BLIZARDS AND DESTRUCTION.

Many Vessels Wrecked and Lives Lost in the East.

Thirty-Five Vessels Lost in Boston Harbor. Two Hundred Lives Reported Lost and More Coast Line to Hear From.

Boston, Nov. 28.—The tugs returning to this city report about 35 vessels of all sizes ashore or sunk in or near Boston harbor. Seven large schooners and two Baltimore canal barges were completely wrecked and between 25 and 30 lives lost.

It is known definitely that more than 60 lives have been lost in the wrecks of tugs, schooners and coal barges during the storm of Saturday night and Sunday morning, and with loss of steamer Portland the list of casualties will rise to 140, with over 100 vessels of all descriptions ashore, two score of them to be total wrecks and an unknown number probably beneath the waves of Massachusetts bay.

There is scarcely a bay, harbor or inlet from the Penobscot to New London which has not on its shores the bones of some staunch craft, while all along Massachusetts bay and Boston harbor the beaches are piled high with the wreckage of schooners and coal barges. The record, although hourly lengthening, is incomplete, for that ocean graveyard of Cape Cod is still to be heard from.

News of the disaster was brought to the Herald by a special train, as communication by wire from Cape Cod points was impossible owing to storm. There were 71 persons on board the Portland, including officers and crew.

Forty Were Killed.
Havana, Nov. 28.—A box of dynamite exploded this morning near the Reina battery, killing or injuring 40 persons.

May Locate in Oregon.
Charles S. Butterfield, of Allegheny county, Penn., is here as the representative of a party of 20 tillers of the soil, with money, who in all probability will locate in this state.

Mr. Butterfield said this morning that he and his party came to California late last summer, with the intention of buying farming or fruit lands. The drought, however, discouraged them, and he came up here about a month ago to "take a look around."

Mr. Butterfield has been almost everywhere in the state and has selected some lands which he believes to be just what his friends want, where, though, he would not disclose. His party is at Sacramento Cal., whether he goes tonight. He purposes returning next week with several of the Alleghenians to view his selections. In the event they are satisfactory there will be almost $50,000 Pennsylvania money invested in Oregon.—Capital Journal.

Two Pointed Questions Answered.
What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you can not get a better price for it? Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the better, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single sale they will be much greater in aggregate.

How can you get the public to know your make is the best? If both articles are brought prominently before the public both are certain to be tried and the public will very quickly pass judgment on them and use only the better one.

This explains the large sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The people have been using it for years and have found that it can always be depended upon. They may occasionally take up with some fashionable novelty put forth with exaggerated claims, but are certain to return to the one remedy that they know to be reliable, and for coughs, colds and croup there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

If one half of what is claimed for Tesla's electrical engines materialize, it will pay no nation to put its money into battleships. There will have to be found some new way to rule the waves, unless they are to become as free as water.

MANILA'S BLACK HOLE.

Where More Than One Hundred Unfortunates Died.

The papers some months ago published a story of more than 100 insurgents being smothered in a dungeon in the walled city—a second "black hole of Calcutta." This story was denied for a time by the Spanish, but afterward they stated that the dungeon in which the prisoners were placed was on a sea level, and that an unusually high tide flooded the cell and drowned the prisoners. The writer has a revised version of the story, coming from a doctor who was called to attend some of the unfortunates who survived the horrors of that night. According to this version nearly 150 insurgents—men, women and children were crowded into a dungeon only large enough for a quarter of that number. It was in the very hottest of the weather, and the sufferers, packed like sardines in a box, began to call for water.

A pail of water was taken in to them, and the wretches, in their struggle, spilled the water and mutilated and maimed each other in their desperate fight. The cries and groans of the wounded, and the continued pleadings of the suffocating, parched victims for air and water so irritated the sentry that he shut the trap door in the top of the dungeon, the only source of light and air. The sufferings of the dying prisoners can be imagined. In the morning all but a few were dead.—Washington Star.

"Hooley and His Guinea Pigs."

Much interest has been excited in America by the telegraphic accounts of Hooley's apparently wholesale purchase of British noblemen for use as decoy ducks to his various stock schemes, and his connection with the highest political officials of the empire. Theron C. Crawford, who has been in England for The Cosmopolitan, takes up the subject in the November issue of that magazine, and under the title of "Hooley and His Guinea-Pigs," gives a connected story of the derivation of Hooley and his rise to the control of millions through unlimited cheek and the opportune willingness of distinguished British aristocrats to lend their names for a financial consideration to any sort of a shady transaction.

Capital Journal "X-Rays."

If more Christians would resort to prayer and less to the courts, there would be a terrible falling off in the law business. But some Christians would rather go to law than to heaven. . . . When a vessel is lost on this coast, the papers are full about the dangerous Oregon shore, but a blizzard in New England wrecks a hundred vessels at sea and commerce goes right on. . . . If John Bull needs us, we are willing to help him, but it mustn't be the firm of J. Bull & Co. It should be Uncle Sam and John Bull, wholesale and retail dealers in civilization and humanity. . . . The great Hoffmaster will contest came to an abrupt but economical end. When the lawyers assembled to try the case they were astonished to learn that the litigants met last Friday night at a prayer-meeting, and came to an amicable settlement of the case within the walls of the sacred edifice. A cheap solution.

