Alfalfa Hay, Corn Fillage, Roots.

Ed. Hoard's Dairyman—Having received valuable information on many subjects, through your progressive paper, may I trouble you to express an opinion on the following questions, which are peculiar to our locality:

1. The average price of alfalfa hay for the last ten years, paid our farmers, will not exceed $3 per ton; corn chop from $15 to $20 per ton; bran $12 to $15 per ton. Under these conditions would it pay to put up ensilage? (When a wider ration is needed, we can produce excellent crops of sugar beets and wurtzels as a supplementary food.)
2. What is a ton of sugar beets worth in dollars and cents, filling its part in a balanced ration?
3. In the absence of a silo, in what matter can we handle a corn crop to the best advantage for the cow.

We are milking from 15 to 20 cows, Jerseys and grades. Have a No. 2 DeLaval separator, make and market our own butter and are trying to learn dairying. Are doing the work ourselves and using Hoard's Dairyman as our text book, and I believe will get there. A. R. Niwot, Colo.

1. We are very much of the opinion that there are no conditions where, one year with another, it will not pay to put up ensilage of some kind. One of the most successful dairymen (in this particular case it is a dairy woman) in the United States, is located in the alfalfa fields of California, and has found it very advantageous to build silos for the purpose of storing a part of the alfalfa. There was a time when it was considered impracticable, if not impossible, to ensile alfalfa, but Miss Eschelman (now Mrs. Sherman) practically demonstrated that this opinion was not well founded.

2. It has been demonstrated over and over again that, considering the labor involved and the yield returned, it does not pay for a farmer to raise either sugar beets or mangels wherever he can secure otherwise good and profitable crops. Of course, the trials have been largely with corn, and in every instance it was found that corn silage was equally as effective as roots and that it cost much less. It is, however, everywhere conceded that some succulent feed is necessary to enable the cow to do her best; and where this cannot be otherwise obtained, it is advantageous to grow roots, and the variety that will give the largest returns for the labor expended is to be preferred.

When it is considered that from 85 to 90 per cent of the roots is nothing but water, it becomes very evident that the nutritive value of roots is very low, but in the absence of silage or other succulent food they have a very hygienic effect.

3. When alfalfa hay can be had for $3 per ton it is a pretty difficult question to determine what is the best way of handling a corn crop in the absence of a silo. Perhaps as good a way would be to cut the corn with a corn binder, gather the bundles into stooks and when cured, haul to a husker or shredder, which will separate the corn from the stalks, save the grain by itself and cut or shred the stalks, allowing the cows to pick them over a little and select the choice bits, and use the balance for bedding.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Water Cure for Chronic Constipation.

Take two cups of hot water half an hour before each meal and just before going to bed, also a drink of water, hot or cold, about two hours after each meal. Take lots of outdoor exercise—walk, ride, crive. Make a regular habit of this and in many cases chronic constipation may be cured without the use of any medicine. When a purgative is required take something mild and gentle like Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

GENERAL LITTLE POST, NO. 27, Dept of Oregon G. A. R., meets in Hersey hall the first Monday evening in each month. Commands are cordially invited to meet with us.

No Break Visible in the Ranks of Strikers.

The assertions made with apparent confidence by men prominent in the Employers' Association that this week will see a break in the ranks of the strikers, are not borne out by the facts of the situation. There are no indications that any of the union men will return to work today. The men are quite as firm as they were four weeks ago, at the beginning. It has been pretended by the employers that they expected to see two or three hundred of the union teamsters back at their work and a like claim has been made in regard to the stevedores. Reports were spread that the longshoremen were not in accord with the policy of the strike leaders, and so persistently were these rumors circulated that even the leaders thought they might have some foundation. Therefore the teamsters were asked for an expression on the subject at their recent meeting. The vote for continuing the fight was almost unanimous.

So with the stevedores. On Friday night at the meeting of Local No. 228 of the International Longshoremen's Union, with a membership of 1,400, the vote of those present was unanimous for carrying on the strike.

Saturday evening the Longshore Lumbermen's Union held a special meeting at Sailor hall to ascertain what the feelings of the members were regarding the situation and whether they were in favor of continuing the battle. When the votes were counted it was found that all were in favor of remaining out.

The sentiment of the men was in favor of carrying on the fight until the principle of unionism was given recognition by the Employers' Association.

Michael Casey, the business agent of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, when asked for an expression of opinion as to the feelings of the teamsters regarding the situation, said:

"The boys are as solid and determined now as when they went out, nearly two months ago. There will not be any union teamsters going back to work today.

Keep Anarchists Out of America.

New York, Sept. 16.—Senator Depew, discussing the problem of what is to be done to suppress the growth of anarchism, is quoted as saying:

"We must begin at the fountain-head and stop the reservoirs of European anarchism pouring into our country. Such certification of immigrants must be had as will establish a proper environment and association abroad before they pass our immigrant inspectors. Supplementing this, there should be under proper safeguards the power lodged somewhere to expel known enemies of our laws and country. Legislation should also be adopted that will take attempts upon the life of the president which fall out of the category of mere assaults and make such crimes adequately punished.

Washington Anarchist Colony.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 11.—Much excitement exists over the disclosures made by a visit to the anarchist colony at a place called Home, in Pierce county, about 20 miles from Tacoma. When asked how they viewed the attempted murder of President McKinley, a reporter of the Evening News was told by one of the leaders that there is as much justification in Czolgosz attempting to kill McKinley as in the American soldiers killing Filipinos. The taking of human life under any circumstances is unjustifiable. The colonists are avowed anarchists and free-lovers. There are among them a good many spiritualists, some agnostics, infidels, one Methodist and one Seventh Day Adventist. One of their steam launches always flies the red flag of anarchy when it comes to Tacoma.

No Change in Cabinet.

Washington, Sept. 18.—It was stated on excellent authority that all members of the cabinet have accepted the appointment tendered by President Roosevelt yesterday. The manner in which the president made the appointments rendered it impossible for the members of the cabinet to take any other course, as they already are in the position and cannot decline, but must resign their places if they desire to leave the cabinet. More than this, they all believe in the sincerity of the president in desiring their services and in return they wish to assist him to the full extent of their powers to carry out the policies of former President McKinley, which Mr. Roosevelt has adopted for his administration. Another feature of the relations of the new president with the last administration became known today to the effect that Mr. Roosevelt has been fully advised and has approved of the negotiations in progress relative to the proposed Isthmian Canal treaty with England.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when Editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by R. S. Knowlton.

May Mean a Large Sawmill.

Aberdeen, Wash., Sept. 11.—The report circulated for some time that the Weyerhaeuser syndicate would build a large sawmill on Gray's Harbor is apparently verified by the purchase of a 60-acre tract west of Gray's Harbor City, a boom town 10 years ago, which had been abandoned until the Northern Pacific Railway Company built its extension last month. A portion of the town is now occupied. It is certain that the purchase of the land is for the erection of a large mill, as deep water is always assured at Gray's Harbor City, while sandbars between here and there have prevented deep vessels loading here and at Hoquiam this summer. At Gray's Harbor City there is a dock which cost $40,000 to build, and which, though in a dilapidated condition, can be repaired at a reasonable expense. There is a lot of timber well back of Gray's Harbor City, which the Weyerhaeuser syndicate has purchased, and which can be brought to the harbor by a new railroad. It looks now as if the Weyerhaeuser firm meant business. The mill, if erected will be the largest on the coast.

A Communication.

Mr. Editor—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. Brockman, Bagnel, Mo. This remedy is for sale by R. S. Knowlton.
