What about a summer normal in Coos county, say Coquille City? Normals are proceeding or being arranged for in other counties, and Coos county should advance in the line.

The Bandon town board has passed an ordinance imposing a fine of from five to twenty dollars for discharging any kind of firearms within the incorporated limits.

The schooner Lila and Mattie returned from Redondo, Cal., last Tuesday. Four schooners loaded with lumber at this place since she departed, near four weeks ago, and one steamer took lumber.

Miss Bertha Von der Green, a weaver in the Bandon, Coos county, woolen mills, arrived last night to take a position as weaver in the Salem woolen mills. This young lady came around by water and her trip lasted just a week. She was put into a life-boat at Port Orford wharf by means of ropes and transferred from the boat, after passage out to sea, to the coasting steamer Luella, which proceeded to Tillamook bay to load lumber at the Truckee mills at Hobsonville. She went from Hobsonville to Garibaldi, where she took passage on the steamer Harrison to Astoria; thence by train to Portland, and on to Salem. Miss Von der Green is pluck personified.—Capital Journal.

Coos Bay News. Capt. Ackerman and E. Heuckendorf are determined to have a substantial foundation for the ways in the shipyard, and have not spared expense in its construction. They expect to build several large vessels here and intend to have a foundation that can be relied on.

Dr. Mings has received the appointment of health officer for Coos bay. Dr. McCormack was lately appointed to the position, but as he was acting assistant surgeon, United States marine hospital service, and receiving a salary from the U. S., and as the law read that any person shall not hold more than one lucrative office at the same time, he was disqualified for holding the office of health officer.

(Port Orford Tribune.) The Rogue River mail carrier had a narrow escape a few days ago. While coming along the trail near E. Miller's a small landslide occurred, carrying horse and rider down a distance of thirty feet. Fortunately for George, he is very active and managed to elude rocks, snags, etc., which surrounded and followed him, but the horse was not so lucky, and received a severe but not dangerous wound in the breast.

Having business at Floras creek last Saturday, we took the occasion to visit the veteran newspaper publisher, J. H. Upton, who has for four months last past been confined to his room a helpless invalid from paralysis. The old gentleman was for a time slowly recovering, and was able, with assistance, to leave his bed and spend much of his time sitting up and reading, but he is again prostrated from the effects of the grip, which has attacked him for the third time, while his old complaint, rheumatism, causes him much misery. However, he yet possesses much vitality, retains his courage, and is determined to wear out the grip, when he has hopes of a speedy recovery.

Whooping Cough. I had a little boy who was nearly dead from an attack of whooping cough. My neighbors recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did not think that any medicine would help him, but after giving him a few doses of that remedy I noticed an improvement, and one bottle cured him entirely. It is the best cough medicine I ever had in the house.—J. L. Moore, South Burgetstown, Pa. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Capital Journal: About a dozen persons are making a living off the impending visit of the national editorial association, getting up souvenirs and other fakes. Fools are not all dead, and a Salem parent feels that his family has more than its share. His son advertised in a matrimonial paper and his daughter answered it. Of 84 women admitted to the St. Louis asylum for insane last year 68 were house servants, and 7 others were workers in other lines; 6 were unemployed and 3 unknown.
