CHAS. GRISSEN, Mgr.

Sherman Flinn, of the upper North Fork, went to Bandon yesterday, we think possibly for a double purpose—there are a large number of good-looking school marmas down there just now, as well as a refreshing sea breeze.

Mrs. Davis, of this city, is now taking orders for the celebrated Brazil silver ware and many other useful household articles. The merits of this table ware are well known here, many of our people using it, and its recommendation is not necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sunderland arrived by the last Alliance from San Francisco where Mr. S. had undergone surgical operations for a lame knee. While he is able to get around some on crutches, he is unable to bear any weight on the limb. He has hopes that his knee will not be stiff as it was at first thought it would be by the physicians.

As August Eickworth, of the Bulletin, was passing the residence of Ben Figg on the corner of Hall and Third street, he noticed smoke issuing from the roof of that house and hastily procured a couple of buckets of water and soon set things all right. With the stiff northwest breeze that was blowing it was a good chance for a fall-grown blaze. This is another hint that we need better fire protection.

T. J. Krewson lighted the fires in his brick kiln yesterday morning and the burning process will go on for the next 13 days. He expects to have brick on the market by the 24th inst. He also has quite a number of brick moulded for a second kiln which will be considerable larger than the first. It is sincerely hoped that this enterprise will prove a thorough success, as a big lot of brick should be used in this city as a protection against fire. Give Mr. K. all the encouragement you can.

Binder twine at J. A. Lamb & Co's. For fine photos, consult Walker, the photographer.

We have just received a card from W. V. Ashburn, who with his family, recently left here with a view to locating in Washington, stating that they had secured them a place within two miles of Washington lakes, and that crops were good in that section and work was plentiful, that all were well and pleased with their new location so far. They order the HERALD to Delight, that being their present postoffice address.

John Bonewitz and Perry Van-Dyke, of the upper river, started for Alaska the early part of last week. Mr. VanDyke has been up there before and Mr. Bonewitz has tried to get off a time or so before, but had not succeeded. While Mr. V. was there he secured good claims and had good prospects before him, but the schooner that was to take supplies to him failing to reach there, he was compelled to come away before accomplishing his aim. They take their supplies along with them this time and will make some vigorous efforts to secure some of Alaska's golden wealth, in which we wish them abundant success.

Joe Hudson, Jr., arrived here Wednesday after an absence of something like two years in Washington. He saw his parents about the fourth of last month, and from what he says they were getting quite homesick. He thinks we may look for them home soon. He also tells us about his brother John getting his leg badly cut while working in a camp on the sound. It seems by some accident he received a cut in the calf of the leg the full size of the blade of an axe and was for time in a critical condition, but has sufficiently recovered to be moved to Aberdeen where his sister, Mrs. Tanner lives and where his parents are visiting and will receive good attention.

J. B. Fox returned from San Francisco Wednesday, and while he had good luck in getting bargains in the goods he purchased, he had some experience with the draymans' strike which is on in that city. He was obliged to pay $250 per load for a small, one-horse rig to transfer his goods to the vessel, and if the strike continues the vessel may even have trouble to get out. It is to be hoped, however, that this matter will soon come to a close.

The Oregonian.

Takes the market news of San Francisco by wire prints it daily and distributes it in Coos county 24 hours ahead of the Bay City papers. It also serves the arrival and departure of vessels at all Pacific coast ports. For this part of the country its columns "Domestic and Foreign ports," is the best shipping guide. Besides giving the movements of steam vessels between San Francisco, Coquille river, Coos Bay and Portland, it notes the arrival and departure of sailing schooners at and for their ports. The Oregonian is the only Morning Daily coming in here which advertises Coos county abroad. The Weekly Oregonian gives all the news of our state and 64 columns of general telegraphic news of the world each week. It will be sent in connection with the HERALD for only $2 per year. Here is your chance for County, State and National News.
