OF INTEREST TO THE PEOPLE.

Novum Tempus.
S. A. VANKRIL.
The men that question Shylock's rule Are pessimists, they say.
But the pessimists of seventy-six Are the patriots of today.
We have the grandest system now
The world has ever known,
And little men with cunning brains To millionaires have grown.
The "cross of gold" weighs down mankind Its fetters bind us now.
And pressed by greed with ruthless hand,
Are laborers on labor's brow.
Midst treasured wealth on every hand Stalks famine, grim and gaunt, And millions fall beneath the wheels Of the golden juggernaut.
A pall of gloom hangs o'er the land, Midst wealth and pomp and glare, Golconda's wealth was a'er so great,
Yet the wolf stands at the door.
Eureka, from the gloom there comes The dawn of wisdom's light, Eternal truth will yet prevail And God will speed the right.
God bless the hand and bless the man, Though pessimist he be,
That strikes the shackles from mankind And sets the millions free.
We'll sail dogmas to the cross And sound their funeral knell; We'll tear the throne from labor's brow And cast them into hell;
And on the wreck of Mammon's throne Will rise an age of splendor And honest toil, not Shylock's dross, Will be the legal tender.
Free coinage, then, of labor's wealth On this true issue rely.
And from the ramparts of this truth We'll shout the battle cry:
Wee he to him who stands beneath When Mammon meets his doom; Then his hands and cunning brain On Earth will find no room.

PROPHETIC WORDS
Penned By That Tribune of the People, Abraham Lincoln.
We follow the lead of Norton's Sentinel and publish the famous utterances of Abraham Lincoln, as to the rights of labor. This is a state document, although so often denied by the paid press of plutocracy.

The exact language is contained in a message to congress, Dec. 3, 1861, and (without changing a word or syllable) is as follows:
"Monarchy itself is sometimes hinted at as a possible refuge from the power of the people.

"In my present position, I could scarcely be justified were I to omit raising a warning voice against this approach of returning despotism.

"It is not needed, nor fitting here that a general argument should be made in favor of popular institutions; but there is one point, with its connections, to which I ask a brief attention. It is the effort to place capital on an equal footing with, if not above, labor in the structure of government. It is assumed that labor is available only in connection with capital; that nobody labors unless somebody else owns capital, somehow by the use of it induces him to labor. This assumed, it is next considered whether it is best that capital shall hire laborers, and thus induce them to work by their own consent. Having proceeded so far it is naturally concluded that all laborers are either hired laborers or what we call slaves. And further, it is assumed that whoever is once a hired laborer, is fixed in that condition for life.

"Now, there is no such relation between capital and labor as assumed; nor is there any such thing as a free man being fixed for life in the condition of a hired laborer. Both these assumptions are false, and all inferences from them are groundless.

"Labor is prior to, and independent of, capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed.
Labor is the superior of capital, and deserves much the higher consideration.

"Capital has its rights, which are as worthy of protection as any other rights. Nor is it denied that there is, and probably always will be, a relation between labor and capital, producing mutual benefits. The error is in assuming that the whole labor of community exists within that relation. A few men own capital, and that few avoid labor themselves, and with their capital, hire or buy another few to labor for them.
A large majority belong to neither class—neither work others, nor have others working for them.
In most of the southern states, a majority of the whole people of all colors, are neither slaves nor masters; while in the northern a large majority are neither hirers nor hired. Men with their families—wives, sons and daughters—work for themselves on their farms, in their houses and in their shops, taking the whole product to themselves, and asking no favors of capital on the one hand or hired laborers or slaves on the other. It is not forgotten that a considerable number of persons mingle their own labor with capital—that is, they also labor with their own hands, and also buy or hire others to labor for them; but this is only a mixed, and not a distinct class. No principle stated is disturbed by the existence of this mixed class.

"Again, as has already been said, there is not, of necessity, any such thing as the free hired laborer being fixed to that condition for life.
Many independent men, everywhere in these states, a few years back in their lives, were hired laborers. The prudent, penniless beginner in the world, labors for wages awhile, saves a surplus to buy tools or land for himself; then labors on his own account for another while, and at length hires another new beginner to help him. This is the just, and generous and prosperous system, which opens the way to all—gives hope to all, and consequent energy and progress, and improvement of condition to all. No men living are more worthy to be trusted than those who toil up from poverty—none less inclined to take, or touch, ought that they have not honestly earned. Let them beware of surrendering a political power which they already possess, and which, if surrendered, will surely be used to close the door of advancement against such as they, and to fix new disabilities and burdens upon them, till all of liberty shall be lost.

