Rev. Mr. Bryan's revival meetings continue to revive, and were transferred last Friday to the Christian church building, which affords so much more seating room. And even now, the meetings have increased in interest and attendance. There have been many professions of conversion, including some of our oldest and most popular citizens, and the end is not yet. At last night's meeting a large number of inquirers presented themselves. Bro. Bryan is having the very general co-operation of our religious people, and is holding their confidence firmly as being sincere and able to do a good work. Comrade Peter Nichols was surprised by comrades, friends and neighbors at his "bach" home last Friday night, who made him a call and entertained him till a reasonably late hour in a social way. He was about ready to start to church, when Comrade and Mrs. Drane rapped at the door and were welcomed. This order of greeting was followed for some while, till a household of friends were present to spend the evening and give a social and more cheering phase to the life of single blessedness which has settled down upon our comrade and brother. Delicious refreshments were supplied in abundance by the ladies attending, and a most enjoyable evening was passed.

Comrade Peter Nichols was surprised by comrades, friends and neighbors at his "bach" home last Friday night, who made him a call and entertained him till a reasonably late hour in a social way. He was about ready to start to church, when Comrade and Mrs. Drane rapped at the door and were welcomed. This order of greeting was followed for some while, till a household of friends were present to spend the evening and give a social and more cheering phase to the life of single blessedness which has settled down upon our comrade and brother. Delicious refreshments were supplied in abundance by the ladies attending, and a most enjoyable evening was passed.

One of the "ring" inadvertently—but half intentionally—gives us the information that a joint sale between deputies and between principals and deputies at the courthouse is to be worked in the preliminary campaign for county offices. The spirit of it is, that in case the principal fails of getting a re-nomination, a deputy will come in as a dark horse with all the influence of the first in his behalf, and conditioned that the successful one shall appoint the other to the deputyship. Now "all come and have suthin'."

Lyons' mill shut down last Thursday, occasioned by an accident to one of the smokestacks. A faulty guy-rod had been weakened further by the wind storm of the evening before, and broke, the smokestack toppling over the edge of the roof of the engine house and crashing top-end on the planking below. The damage, however, was not very much more in the delay of replacing and repairing, which took till Saturday evening. Dave Lowe and Fred Tuttle were standing but a short distance from where the huge mass fell, but escaped injury. A guy-rod struck between them, but also missed them. The mill resumed work yesterday morning.
