County Official Paper.

Devoted to the material and social up building of the Coquille Valley particularly and of Coos County generally.

Subscription, per year, in advance, $1.50

THIS PAPER is kept on file at E. C. DAKE'S Advertising Agency, 64 and 65 Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, California, where contracts for advertising can be made for it.

While there is no reason to cry "boom," etc., in Coos county, there are indications that we are going to make some good, long and rapid strides ahead in the near future. The railroad talk, whether well-founded or not, should not cause the people to lose their heads and go altogether beside themselves on account of a few wild-cat boomers' actions and advertising. The Pacific coast has had sufficient experience in the past few years that they will not take part in any such underhanded schemes as there have been enough tenderfeet suffered loss sufficient to make further warning unnecessary. However Coos County is coming to the front, just the same. As a matter of course, the building of the Salt Lake City and Coos Bay line would do wonders in our rapid growth, and the meeting of the two coast lines coming in this direction would hasten the complete development of our section, but even these things are slow coming, Coos county is a good place in which to live, as well as to invest money in the meantime. Property takes no spirts in values, but makes good and steady advancements as developments are made all along the different lines. With the proper encouragement in the way of farm and dairy improvement—all else will keep pace without, except manufacturing industries, Coos county will blossome as the rose in the very near future. But these are things that should be well looked after by all means. While it is a fact that through improved shipping facilities we are drawing nearer and nearer, as it were, to the markets of San Francisco and Portland, at the same time we should not neglect to manage in some way to futher stimulate the creating of home markets by the establishment of new manufacturing industries to swell our pay rolls, increase the population of our towns and increase home consumption. The board of trade agitation should not cease untill some-thing along this line is accomplished.

The Quarterly of the Oregon Historical Society for March 1902, has been received. Its contents are as follows: "The Social Evolution of Oregon," by Prof. J. R. Robertson, of the Chair of History, Pacific University, Forest Grove; "Political History of Oregon from 1865 to 1876," by Hon. W. D. Fenton, Portland; "History of the Barlow Road," by Miss Mary S. Barlow, a grand daughter of Samuel Kimbrough Barlow, the builder "Across the Continent Seventy Years Ago," compiled from the papers of John Ball by his daughter, Mrs. Kate N. B. Powers. John Ball taught a school at Vancouver in November, 1832, and was the first school teacher on the Pacific coast. All these articles are vitally important as relative to the history of Oregon.

Next Monday is election day Every true American citizen within the borders of our state who is elligible to vote should appear at the polls and do his whole duty. You may stay away and shift the simple act of voting onto others, but the responeibility rest with you, just the same. It is not right nor just for a man posessed of the qualifications of an elector to desist from going to the polls and doing his whole duty. Furthermore, he should make a thorough study of this duty and do it with intellegence and precision. Every qualified elector in a self-responsible republic is equally responsible, the vote of the last, most ignorant and unfaithful counting just as much as that of the greatest.

The President made a bullseye when he said that no provocation, however great, can be accepted as an excuse for misuse of the necessary severity of war, and the sentiment dodge is no good to soldiers found guilty.

"No more relief needed" was the good news cabled from Martinque several days ago, but the world's contributions of supplies, now on the way, will be poured into the island for several weeks.

Most everybody would gladly exchange his place for that of some one else, but if he could do so he would soon declare himself cheated and want to swap back.

The world is watching to see whether J. P. Morgan will land on a financial throne towering higher than the Capital dome at Washington or in bankruptcy.

It would be hard to bestow a punishment on some husbands than compel them to spend their evenings at home.

Salt Lak City-Coos Bay Railroad.

Portland, May 24—The Grand Central Railroad Company, recently incorporated in Portland to build a line between Coos Bay and Salt Lake, will start six engineers with a crew of twenty-one and full field outfits on the steamer Alliance tomorrow, instructed to begin the survey for railroad form the bay eastward.

Next week another party will be put in the field at Roseburg to work toward the coast and other will be put in the country to the eastward of the letter place.

The plans contemplate completing the reconnoisance of the country so that a report on the enterprise can be made by Aug. 15. Upon that report it is expected a definite order for further progress will be based.

So great is the confidence in the serious intent and substantial backing of the railroad movement that the Empire Construction Company which is presumed to have a close relation to the railroad will in a few weeks send a large force of workmen piled drivers scrapers and other necessary apparatus to build a large dock and make other preparations for the active work of railroad construction.

