A stubborn cough or tickling in the throat yields to One Minute Cough Cure. Harmless in effect, touches the right spot, reliable and just what is wanted. It acts at once. R. S. Knowlton.

Truth wears well. People have learned that DeWitt's Little Early Risers are reliable little pills for regulating the bowels, curing constipation and sick headache. They don't gripe. R. S. Knowlton.

The bay papers make mention of the great run of salmon on the Coquille and that the catch is so in access of the capacity of our river canneries that Empire City cannery is receiving fish from this river.

We thank Orvil Dodge, esq., for an early copy of the governor's message to the special session of the legislature, read to the joint meeting Tuesday afternoon of last week. We give a summary of the message today, as the document is very lengthy.

The patrons of the Coquille creamery were well represented on our streets last Friday, who were getting their checks for the month's milk supply. The total payroll to the patrons was something like $3000. The butterfat brought them 23 cents per pound.

District Attorney G. W. Brown, of Roseburg, attended the Curry district court, and then arrived at this place last Thursday to arrange his cases for this court. The HERALD had a pleasant call, and believes Mr. B. will make an efficient prosecuting officer, being young, studious, interested in his profession and his success therein. He had held the office one term before, and is therefore better prepared [illegible] was to hold McKinley last Saturday for wagon timber to repair his wagon. He came in through the storm. Mr. M. told us of the serious illness of his mother, "Grandma" Mast, near Lee, who is quite well known to many of our people as so energetic and thrifty, notwithstanding she ranges to nearly four-score years of age. She hurt her back some weeks since and is growing worse instead of better ever since, till now she is dangerously ill.

We thank Hon. Binger Hermann, commissioner of the general land office at Washington, for a copy of his late special report upon "The Louisiana Purchase, and Our Title West of the Rocky Mountains, with a Review of Annexation by the United States," and regard it as a very able document, setting at rest several long-disputed points and establishing historical facts connected with our country's history. We are glad, too, that Mr. Hermann undertook the task, thus proving his interest and efficiency in that important office.

Rev. H. S. Shangle, presiding elder of the M. E. church, south, arrived at Coquille last Saturday morning through a severe storm. His experience over the road from Roseburg to Myrtle Point was not agreeable. The road was not bad, but the weather was quite stormy, the rain heavy, and the coach broke down. However, Bro. Shangle pushed on and reached his appointment at this place in good time. The HERALD received an early visit. Rev. Mr. Shangle is popular with our people and has many warm friends here and throughout the county. His home is at Corvallis, and his district takes in the state.

Those who believe chronic diarrhoea to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhoea. It is pleasant to take and never fails to effect a cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Mail Robbery.

Sunday morning about 4 o'clock the eastern mail from Myrtle Point was robbed about 1½ mile beyond the town by a lone highwayman. We have not yet learned whether the robbor was masked or not. Lou Baker, quite a young man, was driving. The robber stopped the stage in an open place and demanded the registered pouch. This he took into Judge Bender's pasture and deliberately rifled and then scampered without leaving a track.

There were five registered letters from this office, Postmaster Nosler informs us, and part of the usual monthly remittance -- $88.73—to the P. O. department, and these amounts it was supposed were lost, as also registered matter from other towns.

Sheriff Gage was notified and a warrant issued by Justice J. H. Cecil. The sheriff then hurried to the scene of the robbery to do what could be done, but there were no tracks on the sod in the pasture, and but little information. He learned, however, that there were 16 registered packages rifled. It happened, too, that in his haste, the robber shook the coin out of the government remittance from this postoffice, which amounted to $8.75, and failed to discover the $80 of greenbacks.

Bert Dean, mail driver from the bay to this place, met with trouble at Marshfield last Friday evening. When just ready to start with the mail, while his team was hitched and he taking a lunch, his team was frightened, tore loose and started toward the depot at a headlong gait. They struck a bridge railing, when the hack was made a total wreck. The loss will fall heavy on Bert, for the pay is nothing.

The Christian Endeavor, at Monday night's meeting, elected the follewing officers for the ensuing term: President, Jesse Simmons; vice-president, Miss Marie Skeels; secretary, Miss Jessie Simmons; treasurer, Mrs. Maury; cor. secretary, J. W. Sugg. Mrs. Nosler, Mrs. Buck and Miss Marie Skeels were appointed to select and purchase carpet for the church.

At the request of several parties, Judge Schroeder consented to have his bill, providing for the sale of the county property at Empire City, published in the HERALD so that the public could judge of its merits. It appears on our first page, and has already been presented by our Representative Topping in Salem.

In many respects the teachers' institute lately held in Myrtle Point was the best ever held in the county. The instructions were peculiarly adapted to the needs of the ungraded district school. The instructor, State Superintendent Ackerman, having passed through all the experiences of the country teacher, was able to give help where help was most needed. He said that all successful teachers laid the foundation of their success in the country schools.

The methods presented were, therefore, eminently practical. This one thing was constantly held before the teachers: "They should have an object in view in all their work, and work toward that object." That object, we are told, is to teach the child to think for himself, to depend upon himself. Or, as the speaker said, the teacher should make himself useless by training the children under his care to work independently of the teacher.

Prof. Ackerman is an enthusiast in teaching the subject of history. His methods are unique as well as practical. Instead of teaching that the history of our country consists solely of the battles fought and soldiers killed, he shows how all the great events grow out of the principles of the party which hold the reins of government. So, in order to understand the events which occurred during an administration, it was just necessary to understand the principles out of which these events grew.

A method of teaching reading was presented by which a child six years old could be developed in two years so that he could read at sight anything in the Oregonian and understand all words of his comprehension.

