Oregon's Educational System.

Oregon's public school system is undergoing changes which promise to transform it from a chaotic condition into a perfect and harmonious whole. Indeed, much progress has been made in that direction in the last few years, and, though the work goes on with so little display that few observe it, important changes are now being made. Without any apparent organized effort for that purpose, all the educational interests are striving for the improvement of our schools and great good is being accomplished.

One of the first steps that marked a permanent advance in the educational system was the adoption of a required course of study for the common schools and a uniform examination for graduation from the eighth grade. This change, effected through the persistent and intelligent efforts of Superintendent Ackerman, loyally aided by the leading teachers of the state, has given the common school a definite character so that completion of the course means something that can be understood by educational workers in this and other states. Under the former go-as-you-please methods, a diploma showing graduation from the eighth grade meant nothing in particular, except in Portland, Salem and a few of the larger towns.

It is different now, and the pupils in the smallest and most remote country school in the state pursue the same course prescribed for the largest and best schools in the Valley. At the completion of the course the boy and girl in far-off Malheur undergo exactly the same educational test that is used in the public schools of Multnomah county. A diploma of graduation from the eighth grade is signed by the County Superintendent and it entitles the holder to any nineth grade in the state, These first eight years of study represent a definite amount of work, and a diploma has a meaning that every public school worker, whether in the primary department or in the University of Oregon, fully understands.

Along with this organization of the common schools has grown up a high-school system which is now quite firmly established in nearly every county in the state. In the less populous counties, the high-schools are yet lacking in some respects, but they are founded upon the same general plan—to take up the work where the common school leaves off and prepare the pupil for entrance to the freshman class of the State University. The high-school course comprises four years of work, and wherever it has been brought to the required standard, a diploma showing graduation has a definite meaning. The highschool is yet in its formative period in several of the counties, but the time will soon come when in every county there will be offered a uniform four years' course of instruction above the eighth grade.

The State University has recently given the high-school movement a new impeteus by dropping from its course of study all branches properly included in high-school work. Heretofore, students could go to the State University and take two or three years of work preparatory to entrance in the freshman year. This has been gradually eliminated until now the board of regents has found it practicable to drop all the preparatory work and concentrate the work of the institution upon the four years of the college course. This will tend to strengthen the high schools, for for students who would otherwise secure their preparatory instructions at Eugene must now go either to the public high schools or to some of the private academies. With this elimination of the academic work, the educational standards at the State University have been raised and that institution will become more popular amoung men and women seeking a college education.

This systematic organization of our public school system is in keeping with the best thought of the time in every line of effort. A perfect organization of working forces does more than any other one thing to secure the success of industrial enterprises. Each department of a factory or of a business institution has its particular work to which it gives exclusive attention. Thus each worker is enabled to accomplish the greatest results, and since the whole system works in harmony, there is nothing left undone. Thus it will be in our educational system. The completion of the eighth grade will be the ambition of every boy and girl who enters the public schools. When a common school education has been acquired, many will drop out and learn trades, become farmers or laborers, housekeepers, or enter the agricultural college or normal school to prepare for special work. Others will continue the course and graduate from the high school. A still smaller number will go on through the State University, completing the sixteen years of study which the public school system offers. It is neither practicable nor wise for every person who enters the first year of the common schools to try to complete the senior year of the university, but it is well that the whole system should be so harmoniously organized that those who desire to pursue the whole course may do so with no loss of time or waste effort.—Oregonian.

An effort is being made to introduce and maintain something like order in the Chicago convention. No flags, banners or portraits will be allowed on exhibition. A very good idea, and worthy of adoption at St. Louis.

Secretary Shaw is very much disappointed to find that the great depletion of the Treasury by the Panama Canal Purchase will result in a deficit at the end of the fiscal year, June 30. It will be small, however, and should exist but a short time.

Both Republican and Democratic Congressional Committees have established campaign headquarters at Washington. They are now engaged in sizing up speeches and deciding what will do the most harm. Republicans seem to have given up the idea of circulating a million of Bourke Cockran's free trade speech. The Democrats declare it was a bluff.

