Father and Son.

BY J. S. KANEMATZ.

CHAPTER II

Father—"Yes, my son, as I told you last night, myself and my wife were slaves. We were slaves because we were born black people, and were sold by our master, like cattle, to another. There is nothing more cruel, more inhuman and more unjust than slavery. It has torn the sacred ties of mothers and children far asunder; it has trampled beneath its cruel feet the holy bonds between husbands and wives. Yet, it has been supported by all the churches—and was blessed by clerics. It has received the sanction of statesmen and was upheld by the courts of justice. Slavery has been practiced by all the monarchs of the world, and it was sustained even in a republic like ours."

Son—"But, father, we are not going to enslave the Filipinos. I simply meant that we should tax them and make them pay for what is due to us."

Father—"There is nothing due us from them. They owe us absolutely nothing—not a particle."

Son—"Yes, pa, they owe us the land in which they live and the liberty which wealth can not buy. We fought for their rights, paid for their homes and thus freed them from the clutches of Spanish tyranny. Pa, we are their liberators!"

Father—"No, no! They are not living upon our soil, but within their native land and are being driven from one place to another by our soldiers. If we ever liberated them from Spain they were made slaves again the moment they got free."

Son—"They also asked Dewey to assist them in their struggle with Spain."

Father—"Oh, no! It was Dewey who sought the co-operation of the Filipino soldiers. He knew that his marine force were too inadequate to conquer and hold Manila, consequently he armed them with Mausers and told them to attack the 'common enemy' in the rear."

"If the Tagals had been let alone they would have fought their own battles, and if the fortunes of war favored them with success they might be today an independent nation."

"If they asked anything of us, they asked for a recognition for their splendid service rendered to our arms in banishing the Spanish sovereignty from their islands forever."

Son—"Nevertheless, we bought the islands for twenty millions of dollars. It was this money that made Spain abjure her sovereignty."

Father—"You could not get the Spaniards even to listen to such a proposition as selling the islands to us before Montojo's fleet was annihilated and Manila was captured. But after the occupation of the city by our arms, to which achievement we owe a great deal to the Filipinos, we as well as Spain came to the conclusion that the best way to end the war was to close a bargain of the islands. Agreement was arrived at, setting the value of the estate at twenty millions of dollars, and the final transaction was made in a manner like we buy and sell any other property. Thus we came into possession of the magnificent fields, the rolling hills, the vast swamps and the picturesque rivers and rivulets. But, you must not think that within that transaction were included the lives and liberties of the people. Of what color, of what tongue, or of what religion they may be, their lives and liberties are too dear and too sacred to measure with gold."

Son—"Then can't we tell them to get out of the country because it is ours?"

Father—"Ah, my son; there is in this land a law called the right of eminent domain, by which you can compel the occupants and owners of land to vacate the premises, but the Filipinos will not obey. The land where their ancestors died, where their chevaliers bled and where are at repose the sacred remains of their fathers and mothers—to them, the land of mango trees, the heritage of God—is as dear as their lives. To turn them out from their native homes would be as cruel as to capture and make slaves of them."

Son—"Then, you think we have acted wrong in buying these islands, do you?"

Father—"No! We have done just right in purchasing the islands from Spain, but we ought to have done with them exactly as we have done with Cuba."

Son—"But the Filipinos refused to lay down their arms when they were so ordered."

Father—"Certainly, they refused; they did refuse to lay down their arms because they were afraid to trust us. They have had a long experience with Spanish treachery and naturally conceived the idea that it is not safe for a man to trust another who comes in with a drawn

DR. JORDON'S VIEWS.

The President of Stanford University Creates a Genuine Stir.

Springfield, Ohio, March 14.—David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University, has started some vigorous thinking in the central states. It is due to his lecture last night at Indianapolis before the school teachers at the University Club on "Lessons from the Transvaal." Ex-President Harrison was among those who welcomed him. President Jordan said the most dangerous and subversive theory since that of secession was that of American imperialism, exemplified in the taxation of trade with Porto Rico. It would be repudiated by the American people, as it ought to be. If we were to retain our new possessions as part of the United States the constitution gave us all the range an honest congress needed in managing them. They must take care of themselves, as the rest of us did, for the word "sovereignty" was unknown to American law.

