THE PIG.

(A PARODY.)—Written for the HERALD.

Once upon a Sabbath dreary, as I pondered tired and weary,
Over that same vexing question I had pondered oft' before,
Loud upon the soft air pealing, suddenly I heard a squealing,
One that sent an angry feeling I had never felt before.
There, that pig is out, I muttered, just as I had done before—
Only that, and nothing more.

Oh, distinctly I recall it, how that day I tried to call it,
But each "piggy" only sent it farther from me than before.
Eagerly I wished the morrow—vainly I had sought to borrow
From my wife surcease of sorrow, for the peace I knew no more,
For the sweet and solemn blessing of the peace I knew no more.
Trouble now for evermore.

But the quick and silent twiching of that mouth once so bewitching,
Thrilled me—filled me with fantastic terrors never felt before;
For I saw my wife was smiling, o'er a thing which seemed deiling,
And it set my temper riling, as she ne'er had done before;
Set my even temper riling as she ne'er had done before,
Never had and will no more.

Suddenly my soul grew stronger; hesitating then no longer,
"Wife," said I, or Mother, truly your forgiveness I emplore,
But the fact is I was thinking and my spirit low was sinking,
When I saw you slyly winking. I am angry now no more.
No'er will be forevermore."

I was troubled with sciatic' but arose on limbs rheumatic,—
Donned my hat and coat and with a stick I started for the door.
That pig no obeisance made me, not a minute stopped or stayed he
But he seemed to so afraid be that he ran as ne'er before.
Round and round the house I chased him for he ran as ne'er before,
And I'll chase him nevermore.

For I said "When comes to-morrow, I will end this tiresome sorrow,
For I'll nail your pen so tightly you will scamper forth no more.
Then I'll cease this useless petting, cease this weary tiresome fretting,
If I just succeed in getting you inside that pen once more.
I will end it all by getting you inside that pen once more.
You will stay for evermore".

At his head I threw my slop-pail but it barely missed his pig tail,
And I paid an aged quarter to my neighbor just next door.
To catch that pig and throw him o'er the fence and thus to show him
If it broke his back we'd know him by the marks of crime he wore
But it never seared or fazed him, not a single scar he wore
But he scampers forth no more.

Proposed Anti-Cigarette Law.

Sweek, of Multnomah, has introduced a bill in the legislature regulating the sale of cigarettes. While the bill is ostensibly a license measure, it is virtually little short of prohibitory. Section 1 reads as follows: "No person, firm or corporation shall be permited to sell or give away, any cigarette or cigarettes in which tobacco forms a component part, or any cigarette paper or any substitute therefor, without first having ob ained a license from the county court of the proper county for that purpose." The license is fixed at $500 per year, to be issued by the county court. Dealers are prohibited by bond in the penal sum of $1000 from selling cigarettes to minors, forfeiting also $400 to the parents or guardian of any such minor. In order to secure his license the dealer must obtain the signatures of an actual majority of the voters in his precinct and the petition is to be published in a newspaper for four consecutive weeks and no license is to be granted until such a majority of names is obtained. The penalty for selling cigarettes or cigarette paper without a license is fixed at $500 for each violation and $100 for every day that such violation is continued A fine of $500 is provided for selling to minors at any time. The passage of the bill and enforcement of the law would virtually prohibit the sale of ready made cigarettes in this state. Undoubtedly cigarettes would still be used by those who would buy tobacco and manufacture cigarettes for themselves but it is well known that such home-made cigarettes are far less injurious or destructive than the ready made article and proportionately less satisfactory to the real cigarette fiend. The cigarette habit is one of the most deadly of the many vicious practices which threaten our youth, unmanning its victims even more than the liquor habit, though less violent in its effects and confining its hamful results more to the immediate victims: Any measure which will in any way lessen the consuption of cigarettes will operate effectively for the public good.—Grants Pass Courier.

There is always danger in using counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The original is a safe and certain cure for piles. It is a soothing and healing salve for sores and all skin diseases. R. S. Knowlton

Pacific Coast Lumber & Furniture Manufacturing Co.