It looks at this moment as if Joseph W. Folk, of Missouri, might be dragooned into the service as Democratic candidate for Vice President. He doesn't want it, but that fact makes him more attractive and more available. His declination of the honor would not serve him; did not Horatio Seymour say to the convention, "I connot, will not accept—your candidate I cannot be," and then he ran and did his best.

Dr. Moore of the Agricultural Department reports that the water supply can be cleared of deadly bacteria by treating the water with infinitesimal doses of copper salts. He says that "at a cost of from fifty to sixty cents per million gallons all known algae infesting reservoirs for public water supply may be destroyed without harm to man, animal or fish. It is homeopathic-copper sulphate being tied up in a gunny-bag,—1 part sulphate to 1,000,000 parts water. Next!

Note and Comment.

The Democrats must be up and doing if they expect to overturn the Congressional majority of twenty-four now held by the Republicans. A shifting of thirteen districts will do it however.

According to the program now arranged, nominating speeches at Chicago will be made by Senator Beveridge of Indiana, H. S. Edwards of Macon, Georgia, Joseph Colton of Duluth, Minn., George A. Knight of California and a gifted colored lawyer from Baltimore. It is liable to be modified, however.

A bill was recently passed in Massachusetts making it illegal for women and children to work at night in the cotton factories. Governor Bates vetoed the bill. Probably he thinks that nobody has any right to keep women and children from working excepting one who is willing to keep them from starving by giving them a job "equally good." It is a pity that women and children ever have to work in factories; but for women and children who have nobody to turn to for support, such work is not the worst thing that could happen to them.

Physicians who have just held a convention at Providence, R. I, posit that the diseases which afflict humanity are largely the result of overeating—especially of meats. They also discountenance the common habit of candy eating.

Rev. C. F. Stimson, a Congregational minister of Kansas City, lauds the President and thinks that for every man to have an immense family is a solemn duty. He has had three pairs of twins and four singles in the course of seven years. Some fathers would not consider it a blessing, but Cyrus has a salary of $3,600.

Knoxville, Tenn., seems to be the center of a great educational movement. The most comprehensive summer school in the world will open at the University on June 28, for some months of study. More than 2,000 students will be in attendance, most of them school teachers thus employing their vacation. More than a hundred expert educational lectures will be on hand and a dozen lectures will be delivered every day. The University stands 1100 feet abov the sea in the mountains.

A Strong Heart

Is assured by perfect digestion. Indigestion swells the stomach and puffs it up against the heart. This causes shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and general weakness. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures indigestion, relieves the stomach, takes the strain off the heart and restores it to a full performance of its funtion naturally. Kodol increases the strength by enabling the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and appropiate to the blood and tissues all of the food nutriment. Tones the stomach and digestive organs. Sold by R. S. Knowlton.

The Philippine "Commission" (without commissions) who are traveling through this country and exhibiting themselves with considerable pride to their conquerors will no doubt get a lot of new ideas before weighing anchor again at San Francisco. It is understood that Secretary Taft invited them to come to verify his complimentary assertions about the intelligence, enterprise, and refinement of the people of the archipelago.

At the session of the Eastern Public Education Association Dr. Wood and Professor Huntington testified that a slitting of the pharyngeal tonsil (just back of the nose) resulted in a great increase of brightness and intelligence on the part of stupid pupils and an improvement of character in "bad" boys who took delight in cruelty. This beats the suggestion of a surgical operation to let in a joke.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets better than a Doctor's Prescription.

Mrs. J. W. Turner, of Truhart, Va., says that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have done him more good than anything he could get from the doctor. If any physician in this county was able to compound a medicine that would produce such gratifying results in, cases of stomach troubles, biliousness or constipation, his whole time would be used in preparing this one medicine. For sale by R. S. Knowlton.

Mrs. Moon, the milliner and dressmaker, keeps all kinds of fine and fashionable trimmings, etc., for dresses.

Sued by His Doctor

"A doctor here has sued me for $12.50, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coachella, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used as had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by R. S. Knowlton.
