

Devoted to the material and social progress of the Coquille Valley particularly and of Coos County generally. Subscription, per year, in advance, $1.50

To The Educational Public, Greeting.

The undersigned, having secured control of the Academy building for a term of years, is pleased to announce to those interested in educational matters, that he will open the First Term of the year 1902 & 1903 on the first Monday in October. The building is being thoroughly overhauled and no pains or expense are spared to give the place a home-like, school-like appearance. The foundation and financial backing of the school is now better than ever before. Articles of Incorporation are being prepared and the plan will be incorporated under the laws of Oregon during the present year. A joint stock company will be formed with sufficient capital to make the school a success. The teachers bring to their work experience and qualification and it is the intention to employ none but such as have high moral qualities and educational ability. While it will be kept strictly under Christian influence it will be in no sense denominational. Teachers will be selected in view of ability and not with respect to denominational affiliations.

At first we purposed to form classes only in the 8th and 9th grades but as some have already inquired about work in lower grades we have determined to form classes in lower grades where a sufficient number apply to make the classes interesting and profitable. If classes in Bookkeeping and kindred subjects are called for they will be formed, but the sessions may have to be held at night. The celebrated Budget System will be used.

Classes in Music, both Instrumental and Vocal will be formed, also, as rapidly as there is a demand, we expect to meet the demands as far as to the 12th Grade, which means thorough preparation for college entrance.

Board can be secured in private families at $2.50 upward. Students can rent rooms and board themselves at rates much lower than this. Houses are rapidly being taken, and such as are interested should apply at once.

For admission in to 8th and 9th Grades pupils must bring evidence of qualification in the grades below. A. H. MULKEY, Principal.

ROSEBURG ROUTE CHOSEN.

Kinney Gives Out That Announcement.

Portland, Sept. 13.—Major Kinney, chief engineer of the Great Central, returned last night from a trip to Coos Bay.

He had spent two weeks on the Bay and in Roseburg and announced that he had settled the route of the railroad from Coos Bay to the Southern Pacific and it would practically be the route of the Coos Bay, Roseburg and Eastern R. R., forming a junction with the S. P. at Roseburg.

The plan is to build to the present line of the Coos Bay, Roseburg and Eastern at both ends and buy the Spreckels road if it can be had on reasonable terms, if not to parallel the road.

This does away with all possibility that the road will get out by way of Drain or Eugene. It is definitely settled that it will go to Roseburg.

Another important announcement is that Nelson Bennett, the well known contractor who built several hundred miles of the Northern Pacific, will undertake the contract for the railroad to connect that part between Empire City and Roseburg.

The contract will be formally awarded at the first meeting of the board of directors, which will be in a day or two. That part of the road will be in operation within 15 months from the date of the contract. The work will be done through the instrumentality of the Empire Construction Company.

One Of The Biggest Deals Ever Known.

Cleveland, Sept. 13.—The Leader today says: A financial alliance has been formed by the two great railroad factors in the Eastern field, the Vanderbilt interests, and those of the Pennsylvania system. The working agreement has been close in the past, but it has never come to an allotment of territory and division of property as the new arrangement entails.

The new combination will have a capitalization of $2,000,000,000 and a mileage of 30,000 miles. The aim of the organization is to dominate traffic between Chicago and St. Louis, the Great Lakes and the Ohio River, and the Canadian boundary and the Potomac River through to the Atlantic Coast.

Forest Fires Raging in Oregon.

Portland, Or., Sept. 12.—The forest fire situation is the most serious in the history of the city. The flames are approaching from all directions. Ashes continue to fall and the wind is raising. Fires are reported up and down the river.

The lumber mills at Bridal Veil have been destroyed.

Oregon City and vicinity are suffering heavily.

Many houses in Clackamas county are burned and hundreds of head of cattle killed.

At Gresham the fires are burning worse than yesterday. The entire lower Columbia river is under a heavy pall of smoke. The O. R. & N. bridge at Multnomah Falls has been destroyed.

The railroad crews all through the Cascades have a life and death fight on their hands to protect the lines from destruction.

There is a great probability of all train service to and from this city being discontinued if the wind rises any more.

Fires in the river bottoms and on the mountain sides are darkening the air so that steamers and trains must be lighted as in a dark night.

These fires act in the forest reserves are not where they can be fought or controlled and the question of how far they should be allowed to spread is hard to solve.

