A DAMNABLE SYSTEM. Use of Unlawful Injunctions to Oppress the Weak--Defiance of the Constitution.

The shooting of miners in Pennsylvania, although done by public officials pretending to act under the law, was none the less murder.

In the great miners' strike the injunction issued in the interest of the mine operators prohibited the strikers from marching in the public highway.

Newspapers presume to voice public opinion and denounce wrong actually defended these injunctions whereby the freedom of speech and the rights of persons were denied by a formal order of a court.

Men whose power was recognized applauded these injunctions and denounced the critics of such injunctions as anarchists and enemies of the government.

It is not then to be wondered at that those sheriff's officers were impressed with the authority, unconstitutional though it was, to shoot down in cold blood men who had committed no rash act, who were not trespassers on private property and who were only marching upon the public highway.

Immediately the fault is with these sheriff's officers, who ought to be punished for their bloody work. But back of it all is a damnable system that has grown up in this country in defiance of our constitution and in repugnance to our institutions--a system that ought to be abolished by the strong power of public sentiment.

It is that lawless system whereby the courts, through unconstitutional injunctions, become the oppressors of the weak. The injunction by nature designed merely to "command an act which the courts regard as essential to justice or to restrain an act which is esteemed contrary to equity and good conscience" has come to be a powerful club which corporations use to whip their dissatisfied employes into line.

Too often courts have placed this club in the hands of mercenary employes of human labor, and the club has invariably been wielded to the detriment of equity, in defiance of justice and wholly regardless of good conscience.

If these miners had assaulted the property of the mine owners, the officers would have been justified in protecting their property, even at the sacrifice of the life of every invader.

A strike involves a difference between individuals, between employers and employes. If men engaged in the same line of manufacture have a right to combine for the establishment of the rate of wages they are to pay, as well as for the implement--or more than one such token-impliment--used to record the nation's debt or debts in the various units of accounts.

The body of Joshua Hite; For better or for worse-- To have, to hold, to family guard 'Till holed off in a hearse?

And "silver dollars," "gold dollars" and "paper dollars" are fully as scarce as silver ounces, gold gallons and paper inches; and the latter expressions are no more absurd than the former ones are.

There is a distinct, easily recognized difference between the nation and the government. There is as much difference between these two things as there is between the farmer and his harvester.

The farmer's harvester is never mistaken for the farmer, nor the farmer for his harvester, but the government is often mistaken for the nation, and vice versa. Why?

The government is one of the nation's appliances, or machines, and all other interstate or general monopolies should be owned and managed by the nation, but not by its appliance, the government.

So the nation is all the people within our realm organized in collectivity; but its appliance, the government, is clearly another thing.

Chief Engineer's Report. In the report of the chief of engineers, in connection with the river and harbor improvements, we notice the following, which will prove of interest to residents of this section:

Of the Coquille river improvement the report says: "Up to June 30, 1896, the sum of $141,162.69 had been expended in this improvement, and $68,833.60 for engaging on the upper river, making the total expenditure $210,000.

"The result was to secure a comparatively stable channel across the bar. This channel had at times a depth of from 8 to 10 feet, but was subject to very considerable shoaling from the effect of winds and tides, having sometimes as little as 4 or 5 feet.

"On June 30, 1896, the north jetty was 510 feet long, and the south jetty 2116 1/2 feet long. The result was to secure a straight channel across the bar varying from four to ten feet depth.

"The traffic on this river for the calendar year 1896 is reported as 21,106 tons. The receipts consist principally of general merchandise, machinery and building material; the shipments of lumber, coal and agricultural products."

A Marriage Ceremony.

Will thou take her for thy pard, For better or for worse-- To have, to hold, to family guard 'Till holed off in a hearse?

Will thou let her have her way, Consult her many wishes-- Make the fire up every day And help her with the dishes?

Will thou give her all the stuff Her little purse will pack-- Buy a box and a soap, And a little sealskin saque?

Will thou comfort and support Her father and her mother, Aunt Jennina, Uncle John Three sisters and a brother?

PHYSICIANS BAFFLED.

Prof. R. S. Bowman, Instructor of Natural Science in Hartsville College, Cared of a Severe Illness by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People after Physicians Failed.

From the Republican, Columbus, Ind. Prof. R. S. Bowman, the able instructor of natural science in the famous Hartsville, (Ind.) College, is well and favorably known, not only as an educator, but also as a minister of the gospel, as for a number of years he was pastor of the United Brethren church at Charlotte, Mich., before coming to Hartsville.

Some time ago he had a severe illness which was cured almost miraculously. A reporter hearing of this, interviewed him regarding his experience. Prof. Bowman said in the midst of his work when the reporter called, but he cheerfully gave him a hearing.

A year ago last fall," said the professor, "I broke down with nervous exhaustion, and was unable to properly attend to my duties. I tried different physicians but with no relief, and also used many different proprietary medicines, spending almost fifty dollars for these medicines alone. I then resorted to a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and was left in a much worse condition. My kidneys were fearfully disordered, and my digestion became very poor. I was indeed in a bad condition.

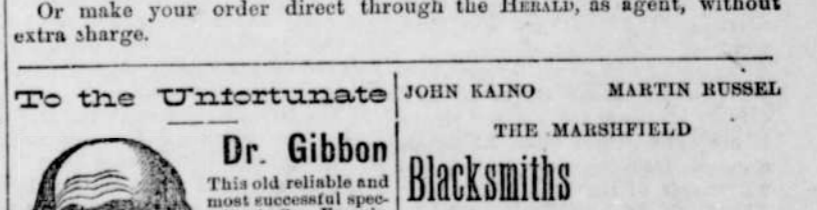

A minister in conference learning of my condition advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had heard much about the wonderful curative powers of this medicine, but it was with reluctance that I was finally persuaded to try it, as it seemed that nothing could do me any good. However, I procured three boxes of pills and took them strictly according to directions. By the time the last dose was taken I was almost cured, and in better health than I had been for years. I continued using the pills awhile longer and was entirely cured. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Such was Professor Bowman's wonderful story which was further endorsed by the following affidavit: HARTSVILLE, Ind., March 16, 1897. I affirm that the above carries with the facts in my case. R. S. BOWMAN.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 16th day of March, 1897. LYMAN J. SCUDDER, Notary Public, STATE OF INDIANA.