Prof. Ackerman's evening lectures were characterized by the same directness of manner that marked his daily work.

The first lecture was devoted to the work of the school teachers and its relation to the work of the home teacher—the mother. He showed that unless the school teacher has co-operation of the home teacher, his work would come short of the highest results. That the silent influences at work in the home produced more lasting effects than any work done at school. To illustrate this truth, he told a story about a woman whose husband, a sailor, was lost at sea. This woman resolved to train up her three boys to shun the sea. But, as each became of age, he chose the life of a sailor, notwithstanding the mother's teaching. When the third son announced his determination to be a sailor, although his father and two brothers had lost their lives at this perilous calling, the mother, in her despair, sent for the minister to pray for her boy and persuade him to remain at home. The minister, on entering the room, beheld, just above the fire place, a beautiful picture of a ship with all her canvas spread to the breeze. Turning to the mother, he said: "My dear woman, I cannot help you you alone are to blame. Any boy, who would daily look upon that picture and not become a sailor would not be worth his raising." This explains why Emperor William has ordered pictures of the finest battleships to be placed on the walls of every schoolroom in Germany. This explains why the young men of today desire to enter the army and gain military distinction. "Let every teacher," said he, "see that at least one beautiful, elevating picture adorns the wall of his schoolroom."

The second lecture was devoted to describing a visit to Gen. Lee's old home at Arlington, Va.; also a visit to Mount Vernon. This was entertaining, as well as highly instructive. On the third evening, Prof. Ackerman was unexpectedly called upon to take part in the exercises. Though the situation was embarrassing in the extreme, he proved equal to the occasion, and responded with a pleasing story of one of his institute experiences.

The institute closed with the usual resolutions, thanking State Superintendent Ackerman, County Superintendent Bunch, the railroad company, the citizens of Myrtle Point, everybody in general, and Misses Laura Wise, Birdie and Lulu Hollar, for the success of the institute.

Reply to Observer's" Marshfield Screed.

MARSHFIELD, Sept. 23, '98.

ED. HERALD—Dear Sir: I noticed an article from Marshfield signed "Observer" in your issue of the 20th inst., in which the writer takes to task the young men of the town and the town authorities, referring to them as "hoodlums," the former for creating a disturbance on Tuesday evening the 13th inst., while the Salvation Army was holding its street meeting, and the latter for allowing such disturbance to go on unmolested. "Observer" says: "The annoyance was so great at times that he and his associates could not appreciate the testimonies and songs of the army." Now, as a matter of fact, there was not one grain of truth in "Observer's" statement, and he knew it when he wrote it. Why a man should send out such a malicious statement concerning his town folks is a mystery to me. If "Observer" would respect the laws of common decency and respect the truth he would be of lots more use to human kind. Of course I do not know who "Observer" is, as he was not man enough to sign his name, but you could hardly expect that from one who would send out such a statement as that. I sincerely hope you will give this space in your next issue, as it would not be right to allow such a slam on the fair name of our town to go undenied.

Yours, respectfully,
JOHN A. FROST,
Chairman of Vigilant Committee.

Extremely Weak

Deficient Blood Causes Loss of Appetite and Final Break Down—Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

"I lost my appetite and about all I lived on was iced lemonade. My strength was all gone. I was so weak I could hardly cross the floor. At last I was taken very sick. One physician told me my blood was all gone and he gave me medicine but it did not help me. I had pretty much lost all faith in medicines, but thought I would get one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and try it. After taking that bottle I was much better, and so I got two more bottles and after taking them I was well, but to be sure of it, I kept on taking Hood's Sarsaparilla until I had used in all five bottles. It has done unspeakable good to me and I wish all my suffering sisters would try it." MRS. A. EVERSEN, Wedderburn, Oregon. Remember

The Wonders of Science

Lung Troubles and Consumption Can Be Cured.

An Eminent New York Chemist and Scientist Makes a Free Offer to Our Readers.

The distinguished New York chemist, T. A. Slocum, demonstrating his discovery of a reliable and absolute cure for Consumption (Pulmonary Tuberculosis) and all bronchial, throat, lung and chest diseases, stubborn coughs, catarrhal affections, general decline and weakness, loss of flesh, and all conditions of wasting away, will send THREE FREE BOTTLES (all different) of his New Discoveries to any afflicted reader of the Coquille HERALD writing for them.

His "New Scientific Treatment" has cured thousands permanently by its timely use, and he considers it a simple professional duty to suffering humanity to donate a trial of his infallible cure.

Science daily develops new wonders, and this great chemist, patiently experimenting for years, has produced results as beneficial to humanity as can be claimed by any modern genius. His assertion that lung troubles and consumption are curable in any climate is proven by "heartfelt letters of gratitude," filed in his American and European laboratories in thousands from those cured in all parts of the world.

Medical experts concede that bronchial, chest and lung troubles lead to Consumption, which, uninterrupted, means speedy and certain death.

Simply write to T. A. Slocum, M. C., 98 Pine street, New York, giving postoffice and express address, and the free medicine will be promptly sent. Sufferers should take instant advantage of his generous proposition.

THE PILLOW-INHALER

Is a pillow so constructed and so charged that it throws off a vapor during all the night. With every breath taken into the body it directly applies to the inflamed air-passages of the head, throat and lungs a thoroughly disinfected and properly medicated air to soothe and cure them. THE ONLY KNOWN MEANS FOR LONG-CONTINUED INHALATION.

It has cured thousands of stubborn cases after all other remedies had failed.

Send for free descriptive pamphlet and testimonials; and kindly be sure to mention this paper.
