Should Women Vote?

Ed. Herald: As the time in which to decide the question "Should women vote?" is drawing near in this and in many other counties, I think it high time that the members of the "weaker sex" should begin to arouse themselves along this line and try to impress their lordly brothers that they are thoroughly capable of lending a voice in this government of ours(?)

The main plea against women's voting is that they are not qualified to vote intelligently, and that they would be "so easily influenced"—or in other words, that they would actually sell their votes—a crime unheard of in our present system of balloting, and one, the mere relating of which would bring a severe attack of insomnia upon our present voters.

As far as the qualification goes, I will wager that at this writing the women of Coos county are equally as competent of having a voice in making the laws by which they are governed as the present legal voters who will step up to the polls at the coming election and decide this question of women's rights—as they put it—for us.

There are certain rights, however, that are not denied us. If we own property we have the perfect right to pay the taxes thereon; if we break the laws (laws which we have no say in), no one ever thinks of refusing us "equal rights" of punishment along with our brother offender.

For years past woman has occupied positions side by side with men in all the professions and has acquitted herself most creditably in the various fields of work she has undertaken.

But, then, why should she not succeed in any line of work where success is attainable by men? Intellectually she is man's equal. Morally she is his superior, and it is only in brute strength that he outstrips her; but thanks to thereforms, the modern woman possesses a sufficient amount of physical strength to successfully cope with any ordinary problem, involving the necessity of such power.

Again, we are told that women are protected by men. True, in a way we are. Much in the same way we would protect a dumb animal, a child or an imbecile—out of pity for their incapacity.

This kind of protection has been handed down for so long a time that when we look into the faces of some of those kind protectors we may there read words not unlike these: "You poor, weak creatures, what would be your fate should we withdraw our protecting influence from around you?"

Your protection is not what we want, dear brother, but only the right to protect ourselves.

Hoping every husband and father, deeming himself worthy the name, will add his mite in helping to give free and equal rights to all, irrespective of sex, color, race or "previous condition of servitude," and in so doing banish from this fair land every trace of bondage, I am, yours for equal rights, New Woman.

The Devil's Advocates.

To the Editor: I see by this morning's Tribune that some fellow down in Indiana is going to run his paper as the devil would run a paper. He is too late in the field; too much competition he will find. All the papers that are advocating the combinations and trusts that are robbing the people are being run as the devil would run them. All the papers advocating the looting and murdering of the Filipinos are doing service in the cause of the devil. All the papers in favor of the British crown in its efforts to crush and despoil the two little Dutch republics in South Africa are doing the devil's work. All papers advocating the denying of the privileges and rights promised to the Porto Ricans when they welcomed our troops to the island are in the service of the devil.—John Stickman, in Detroit Tribune.

New Era: While we sympathize with the Filipinos and hope they may retain their liberty and independence, we should keep our weather eye "peeled" at home, so that we may not lose any more of our liberties than we have. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

S. F. Star: Governor Steunenberg, of Idaho, who, with President McKinley, is responsible for the Coeur d'Alene outrages upon peaceable, lawabiding workingmen, says that he will "do it again." Elect William Jennings Bryan and he will find that he cannot "do it again."

S. F. Star: Bryan addressed 14,000 people in Los Angeles and 8,000 in San Bernardino, which has not much over half that population, if it has half. In Pomona, thirty miles west of San Bernardino, he spoke to 6000. How is that for high?

Irish Sycophants.

In a vigorous article anent Queen Victoria's visit to Ireland, Editor McClatchy, of the Sacremento Bee, says:

"It was during the reign of this same Queen Victoria that 2,000,000 people in the little Emerald Isle were allowed to die of starvation in the ditches and along the hedges, while the British government and the British queen never lifted up a hand to succor them, but allowed all the help to come from the American people."

