

A Pertinent Suggestion.

Oregon, long belated, has come to a point in her agricultural and industrial life from which her view widens and her possibilities for development begin to take definite shape. The immigration scheme elaborated by Mr. McKinney, agent of the Harriman railway lines, recently presented in these columns, is in evidence on this subject. Coming, if possible, nearer home is the systematized broad-gauge plan of the managers of the State Fair to make the exhibit of the State Agricultural Society, which will be shown near Salem from September 15 to 20, inclusive, a representative agricultural, horticultural and industrial exhibit, not only of the resources, but the development of a wide fertile and growing section.

Mr. Henry E. Dusch, who is fully competent to speak advisedly upon this matter, characterizes the work being done in this connection as "strenuous effort," and he adds that it deserves the hearty support of every citizen of the state. In point of fact, the hearty support of a relatively small number of our citizens, say 10 per cent of them, would produce a fair like which, in excellence and variety of exhibits, as well as in attendance, would make a showing that would delight even the most enthusiastic Oregonian and astonish the stranger within our gates. It may be hoped that the efforts of the managers will receive the hearty support both of exhibitors and patrons that their efforts deserve.

While every loyal Oregonian must appreciate, from a local sense of pride and pleasure, the efforts that are being made to advertise the stuff of which Oregon is made, in the home-making interest, perhaps, only those of wider view, commercially speaking, will catch the full significance of the suggestion that such of the carefully prepared exhibits of the coming fair as are suitable, having served their local purpose, be used to represent Oregon's resources at the great exposition to be held at Osaka, Japan, next year. The gaze of our people has been introverted too long. It is high time that an untoward look was taken, to the end that an expansion of our markets might result. Progress has touched the islands of the Pacific with its wand, and the outlook of their people is toward the Western World. The question, "What have you that we want?" is asked. It should be answered promptly, intelligently and comprehensively. While the agents of our consular service are studying the requirements of Oriental peoples, it becomes our producers to be up and coming with the supply. Suitable goods, honestly manufactured, will meet a demand in Japan. The name of this empire once had a mystic, faraway sound. Now the United States ports of the Pacific are at its very gates, and these gates are open to commerce. To the question, "What have you that we want?" the reply, "Many things," will not suffice. We must be specific. Let us send them samples of our products to be placed on exhibition at the proper time and place, that will tell a more comprehensive than words.

Oregon has kept her light under a bushel too long. Industrious her people have been, and intelligent and capable, but too much disposed to enjoy in a narrow way their advantages. Descriptive literature that will disseminate within the limits of our own country such information as intelligent persons contemplating a change of location seek cannot fail to add numbers to our population. Object lessons in our productive and manufacturing resources set up before the inquiring eyes of the Oriental peoples cannot fail to widen our market. If the exhibits of the State Fair in September contain such object lessons, measures should be taken to preserve, and at the proper time ship them to Osaka. Collection of the exhibits having been made, presumably from the very best of the state affairs in their several lines, their utilization without further labor for the Osaka Exposition will represent economy of effort, a feature which wise promoters of industry and development everywhere encourage. It will be well—certainly it will not be amiss—to prepare such exhibits of our industrial development and natural products and resources as are placed on exhibition at the coming State Fair, with a view to their wider use in advertising what we have, what we are doing, and incidentally and suggestively what we can do, to meet the requirements of a new commerce. The suggestion of Mr. Dusch in this matter is pertinent and timely, and the Oregonian takes pleasure in voicing and endorsing it.—Oregonian.

Deals Unions a Hard Blow.

Parkersburg, W. Va. July 24.—United States District Judge Jackson today handed down a decision in the case of Thomas Haggerty, Williams Morgan, Bernard Rice, Peter Wilson, William Blakley, George Bacon, Thomas Laskanish, Mother Jones, Albert Repake, Jos. Roeki, George Roeki, and Steve Teonkie, who are accused of violating his injunction restraining them from in any way interfering with the anthracite miners in the Pennsylvania and West Virginia strike districts. Haggerty was sentenced to 90 days imprisonment and Morgan, Rice, Wilson, Blakley, Bacon, and Laskanish to 60 days imprisonment. The others will be sentenced later, but it is believed Mother Jones will get off with a heavy fine.

The decision is one of the most sweeping ever handed down in an injunction case, and the miners agree that it is the most effective blow that could be struck against their cause. Jackson upholds the righteousness of the injunction and declares it is a mistaken idea to suppose that the courts of this country abuse their power. He says the defendants in trying to induce miners to quit work were inflicting great damage and injury on the employers, and that such action on their part was illegal and malicious. He denounced the utterances of Mother Jones as an outgrowth of the sentiments of those who believe in communism and anarchy, and maintained that the right of the citizen to labor for wages that he is satisfied with, is a right protected by law.

