OF INTEREST TO THE PEOPLE.

The Voice of the Time.
Day unto day utters speech!
Ho, ye nations, and hear What yesterday telleth today;
What today to the morrow will preach!
A change cometh over our sphere,
And the Old goeth down to decay!
A new light has dawned on the darkness of yore,
And men shall be slaves and oppressors no more!

Hark to the throbbing of thought In the breast of the waking world!
Over land, over sea it hath come!
The serf that was yesterday bought, Today his defiance hath hurled—No more in his slavery dumb—And tomorrow will break from the fetters that bind,
And lift a bold arm for the rights of mankind!

Hark to the voice of the time!
The multitude think for themselves, And weigh their condition, each one;
The crowd has a spirit awoke;
And whether his hammer of delves, He reads when his labor is done,
And learns though he groan under peevy's That freedom to think is the birthright of man.

But yesterday thought was confined;
To breathe it was peril or death,
And it sank on the breast where it rose;
Now, free as the midsummer wind, It sprays its adventurous breath,
And round the wide universe goes;
The man and the cloud from its pathway are cut led
And glimpses of glory illumine the world!

The voice of opinion has grown;
'Twas yesterday changeful and weak, Like the voice of a boy ere his prime:
Today it has taken the tone Of an orator worthy to speak, Who knows the demand of his time, And tomorrow will sound in oppression's gold ear
Like the tramp of the seraph to startle our sphere!

Be wise, O ye rulers of earth,
And close not your ears to his voice, Nor allow it to warn you in vain;
The freedom of yesterday's birth Will march on its way and rejoice, And never be conquered again!
The day hath a tongue, eye, the hours atter sp'ech!
Wise, wise will ye be if ye learn what they teach!
—Charles Mackay.

SOLD TO SHYLOCK.
A Burden of Debt That is Astonishing and That is Rapidly Increasing.
"Condemned to forever roll the stone that was forever to be rolled," was the sentence imposed upon one of the characters of Greek mythology. This sentence is now imposed on the American toiler. We have paid two thirds of the war debt, and the remaining third is bigger than the whole of it was when we began. How do you make that out, Cherry? Well, just figure up how much it would take to pay $2,800, 000,000 in cotton at 20 cents a pound, or wheat at $2 per bushel, and compare that with what it would take to pay one-third that amount in cotton at 5 cents per pound or wheat at 50 cents per bushel.

If the sucker who carried a torch and "hollered" to help his side beat the other side (of Wall street) hasn't sense enough to understand these figures, just hand them over to his 10-year-old schoolboy.
At the close of the war the people were "comparatively free from debt," said Secretary of the Treasury, McCulloch. The war debt was all the people owed, and nearly all this was in circulation among the people as the nation's legal tender money. Business was done for cash. There was a less per cent of credit business than ever before.
Labor found employment on every side at high wages and ready cash for pay.
Today, after 32 years of hard work, our debt, public and private, amounts to $40,000,000,000—all that the property is worth at present prices. Ours is a rich country, owned largely in Europe.
Our interest, rent and dividend payments to Europe amount to from $300,000,000 to $350,000,000 a year, and the amount is rapidly increasing.
We annually dig out of our mines from $35,000,000 to $40,000, 000 of gold and from $50,000,000 to $70,000,000 of silver. And only last year I saw poor, half-starved American workmen who believed that out of this $40,000,000, 000 of gold we could pay this $350, 000,000 to Europe in gold and have dead loads of gold left to do business with and accumulate enough surplus after awhile to pay the principal. Such fellows ought to be knocked in the head to save feed. Hogs could be fattened on what they eat, and that would add something to the country's wealth.
"Bimetallism! Bimetallism!" yelled a wide-mouthed orator. "Add silver too." All right. To $46, 000,000, our highest annual product of gold in a decade, add $72,000, 000 of silver, making $118,000,000 of both with which to pay to Europe $350,000,000 and have a balance left to transact our home business!
Don't you see that the poor workingman who votes for the goldbug is a blooming idiot, while the "bimetallist" is a half opened bud on the race bush?
Verily, verily, I say unto you, there is no way under heaven or

Industrial Education in the Public Schools.