The company is particularly desirious of getting before the public the fact that this does not necessarily mean that the railroad will positively be built immediately, but merely goes to show that the Construction Company is willing to put money into preparations, so as to be on the ground ready for business when the proper time shall come.

L. D. Kinney, chief engineer of the company, is authority for the following statement: "I cannot say who the principals are in this railroad enterprise, but I can say that my own priviate opinion is that they have taken hold in such a way that they can't let go. I am confident too that they are men who will not be broken by spending what some of us would regard as a fortune to get accurate preliminary information. "It is also my conviction that this project means a road to portland as well as Coos Bay. It is certainly supported by powerful Eastern railroad interests and I surmise that they have special reason for desiring to get into this field."

Vote! Everybody Vote! Yes or No!

The Constitrtion provides that "If a majority of said electors (of the state) shall ratify the same, such amendments shall become a part of this Constitution." Lawyers disagree but many say this means that a majority of all the voters must vote "Yes," or the amendment will be lost. That is to say, if 90,000 votes are cast, more than 45,000 will be necessary for its adoption if none are cast again it. If every man who favors the amendment will not only vote but work for it, the majority will be so great that no question can ever be raised.

Terror Regins

London, May 24.—A Paris dispatch says that, owing to the alarming character of the latest news from Martinique, Acting Governor L. Huerne was instructed to reconsider the situation, with a view of immediate evacuation of the island.

The largest portion of the business of the country is done by check. Nearly all the ballance is done by cheek.

Somebody has figured that four Congressional speeches for every man, woman and child will be circulated this year. It is a consolation to know that reading them is not compulsory.

A successful man is one who keeps his heart young, his life clean, repeats no misteaks, follows the dictates of his own conscience, and tries to make the world better for his having lived in it.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Haller, of Mt. Crawford, Va This Remedy is for sale by. R. S. Knowlton.

The Strike Situation in Portland.

As was predicted in yesterday's Telegram the sympathetic strike of labor organizations of Portland, in support of the planing-mill men, will be carried no farther; that is, no unions outside of the building trades will be called out. This was decided at a meeting of the Federated Trades Assembly, which lasted more than half through last night. The decision was reached only after exhaustive deliberation and heated debate between the radical and the conservative elements in the assembly.

The conduct of the strike has been placed in the hands of the Building Trades Council's executive committee. It is understood the fight will be mainly conducted along the lines of enforcing and extended the boycott against the products of the planing mills. In this the Building Trades Council will have the support of every union in the city.

Federated Trades officials have discovered that the laws of the National Federation of Labor forbid local governing bodies to order strikes without official sanction of the National body. This discovery is one of the strong contributing causes of the decision not to extend the strike.

Efforts are being made late this afternoon to arrange a meeting of citizens this evening, under the auspices of the Board of Trade, to discuss the situation, especially with regard to the possibility of arbitrating the dispute. In a statement issued today, however, the plaining millowners declare, positively, that there is nothing to arbitrate; hence no occasion for arbitration.—Evening Telegram.

Washington, May 24.—Lord Pauncefote, British Ambassador to the United States, died at 5:30 o'clock his mornidg.

The death of the distinguished diplomat was painless and peaceful. Lady Pauncefote and three daughters were at the beside when he passed away. His last word was 'yes" in answers to a question as to whether he would like a drink of water.

Pauncefote had been in bad health a year or more, but only for the past two months had his condition been considered serious. The primary ailment was gout, which later became complicated with stomach and liver troubles. His age, 74, operated greatly against his recovery.

By reason of his death German Ambrssador Hollenben becomes dean of the diplomatic crops Pauncefote was appointed Ambassador to the United States in 1889. He was a delegate to the Hague peace conference and was elected a member of the permament court of arbitration for the seattlement of international disputes.

Fort De France, May 22—The destruction of St. Pierre was by a tornadic blast of gas; probably dry, superheated steam.

There are features of the eruption that are absolutely of the utmost importance.

The electric phenomena accompanying the corruption are new as scintific facts.

St. Lucia, May 22.—The constant strain at Fort De France has driven several of the refugees in that place out of their minds. Every day cases of insanity from fear and exposure are reported.

Hooping Cough

A woman who had experience with this disgase, tells how to prevent any dangerous consequences from it. She says: Our three children took hooping cough last summer, our baby boy being only three months old, and owing to our giving the Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, they lost none of their plumpness and came out in much better health than other children whose parents did not use this remedy. Our oldest little girl would call lustily fo cough syrub between whoops. — Jessie Pinkey Hall, Springville, Ala. This Remedy is for sale by R. S. Knowlton.