The following is an excerpt we take from the prospectus of this company which we received at the hands and through the kindness of W. H. Smith, one of the business managers prominently connected with the concern. The company has a total of assets to the amount of about $926.000, and the prospects are that a grand business will be in operation ere long when all the branches get fully under way:

The revised plans are to place upon the market four thousand shares of the Capital Stock of the Company at one hundred dollars per share, and to increase the size of factory over original plant and build our own steamers, and to also establish General Merchandize store in that portion of Oregon in which our lumber is situated. Having the best wharf facilities in that section of the country, there will be no difficulty in controlling the freight business of that section.

The trade of this Company will be practically unlimited and at no time in the history of the west has the opportunity for developing this class of business been so flattering.

On account of owning practically all the oak that can be manufactured into furniture west of the Mississippi River (and the supply is almost inexhaustible) we can control all of the trade of the western states, and when we consider the trade of the Islands of the Pacific, wherein the people are just awakening to civilization, when we take into consideration the influx into Alaska, which is unquestionably permanent; the Hawaiian Islands as well as the Philippines, just as permanent, and not forgetting the trade of Australia and Central America, we must in our most conservative business judgment acknowledge that a corporation organized on this coast for the manufacture of a household necessity, and owning the raw as well as the manufactured article, has the advantage of the situation; especially so, when the fact is taken into consideration that we can land our own oak at the factory for $15.00 per thousand, wheras the eastern oak cannot be placed upon this market for less than $75.00 per thousand

The oak timber used in the interior finish of the Parrott Building, as well as the million dollar home of Mr. Claus Spreckles on Van Ness Avenue, came from our property. The former building can be inspected by anyone interested. It will show as fine a quality as any oak timber in the world. We ask you to make comparison. It is the intention of the company to use the clear oak for inside finish, and it will bring in this market $75.000 per thousand. The upper part of the tree being used for furniture manufacture, there will practically be no loss. Even the limbs can be used to advantage in the furniture factory.

The furniture department has secured one of the most practical men in the country to attend to this branch. When in the east his designs for furniture were accepted as the proper style, just as Worth is considered the standard for styles in clothing.

The wheelbarrows used on this coast all come from the east. Did it ever occur to you before that not a single one is made here, and did you ever think how many thousands are used annually? It is only one of the many branches of our work. This branch of the work is to be carried on at the mills in Oregon and will tend to increase the value of our holdings at that place, as we can sell much of our land in town lots. This land is also valuable, after being cleared, for orchards—prunes and apricots growing splendidly.

The timber upon our holdings is not confined to oak. We have over seventyfive million feet of fir, besides some forty million feet of maple, madrone, white cedar and myrtle, all of which can and will be marketed.

Mr. E. C. Lyles, who is quite an expert in the timber line, says: "I have been engaged in the manufacture and sale of lumber for twenty-five years and in five different states, and in that time have handled millions and millions of feet of lumber. I consider this property the best layout I ever beheld in my long career. I believe the oak, myrtle and maple lumber can be manufactured and landed on the wharf at shipping point at $10.00 per thousand."

Skin of the Dead is Grafted on the Living.

Minneapolis, Feb. 4.—For the first time on record skin taken from a dead person has been successfully grafted onto a live man, and the latter is getting well. The man upon whom the experiment was tried is Nicholas Sossong, who was fearfully burned with nitric acid some time ago. Huge patches of the skin came off, and the surgeons tried in vain to secure enough skin from living persons to supply the deficiency. No one could be found willing to make the sacrifice, however, so it was decided to try the grafting of the skin of dead men to help save the life of Sossong. One night, when it was seen that a patient at the hospital could live but a few hours, preparations were made for removing large portions of the skin as soon as the breath left his body. When death came the skin was placed upon the exposed flesh of Sossong's body.

Seventy-five inches of epidermis was thus transferred and to the surprise of the surgeons it began to take root at once. Then another man died and the same performance was repeated, with the same result. All of the grafts are in a remarkably healthy condition and Sossong is on the road to recovery.

For the weakness and prostration following grippe there is nothing so prompt and effective as One Minute Cough Cure. This preparation is highly endorsed as an unfailing remedy for all throat and lung troubles and its early use prevents consumption. It was made to cure quickly. R. S. Knowlton.