"The time has come," he continued, "to decide whether what we want is expansion, extension of American institutions or holding these inferior nations as inferior nations for our benefit and, incidentally, for their own good. There is only one answer to that question, and that is: Expansion is impossible under our constitution. Wherever our flag goes to stay there our constitution goes to stay. There never can be two kinds of citizens under our flag—a regular citizen and a three-quarter citizen. The desire to add the Philippines to the United States is based on ignorance of what the Philippines really are and what we will ultimately do with them."

High-Handed Usurpation.

Mr. McKinley is using his executive office to further an imperial form of government, independent of congress or constitution. The Chicago Chronicle calls attention to this innovation:

For the first time in the history of the country a series of commissions, so-called, have, under the administration, been created to discharge many important functions of the government. A very few of these commissions were instituted by law. But the most of them were created by the president without authority of law, under what is claimed to be the war power of the executive. In some cases, as in that of W. J. Calhoun and Robert P. Porter, individual emissaries were appointed at enormous expense for the mere purpose, as alleged, of procuring information for the action of the president. The military and diplomatic officers of the government were not trusted to perform this work.

An incomplete list of the commissions under this administration and those costing the most are as follows:

Peace commission	$300,000
Nicaragua canal commission	250,000
Philippine commission	150,000
Alger commission (embalmed beef)	150,000
Queen's jubilee commission	60,000
The evacuation commission	50,000
Sea commissions	45,000
Hawaiian commission	50,000
Samoan commission	50,000
Insular commission	90,000
Hague peace congress commission	35,000
John A. Kasson, treaty expert	80,000
Robert P. Porter, tariff expert	40,000
W. J. Calhoun, commissioner to Cuba	20,000
Maj. Handy, commissioner to Paris	20,000

Total so far.....$1,350,000

It is proposed also to create a new Philippine commission to re-investigate the conditions of our new possessions in the Indian ocean. This commission will have broader scope than any previous commission. It will pay well. Judge Taft thinks that membership of the commission will find it so fat a job that he has given up the office of United States circuit judge at a salary of $6000 a year and all the comforts of a civilized home in order that he may accept the place. It is estimated that this commission will cost the country a million dollars before it gets through with its work. And other commissions may exist not included in this list or planned in the executive mind.

The method of governing by commissions is outside of the constitution and the laws. It is a scheme to avoid the proper responsibility which belongs to the president. It is a plan to establish an array of respectable names behind which the president can hide if the plans of the administration fall and meet with disaster.

Rev. I. K. Beecher died at Elmira, N. Y., on the 14th inst., aged 81, and in the same day Mary Foote Beecher Perkins died at Hartford, Conn., aged 91. They were brother and sister of the late Henry Ward Beecher.

Supplied the Pedigree.

There is an enterprising Irishman at Lompoc who started a rabbitry about two years ago, getting his stock from a pair of ordinary rabbits sent him by a friend in Santa Cruz. By good care and attention he has raised many fine animals and sells them at 50 cents each to a dealer in Santa Barbara, who sells fish and game. According to the "Times," a party at Los Angeles who owns a high priced rabbitry saw these fine but cheap Lompoc animals and wrote to the Irishman to send him a pair. He was much pleased with the rabbits and wrote that they were fine, but he must have a pedigree and then he would send for more. "It's a pedigree he's wantin'," said Pat. So he borrowed a book from a local horse dealer, and copied several pages of the pedigree of a fine Norman horse, changing the terms "dam" and "sire" to "doe" and "buck," and sent it to the Los Angeles dealer, asking if it would do. "It's fine," wrote the Los Angeles man, and now the Irishman has all the orders he can fill for fine Belgian hares.—Paso Pobles (Cal.) Independent.

The Best Food for Intellectual Thought.

No man can vote intelligently unless he thinks intelligently. In this time of "wars and rumors of wars" the greatest aid to intelligent thinking and the best food for intelligent thought is that newspaper which is greatest and best.

The Semi-Weekly Republic is the greatest and best of all newspapers. Its telegraphic and cable news service excels that of any other paper. It prints the news news fully; not imaginative occurrences, but domestic and world-distant, fully authenticated facts.

The policies of the great political parties are now being formed and the candidates discussed. Now is the time to subscribe for the best medium of keeping in touch with the whole world, The Semi-Weekly Republic.

No less worthy of attention is The Republic's Sunday Magazine. It is replete each issue with the best of special articles written by the best of literary talent. Its beautiful half-tone illustrations have already made it famous and their quality and quantity will be preserved.

