JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN. McKinlass to-morrow. M. A. Miller, of Lebanon, is in the city...

Albany Lodge I. O. O. F. installed their newly elected officers last evening.

Shane & Lonsway's new adv. will appear in the HERALD to-morrow.

Extra copies of the New Year's HERALD can be had at this office at 10c each.

McKinlass' colored specialty company will appear at the opera house to-morrow evening.

Isom & Lanning made another shipment of their famous Red Crown flour to Portland yesterday.

Dr. M. H. Ellis is rapidly recovering from his recent injury, being now able to sit up. Mrs. Ellis is still quite ill.

Saturday night will be Prof. Milliken's last night of dancing school. All holding tickets should be present.

Of the immense stock of goods Fortmiller & Co. received from the East, there remains a few rods, carpet and plush rockers, which they will sell at a small profit so as to reduce their stock before taking invoice.

A dispatch received by the managers of the opera house last night states that the McKinlass' company is detained at Oakland, Or., by storm, and will be here Friday night, 6th inst., instead of to-night as announced.

The installation of the officers of Bonham Lodge No. 7, of Corvallis, occurred Tuesday evening, W. C. Tweedale, of this city, was installing officer and he was accompanied by T. J. Stites and others of Albany. A supper was given and a pleasant occasion experienced.

Now is the time to subscribe for newspapers and magazines for 1888. F. L. Kenton continues to receive subscriptions for all the leading periodicals, saving subscribers the trouble, risk and expense of sending direct to publishers. Orders left at the store of Kenton & Chase will receive prompt and careful attention.

Managing Editor. W. H. Parry, formerly of the Corvallis Gazette and Independence West Side, has been engaged as managing editor of the Salem Sentry. Mr. Parry is a newspaper man of experience.

About storing powder. Chief Engineer Jos. Webber, of the fire department, desires it announced that merchants dealing in powder are requested to store the same in conformity to the provisions of the city ordinance governing the storing of powder. He proposes to see by personal inspection that the law in this respect is adhered to.

Fashionable Tailoring. Mr. Eph Jacobs, representing Kohn & Lippert, the leading clothiers, hat makers and tailors of Portland, Oregon, is stopping at the Kevere house for a day or two with a fine line of samples of foreign and domestic cloths, cassimeres and Scotch tweed for suits and pants, made to order and ready made. Suits made to order for from $25 upwards. Pants to order from $5 upwards. Call and inspect his samples, whether you order or not.

LETTER LIST. Following is the list of letters remaining in the postoffice at Albany, Jan. 5, 1888. Persons calling for these letters will give the date on which they were advertised: Andrews, Mrs. Laura; Hand, W. R.; Beach, M. W.; Howell, William; Ball, Thos.; Norman, J. L.; Greenwood, A. B.; Sims, S. M.; Miss Mary L. Cross, Preston; Warring, John; Young, James; RUFFIN THOMPSON, P. M.

Startling—A Terrible Fall! A wonderful offer! Cloaks, jackets and wraps, of every description, at sweeping prices. Desiring to greatly reduce our stock on these lines before taking inventory, we will offer our entire line of Springer Bros. tailor made garments at cost or less. This is a rare chance. Call early while the assortment is large. MONTEITH & SEITENBACH.

Hats and Caps. At cost, to close. N. H. Allen & Co. propose to sell every kind of goods at cost. Call early and secure bargains.

SATISFACTORILY SETTLED.

The Clark-Pomeroy Seduction Case Terminated by Marriage.

The case brought by Elva Pomeroy, daughter of L. W. Pomeroy, of Scio, as prosecuting witness, against W. E. Clark, of Jefferson, of seduction, came to an abrupt termination in Justice Humphrey's court last evening, by the prisoner marrying the girl.

The defendant was arraigned at 7 o'clock, when his counsel moved for a stay of proceedings, as the parties desired to effect a settlement. This was granted, and a few minutes later the marriage license was issued by the county clerk, and the justice before whom the case was to be tried performed the marriage ceremony, the same being witnessed by the father and brother of the young lady, as well as the officers of the court.

OBITUARY.