The open defiance of his injunction by the defendants, he said, tends to promote disorder which, if permitted to go unpunished, would sooner or later lead to anarchy. Several paragraphs of the decision were devoted to a criticism of Mother Jones whose effort in behalf of unionism, he declared, were entirely unworthy of a good woman.—Oregon Daily Journal.

Mother Always Keeps it Handy.

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spaulding, Virginia, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try to Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, she eats anything she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. R. S. Knowlton.

Mashers Are Not Toughs.

A crusade has been started against the street "masher," and it is receiving the support of everyone everywhere it has been inaugurated. There is not a city in the country in which there is not more or less of need for a campaign for the suppression of this unlovely sample of the genus homo.

There is one fact, however, that may well be kept in mind. It is not from the toughs that mashers come. Here in Portland, the masher lives not in the North End. He comes from homes in which dwell the best people. He springs from the best families. He is, in short, not a tough although he is the worst sort of a tough.

The idea is that the man who belongs to the raffish of humanity seldom insults women upon the streets. He keeps his distance. He respects good women.

The fellow who dresses in the height of fashion, who is "swell," who is rather sure that he is personally irresistible, he it is who drills in the ranks of the army of mashers, and who sees to it that those ranks never lack recruits.

This is not to cast reflection upon good families, for it goes without saying that all of us in this world think we ourselves belong to that class. It is to call attention to an obvious truth that will be conceded by all observant persons.—Oregon Daily Journal.

Rebels Winning.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Navy Department today received the following dispatch from Commander McLan, of the cruiser Cincinnati, dated at La Guayra, Venezuela: "President Castro, of Venezuela, with troops embarked for La Guayra at Barcelona yesterday. They leave only 3000 soldiers at Barcelona. It is rumored that Venezuela has been taken by the insurgents."

Jetties Wins.

San Francisco, July 26.—(Special to The Evening Telegram.)—After one of the greatest fights ever seen in San Francisco or anywhere else "Fitz" was knocked out last night by Champion Jeffries. From the beginning the pace was fast and fierce, old man "Fitz" loomed up for the first five rounds like a young man. He chopped Jeffries' face with left and right until it ran like a cut of roast beef. When the sixth round came, it was seen that the champion was about the ring landing left after left to his feet. The seventh round was almost a repetition, and Jeffries, maddened by the blood streaming from his swollen eyes and cut nose, went in like a wild bull. When the eighth came he followed Fitz's punches to his corner, the latter fighting bravely. Finally "Fitz" threw him to the ropes near "Fitz" corner and with a whirlwind right to the wind that doubled him like a jackknife and his left cutting to the jaw, the old man went down to his hands and knees, agony depicted in every feature. He was counted out, and while being taken to his corner by his people said, "The best man wins."

Crim Plumber.

The prison sentence of an Oregon judge should read like this: "You are respectfully requested to remain in the state prison for a term of years, and you are hereby warned not to leave said prison without permission of the proper authorities, under pain of being escorted to the borders of an adjoining state by the Oregon militia and a large number of citizens, who will nightly disturb your slumbers with the firing of guns and much loud talking; for, he it known unto you, the prison has few guards and they are supplied with poor guns, with which they could not injure you. Hoping you will remain at said prison during the above prescribed time, you are herewith committed.—Jefferson Review.

The Government to Irrigate Sixty Million Acres.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—As rapidly as they can be organized surveying parties will be sent out to select and lay out irrigation sites in the western states benefited by the recent Congressional legislation. Although the statement has been made that within the next century 200,000,000 acres of arid lands can be reclaimed by irrigation, F. H. Newell of the Geological Survey and secretary of the American Forestry Association, estimates that not more than 60,000,000 acres can be so reclaimed.

All Traffic is Paralyzed.

Chicago, July 26.—The ranks of the striking Western Union messenger boys were augmented this morning by a walkout of the check boys on the Board of Trade, causing delay and consequently loss of money of the traders.

The operators were then ordered to fill the checkers' places, and those who refused to obey were discharged. Several riot calls were turned in this morning, extra police being necessary to disperse the noisy crowds around the telegraph offices.

The strike, which was at first regarded as an opera buffa affair, is now affecting business, and is no longer looked upon as a joke. The Western Union continues to advertise for men to take the boys' places, offering them $40 a month. They are receiving but few applications.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Frank Eirod Dies Suddenly in Alaska.

