RAISING FUNDS FOR CAMPAIGN.
Government Employees Voted an Extra Month's Salary, but Did Not Respond Very Freely.

Washington, June 11.—The Post publishes an article stating that the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee has been endeavoring to collect as a campaign contribution a part of the extra month's salary voted to the employees of congress just before adjournment. The employees were informed that any contribution would be voluntary and many of them paid no heed to the communication, while others made a small contribution, so the amount collected will not exceed $1200 or $1500, instead of $10,000 or more, as had been expected.

The extra month's salary voted to employees of congress, in accordance with a custom observed by both political parties when in power, amounted in the aggregate to about $80,000. The Republican employees were requested by note to call on Mr. Schrader at the Raleigh Hotel. Mr. Schrader was assistant secretary of the congressional committee in the last campaign. When the employees called they were asked for campaign contributions, and any inquiries as to the amounts were answered with the suggestion that half of their extra month's pay would be acceptable, but that contributions would be voluntary and the giver could fix the amount. The amount given ran all the way from $5 to $10, in one instance, the Post says, to a whole month's salary.

Many employees, learning from others the purpose of the note sent them, did not call, so that the total contribution was much smaller than expected. Mr. Schrader, when seen regarding the matter, made the following statement: "I think no man who has made any contribution to the campaign will say that he has been subjected to the least coercion, morally or otherwise. No one has been asked to contribute any stated sum or any portion of his salary, and if any such statements have been made they were made by persons who have not, so far, visited these headquarters."

Jefferson's Theory Not Wanted.
How many thousand times have you heard of "Jeffersonian Democracy?" How many times will you read and hear about it this year, while Mr. Bryan and Mr. McKinley call for your votes, while thousands of orators who never believed anything and never could think anything, wave their arms and call for the democracy of old?

What was Jefferson's idea of democracy? It is all put by him in just fifty-nine words of his first inaugural address, and here are those fifty-nine words:

"A wise and frugal government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government and this is necessary to close the circle of our felicity."

But suppose some leader could go far ahead of Jefferson, as Jefferson went ahead of his predecessors. Suppose we had a leader who would say and mean what follows: "Voters: I do not limit myself to Jefferson's views or to Jefferson's plans. He believed and our early Democrats believed that letting people alone to fight, compete and work out their own salvation would bring happiness, plenty and contentment at least to a majority. "That belief was very pretty. But unfortunately we know now that the mere policy of giving every man a chance, and the devil take the hindmost, does not make happiness and contentment for a majority, nor for a reasonable minority. "We know that the extra cunning of some men, the bribable nature, the intense selfishness of a great majority, mean inevitable hardship and want for more than half the people. "I say that in this country there is or could be produced enough for all. I mean, with your help and authority, to see that it is produced, and once produced, to see it fairly divided. "I am not satisfied with a government that shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread that it has earned. "I want a government that shall say: "Bread alone is not good enough for the mouth of labor. When labor, which produces, gets only bread, while parasite cunning and capital which exploit and plan get cake and pie and jam, democracy is a failure. "A government which can only boast that it does not take bread from the mouth of labor has mighty little to boast of. I think as little of it as I should of a nurse girl if I heard her boasting that she never stole milk from the baby. I'd say to her, 'If that's your only recommendation, get out.' "If you voters will back me up, I will try to substitute for the wise and frugal government described by Jefferson, a wise, a generous government. "Would I have a government discourage brains and energy? No. But does a father discourage brains and energy when he whips his boy for kicking his little sister? He makes a man of him. "I'd improve the energetic, intelligent strain of Americans by kicking decency into them. I'd say to our great 'captains of industry': "As his part is that goeth down to the cattle, so shall his part be that tarrieth by the stuff." "I'd look out for the humble man at home, and even for the poor stuff. I'd let the survival of the fittest go hang. "I'd go by what I see. Not by fine generalities. I see a few thousands dying of over-eating and over-drinking, or shivering with nervousness, racked by watching useless piles of money. "I see millions leading dull, gray lives; wants half satisfied, ambitions killed. We are a free people, with nine men in every ten haunted by fear of losing employment. Pretty freedom. "We are a people of unlimited producing resources, kept poor and pinched by laws of 'supply and demand.' Who made those laws? The people? Gentlemen, I shall ginger up the supply and demand situation in a way that will be called anarchy by all save perhaps about seventy-five millions of our inhabitants. I'll let clockmakers trade cloaks for farmers' wheat. I'll bring you to New York families the millions of tons of fruit that rot in the country, even if the government must build a railroad and Vanderbilt burst with woe. "If a French king was not ashamed to say that he wanted every peasant to have a chicken on the stove, an American president need not fear to demand that every American shall have good food in his stomach, good clothing on his body, a well educated brain in his head, and a happy American family around him. "I'd work to give a decent home life and time for marriage and child-bearing to each American woman, if it meant melting every one of the diamond 'crowns' and 'stomachers' that now make our opera house look like a monkey cage. "We have no doubt that in many quarters a presidential candidate speaking as outlined above would be called a pathetically insane socialist. Furthermore, we have no doubt, whatever, that just such a "socialist" will be elected some day—and that before baby now in his cradle shall be old enough to vote. —N. Y. Journal.

