While at Bandon last week we had, through the courtesy of Dr. Kime, of that place, an invitation to attend the bedside of our young friend, George Hite, who is rapidly recovering from a severe attack of appendicitis and the operation which it was necessary for him to undergo. We found George in good spirits and doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances, for which we are exceedingly glad. Uncle Sol Spurgeon, at the same place, is very feeble under the burdens of old age and afflictions.

U. C. A. Notes.
School opened in the Academy Monday as announced. The attendance was small as expected, but we have an enthusiastic body of students and expect a steady increase. Patronage is what we ask and we will prove that the Coos County Academy is not dead, but sleeping. Before the year is half over it will prove to be wide awake and up to date in educational lines.
Carpenters promises to be out of the way in another day. Painters require two days more, and on next Monday we shall occupy one of the handsomest, best arranged school rooms in the county.
Miss Coffey has already begun organizing her work, has classes in voice culture and piano. In school she will have a class in sight reading and most likely a juvenile class. We are fortunate in having secured a young lady so accomplished in her line.
We have pupils in all grades from the sixth to the fourth. Students will not be kept back for others but will be advanced in each subject as rapidly as the nature of the case will allow. Their work will thus become an inspiration to themselves as well as others.
Miss Price, one of Coos county's bright young teachers, is enrolled among the students, and will render some assistance in teaching and prepare herself for a higher certificate. This leads me to state that a Normal department will be organized in the school for the benefit of those who make teaching a business. We have had some experience in Normal work in other states and in Oregon, and know how to help and advise young teachers. As the school grows a limited number will be admitted free on condition that they assist in teaching.
A. J. Sherwood, Sam Sherwood, Dave Collier, B. E. Nosler, Clyde Gage, Will Rose and Frank Collier, all of this city, started for Roseburg yesterday to attend the big shoot. We expect to hear from some of our boys, and would be glad to see some of the big prizes brought back by them.
