Written for the HERALD.
Ode to the Coquille River.

By E. B. P.

The floods that leap from mountain height
To grace these fertile plains
Are worthy themes for artist's brush
Or poet's sweetest strains.

I love thee where thy steps are fleet
Adown the mountain's side,
And where thy tranquil waters meet
The ocean's restless tide.

I love thy dreamy quiet shades
Where green vine-maps spread
Their tangled boughs above the glades
Where lily-lovers tread.

I love thee when the morning sun
First breaks upon thy breast—
To rob thy mist in nearly white
Above a fringe of green.

I love thee when the moon-beams paint
The landscape on thy breast—
The maples robed in yellow gowns—
The mountains verdant crest.

And when nights dreamy curtains fall
To woo thy waves to rest—
I love to trace the starry gems
Bright mirror'd on thy breast.

I love thee where with milder mien
Down by the tossing sea
Spice-breezes from the Isles
Sweep gently over me.

Yes, tho' I fain would note thy charms
More beautiful ones unfold
"Till in a maze of bliss I tread
Ere half thy charms are told.

—Hiverton, Oregon, May 7th, 1901.

Eggs That Will Keep.

It is said that a carload of evaporated eggs, valued at $14,000, was lately shipped from Springfield, Mass., for San Francisco, where it will be placed on a steamer bound for Cape Nome. The eggs were put in one pound screw top cans, 60 cans in a case, and will answer any purpose in the culinary line except boiling. The moisture being taken out of them when they are prepared leaves nothing to boil.

The largest egg evaporating establishment in the world is located at Springfield. The process of evaporating is done with hot air, and it takes eight hours to thoroughly evaporate an egg. About four dozen are equal to a pound of the preparation. The Springfield factory employs 75 people, and its capacity for consuming eggs is about 400 cases a day.

The goods are shipped to all foreign countries, and in Europe especially there is a big demand, as the English government has placed the preparation on the hospital supply list. The Klondike country is a heavy user of this brand of evaporated eggs, as no matter what the price of the fresh hen fruit may be or how scarce it is the evaporated egg retains its old price and is always on hand and ready for business.—New English Grocer.

Our New Possessions.

The following description of our newly acquired possessions in the orient was written by one of our soldier boys in the Philippines:

The Filipinos are a bunch of trouble gathered together on the western horizon of civilization. They are bounded on the north by rocks and destruction, on the east by typhoons, on the south by cannibals and earthquakes, on the west by hoodoos and smugglers.

The soil is extraordinarily fertile, producing large crops of insurrection and trickery. The climate is pleasant and healthful for scorpions, centipedes, snakes and alligators. The principal exports are rice, hemp, sick soldiers and war bulletins. The principal imports are American soldiers, arms, ammunition, beer and tobacco.

Cubans Will Accept Platt Amendment.

Havana, May 7.—The special commission of the Cuban Constitutional Convention, which returned here from Washington, May 5, will not make any recommendations to the convention. Although the majority of the Commissioners are in favor of accepting the Platt amendment, the report will only cover the facts of the conference at Washington. The convention will hold a secret session this afternoon. The radical element admits the convention will accept the amendment.

Mr. Robert Denison Hume, of San Francisco, traces his ancestry back to Adam. Mr. Hume does not do this in a general way, skipping a great row of inter-diate ancestors and taking the Bible's word for it, but he goes carefully back, ancestor by step, picking his lineage every step clean back to the fruit-stealing scandal in the Garden of Eden. Mr. Hume is dead in earnest about his genealogy and I would not for the world discourage him or say that his record grows a bit hazy beyond the 280th year before Christ. Not for the world would I do such a thing, for Mr. Hume is a distant relative of mine. I find after studying his family tree.—Town Crier in S. F. News Letter.

Lessor for the Worthy.

Let the striving young man on the farm or elsewhere not despair. C. M. Schwab, president of the billion dollar steel combine, is only thirty-nine years of age, has accumulated $25,000,000 and receives a salary of $800,000 a year from the combination of which he is president while is sixteen times the salary paid to the President of the United States. Mr. Schwab began business with an apron on and drew a salary of $2.50 week. Carnegie, his former employer, began his business career as a bobbin boy in a factory at equally low, or even lower, wages than Schwab. The latter attributes his phenomenal success to the fact that he made it a point to do his work better than any one else could do it, which made his services almost indispensable to his employer. There is much in the principle, and yet while every one who may do his work perfectly and in a satisfactory manner may not rise to the same financial attitude as has Mr. Schwab, yet he will have no regrets for negligence and will be ready for an opportunity when it offers. It has been handed down as a proverb that we are all creatures of circumstances. This Napoleon denied, taking the opposite view—that we were creators of circumstances. He was partly right only, else he would not have died an exile in St. Helena. Still he may have reasoned that he neglected to create the necessary circumstances before or during his engagement with Wellington at Waterloo.—Homestead.

Shipping Meats to Oregon.

It is still a wonder, and a painful one, to the sensitive patriotic Oregonian, that scores of carloads of dressed meats, to say nothing of other products for which Oregon is well adapted, are yet annually shipped into this state. It is true that the one cereal that is not so well adapted to Oregon as to the upper and middle Mississippi Valley States, corn, is especially valuable for stock, especially hogs yet even acknowledging this "drawback," there is no good reason or excuse for the importation of so much meat or other farmfood products.

If one-half the arable and cultivated lands of Oregon that are unused, or not well used, were put to the best use, it would be but a short time till, even with a rapidly increasing population, we would produce all that we use of these things.

We are making some gain in the butter line, but the state needs three or four, or half a dozen, dairy cows where it has one now; and their product could always be disposed of profitably. So with dressed meats, even of the pork variety; while Oregon is not quite an ideal "hog country," 10,000 farmers could find it profitable, one year with another, to raise more hogs. Even if we are not able to compete yet with the great packing houses of Chicago, South Omaha and Kansas City in the matter of hams, our farmers ought at least to supply our own market with other home-made hogmeat.—Telegram.

The remains of Abraham Lincoln, which have been resting in a temporary vault during the reconstruction of the Lincoln monument, will be removed to the new monument within a few days. The removal will be private, only the trustees of the monument, state officers, and representatives of the press being present. The exact day fixed for the transfer of the remains will not be made public.—Ex.

New York, May 6.—That all the coffee consumed in the United States can be grown in the islands which have been acquired since the outbreak of the Spanish War is the conclusion reached by the bureau of statistics of the Treasury Department at Washington, after a careful study of the coffee-producing capabilities of the new possessions.

The Oregonian.

Takes the market news of San Francisco by wire prints it daily and distributes it in Coos county 24 hours ahead of the Bay City papers. It also serves the arrival and departure of vessels at all Pacific coast ports. For this part of the country its columns "Domestic and Foreign Ports," is the best shipping guide. Besides giving the movements of steam vessels between San Francisco, Coquille river, Coos Bay and Portland, it notes the arrival and departure of sailing schooners at and for their ports. The Oregonian is the only morning daily coming in here which advertises Coos county abroad. The Weekly Oregonian gives all the news of our state and 64 columns of general telegraphic news of the world each week. It will be sent in connection with the HERALD for only $2 per year. Here is your chance for County, State and National News.