Yet tens of thousands of Irishmen fell on "all fours" before her, as though she had come to them from heaven as an angel of mercy and light. Shades of Grattan, Curran, Emmet, Moore, O'Connell, and Parnell!—"shade of my departed father"!—shades of all who ever fought and suffered and died for liberty and country!—look down, if you can, upon such cravens and sycophants, who are now and ever have been Ireland's deadliest enemies, and make them, if they are human beings, feel the power of your scorn. The queen was entitled to the respectful treatment from Irishmen that they should accord any ordinary woman—particularly a stranger—but that was all. She is queen of England, but should never be recognized as queen of Ireland by Irishmen, save under compulsion, even if she did grant them the high privilege of "wearing the green," or the shamrock, on St. Patrick's Day, because her English soldiers were, in the war against the Boers, led by Irishmen!—S. F. Star.

Flaming Sword Points.

The more ignorant many people are, the less they desire to learn.

The scales of justice are not manufactured by the trusts.

People who are always wrong have no rights.

The perverted American goddess of liberty has given independence to the millionaires by enslaving the people.

During the past 22 years the people of the United States have consumed 20,000,000,000 gallons of intoxicating liquors. This is sufficient liquid to make a harbor large enough to contain a fleet of 100 of the world's largest warships. It is enough to intoxicate 160,000,000,000 persons—nearly 100 times as many people as are now living in the earth; enough to intoxicate a man weighing 2,400,000,000,000 pounds, measuring a hight of 15 miles. The money expended in the consumption of this quantity of intoxicants amounts to nearly ten times the aggregate capital of all the trusts in America, and nearly equals the total wealth of the republic!

Will Defeat All Three.

Mr. McBride, Mr. Tongue and Mr. Moody think the Republicans of Oregon will favor the Puerto Rico tariff bill, "when they come to understand it." They understand it fully now; and not one in twenty of the Republicans of Oregon, or of the United States at large, sees any reason why we should deal with Puerto Rico other than as we deal with Hawaii or have dealt with other territory that has been acquired by the United States; and especially the people of Oregon do not wish the Puerto Rican tariff to stand as a precedent against free commercial intercourse between the United States and the Philippine islands, which it is expressly intended to be. It was devised for that purpose and was put through for that purpose; but it will not be permitted to stand for that purpose. No man can be elected to either branch of congress from any Pacific state who would use tariffs for obstruction of commercial intercourse with the Philippine islands. That narrow and selfish policy is wholly incompatible with national expansion. —Oregonian (Rep.)

Kruger's Family Fighting the British.

London, April 14.—A special from Pretoria says: "Mrs. Kruger, on being interviewed, said that she trusted, God would soon stop the merciless bloodshed, but that the republic would be vigorously defended, even if Pretoria were finally taken. She added that she had in the field, thirty-three grandsons, two of whom were killed; four sons, six sons-in-law and numerous other relatives.

England's Policy.

The American people are now called on to send relief to the starving people of India. The British flag flaunts every breeze—the British drum-beat is heard around the world, and cruel famine follows that flag and keeps step to the music of the beating drums.

In 1846 and 1847, during the terrible famine in Ireland, the government of the United States permitted the use of two war vessels to carry to the afflicted country food voluntarily proffered by the American people. The queen's government refused like use of one British war vessel, although the common people, pitiful and ashamed, offered to load it with food for their starving fellow-subjects in Ireland. Five hundred thousand of the Irish people died of hunger and pestilence in 1847, and 200,000 emigrated to escape death. Still the queen paid no visit to Ireland. She was persuaded to give a paltry subscription to the relief fund. Her contribution was less than that sent by the Sultan of Turkey.

In 1848, when the famine subsided, insurrection naturally followed. Then scaffolds and convict ships succeeded to pestilence and hecatombs of coffinless bodies. Still the queen remained away from Ireland. That year the queen, as the life of the Prince Consort asserts, was again informed that in Ireland "the poverty is dreadful." Lord Clarendon had written that he was afraid "a great part of the population must die of absolute want." The queen went her way to the continent and thoroughly enjoyed herself. Ireland never knew her as a friend through all those frightful years.

History now repeats itself. The people of India are starving by millions—the British appropriate $300,000,000 to conquer the Dutch and add new subjects to her starving empire. They give a pittance to their starving subjects and throw their treasury wide open to carry on a cruel war for greed and gold.

