Butler, a California mining man, interested in mining operations in his section, and may effect a sale. They start from Myrtle Point tomorrow for that district and will spend some time in thoroughly investigating the merits of Mr. Foster's claim, and it is to be hoped that their most sanguine hopes may be fully realized. Billy tells us that Bert Wasson, who passed through town a few weeks ago to the bay, accepted a position on the steamer South Portland on which he made four trips between San Francisco and Portland, and then switched off as a drummer and was, at last accounts, at Reno, Nevada, representing a large drygoods house of San Francisco.

To the Fathers and Mothers of Coquille and vicinity: Allow me to say I have spent twenty one years of my life among strangers of all classes. In mining camps, logging camps, railroad shops, rolling mills, iron furnaces etc. I have never heard such profanity and vulgarity as I have heard along the river bank below our town from boys and young men, who no doubt have praying parents. I presume the parents are ignorant of these things or it would not be so. We all like the fine sport of fishing. Our mothers, wives and daughters like the sport but cannot go to the river's bank because of this profanity and vulgar talk. Will not the parents or guardians of these youths see to this at once and let us see if it cannot be stopped before legal action is taken. A hint to the wise is sufficient. Yours for decency purity and cleanliness. DISGUSTED.