Reinterment of the Bones of Patriots.
The HERALD made mention in issue of May 8, about the ghastly find of the bones of Revolutionary heroes who had died of starvation and ill-treatment on British prison ships and were dumped into the sea close to shore near Brooklyn, N. Y., but being washed up on the beach by recent tidal influences were discovered by a patriotic descendant, gathered up and prepared for decent burial. Well, last Saturday's Evening Telegram gives the following dispatch relative to a solemn memorial service:

PERSON SHEP MARTYRS REINTERRED.
Brooklyn, June 16.—The remains of the Revolution Prison-Ship Martyrs discovered some time ago at the navy-yard, were reinterred in Fort Green today. National and state troops participated in the ceremonies, which were very impressive. Secretaries Root and Long and Governor Roosevelt delivered addresses. Governors or representatives from the 12 other original states were present.

East Oregonian: A small but suggestive occurrence is reported from Columbus, O. Mr. Sheets, the present attorney general of the state of Hanna and McKinley, appointed Mr. S. M. Bennett as a special counsel to assist in the conduct of the cases against certain trusts. Mr. Bennett is a brother-in-law of Mr. Attorney General Monnet, famous for his fearless work as a trust prosecutor. His appointment as special counsel required Governor Nash's approval. Mr. Hanna has ordered the governor to withhold his approval—and it is withheld. It is plain that no man who fights trusts can expect any quarter from the power behind the throne of the Republican party.

The average reader will be amazed to learn that little New Hampshire, with less than 10,000 square miles, has no less than 406 lakes and ponds, 154 brooks, 58 rivers and 294 mountains. This makes Iowa look small. Colorado, a big state, has 556 creeks. Texas has comparatively few rivers, lakes and creeks. Alabama has 663 creeks and 87 rivers. Iowa cannot approach that record. Minnesota has 222 lakes and 140 rivers.—New York Press.

At the Oregon hospital for the insane on Sunday it was found that several little girls, patients in the institution, were afflicted with diphtheria, and the management hastily isolated the patients from the balance of the inmates, a building standing nearly a quarter of a mile from the main structure, and formerly used as a pest-house, being utilized for the purpose.

Chicago News: The Cape Town censor sat chewing the stump of a blue pencil. "Dickens," he called to his assistant, "how many Boers did you say our 5000 men defeated?" "One thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine," responded the loyal Dickens. "Well, turn it around to 9991. It will make many hearts glad, and besides, Dickens, my brother is a hunting manufacturer in London, see."

"The way to succeed in this life is to attend strictly to business." "Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "that's all right as far as it goes, but first you want to organize a trust so that nothing can happen that isn't some of your business!"

New York Verdict: Trust solicitor (after laboring man's vote): "Mike, do you know if Bryan were elected president all wages would be reduced 50 per cent?" Mike: "Faith, if that's so y'd be votin' for him yerself."

The Belgian hare boom is growing still faster and the thoroughbreds are coming from California to Oregon. It is said $25,000 worth of fine stock is going out of Los Angeles for various parts of the country every week.

Roseburg Review: Sheridan Croy, of Camas Valley, who recently accidentally shot himself through the foot, has returned home from this city. He had the wound looked after by Dr. Houck while here.

Exchange: We have planted our flag in Asia, and Asia has now planted her plague on our shores. The "black death" came to San Francisco by way of Manila and Honolulu.

In six months it will be half a century since Galusha A. Grow, of Pennsylvania, was elected for his first term in congress. India rubber nails, for use in places where ordinary nails are liable to corrosion, are a German novelty.

Acheson (Kan.) Globe: We are forced to respect some people who have never been there. It is thought the president will call a special session of congress on this Chinese trouble.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cassel's Candy Cathartic, 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

How the Heart Escaped.
An old officer, walking along Pall Mall, stopped to speak to a crossing sweeper who saluted him in military fashion.

"You have been in the service, my man?" said he. "I have thin, yer honor!" replied the sweeper, in a broad Irish brogue. "Have you been in any engagements?" "Shure I was all through the Crimea war."

"Did you get any wounds?" asked the officer. "I was shot through my heart," replied the crossing sweeper without the slightest hesitation. "Get along, fellow!" said the officer indignantly, assuming that the sweeper was an impostor. If you had been shot through the heart you would have been as dead as a door nail!" "Shure, sor," said the man, "me heart was in me throat at the time!"

Recently between 50 and 60 young women, converts to the Mormon faith, passed through Denver on their way to Utah, in search of husbands and homes. Probably this is the largest consignment of unmarried brides ever seen in America, since English maidens were landed by the shipload in the early Virginia colony incident. Happy and as full of animal spirits as a bevy of school-girls on a picnic, the farmers' daughters and factory girls looked forward in joyful anticipation to their future as wives of prosperous Mormon ranchers. From all parts of the world they came—Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and Ohio, and other states of the middle west are largely represented. Others left homes in New England and New York. Only two men accompanied the girls on their journey, one being an old man, who had three bright, blue-eyed, red-checked daughters with him, and seemed as pleased as the girls themselves with their matrimonial prospects.