There is a widespread complaint, and in the main a just one, that the ideals in our public school system are almost wholly literary, and only to the very slightest extent industrial in their tendencies. In spite of the fact that fully nine-tenths of the children in the public schools are destined to be laborers with their hands, the public school course provides but little, if any, manual training, and lays but little stress upon the dignity and importance of manual labor. If a boy begins work with the spade or saw after having completed the public school course, there is a feeling of disappointment on the part of his friends, who seem to think that his education was designed wholly to fit him for other callings in life. It is expected that he shall be a doctor or lawyer, a store-keeper or civil engineer, or, at the very least, a clerk in a store. If the course in the public school frankly recognized the fact that the great majority of the children will be obliged to labor in some way with their hands, and if the effort were made to develop in them a love of labor and respect for it in every honest form, public education would more nearly meet the actual requirements of our people and build a sure foundation for national prosperity.
Industrial education in the public schools need not be elaborately systematic, nor attended with a very great expenditure of money for equipment. The spirit which grows out of training in manual work of really greater value than any skill which may be incidentally acquired. It is of more importance that the boys and girls should learn to look forward to doing work, and to respect honorable labor of all kinds, than that they should become especially skilled workmen.
In our district schools simple provisions might be made for various kinds of common labor, under the supervision of the teacher, and a skillful teacher would soon learn how to make this work interesting as well as valuable. The care of the school grounds, beautifying the yard and building, simple work with the ordinary tools found in every farmer's workshop, plain cutting and sewing and many other simple and useful kinds of work could easily be given in any country school. In the graded schools of the towns and villages, a more complete system of manual training could be introduced with little expense and with no great expenditure of time. The whole ideal of the school might become much more largely industrial. It is not claimed of course that the very best development of mind and heart is not the due of every boy and girl whether destined for manual labor or that of a literary nature; but a much greater emphasis laid on the industrial side of education need by no means interfere with the very best development on the intellectual side. Already a great many good schools have introduced manual training with marked success. The idea remains to be more fully developed, so that the common school everywhere may train its children to the best kind of citizenship, which is self-respecting and industrious in the humblest walks in life as well as in the highest.

Government by Mobs.
The Stockton Independent (Rep.) says that government by injunctions is far preferable to government by mobs. When was this nation, or any state in it, governed by mob?
The most noted case of mob government was when the high-toned mob of Boston "business men" and professionals led Garrison through the streets with a rope around his neck.
And recently the Cleveland Leader advocated the exclusion of "Labor Agitators" without law. The judge and jury of Chicago who in 1887 hanged several innocent men, without a particle of evidence, on the charge of throwing a bomb, were simply a mob. Some mobs are better than injunction judges; others worse.—San Francisco Star.

Like Begets Like.
Athens had no poor houses. The reason why she had none was that she did not supply the material with which poor houses are filled.
Rome had many prisons, pro-rata of her population, as Boston.
The reason why she had as many was that she supplied the material with which to fill them. Rome thought she was doing well when she apprehended her criminals and put them in the Manerme caves.
Boston thinks so also. Rome and Boston both flatter themselves that they "protect society" by first producing and then caging their criminals. Paris has as many almshouses as New York, and both Paris and New York have made the wretches who cry at the doors or drift in shoals along the streets.
The reason why Paris and New York have invented the almshouses is because they first invented the beggars. It is no doubt a fine thing to make paupers and then feed them.
—John Clark Ridpath.

Discovery of New and Important Evidence.
Denver, Oct. 25.—Dr. Coburn, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, who has recently returned from England, tells of a wonderful papiri discovered last January, and gives out information which is new to the world. This is that in the logs, which was unearthed by Messrs.
Greenleaf and Hunt under the direction of Dr. Flinders Petrie, of Oxford university, last January, there was found besides the notebook leaf containing what purported to be the sayings of Jesus Christ, a leaf from the New Testament. The leaf contained nearly the whole of the first chapter of Matthew, and was written exactly the same as our Greek Testament of today.
Dr. Coburn says that this is our earliest record of the Bible, and that in the sixty-one baskets of papiri that were taken out there may be found a copy of the scriptures. He also points out what a blow to infidelity it might be, and what a strengthening of the Christian cause.
He says there is no doubt of the genuineness of these findings; that such critics as Professors Hermack and Thompson have passed upon them and declare that they could not have been written later than 200 A. D.