News features are illustrated and enlarged upon in a manner equal to the high-priced magazines. Events of current interest are set forth in entertaining style. There is humor in its pages, too, and for the benefit of the ladies the latest Paris fashions are each week exquisitely illustrated and described. The Republic's Sunday Magazine is standard.

The subscription price of The Republic is $1.25 per year; with The Semi-Weekly Republic—both—$1.50 per year. Both The Semi-Weekly and Sunday Magazine, clubbed with The Herald, three papers, $3.

Billings Past Without Debate.

Washington, March 19.—Two measures of national importance, and many of slightly less interest, were passed by the senate today. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, carrying more than $25,000,000, was passed.

ANOTHER COMMISSION.

The measure, providing for the appointment of a commission to adjudicate and settle the claims of people of the United States growing out of the war with Spain, was also passed without opposition. The sum of $50,000 is annually appropriated for the expenses of the commission, the life of the commission being fixed at two years.

Lumber Adrift.

San Francisco, March 19.—The steamer Coquille River, which arrived today from the north, reports that when near Cape Blanco she passed through a quantity of lumber. It is feared the lumber is from the brig Tanager, which is now twenty days out from Tacoma.

It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drugstore there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since remembered Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE.

That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have cured obstinate cases of locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, and St. Vitus' dance, is the best evidence that they will cure all lesser nervous disorders, because the principle in the treatment of all nervous diseases is the same. Nervousness is a question of nutrition. Food for the nerves is what is needed and the best nerve food in the world is

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

Mrs. Annie H. Magee, of Port Austin, Michigan, says: "My daughter, Jennie, was always a delicate child, had stomach trouble, nervous debility, and nervousness. She had to be taken out of school and kept from all study for nearly five years. About three years ago she began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I am happy to say they have helped her to recover her health. She no longer needs medicine of any kind. It scarcely seems possible she can be the same one who a few years ago was a delicate, almost hopeless sufferer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' Dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effect of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, $3.00 a box or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

The Improved "Arlington" Sewing Machine

NEW HOME STYLE LATEST CHEAPEST

Shipped to anyone, anywhere, on 10 days' free trial, or home, without cost in advance.

10 years' written guarantee on each machine.

A strictly high-grade Sewing Machine installed throughout in the best possible manner, with all modern improvements, and its mechanical construction such that in its operation simplicity with great strength, durability, and making it impossible to jam or break down. It sews fast and makes a perfect stitch with all kinds of material. Always ready for use and unexcelled for speed, durability and quality of work. Notice the following points of superiority:

The head of the "Arlington" swings on patent socket hinges, firmly held down by a thumb screw. Strong, substantial, neat and handsome in design, and beautifully ornamented in gold. The plate has contoured corners and is inlaid or counterpaneled, making it flush with top of table. Highest Arm—since under the arm is 20 inches high and 4 inches long. This will admit the largest shirts, and even quilts. It is Self-Threading—Absolutely no holes to put thread through except eye of needle. Shuttle revolves, opens end, enters by self-threading, easy to put in or take out; bobbin holds a large amount of thread. Stitch Regulator is on the back of the machine; beneath the fabric holder, and has a scale showing the number of stitches to the inch, and can be changed from 14 to 25 stitches to the inch. Feed is double and extends on both sides of needle; never fails to take work through; new steps at every movement; positive; no springs to break and get out of order; can be raised and lowered at will. Automatic Bobbin Winder—fills the bobbin automatically and perfectly smooth without holding the thread. Machine does not run while winding bobbin. Light Remover—Machine is easy to run, does not fatigue the operator; makes little noise and sews rapidly. It is a double lock stitch, the same on both sides, will not ravel, and can be changed without stopping the machine. Tension is a flat spring tension, and will admit thread from a 100 speed cotton without changing. Never gets out of order. The Needle is a straight, self-setting needle, flat on one side, and cannot be put in wrong. Needle Bar is round, made of case-hardened steel, with all cup at the bottom to prevent oil from getting on the goods. Adjustable Bearings—All bearings are case-hardened steel and adjusted with a screw driver. All hot points can be taken up, and the machine is run in and out of order with a screw driver. Each machine is furnished with necessary tools and accessories, and in addition we furnish an extra set of attachments in a velvet lined metal box, free of charge, as follows: One rubber and gutta-percha mangle, one shoeing plate, one set of four levers, different widths up to 4 1/2 inch, one mangle, one shoeing plate, one short or attachment foot, and one thread cutter.