Death of Oregon Soldier Boys.

Clyde Perkins, the Oregon soldier who died at Manila, November 22, was born at Brooks, Marion county, February 20, 1879, and was therefore in his 20th year. His parents recently moved to Salem, and it was while living here that Clyde joined company K to engage in the war against Spain.

Large Numbers of Volunteers to Be Mustered Out.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The war department, in view of assurances that the Paris treaty will be signed, are arranging to muster out more troops. It is probable that from 30,000 to 40,000 volunteers will be mustered out as soon as selections of regiments can be made. The forces at Manila will not be reduced at present.

SPAIN ACCEPTS AND SIGNS

To Avoid a Renewal of the Horrors of War.

Treaty of Peace Approved by the Spanish Cabinet—Americans Acquire Enormous Colonial Possessions.

Paris, Nov. 28.—The joint peace commission met in this city at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Spanish commissioner immediately announced their acceptance of the American demands.

Paris, Nov. 28.—The peace commissioners met in this city at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Spanish commissioner immediately announced their acceptance of the American demands. The Spanish acceptance has been made verbally and a written acceptance will be presented later. The Spanish commissioners announced that they were authorized by their government to reply that the American propositions were inadmissible on all legal principles and not a proper compromise on legal principles. On the Spanish part, all diplomatic resources are exhausted and the Spanish commission is now asked to accept or reject the proposition. Spain, inspired by reasons of patriotism and humanity, and to avoid the horrors of war, resigned herself to the power of the victor. She accepts the offered conditions in order to conclude a treaty of peace. The American demands include the acquisition of the whole Philippine and Sulu groups for $20,000,000, and it is also understood that the United States will purchase the Caroline group. The question of the debt of Cuba is unsettled.

Histories for Veterans.

A great many inquiries are being received by different state departments concerning the history of Oregon written by Miss Frances Fuller Victor. A resolution was passed at the special legislative session authorizing T. A. Wood, grand commander of the Indian war veterans, to distribute books free of charge among the veterans, the number not to exceed 1000. Commander Wood has made a requisition on the secretary of state for the full number of 1000 for distribution. There were originally printed about 1300 of these books. They were printed by the state printer and have since been in a storage-room at the statehouse, for the reason that there has been no authority to put them out except by sale on terms that have proven prohibitory. The secretary of state was authorized to sell them at a price that would cover their cost. The price was fixed at $3, and only one book has been sold. It was purchased by a Philadelphia man. Indian war veterans can now get the book through Commander T. A. Wood, at Portland.

Putting the Blame Where It Belongs.

General Graham, a distinguished West Point soldier, attributed the sickness at Camp Alger to the incompetence of the civilians on the brig and regimental staffs, too many of whom were hopelessly "incapable and incorrigible." Surgeon-Major Seaman testified regarding Santiago:

"There was no lack of supplies of all sorts. But through the inability, incompetency and idioecy of the men in the quartermaster's department the supplies were not taken care of or furnished to the men."

THE SUPPLY STORE.

Pennsylvania Coal Miners Robbed by Their Employers.

A clerk in a Pennsylvania coal company "supply store" has made some interesting revelations regarding that particular method of robbing the workman. There are twenty-seven "supply stores" in the coal and coke region, notwithstanding the state law on the subject, and all are owned by the coal companies, or by heavy stockholders in the corporations. Twenty thousand miners or employes of coke ovens are compelled to deal at these stores, and, assuming that the average annual purchases of a customer reach $200, we have $4,000,000 as the total of the business. All the supplies for all these stores are bought for cash by one man, who has an office in Pittsburg, and the employe quoted says he is enabled, by the magnitude of his orders and spot cash payments, to buy from 15 to 25 per cent cheaper than the individual private merchant, while the store prices to miners are from 10 to 25 per cent higher than at other stores. In other words, he figures a profit to the "pick me" store of from 25 to 50 per cent, and concludes that the stores are often far more profitable to the coal companies than the mines are.

These company stores have no bad debts, as other merchants have. A miner can only obtain goods when he has money coming to him from the coal company. When he exhausts that balance he can obtain no more supplies until he has done more work, and, as a result of this system, he often sees no cash for months at a time.

AFRAID OF THE NEW TIME.
The Famous Reform Magazine Has Terrorized the Washington Incompetents.

No article published in years has attracted so much attention as those entitled "Suppressed News from Washington," now running in The New Time, Chicago's aggressive reform magazine. The third installment appears in the November number and declares the reason President McKinley does not force Alger's resignation is due to the fact that the former appointed all or nearly all of the officials responsible for the scandals now being investigated. The administration papers are indignantly demanding that The New Time be called to account for these articles, but the magazine continues to pour editorial shot and shell into the Washington intruders. It is the most interesting and startling matter now being published.

What is this? General Longstreet, commissioner of railroads, in his report on the railroads of the United States, recommends the construction by the government and operation of a first-class double-track railroad from Kansas City, Mo., to San Diego, Cal. Why between those points more than any other point? asks the Albany Democrat.