"From the first taking of our national census to the last, are seventy years; and we find our population at the end of the period, eight times as great as it was at the beginning. The increase of those other things, which men deem desirable, has even been greater. We thus have, at one view, what the popular principle, applied to the government, through the machinery of the states and the union, has produced in a given time; and also what, if firmly maintained, it promises for the future. There are already among us those who, if the union is preserved will live to see it contain two and fifty millions.
The struggle of today is not altogether for today—it is for a vast future also. With a reliance on Providence, all the more firm and earnest, let us proceed in the great task which events have devolved upon us."

A Woman's Odd Occupation.
The only woman dog enumerator in the world is Mrs. Sarah A. Richard, of Kansas City, Kan. The canine census-taker has the further distinction of working without pay, the fruits of her work being turned over to the public library. Her duties are to see that the owner of every dog in the city pays the proper municipal tax. She was appointed by the Kansas City city council at the instance of the Federation of Clubs, one of the strongest women's organizations in the state. For a long time the question of dog taxes had been a botheration to the city. Some people paid and some didn't, and it was next to impossible to force the delinquents to obedience. The condition of things was somewhat bettered when the dog taxes, through an ordinance, were turned over to the public library, and the library was given charge of the collection.

The Federation of Clubs, which is at the helm of the Library Association, was consulted as to what was the best means to remedy the evil. It was the federation that suggested the idea of appointing Mrs. Richard to take charge of the dog taxes. It was decided to call the office Mrs. Richard was to hold that of "city dog enumerator," as it sounded better than "dog im-pounder." Since that time the question of dog taxes has been solved. Mrs. Richard has elevated the position from a menial to an exalted one, and made the dog taxes net a handsome income to the library. She has manipulated the office strictly on a systematic basis, and the man or woman who is shrewd enough to avoid the payment of the dog taxes under her administration is welcome to the saving for their pains.

Neither Over-Production Nor Exportation Raise the Price.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—"Basing our figures on the government figures, we think we now own every bushel of surplus wheat in this country," said G. E. French, the active member of the Leiter combination, who was speaking for himself and Joseph Leiter, the head of the "clique." He said:
"The situation is simply this, everything goes to show that this country has sent abroad more than its exportable surplus. We think wheat has been over-exported to the extent of 15,000,000 or 20,000,000 bushels, and that the United States is the country in which to sell."

Reason for Withdrawal.
Peking, Jan. 31.—It is supposed Great Britain's withdrawal from Port Arthur and her ceasing to exert pressure for the opening of the port of Talien Wan, which action is regarded as incredible and suicidal to the British interest and prestige, were owing to her disbelief in the existence of a secret treaty between Russia and China. The Chinese government, however, quotes this treaty as the reason for the Russian presence at Port Arthur.

Some of the residents at New Pine creek in Lake county, drive coyotes, wildcats and foxes out of the mountains down to the lake, and coyote-hunting has become an industry there, as well as an amusement, as the varmints have become so numerous that owners of sheep have been compelled to take to killing them to save their flocks from being entirely destroyed.

The special school meeting at Hillsboro, January 31st, voted a tax of 9 mills on the taxable property of the district, which, as reported by County Clerk Imbrie, amounts to $431,165. It was also voted by the meeting that the money raised by the tax be used in the maintenance of a nine-months' free school and in the payment of one of the district's outstanding $1000-bonds. During the past two years, the district maintained only six months' free school and nearly $4000 in outstanding warrants were paid off.

Mr. Ward L. Smith, of Fredericktown, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians in Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a newspaper and chanced to read an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, the first dose helped him and its continued use cured him. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

SLEPT LIKE A CHILD.

Gained Twenty-Seven Pounds in Four Weeks.
The Story of a Soldier.

From the Transcript, Peoria, Ill.