On Saturday morning the family of Frank Eirod received by letter the sad news of his death at St. Michaels, Alaska, on July 25. Two letters were received, both written by Elmer Sanderlin. One was dated July 2nd and told of Mr. Eirod's serious illness, and the other dated July 10th, gave an account of his death and burial. Unfortunately the first was delayed too long to perform its office of a warning, and the shock to the wife and family is very hard.

It seems that Mr. Eirod contracted some trouble of the lungs and heart in the mines at Dawson last winter and was obliged to go a hospital at Dawson. He apparently recovered and was feeling un-usually well until he started down the river, as pilot and master of the steamer Lovell Young, the finest of the Yakon river fleet. All the way down the river he was sick, and on arriving at St. Michaels July 2nd he was persuaded to see a doctor, who advised him to go to hospital.

The doctor at the time told Mr. Eirod's friends that it was an incurable case of heart disease, and that he might rally and live several years.

He went to the hospital on the 3rd, where he had the best of care. His friends Elmer Sanderlin, Capt. Robert Fredericks, and Mr. Livingston, formerly of Bandon were with him, also the officers and managers of the steamboat line and every possible care and attention was given him, but without avail. The funeral occurred on the 10th under the auspices of the Maseus and Odd Fellows, to both of which orders he belonged, and all that was mortal of Frank Eirod rests on a hillside overlooking the ocean.

Deceased, whose full name was William Francis Eirod was born on Prince Edward Island, Aug. 25, 1847. When he was three years old his parents moved to Iowa, where he grew to manhood, serving in an Iowa regiment during the civil war.

He came to Coos Bay about 1875. He worked first for H. P. Whitney in the butchering business. Afterwards he worked in the woods and as a rafterman and later was steamboating for a number of years. He served as marshal of this town for about four years.

Besides the widow, whose maiden name was Mary J. Maddin, to whom he was married in Marshfield on December 22, 1878, three daughters and one son survive him, viz: Mrs. Etta Sacchi, Misses Frances and Stella and Master Iris Eirod, all of this place. He was a Mason, an Odd Fellow and a member of the A. O. U. W., in which he carried $2,000 insurance.—Coast Mail.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals will be received in open session of the County Court of Coos County, Oregon, until 9 o'clock a. m. Wednesday July 24th 1902, for sealed bids for repairing the bridge known as the Davis Slough bridge on the county road leading from Marshfield to Coquille City. Said bridge is about 400 feet long and will require new planking and new stringers. The railing on the bridge at the present time to be removed and replaced on the new planking. Planking to be three inches thick and twelve feet long, with one plank 2x12-16 feet long and eight feet apart to place the railing on. Stringers to be 4x12-12 feet long and four stringers to each bent. The old planking to be moved and stacked on the side of the road at either end of the bridge. Bidders will state specifically the price per lineal foot they will contract to furnish the material, and labor, kind and quality of timber they propose to use in the repairing of said bridge. The party or parties to whom the contract may be awarded for the repairing said bridge, will be required to give a satisfactory bond in the full amount of the price bid for the repairing said bridge and each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or cash to be deposited with the County Clerk in the sum of 5 per cent of the amount of the bid. Conditional if the proposal for the repairing said bridge be awarded and if the bidder should fail or neglect to execute a written agreement and give the bond required within two days after the date of award, and in that case, the said check or cash deposited shall be forfeited and the amount thereof shall be paid to the County Clerk of Coos County, Oregon, as liquidated damages for such failure and neglect, said bid to be filed with the County Clerk on or before the date above mentioned. The County Clerk reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated this 14th day of July 1902.

Summons

In the District Court of the state of Oregon for Coos county, ss. Plaintiff vs. Defendant. To Charles Sand, defendant. In the name of the State of Oregon you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit within ten days from the date of the service of this summons upon you, or served within this county, or if served within any other county of the state within twenty days from the date of the service of this summons on you. And if you fail to answer, for want thereof the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in plaintiff's complaint; a succinct statement of which is as follows, viz: For a decree annulling the marriage relation and contract existing between plaintiff and defendant for the cause, custody and control of the two minor children and for costs. The service of this summons is made by publication by order of L. Harlocker, and of the county court of the state of Oregon for Coos County, made July 17, 1902, and should defendant fail to answer, judgment of default will be taken on the 3rd of Sept., 1902. WALTER SINGLER, Attorney for Plaintiff.
