

While it is a fact that the city of Portland will receive a great benefit from the Lewis and Clark Exposition than any other section of the state, it is a fact that the city will expend a greater amount, and if the people of other sections are wide awake to their interests and will show the proper amount of enterprise by having their locality thoroughly represented by exhibits tastefully arranged, and fully prepared to have all questions elicited from visitors by their presence truthfully answered and fully explained, there is no question but every cent of outlay will be fully repaid with interest. It strikes us right forcibly that a county that would vote against the expenditure of a considerable sum by the state to the end that this exposition should be a thorough success, feels its weakness and insignificance. While Coos county is almost as far from Portland as it could be and still be within the state, yet we feel certain that we would be benefited our quota by the state's expenditure of a reasonable sum if we do our part in making up the exhibit; however, we cannot hope to obtain our share of the benefits and allow other counties to make up the entire show. There must be some system for the collection of funds and exhibits and the proper disposition of both established and persistently followed up, and the benefits are sure to follow. To be sure our timber interest would not be subserved by displays of grain from the valleys, nor our dairy interest by beef herds of eastern Oregon, nor even would our mining interests be advertised by exhibits of minerals from the many mining sections of other parts of the state, but there must be good selections made of all the different productions of which our county is capable of producing pleased where they will attract attention, and, as before stated, the proper information given out to enquirers, and the profits will take care of themselves.

Another Stage Robbery.

On last Tuesday as the Roseburg-Myrtle Point stage was coming this way over the Camas mountain the driver was halted at presentation of the muzzle of a double barreled shot gun in the hands of a masked man who ordered the express box thrown out. On being informed that the express was not carried on this line, but went by sea, he seemed a little rattled, but proceeded to go through the pockets of the driver, but did not obtain much from that source. He then ordered Andrew Perkins the only passenger to pungle up, without going near him. Andrew gave him an old watch he had in sight and a few dollars, in silver which he had loose in his pocket, keeping his good watch and purse in his inside pockets. Andrew is of the opinion that this was his first attempt at such work, as he appeared nervous and uneasy. His mask consisted of a large sandann handkerchief covering his face.

Homesleaders May Cut Burned Timber.

Binger Hermann, commissioner of public lands, in a recent letter to Senator Hands, of Clarke county, Wash., regarding the disposition of timber which had been burned on their claims, says: "You are advised that a bona fide settler who has established residence upon the land for the purpose of cultivating and improving the same, intending to make a permanent home and acquire full title thereto, is permitted to apply the burned or dead and down timber toward his support and in making improvements while perfecting title. This rule applies equally to the settler upon unsurveyed lands, who is complying with the law and awaiting the opportunity to make entry to the land claimed as to the entryman. It is, however, essential that an entry shall have been made as soon as may be after the filing of the plat of survey, and that there shall be no question of the good faith of the settler in acquiring title to his entry."

On Thanksgiving day a clay pigeon shoot took place at Myrtle Point between the gun clubs of this city and that place, the Coquille boys getting away with the Roman in Arco Co. There were 1,200 birds thrown from the traps and the Myrtle Point club broke 241 and the Coquille boys got 244. A grand supper was given by the defeated team and several short speeches were made by different members of the clubs. The next big shoot will take place at this city on Christmas between these same clubs and promises to be of unusual interest.

Russia Must Pay Refused Claims.

The Hague, Nov. 29.—The award of Dr. Asser of the International Board of Arbitration, who was appointed sole arbitrator of the dispute between Russia and America regarding the fisheries in Behring sea, was made public today. The dispute arose from the seizure of several American sealers by Russian cruisers. Asser's judgment favors the Americans but the sums of indemnity claimed are considerably diminished. The claims amounted to $150,000 and date back five years and were not made so much for the loss of the vessels seized seven miles from the Asiatic coast as for the hardships of the officers and men after their arrest.

Canal Negotiations Stop.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Secretary Hay, while presenting the subject of the canal negotiations at the Cabinet meeting today, was not able to report that any progress had been made during the past week. In fact, it appears that the negotiations have come to a dead stop, and while no such thing as an ultimatum has passed, the precise situation may be described in the statement that the Colombian Minister here, Concha, has distinctly informed the State Department that he cannot, in behalf of his government, accept the last proposition of the United States as a basis for a canal treaty. The State Department has already let it be known that it has come to the end of its concessions, so the chances of a renewal of the negotiations in the near future are not very bright.

The Academy Broken Into.

Last Saturday night about thirty people entered the Academy without leave and sent a peremptory demand to the Superintendent to "appear just as they were." On entering the room what was the family's surprise to see the large company presenting faces as happy as a sunny morning. They were also gratified to see the good things brought for the use of the family. The donations amounted to many dollars, and after enjoying a pleasant evening all departed feeling better for what they had done. Our thanks are due and hereby expressed to our friends, and we say once again.
