Mack Hayes, of Rural, came down to this place Friday, bringing his wife who is quite ill of stomach troubles, and put her under the care of Dr. Culin. They were accompanied by Miss Anna Hartley, Mrs. H's sister. The patient is doing nicely at present. There is considerable complaint of boys in this section being a little too free in the use of their 22 rifles. A number of valuable animals have died from the effects of their shots lately, and while no prosecution have been made it is not too late and some one may have some costs to settle. A boy so young that he does not know the effect of these guns should not be allowed to handle them, and if these acts are done with a knowledge of their probable results, several prosecutions should follow at once. Some of them have been watched and they had better go slow in the future. No Disappointment. Have your eyes tested at your home and correctly fitted. Write to M. G.
