket hinges, firmly held down by a thumb screw. Strong, substantial, neat and handsome in design, and beautifully ornamented in gold. Bold and contrasting colors, making it flash with top of table. Highest Arm—Space under the arm is 1 1/2 inches high and 9 inches long. This will admit the largest skirts, and even quilts. It is Self-Threading—Absolutely no holes to put thread through except eye of needle. Stitches evenly, easy to put in or take out; bobbin holds a large amount of thread. Stitch Regulator is on the bed of the machine, beneath the bobbin window, for regulating the size of the stitch. Tension is a flat spring lever, and can be changed from 8 to 32 stitches to the inch. Feed is double and extends on both sides of needle; never fails to take goods through; never stops at seams; movement is positive; never breaks and gets out of order; can be raised or lowered without touching anything. Automatic Bobbin Winder—For filling the bobbin automatically and perfectly smooth without holding the thread. Machine does not run while winding. Sewing Machine is easy to run, does not fatigue the operator, makes little noise and sews rapidly. Stitches in a double lock stitch, the same on both sides, and the bobbin winds itself. The machine will last a lifetime, and will admit thread from 8 to 100 spool cotton without changing. Never gets out of order. Needle is a straight, self-adjusting needle, fit on one side, and cannot be put in wrong. Bar is made of cast iron, with oil cup at the bottom to prevent oil from getting on the goods. Adjustable bearings—all bearings are case-hardened steel and easily adjusted with a screw driver. All cast iron cast in one piece, and the machine will last a lifetime. Attachments—Each machine is furnished with necessary tools and accessories, and in addition we furnish extra sets of all attachments, free of charge, as follows: Sewing Machine with a rubber and gatherer, one binder, one shirring plate, one set of four hemmers, different widths up to 1/2 of an inch, one tucker, one under header, one short or attachment foot, and one thread cutter. Woodwork of finest quality oak or walnut, goretic cover and drawers, nickel-plated rings to drawers, dress guards to wheel, and device for replacing belt.
