To Visit Coos and Curry.

Jefferson Myers, president of the Lewis and Clark State Commission, will leave Wednesday for an extensive tour of Coos, Curry and Josephine Counties, taken in the interest of the Lewis and Clark Fair and the state's exhibit at St. Louis. Incidentally, he will endeavor to promote closer trade relations between Portland and the citizens of these counties.

"We are anxious that the people of these counties should realize that the Lewis and Clark Fair, and the state's exhibit at St. Louis are matters of as great interest to them as to Portland. There has been too much of a disposition heretofore among residents of this district to conclude that Portland does not consider their needs of attempt to aid them in any way.

"In Portland I believe that the sentiment is that Coos and Curry Counties have kept too much within themselves, and have never asked for aid in advertising their section of the country or in developing its resources. The State Commission is anxious to impress upon the people the necessity for their co-operation with us in preparing the St. Louis exhibit and in making ready for the Lewis and Clark Fair.

"All this might be accomplished in another way, but I believe the best method is to make a comprehensive tour of the district. There can be no doubt then of the people's hearty work for the success of the movement.

"The Grays Steamship Company has offered to assist our work in transporting whatever exhibits we are able to gather from Marshfield to Portland free of charge. Similar offers have been made by other transportation companies, and they are of great value in our work.

"We should like to see closer relations established between Coos and Curry Counties and Portland. At present these districts are affiliated closer in trade relations to San Francisco than to Portland. In part, this is due to the fact that steamship connections with San Francisco are better, and that good rates can be had by merchants shipping from California. This condition can be remedied.

"I am told by transportation companies that the business out of Portland to Coos Bay is increasing steadily. This is a favorable indication, and if the people of that section can be brought closer to Portland by our Fair work, I believe it will be done."

The State Commission is co-operating with the press bureau of the Lewis and Clark corporation. In order that advertising matter may be distributed to better advantage among Eastern States, it has been urged that Portland citizens having friends in the East whom they desire interested in the Fair send the names to either Mr. Miers or I. N. Fleischer.

Souvenir postal cards have just been issued by the Fair corporation, and these will be mailed to addresses furnished the officers of the Fair. In addition, such other advertising matter as may be gotten out will be forwarded to the same addresses.

In urging that these names be furnished the commission, the officers point out the fact that names on file at their offices will multiply rapidly, and that this is the only manner in which they are able to ascertain who may become interested in the Exposition. Of course it is so planned to supplement this work in other ways, but the necessity for obtaining thousands of addresses is apparent—Oregonian.

Unmistakable symptoms of modern civilization now appear in the conduct of the noble red man. Discarding the more strenuous arbitrament of the tomahawk for the settlement of domestic differences, he now lightly turns to the divorce court with all the nonchalance of an incompatible dame of the smart set.

Old Cassius Marcellus Clay is dead. What may well affect his contemporaries with amazement is that after living among civilized people for more than eighty years, of which time he spent many years in politics and diplomacy, he should still be as frank and honest as any barbarian. Truly he was a character picturesque, grotesque and moralesque.

Between Earth and Heaven a most unaccountable coolness has sprung up.

White Blackberries.

White blackberries are growing in profusion this summer, on the ranch of R. Heimbach, at Hillsdale. The berry is a hybrid propagated from shoots received some time ago from the East.

Mr. Heimbach is the first in this part of the country who has been able to raise the berry, which has always been considered a freak fruit.

He does not intend, however, to grow it as a novelty, but as a crop, believing that Oregon soil is just the soil for the berry. The half a dozen bushes will bear until Christmas, when other berries will be gone. Mr. Heimbach brought several boxes to The Telegram office, and with the white were a quite a number of delicious red blackberries.

The berry is of a fair size almost transparent, and the seeds are very small. The flavor is much milder than that of the other berries.

Those white berries are a fine table fruit, but they will probably not stand shipping, as they are quite soft.—Telegram.

Boy Cured of Colic After Physicians' Treatment Had Failed.

My boy when four years old was taken with colic and cramps in his stomach. I sent for the doctor and he injected morphine, but the child kept getting worse. I then gave him half a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and in half an hour he was sleeping and soon recovered.—E. L. Wilkins, Shell Lake, Wis. Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

A Cure for Cancer.

In the issue of the Times of April 22, we published an article in regard to the cure of cancer. Extra copies of the paper were called for then and have been since, and so many have requested its publication that a portion of it is here reproduced. And in one form or another we shall try to keep it before our readers.

"Put 207 drops of carbolic acid in a pint of glycerine. Put two tablespoons of this in a tumbler of water, and of this mixture take one tablespoonful twice a day. Have the acid combined with the glycerine by a druggist who will get the correct amount. This formula can be reduced to any quantity desired—104 drops of acid in half a pint of glycerine—52 drops of acid in one-fourth pint of glycerine, etc.

"This is said to dissolve the cancerous cells and effect a perfect and painless cure.