No man is better known and liked in that rich tier of Illinois counties, of which Peoria is the centre, than general Chester S. Harrington, of Princeville, Ill. For many years Mr.
Harrington has traveled through the country on profitable journeys as an itinerant merchant, and everywhere he goes he is given a heartily welcome by the people who depend upon his visits for the purchase of the necessaries, and some of the luxuries, of life.

Mr. Harrington is a veteran of the war, and from this fact is made the remarkable experience which he related at the Transcript office recently. His story, telling of the evils of which the Civil War was but the beginning in its way, and in thousands of other cases, was as follows:
"I served three years in the 124th Illinois cavalry at Keosauqua, Ill. I was in Liberty Prison, and endured, like many another Northern soldier. Until recently I was a member of the Princeville Post, of the G. A. R.

"The strain of army life did its work in undermining my health, although the col-apse did not come for years. For some time I suffered from general debility and nervousness, so badly that I could not sleep. For fifteen years my sleep was completely broken up. I was nervous, restless and my misery increased. My eyes began to fail, and as my body lost vitality my mind seemed to give way also. I could scarcely remember events that happened but a few weeks before.

"For two years I was unfit for business. I was just able to creep around during the greater part of this time, and there were times when I could not get up at all. My brother is a doctor, but all his efforts to help me failed to give me any relief.

"I tried a number of remedies, without avail. Finally, having read articles regarding cures that had been effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I decided to try them. That was in 1896. I bought a box and took the pills according to instructions. Just four days later I had the happiest hours I had known for years. That night I went to sleep easily and slept soundly as a child, and awoke refreshed. Three or four weeks after beginning the treatment, when I had taken four boxes of the pills, I found I had increased in weight, from 119 pounds to 146 pounds. This greatly surprised my friends, who thought my case was a hopeless one. I began my work on the road again, and have continued it right along ever since in excellent health.

"Let me tell you a remarkable thing that was a side issue, but a valuable gain to me.
I found that while I was taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I had been cured of the smoking habit, which had been formed when I was a boy, six years old, and which had clung to me all these years. The craving for tobacco left me, and I have never experienced it since. I have recommended the pills to many.

All the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves are contained in a condensed form, in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.
They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nerve-ous headache, the after effects of a gripper, pleurisy of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from witted and humors in the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100 according to Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

A $65.00 Machine
For $18.50
Cash with Order and Coupon

The Head of the "Arlington" swings on patent rock hinges, firmly held by a thumb screw. Strong, substantial, neat and handsome in design, and beautifully ornamented in gold. Bed plate has rounded corners, making it flush with top of fabric. Highest Arm—Space under the arm is 2 1/2 inches high and 8 inches long. This will admit the largest skirts, and even quilts. It is Self-Threading—Absolutely no holes to put thread through except eye of needle. Entirely self-threading, easy to put in or take out; bobbin holds a large amount of thread. Stitch Regulator is on the bed of the machine, beneath the bobbin, and shows the number of stitches to be made, and can be changed from 8 to 32 stitches to the inch. Feed is double and extends on both sides of needle; never fails to take goods through; never slips at sewing movement; positive; no springs to break and get out of order; raised and lowered at will; Automatic Bobbin Winder—By filling the bobbin automatically and perfectly smooth without holding the thread. Machine does not run while winding. Machine is easy to run, does not make noise, and sews rapidly. Stitch is a double lock stitch, the same on both sides, will not unravel, and can be changed without stopping the machine. Tension is a flat spring tension, and will admit thread from 8 to 14-gauge cotton without changing. Never gets out of order. The Needle is a straight, self-setting needle, flat on one side, and cannot be put in wrong. Needle Bar is constructed of case-hardened steel, with all eyes at the bottom to prevent oil from getting on the goods. Adjustable Bearings—All bearings are case-hardened steel and easily adjusted with a screw driver. All lost motion can be taken up, and the machine will last a lifetime. Attachments—Each machine is furnished with necessary tools and accessories, and in addition furnish an extra set of attachments in a velvet lined metal box, free of charge, as follows: One rubber and iron foot, one set of four hemming feet, one set of four hemming feet, one set of 1/2 of an inch, one lucker, one under roller, one short or attachment foot, and one thread cutter. Woodwork of finest quality oak or walnut, goshic cover and drawers, nickel-plated rings to drawers, dress guards to wheel, and device for replacing belt.