More of the Sealy Business.
San Francisco, Oct. 23.—A case involving title to 30,000 acres of land in Humboldt county, valued at over a million dollars, is now before the United States circuit court of appeals for decision. It is an appeal in equity by the United States court against the American Lumber company, an Illinois corporation, and the Central Trust company, of New York, to about 200 patents for timber land, on the ground that they were obtained by fraud.
It was charged that Scotch capitalists organized the Illinois corporation, and employed about 200 men, whose names are given, to locate timber lands, which were then conveyed to the lumber company. It is also alleged that after 30,000 acres had been secured this way, a trust deed was made to the Central Trust company, as trustee to secure the payment of bonds.

The Pullman Millions.
Chicago, Oct. 25.—The disposition of the estimated $50,000,000 left by the late George M. Pullman will not be known with certainty for at least another day, it being impossible to probate the will before tomorrow.
The assurance is given that Robert Lincoln and Norman Ream, executors of the millionaire, expressed themselves with authority today.
It is said positively that the estate will not be worth over $20,000,000 or $25,000,000. Neither of the executors of the will would confirm or deny the statement that Pullman had disinherited his two sons, George M. and Sanger W. Pullman. Neither of the young men are said to be violently drawn toward a business career, and for that reason, it has been declared, the bulk of the property has been left to the widow and Mrs. Frank Loudon, daughter of the deceased. The Chicago University comes in for a large amount; it is also said. According to report, Mrs. Frank Carolan, of San Francisco, one of the dead millionaire's daughters, will not receive to exceed $2,000,000.

A YOUNG LIFE SAVED IN A REMARKABLE MANNER.
Florence Sturdivant, of Grindstone Island, Saved from an Untimely Death—Her Dangerous Predicament.

From "On The St. Lawrence," Clayton, N. Y.
Among the Thousand Islands is one called Grindstone. It is seven miles long and three wide. The inhabitants of this island are a well-informed class of people who devote their energies to farming and quarrying for a livelihood. In the home of one of these islanders resides Florence J. Sturdivant, the four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
William H. Sturdivant. She had a remarkable experience recently.
"We eagerly purchased a second box of pills and watched with delight the change for the better that was being wrought daily.
Florence finally became strong enough to walk a little. She gained in flesh and strength rapidly. By the time she had used three boxes of the pills she was evidently truly cured, and she continued using another box, the fourth, to prevent the possibility of a recurrence of the difficulty.
We cannot praise too highly the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I am positive that without their use our child would have been a confirmed invalid."

Machine. Finished in a perfect manner. It possesses all modern improvements. Its mechanical construction is such that it is easy to run, and it is perfectly reliable, thus insuring ease of running, durability and great strength.
It is possible for the machine to be put out of order. It sews fast and makes a perfect stitch with all kinds of thread and all classes of material. Always ready for use and unvalued for speed, durability and quality of work. Note the following points of superiority:
The Head of the "Arlington" swings on patent socket hinges, firmly held down by a thumb screw. Strong, substantial, neat and handsome in design, and beautifully ornamented in gold. Bed plate has rounded corners and is inlaid or counter-sunk, making it flush with top of table. Highest Arm—Spoke arm is 2 1/2 inches high and 9 inches long. This will admit the largest skirts, and even quilts. It is Self-Threading—Absolutely no holes to put thread through except eye of needle. Shuttle is inlaid, open end, entirely self-threading, easy to put in or take out; bobbin holds a large amount of thread. Stitch Regulator is on the foot of the machine. The Needle is a straight, self-cutting needle. But on one side and cannot be put in wrong. Needle Bar is round, made of one-hardened steel, with oil cup at the bottom to prevent oil from getting into the gear teeth. Adjustable Footing—All feet are case-hardened steel, and easily adjusted with a screw driver. All foot motion can be taken up, and the machine will follow a Lifetime. Attachments—Each machine furnished with necessary technical accessories, and in addition we furnish an extra set of attachments in a velvet lined metal box, free of charge, as follows: One ruler and gatherer, one binder, one shirring plate, one set of four buttons, different width rings to take on one finger, one under hander, one over or attachment foot, and one treadle cutter.