"This remedy is vouched for by those who have been cured of cancer by its use, and was brought to us a few days since by a friend who testifies to its merits.

"There are said to be those now who are effecting the cure of cancer without the use of the knife or plaster, and if this is one of the remedies used it will be a fortunate thing for those suffering from cancers to know of.

"Knowing the source from which this formula came we heartily recommend that any one suffering in the early stages of cancer should consult their physician as to their physical condition and if possible try this remedy.

"We have no knowledge of 'the tortures of the damned,' but it would seem impossible that it should be worse than the torture of having a cancer removed by the plaster process, and it is worth an effort to escape that torture if possible.

"It may be well for people to remember that alcohol is a perfect antidote for carbolic acid, either internally or externally. Alcohol applied immediately to the flesh upon which carbolic acid has been spilled or thrown, will quickly destroy the effect of the acid. And taken internally it quickly neutralizes the poison. Those who may be taking carbolic acid in any form as a medicine, should avoid the use of alcohol in every form as the alcohol destroys the medicinal effect of the acid."

Since the above was published we have received additional assurances that this remedy is all that is claimed for it.

A lady residing in Gloversville sends us word that after having been twice to Rome for the removal of a cancer by the plaster process, the cancer returned but it was completely destroyed and removed by taking this remedy. Its efficacy is also vouched for by others in Gloversville.

We will be glad to print any facts in regard to cures effected by its use, but will in no case give the name of any one furnishing us facts in regard to the merits of its remedy if they do not want their names known.

As the best authorities claim that nearly all cancers come from bruises there is no more "disgrace" in having a cancer than in having a broken leg. But the difficulty is increasing and people are becoming afraid it is hereditary, notwithstanding the assurances of cancer experts to the contrary. The unvarnished fact is that there are many suffering with this malady, some patiently waiting for death to relieve them of their misery, and others putting up a strong fight for life.

If this preparation is as effectual in all cases as it has been in some, much of the dread, the suffering and expense of the cancer scourge may be avoided.

The preparation is not expensive and is a splendid remedy for weak lungs. It is being given for that purpose by lung specialists.

Brethren of the press will confer a favor upon us and upon many sufferers by printing the formula and as many of the facts of this article as they can spare space for. Or treat the matter in your own way, but spread the information as widely as possible. We believe it is all right, and further believe it would have saved us more than $500 in money, besides an untold amount of suffering upon the part of our better half had we known of it a year ago.

A new Station.

The Southern Pacific Company has built a large and commodious station, is very neat and attractive, and fills a long-felt want. The management of the state fair feels particularly pleased over the station and they say that it is a good attraction for the fair.

About all the industries are now consolidated into trusts except boarding houses. No trust there, perhaps Cuba would do well to apply to some of the discharged and indicted postal officials for that little loan of $35,000,000 she is seeking to negotiate.

With about ten million devotees simultaneously chanting masses for the repose of his soul, the adherents of the Roman Pontiff seem to be exerting "under influence" upon St. Peter.

Anyone who says that Venezuela is now progressing at the rate of 40 revolutions per minute exaggerates the case. Authentic advices assure us that she has never more than six revolutions a week.

"Uttering false notes" was the charge on which a number of Italians were arrested as counterfeiters, in New York, last week yet if uttering false notes is a lawful cause for arrest most of the church choirs in this country had better take to the tall timber.

From the classic shades of New Jersey comes the story that lightning struck a Hackensack woman last week and paralyzed her. But history and tradition furnish other instances in which men and women been known to become "paralyzed" with "Jersey lightning."

Trouble still slumbers in the ominously silent opposing camps of the Red Cross Society. Before Congress assembles some philanthropist should in humane compassion organize an ambulance corps of some sort for instant action as soon as the fog of battle and carnage is passed.

When King David murmured unto the Lord: "Deal bountifully with thy servant that I may live and keep thy word," he probably meant that he could be more honest and willing on a full stomach than on an empty one. That reasoning is sound today and will last three thousand years more.

Charged with the murder of one Paul M. Crooke in 1885, M. L. Halenbeck has served 17 years in the Iowa state prison. Now Crooke turns up alive. That he should not have heard of Halenbeck's trial seems almost incredible. No reparation can possibly atone for the seventeen years of infancy so unjustly inflicted upon an innocent man.

Reckless bull whackers from the prairie shambles have the effrontery to boast that one of their number could with ease and grace ride one hundred miles on the hurricane deck of a mule between the finger bowl ceremonies of an early breakfast and the noodle soup period of a noon dinner without even "lickering up" by the wayside. Yet the perverse partisans of general one Hundred Miles naively insist that if the gentleman with the alleged ossified bosom to his trousers should accomplish his extraordinary design he would be more comfortable eating his noon dinner off the mantle piece. Callous cuticle knows no class distinction.

Better Than Gold.

I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by R. S. Knowlton.
