Another Big Thing.

CHADWICK TRACT SOLD TO WISCONSIN LUMBERMAN.

Finest Body of Timber in This Section to Be Developed.

At the risk of being accused of trying to get up a boom, the Mail is glad to give another piece of news of the greatest importance to Coos county and especially to Marshfield.

The Cadwick tract of timber and coal land, owned by Mrs. Chandwick, Sol. Hirsch and other Portland parties, has been sold to F. Bounton, Jr., a Wisconsin lumberman, and this spring will see the inaugeration of the work of developing the property.

This tract lies west of the upper part of Isthmus slough and comprises 7920 acres of land, covered with fine timber and underlaid with with coal.

It has been held for a quarter of a century or more, by its recent owners, who would allow nothing to be cut on it and it is one of the finest bodies of timber on the coast.

Mr. Bounton, the purchaser, is a successful Wisconsin lumberman. His operations in that state having been curtailed by the exhausting of the timber supply, he turned his attention to this cost. Coming to Coos, he has thoroughly examined the tract he has purchased, having spent the last week or so cruising and camping out on the land, undeterred by rain and bad wether. The sale, the largest ever made in Coos, was negotiated by Dr. C. W. Tower, and it may be stated that a very satisfactory price was realized. It is understood that Mr. Bouton has not bought this tract of land on speculation, but that he will now go ahead energetically with the develepement of the property.

This means another large mill on the bay, and there is no reason to fear that it will be another Empire or Porter fiasco, the money of practical lumberman has gone into the venture, and such people do not let their property lie idle.—Daily Coast Mail.

A Return to First Principles.

Let those who think and sorrow over the thought that we, as a Nation and as individuals, have forsaken the straight and narrow path which our forefathers trod. Evidence to the contrary is accumulating. But now a magistrate in a New Jersey Police Court ordered six boys, who had committed a depredation upon property and who were too young to be sent to jail, without scandle, to be soundly spanked in open court by two stalwart policemen, who performed the task thoroughly; and now comes the statement that a jury in Hopkinsville, Ky., recently held a season of prayer after retiring to deliberate upon the evidence adduced, before venturing to ballot upon the verdict. A life was in the balance, and after solemn and prayerful deliberations, the criminal was sentenced to eighteen years' confinement in the penitentiary. Let us take heart of grace. The old-fashioned ideas and practices upon which the fathers of the Republic were brought up are being revived. Perhaps the "ducking stool" will yet return to its mission of eliminating from the community the common scold, or mayhap the boy be brought to penance for spitting about the house, sure precursors of the street-spitting habits which has become almost a National sin. With spanking as punishment for juvenile offenders, and prayerful jurors anxious to discharge a sacred duty withjustice to all concerned, who shall doubt that the strong pap upon which the forefathers were brought up, and which they in turn provided for the moral sustenance of their children, is again being brewed? —Oregonian.

A Printer Greatly Surprised.

"I never was so much surprised in my life, as I was with the result of using Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says Henry T. Crook, pressman of the Asheville (N. C.) Gazette. "I contracted a severe case of rheumatism early last winter by getting my feet wet. I tried several things for it without benefit. One day while looking over the Gazette, I noticed that Pain Balm was positivly guaranteed to cure rheumatism so bought a bottle of it and before using two thirds of it my rheumatism had taken its flight and I have not had a rheumatic pain since." Sold by R. S. Knowlton.

A NEW STEAMER

To be Built at Once by the J. D. Spreckels & Bros. Co. for the Coos Bay Trade.

Manager Chandler returned yesterday from a business visit to San Francisco. The visit proved a pleasant one in every respect, the J. D Spreckels & Bros. Co. being well pleased at the able manner, in which their business interests here are being looked after by Mr. Chandler, and the careful method in which affairs generally are being conducted by him. The company which, by the force of circumstances was coerced into assuming possession of the property they now control, to save themselves from an enormous loss, feel very much encouraged at the outlook; and should their anticipations be realized in enterprises in which they are now engaged, there will be no hesitation on their part in investing other large sums, in railroad construction and in the development of the resources of this section generally.