Exchange: A reliable farmer in this country says if you bore a quarter of an inch into the heart of a fruit tree and inject as much dry common sulphur as possible, then insert a small plug to keep the sulphur in place, it will cure blight, make the tree strong and healthy and in no way injure it. This is a valuable boon to fruit growers, as the sulphur goes through all the parts of the tree, being absorbed from the heart, and makes a good healthy color. The writer of this saw trees that were nearly dead from some kind of blight, and after being treated as above had a beautiful thrifty appearance. This is one of the most valuable discoveries of the age.

The publishers of the Topeka Capital have allotted $5000 to the Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon as his share from the profits of the "Christian daily newspaper" during that memorable week in March. Mr. Sheldon thereupon distributed this amount among objects he considered both deserving and needy, giving $1000 to the fund for the India famine sufferers, $1000 each to two Topeka hospitals, $500 to Washburn college, $300 for a public drinking fountain, and the remainder to temperance, charitable and similar associations.

According to the reports of the immigration officers, 2441 immigrants have arrived at the one port of Port Townsend, Wash., alone during the month of May, and all of them except two were Japanese; 569 were skilled laborers, the balance being common and farm laborers; 1599 of the entire number remained in that state, while 508 went to California and 308 came to Oregon. The balance were destined to various states of the union. These immigrants brought with them $87,500.

According to the criticisms of the G. O. P. press of the eastern states, and accepted by our home organs, the boys who "voted 'er straight" in our late election didn't know what they were voting for. It was a sugar-coated dose, and if the November election should happen to go the same way, the call to "Johnny, get your gun," will follow close and the intelligent voter will have to "fight as he votes."

Would Not Suffer No Agony for Fifty Times Its Price.
I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me alright. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the suffering of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. Wilson, Liveryman, Borgestown, Washington county, Pa. This remedy is for sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Blood Humors In the Spring
Are Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I always take Hood's Sarsaparilla in the Spring and it is the best blood purifier I know of." Miss PEABODY GRIFFIN, Baldwin, Mich. "My blood was poor and sores broke out on my hands. Since taking three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I have had no sores of any kind." Miss MARIAN UNDER, 235 Clark St., N. Y. City. "I had that tired feeling all the time. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it made me feel like a new man. My wife was all run down; Hood's has given her good health." C. BOVLEY, Manville, R. I.

"Scrofula sores broke out on my little girl's face. I got a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and before she had taken all of it the sores were gone. We think there is no blood purifier like Hood's." Mr. HENRY DICKSON, 14 Twenty-Ninth, Cortland, N. Y.

It Purifies the Blood. Cures All Eruptions. Overcomes That Tired Feeling. Eradicates Scrofula.

A strictly up-to-date Sewing Machine, made through-out in the best possible manner. It possesses all modern improvements, and its mechanical construction is such that it is simple and easy to operate, and makes a perfect stitch with all kinds of thread and all classes of material. Always ready for use and unrivaled for speed, durability and quality of work. Notice the following points of superiority:

- The Head of the "Arlington" swings on patent socket hinges, firmly held down by a thumb screw. Strong, substantial, neat and handsome in design, and beautifully ornamented in gold. The plate has rounded corners and is inlaid or counterpaneled, making it flush with top of cabinet. Highest Arm—Goes under the arm is 2 1/2 inches high and 3 inches long. It is made of the lightest and even quality. It is self-threading—Absolutely no holes to put thread through except one of steel. Suitable for any thread, open on end, entirely self-threading, easy to use, and smooth. It holds a large amount of thread. Stitch Regulator is on the bed of the machine, and is covered from 1/2 to 1/4 inch to the inch. Feed is double and extends on both sides of needle; never fails to take coils through; never stops at seams; movement is positive; no springs to break and get out of order; can be raised and lowered at will. Automatic Bobbin—The filling the bobbin automatically and perfectly smooth without holding the thread. Machine does not run while winding bobbin. Light Running.—Machine is easy to run, does not get out of order, never makes a noise, and runs smoothly. Stitch is a double lock stitch, the same on both sides, also, makes little noise, and runs rapidly. Tension is a flat spring tension, will not ravel, and can be changed without stopping the machine. Never gets out of order. The Needle is a straight, self-setting needle, flat on one side and cannot be put in wrong. Needle is made of case-hardened steel, with oil cup at the bottom to prevent oil from getting on the goods. Adjustable Bearings.—All bearings are case-hardened steel and easily adjusted with a screw driver. All lost motion can be taken up, and the machine will run as smoothly as when new. Attachments.—Each machine is furnished with necessary tools and accessories, and in addition we furnish an extra set of attachments in a velvet lined metal box, free of charge, as follows: One rowel and gatherer, one leader, one shirring plate, one set of four hemmers, different widths up to 1 1/2 of an inch, one tucker, one under leader, one short or attachment foot, and one thread cutter. Woodwork of finest quality oak or walnut, good device for receiving belt.