Mrs. Maybrick to be Pardoned.

London, Feb. 10.—The doors of Aylesbury Prison will open for Mrs. Maybrick at 10 o'clock Monday morning and she will walk out a free woman.

The case as presented to the King will be his first act of clemency and is for an American woman who has been imprisoned for twelve years. The King wishes to grant this pardon as a favor to America and to inaugurate his reign with a striking example of mercy. Mrs. Maybrick will be practically free earlier, though her release may be delayed a short time owing to official red tape. The King will not pardon directly, but through the action of the home office.

"I think I would go crazy with pain were it not for Chamberlain's Pain Balm," writes Mr. W. H. Stapleton, Herminie, Pa. "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years and have tried remedies without number, but Pain Balm is the best medicine I have got hold of." One application relieves the pain. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Pick-Ups.

The law in the state of Maine provides that if a town runs in debt and has no money to pay its obligations the creditor may seize the property of the selectmen who created the debt to satisfy the claim. Thus it comes that said selectmen are very careful about running the town indebt. This is a scheme which has a good deal to commend it to the taxpayer everywhere.

A canvass of the cotton mill operatives in Augusta, Ga., shows that there are employed 419 children under 12 years of age, and of this number only 116 can read and write. This indicates that about 75 per cent of the white children of Georgia in the city cotton mill district are, under present conditions, condemned to live in total ignorance.

After searching six months for the oldest persons in the world the committee on vital statistics of the Hundred Year club of New York has prepared a report which shows that the oldest man is Izai Rodiftsy of Moscow, Russia, who is in his 136th year, and the oldest woman, Mrs. Nancy Hollifield of Battle Creek Mich., who is 117. Rodoftsy's sight is good, but his hearing is poor. He was never ill, he uses liquor, but has never used tobacco. Dr. Wood of the Battle Creek, Mich., sanitarium reports that Mrs. Hollifield has lived a temperate, simple life, doing house work for years.

LIBERAL VIEWS OF PRESIDENT HAYS.

The S. P. President Discusses Subjects of Good Roads and Competing Railroads.

Chas. M. Hays, the new president of the Southern Pacific Company, is a man in whom the people of California naturally take a considerable interest, and in view of his close relationship to the welfare of the state and the fact that he is a stranger in this land, it will be interesting and profitable for our readers to cultivate an acquaintance with his ideas. The following conversation of Mr. Hays, reported by the S. F. Post, shows that he entertains liberal views and exhibits a breadth of mind that augurs well for an administration of Southern Pacific affairs that will be mutually profitable to the railroad and the state In discussing good roads movement he said:

"Good roads are of paramount value in every community. Roads are the arteries of commerce, whether they are wagon roads or railroads. They are the means of communication and the promoters of commercial exchange. They have a reflex influence upon the value of everything which stands related to them. A good road through a country adds value to every head of horse and every hoof of cattle and to all the agricultural products of the country, because these things are relived of a cost of transportation which is at once reflected in their value at the farm. But the good roads have a use beyond creating an actual and specific value. They promote the growth of community life. A country whose roads are impassable, during the season of their impassability loses all social as well as commercial existence. If there are no roads fit to drive over, there are no carriages purchased for driving, and where sociability declines there is no incentive to the embellishments of private life. Good roads are therefore adjuncts of civilized existence itself and the status of a civilization determines the value of the railroads. Good wagon roads and good railroads are not competitors, but copartners in the growth of a country in the increase of its tonnage and the increase of its wealth, and instrumentalities of transportation are valuable in proportion to the wealth of the country they serve."

A firm of Chicago contractors has been notified that it was the successful bidder for raising the wreck of the battleship Maine from the waters of Havana harbor. If no hitch occurs in the process drawing up the contract. Chamberlain & company, who have officers at 225 Dearbort street will undertake the task. With it is coupled the job of raising the Spanish transport Alfonso XII, which is reached on the shore near the Maine. The Chamberlain agreement is to raise both vessels for the salvage there is in them. It is expected that more than $1,000,000 will be made by the concern in the undertaking.—Ex.