The only hope is rain, as the forests of the whole country west of the Cascade mountains was never so dry as this fall.

Trains on the Northern Pacific between Kalama and Portland are run in a raging sea of flames. On both sides the bottom lands are afire and the hills south for 10 miles are swept with flames.

The trains on this road and the Astoria line had to be lighted all day in running through this region.

The fire lap up the tops of big trees like whips of paper, and falling trunks and crashing limbs keep up a noise like artillery on a field of battle.

The wind created by the flames is terrific as a hurricane sweeping the fires in this direction all day Thursday.

On Friday the ashes from the burning trunks have been sifting down in the city of Portland and the air has been super-heated. The warmth is oppressive to the eyes and lungs and parches the lips of people who are out in it.

There is great danger that bridges and culverts and even tracks may be burned.

The Willamette pulp and paper mill at Skamokawa has been destroyed, entailing a heavy loss.

Newport, Or., Sept. 13.—Nothing like this has been known in Oregon since the great fire that swept through the Yaquina Bay country sixty years ago.

Newport is surrounded on the north and east by heavy brush fires.

A brush fire swept down on Seal Rock resort, burning several seaside cottages this morning. There is a damp fog today and it will probably rain before night.

The fire at Seal Rock is reported out.

Oregon City, Sept. 12.—This city is completely surrounded by fires unparalleled in this section. The fire started at noon yesterday and destroyed 3,000 cords of wood in a wood camp.

At the paper mill on the west side nothing is left standing.

Several hundred men fought the fire all night. Thousands of cords of wood are still in danger.

The Oregon City fire department fought all night in Beat's addition, finally getting the fire under control. Unless the wind freshens no further damage is feared from this fire.

A fire three miles north threatens the property of the Galstone Real Estate Co., and also the residence of B. Jenkins. The latter lost half his orchard last night and only by hard fighting saved his houses and other buildings.

Eugene, Or., Sept. 12.—There are no serious fires in this vicinity although there must be fires in the mountains, as the air is very smoky here. Two or three fires are reported up the McKenzie but no serious danger is apprehended.

Wendling, Sept. 12.—A forest fire is raging near this place.

The entire force of the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company's saw mill and logging camps have been out fighting fire since early this morning. The fires are burning some of the company's finest standing timber.

Astoria, Or., Sept. 12.—Forest fires in the vicinity of Oak Point have reached large proportions and have already done great damage with the prospect of being largely increased unless there is a heavy rain soon.

The fire originated at the ranch of Gus Larson near Oak Point, who started it against the advice of neighbors.

The fire was beyond control and began to consume the timber of the Benson logging company. After it had threatened the locomotive and track and donkey engine the wind changed and the fire started down along the river, first totally destroying several small ranches.

By this time the entire neighborhood was out fighting fire and logging camps in this vicinity were closed down, the loggers turning their attention to saving their property.

The feeling against Larson ran high and there was talk of lynching him. He got out of the country as quickly as possible.

Young's camp was totally destroyed, including 1800 cords of wood, and Chapman's logging camp is on fire. It was impossible to get the donkey engines out of the woods and they burned, as there was no hope of saving them. At last account the fire was still burning fiercely and increasing in size all the time. At Mason's logging camp near Svenson about 100,000 logs have been burned. All danger is now thought to be past.

Salem, Or., Sept. 12.—There is no fire near this city but the smoke hangs heavier over this part of the valley than ever before. Fine ashes are sifting down over all parts of the Willamette valley and have been falling at Salem all day.

S. W. O. V. A. Encampment.

The Southwest Oregon Veterans Association held their annual encampment at this city on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week as advertised, and thoroughly enjoyed the three days of social intercourse, camping and visiting. Many others came and took part in the exercises which were thoroughly enjoyed. One or two of the exercises were interfered with by the speakers failing to be able to appear but the old boys would fill in with stories and songs and no one was sorely disappointed.

The address of welcome which was to have been made by A. J. Sherwood, but owing to circuit court being in session he was unable to respond, and Rev. A. Dabuff made the opening speech.

Among other business matters attended to on the second day was the choosing of Bandon as the place for holding the encampment next year. J. W. Felter, of Bandon, was elected commander; M. J. Tower, senior vice commander; D. A. Huling, senior vice commander.
