He remained with them a week and the little boy's health was much improved when Mr. Hazard started away. He reports having had a fine time at the bankers' association at San Francisco, which he took in on his way home.

Coquille is again having a time with contagious diseases, but it is hoped that there will be no great spread. There have been several cases of mumps in town lately, and a Mr. Jones who took down with smallpox at Johnson's mill has been quarantined here, and Miss Lucy March is down with which seems to be a mild case of diphtheria. This case is also quarantined.

"An inceptive right is vested in the by the proceedings here-in before described. He must, with in six months after making his entry, establish his actual residence in a house upon the land, and must reside upon and cultivate the land continuously in accordance with law for the term of five years. Occasional visits to the land, once in six months or oftener, do not constitute residence. The homestead party must actually inhabit the land and make it the home of himself and family, as well as improve and cultivate it."

The Lee social and entertainment of Saturday evening proved a grand success in every particular. The program was well carried out and highly appreciated by all present. The baskets, of which there were a goodly number, sold well, bringing in a good sum. The amount of eighty dollars and upwards was raised, which, as announced, was turned over to G. W. Martin to be applied on his doctor bills which occurred against him during his late misfortunes. After the entertainment was over a social hop was participated in by those who enjoy the "light fantastic" till the "wee sma' hours." There were three big loads—one a four-horse one, attended from this city, all of whom speak in the highest terms of the time they had.

Krebs will make a trip farther south to see the country. They will go to the end of the railroad when they will get saddle and pack-horses and continue their trip. We expect an interesting letter from Fred when they report their investigation.

Chas. Ashton, the boomer, was up to town Friday making some changes in the exhaust pipes of his gasoline tug. He informs us that he has his old boom in good shape, and is removing some of the snags and drift from the head of Randolph slough and putting in a shear and making the necessary arrangements to use this slough as a boom in which to catch logs this winter. These booms will prove a boon to our upper river loggers, as it has been impossible for them to save all their logs heretofore, but with Mr. Ashton's facilities there will be no excuse for logs getting away and going to sea in the future.