Nothing we have heard for a long time has grieved us so much as the death of Robert Millhollen. On Christmas day at his father's house (Mr. Wm. Millhollen, of Fairview), this kind and generous-hearted boy gave up the struggle for life. He had been unwell for some time, but his immediate death was supposed to have been brought about by over exertion in helping to construct a bridge. He was only twenty-four years of age at the time of his death; just ready to begin to appreciate life, genial, gay and warm hearted, the clasp of his hand and his good natured greetings will be missed among his acquaintances, who all wore a sadder face when they heard he was no more. He was a young man who was highly esteemed by all who knew him, and a favorite among small children. Honest, quiet and sober, he would have succeeded well in any line of business that he might have undertaken. But alas! the gates of the unknown swung open as often to receive the young as the old, and no matter what bright prospects or how much youth we may have in our favor, none seem to be proof against their noiseless wing. Yet, after all, it may be best just in the happiest, sunniest hour of all the voyage, while eager winds are kissing every sail, to dash against the unseen rock and in an instant hear the billows roar around a sunken ship; for whether in mid sea or among the breakers of the further shore, a wreck must mark at last the end of each and all. He sleeps in the Oakville church yard, sheltered from the winds by woods of fir and pine, in sound of running water. The church stands near by among the oaks, the shadows of which rested upon him when he drew his first breath. Will the birds hop less gaily through their branches now since the winter rains fall lightly on a new made grave? He will rest well. B. M. ALBANY, Dec. 31, 1887.

MIDDLE RIDGE ITEMS.

MIDDLE RIDGE, Dec. 29, 1887. A. D. Combs, came down to Lebanon on the train Friday; he intends to return to Seattle the first of next week.

Report hath it that then would be Middle Ridge masher of a year ago, has no better success since moving his headquarters to B...

A shooting match, and a game of base-ball at Rock Hill on Saturday were the Christmas pastimes in this vicinity, so far as heard from.

F. F. Combs left the tie camp on the O. P. R. R. on Tuesday of last week reaching home on Friday dead broke. Some others in the camp would leave if they had the means.

We understand that the emigrants, at the foot of the hills are having considerable sickness. Mr. and Mrs. Ayer who are living in Mr. Dodge's house, buried one of their children on Friday the 23d inst. It was attended during his sickness by Dr. Courtney of Lebanon.

The people of Oregon just de-light in being swindled; horse thieves are not allowed to go un-hung but when the thief comes in shape of a seed wheat company and some of the excited ones get a rope around his neck, the dear public who he has swindled so neatly clamor for his release. Why, yes, let him go by all means and he'll come around again in a year or two with another entertainment for us, and a first class swindle is better than a circus any time.

THE OREGON PACIFIC.

Confidence That Hunt Will Resume Work—The Yaquina's Freight—The Oregonian on the O. P.

Prominent officials of the Oregon Pacific, when approached on the subject of the difficulty between their company and contractors Hunt and Bennett, express themselves as of the opinion that one of them—Hunt—will resume operations. Whether or not an understanding has been arrived at between them and Mr. Hunt they decline to state, but it is very evident that an early settlement of the trouble, if not already consummated, is confidently expected by them. Mr. Bennett's suit for over a half a million dollars they regard as a very large-sized bluff, and they are giving themselves no uneasiness about its outcome. Appearances now are that work will be resumed along the Oregon Pacific extension in the spring just; as if nothing had happened.

George Pope, agent for Lloyds, who has charge of the adjustment of general averages on wrecked vessels, passed down the road yesterday afternoon, says Thursdays Statesman, on his way from Yaquina. It is not yet ascertainable what per cent. of the value of the cargo had been lost, and the average will not be declared until Mr. Pope and the insurance adjusters settle on the matter in Portland. Average bonds have been sent to various shippers on the wrecked Yaquina, whose freight was saved. In these bonds the shippers agree to pay their share of the general average, upon receipt of their freight, or after the amount of the average is ascertained.

Among other things, the New Year's Oregonian says of the Oregon Pacific: "The completion of the link connecting Portland with the Willamette valley narrow-gauge system is an important step in local development; but a step far more important is the enterprise now in progress by the Oregon Pacific railroad company. This company, whose road at the beginning of last year entered Albany in its march from Yaquina bay across the state, has made a further advance of twenty miles, will be across the Cascade mountains and into the middle of the state by the early summer. The progress of this road is carrying transportation into the heart of Oregon, a country as yet but little more than explored, but destined to make great advances under its new opportunities."