We are pleased to learn that the plans for the new steamer are being drawn up, and, when approved, the work of construction will be commenced at once, and the vessel will be finished as rapidly as possible. The steamer is to be built of wood; will be 225 feet long, 37 feet beam and is to draw 15 feet of water. She will carry 1,000 tons of coal, besides some freight, and will have accommodations for 43 first-class passengers, and 20 steerage. She is to be a 14-knot boat, and her accommodations will be equal to any steamer on the coast—social hall, smoking room, cold storage, etc. She is to be completed and ready to take her place on the route this fall.

At Beaver Hill, the force of men employed will be increased at once to 120, and mining proper will be commenced in November, at which time the output of the mine will be 200 tons per day. This output will be increased rapidly, until the mine is turning out several hundred tons daily.—News.

For the Complexion.

The complexion always suffers from biliousness or constipation. Unless the bowels are kept open the impurities from the body appear in the form of unsightly eruption. De Witt's Little Early Risers keep the liver and bowels in healthy conditions and remove the cause of such troubles. C. E. Hooper, Albany, Ga., "I took De Witt's Little Early Risers for billiousness They were just what I needed. I am feeling better now than in years." Never gripe or distress. Safe thorough and gentle. The very best pills. R. S. Knowlton.

For the week ending March 4th., the United States Patent Office is issued 656 patents, trade-marks and designs, 58 of which were to citizens of foreign countries. New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Massachussetts and Ohio, in order, took out the most, while Hawaii Territory took out one, which was the same number as taken out by eight of the states. C. A. Snow & Co., patent attorneys, Washington, D. C., will furnish free of charge an interesting booklet telling how to obtain patents, caveats, etc., and giving many useful facts to inventors, patentees and manufacturers, in regard to securing American and foreign patents.

The United States Supreme Court with the aid of the Fish Commission will probably have to decide whether the oyster is a fish or not. Under the terms of the old boundary settlement between Virginia and Maryland, the latter state was given sole ownership of the bed of the Potomac, while both states the steam. In disputes which have arisen over the oyster beds Maryland conteds that they pertain to the bottom of the stream while Virginia is equally sure that the oyster is a fish and therefore may be taken by the Virginia fishermen.

There was a marked contrast between the American greetings to Prince Henry and those of the Canadian officials. They "begged leave to approach his Royal Highness." Governor Van Sant, on the contrary, when the Prince expressed a wish to meet the members of the Minnesota delegation said, "Come on Prince—come on:"

Count Boni de Castellane says that as a financial deal the panama canal should be chosen over the others Count Boni is in a position to speak with authority on the spending of American money.

There ought to be some golden mean between Reed rules in the House of Representatives and Marquis of Queensbury rules in the Senate.

A Gathered Cream Creamery.

The course of human events are not always in the line of what we may conceive to be true progress. For instance, the first creameries were conducted on the plan of gathering the cream from the farmers. This cream was raised in all sorts of ways, open pans, deep setting, in foul cellars and clean pantries, and by all kinds of people. The butter, as a rule, that was produced from such cream was not first grade. But every discerning mind saw two things in this system: (1.) That it was the most economical method of getting the first product to the creamery. (2.) That the low grade of butter resulting therefrom was caused by a lack of dairy intelligence on the part of the farmers who produced the cream. Then came the centrifugal cream separator and the idea of getting the milk as quickly as possibly from the farm to the creamery, in order to prevent contamination and consequent loss in price of butter.

This system has developed two things also: (1.) That it is too expensive to haul the bulky milk. (2.) That the skim milk is necessarily lessened in feeding value, to a large extent before it can be used.

This is the domain of dairy economics, and in the end the creamery system of the country must take on that from which will bring the farmer the least labor, and give him the largest value form the by-product. But there are still in existence gathered cream creameries which are doing a fine business. Notable among these is the West Salem, Wis., Co-operative Creamery. We print below a report of its last year's business as furnished by one of its patrons, Mr. A. J. Phillips.

The total expense of operating the creamery, including insurance and taxes was $15,092.43. The average price received for butter was 20 cents a pound.

Within the last five years there has been a rapid increase among the patrons in the use of the farm separators.

It it important to say in this connection that this creamery has been managed by men of excellent business judgement and thorough honesty. Brains and integrity are in a great demand everywhere, and are needed nowhere more than in a creamery run on the co-operative plan.—Hoard's Dairyman.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.
F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:
BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.
Gentlemen: —Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.
About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.
I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,