How a Little Boy Was Saved.

Washington, D. C.—"When our boy was about 16 months old he broke out with a rash which was thought to be measles. In a few days he had a swelling on the left side of his neck and it was decided to be mumps. He was given medical attendance for about three weeks when the doctor said it was scrofula and ordered a salve. He wanted to lance the sore, but I would not let him and continued giving him medicine for about four months when the bunch broke in two places and became a running sore. Three doctors said it was scrofula and each ordered a blood medicine. A neighbor told me of a case somewhat like our baby's which was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I decided to give it to my boy and in a short while his health improved and his neck healed so nicely that I stopped giving him the medicine. The sore broke out again, however, whereupon I again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and its persistent use has accomplished a complete cure. I do not think there will be even a scar left. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla and I recommend it everywhere I get a chance." MRS. NETTIE CHASE, 47 K St., N. E.

Like Magic.

"A complication of troubles, dyspepsia, chronic catarrh and inflammation of the stomach, rheumatism, etc., made me miserable. Had no appetite until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acted like magic. I am thoroughly cured." N. B. SEELEY, 1874 West 14th Ave., Denver, Col.

If you have failed to get relief from other remedies try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cures when all others fail, because it is Peculiar to Itself.

STYLE No. 55. "ARLINGTON."

The Improved New High-Arm Self-Threading "Arlington" Sewing Machine
NEW HOME STYLE
LATEST BEST CHEAPEST
Shipped to anyone, anywhere, on 10 days' free trial, in your own home, without asking one cent in advance.
10 years' written warranty with each machine.

A strictly high-grade Sewing Machine, finished throughout in the best possible manner. It possesses all modern improvements, and its mechanical construction is such that in it are combined simplicity with great strength, thus insuring ease of running, durability, and making it impossible for the machine to be put out of order. It sews fast and makes a perfect stitch with all kinds of thread and all classes of material. Always ready for use and unrivalled for speed, durability and quality of work. Notice the following points of superiority:

The Head of the "Arlington" swings on patent socket hinges, firmly held down by a thumb screw. Strong, substantial, neat and handsome in design, and beautifully ornamented in gold. Bed plate has rounded corners and is inlaid or countersunk, making it flush with top of table. Highest Arm—Space under the arm is 5½ inches high and 9 inches long. This will admit the largest skirts, and even quilts. It is Self-Threading—Absolutely no holes to put thread through except eye of needle. Shuttle is cylinder, open on end, entirely self-threading, easy to put in or take out; bobbin holds a large amount of thread. Stitch Regulator is on the bed of the machine, beneath the bobbin winder, and has a scale showing the number of stitches to the inch, and can be changed from 8 to 32 stitches to the inch. Feed is double and extends on both sides of needle; never fails to take goods through; never stops at seams; movement is positive; no springs to break and get out of order; can be raised and lowered at will. Automatic Bobbin Winder—For filling the bobbin automatically and perfectly smooth without holding the thread. Machine does not run while winding bobbin. Light Running—Machine is easy to run, does not fatigue the operator, makes little noise and sews rapidly. Stitch is a double lock stitch, the same on both sides, will not ravel, and can be changed without stopping the machine. Tension is a flat spring tension, and will admit thread from 8 to 150 spool cotton without changing. Never gets out of order. The Needle is a straight, self-setting needle, flat on one side, and cannot be put in wrong. Needle Bar is round, made of case-hardened steel, with oil cup at the bottom to prevent oil from getting on the goods. Adjustable Bearings—All bearings are case-hardened steel and easily adjusted with a screw driver. All lost motion can be taken up, and the machine will last a lifetime. Attachments—Each machine is furnished with necessary tools and accessories, and in addition we furnish an extra set of attachments in a velvet lined metal box, free of charge, as follows: One ruffler and gatherer, one binder, one shirring plate, one set of four hemmers, different widths up to ⅜ of an inch, one tucker, one under braider, one short or attachment foot, and one thread cutter. Woodwork of finest quality oak or walnut, gothic cover and drawers, nickel-plated rings to drawers, dress guards to wheel, and device for replacing belt.