"The Oregon Pacific road is said to be under engagement with the Chicago & Northwestern to meet it in Southern Idaho. There is little doubt here that the Oregon Pacific is but another name for Chicago & Northwestern and that it intends to make a through line between Chicago and Portland via Idaho, central Oregon, the San'tiam pass and the lower Willamette valley. The route has been chosen with consummate wisdom over the only practicable pass in the middle part of the state and through a region of vast resources as yet but little developed. But this is prospective. It is sufficient to note at this time that the Oregon Pacific in its own name is opening up a region which in another year will add a new province to Portland's commercial realm."

FROM EAST OF THE MOUNTAINS.

Mt. Vernon, Grant Co., Dec. 30. Snow fell to the depth of 8 inches on the 25th and is likely to stay awhile from the looks of things.

Stock is looking fifty per cent. better this winter than last, and there is considerable more hay on hand than at this time last year but there was no feeding done last winter till February and indications are that there will not be as much stock lost this winter as last unless the present snowfall should stay on all winter which is hardly probable.

Christmas has come and gone and the residents of this portion of the John Day Valley have enjoyed themselves accordingly. There was a Christmas tree at Mt. Vernon school-house also one at the mouth of Moon creek. They were not very gorgeous affairs but did great credit to their projectors. There was also a dance at Mt. Vernon among the rest we noticed the following Webfoots present: Dave Peterson, W. A. Goan and family, W. F. Fogle, from Lebanon, W. F. Geary, M. D. Jones and Jim Geary from Jacksonville.

We notice in your issue of Dec. 16 a seasonable article on postage reduction and a return to fractional currency, both of which would be a blessing to such places as this and there are lots of just such places in Eastern Oregon, where there is no express office and if there was it would cost about sixteen cents per pound for everything shipped in that way, by all means give us as cheap rates on cards and cuttings, and a return to fractional currency far to my order office in Grant county; there may possibly be two, and that in a county 100 by 200 miles. Just think but two money order offices in a space of 20,000 square miles.

Just received, the celebrated Estrella Key West cigar, the finest Key West cigar in the market, at M. Baumgart's cigar store.

Conn Bros., sole agents for the celebrated "Red Letter" cigar, strictly Havana filled, the best 5-cent cigar in the market.

Cloaks, jackets and winter wraps at cost or less at Monteith & Seitenbach's. Umbrellas at cost. Don't forget that N. H. Allen & Co. have a full stock of umbrellas which they will sell at cost to close.

On The Threshold

OF A

NEW YEAR.

We pause in the midst of our commercial rush, and not without good reason heartily thank

OUR PATRONS

For, and congratulate ourselves on, the great strides made and the MANY TRIUMPHS

Achieved during the past year. We point with pride to our

COLOSSAL ESTABLISHMENT,

On the corner of First and Broadalbin streets, which has now become the recognized

EMPORIUM

For all that is select and admirable in the production of both European and American looms in staple dry goods, fine dress goods and silks, and the indisputable

POLYTECHNIC

For the outpourings of the concentrated genius of foreign and home inventors of fine art fancy goods, and the

COLLOSEUM

That bridges the chasm which timid speculators are fearful of crossing, laying at the feet of the inhabitants of Albany and surrounding country

THE WORLD'S SELECTIONS

In everything that pertains to dry and fancy goods, cloaks, boots, shoes and all the e-to-teras. As it behoov's a firm which has reared its head above all competition, we never ridicule the feeble attempts at rivalry from our neighbors, and since our position

DECIDEDLY ADVANTAGEOUS

It were doubly unworthy of us to do so. The secret of our advantage, besides a keen apprehension of the values of goods and being constantly on the qui vive for the latest developments of taste and fashion, lies in the fact that we are the proprietors of that immense establishment,

THE WHITE HOUSE,

At Spokane Falls, along with our Albany house, which compels us to buy our goods in enormous quantities, and the consideration that we always pay spot cash secures us our goods far

BELOW ORDINARY PRICES.

And makes our custom courted by the leading wholesale houses. For the approaching spring trade our programme is already filled, and in view of the very satisfactory and increasing demand for fine dry goods in Albany, the proud metropolis of the valley, we intend to outshine if possible our former efforts and offer

NOVELTIES

Which shall surprise both the consumers and the trade in the whole Northwest, and place our prices in a position to gladden our patrons and paralyze all attempts at competition. Persons desiring to convince themselves of the foregoing are cordially invited to pay a visit to our establishment, where the splendor of

WEALTH AND MAGNIFICENCE

Will of themselves hurry conviction, and should they desire to purchase with cash or to open an account, they shall find advantages to which they were before now strangers. To our patrons, and to the public generally, we wish a prosperous