The gracious queen ignores the sorrow of her starving people and makes a grand dress parade throughout the kingdom to celebrate the victory of 40,000 Englishmen over 4000 Boers, and proposes to placate her Irish subjects by making them one short visit in fifty years. Then the jingoes of England call upon the people of the United States to contribute relief to the people of India who are starving on account of British neglect and British oppression, and they have asked the farmers of Nebraska for 10,000 bushels of corn to be sent to their starving subjects in India. Why does not England send 300,000,000 of dollars to relieve the distress in India instead of using it to increase the distress in Africa? We do not know whether that requisition on Nebraska farmers will be filled, but we do know that if it were permissable for our people to send food to the struggling Boers, that every country road would be crowded with farm wagons loaded with yellow grain as a contribution to a brave people fighting in the holy cause of liberty.—The Nonconformist.

An Epidemic of Whooping Cough.

Last winter during an epidemic of whooping cough my children contracted the disease, having severe coughing spells. We had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy very successfully for croup and naturally turned to it at that time and found it relieved the cough and effected a complete cure. John E. Clifford, Proprietor Norwood House, Norwood, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Butler County Press: Thoroughly boiled down, the administration's reason for the tariff taxation of Puerto Rico seems to be that this wrong will clear the way for more profitable violations of the constitution in the future.

A young man, searching for his pig, accosted an Irishman as follows: "Have you seen a stray pig about here?" Pat responded: "And how could I tell a stray pig from any other?"

The Boers have lost two of their leaders, Cronje and Joubert, one by capture and one by death, but they have not yet cried quits.

The Mining Outlook of Coos and Curry.

Of the 460 square miles of area of Coos county that is underlaid with a superior quality of lignite coal, little more than one square mile has been mined, and this has been mined in the immediate vicinity of Marshfield. Small as has been the area thus far developed, it has been sufficient to dispatch to San Francisco an average of one vessel a day the past year.

For several years past the two principal coal mines of the bay have been controlled by the Spreckles Bro's, of San Francisco, but now other capitalists are interesting themselves in these vast coal deposits and mines are being developed on the south side of the Coquille river, which if possible are as promising as those on the bay.

The Liberty Coal Company's mine at Riverton, on the lower Coquille, is producing in large quantities the best quality of lump and nut coal found on the coast. As yet gold and silver mining in Coos county is in its infancy. Several very rich veins have been found on the Coquille. It is the opinion of experts that fabulously rich mineral deposits exist in both Coos and Curry counties. A detached boulder was found in 1865 which weighed one ton and yielded $2700 in gold. A pocket was found in 1897 out of which was taken $3000. Specimens of almost pure copper are common in the streams. Coos and Curry counties will comprise the next great mining district in Oregon that will attract the capital of the world. —Portland Evening Telegram.

Edwin O. Wood, of Michigan, secretary of the Tamworth Swine Breeders' Association, knows a good thing when he sees it. Writing the other day of the Biggle Swine Book, the latest addition to The Biggle Books, he says: "Without exaggeration or fulsome praise it is the best book which has come to my notice. I have carried it in my pocket two weeks, reading it in leisure moments, and following its advice has already saved me, as I believe, fifty dollars." This is big returns on an investment of 50 cents, which the publishers, Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia, Pa., ask for the book.

Exchange: Persons who recently made filings of timber claims at the Lakeview land office have discovered that they were flim-flammed by a party locating them, having filed on worthless land, which was purported to be valuable for timber. Subsequently they were notified by "money lenders" that no money can be advanced on their locations on account of the investigations that are being made by the government agents regarding the system of acquiring title to some of these claims.

Three Foes of Health

Henry Jones, of Zenas, Ind., says: "My sufferings were almost unbearable, and only persons having been afflicted with this rare and dreaded combination of diseases can imagine what they were like. I was confined to my bed almost all the time. My doctor finally acknowledged that neither he nor any one else could cure me. I would not give up, so tried different medicines, and finally began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The first box of pills helped me some, and I took some more. The second box began to produce the desired result, and before I had finished the fourth box I was at last a cured man. That was last March, and I have not been troubled with these diseases since."—From Banner Plain Dealer, North Vernon, Ind.
