Hard, preserved seats, I am told are being erected around the amphitheatre, and the Roman schools are closed. Everything points toward a great festival day, if that would be the right kind of day to use in this place. Is it to be wondered at that we will soon see Roman cowboys, who ought to be in school, landing here on our coasts and inquiring at the corner of Broadway and Chambers street where they can find an Indian outbreak to quell? May we not look for the Arabian and Chinese contingent by the next spring, armed to the teeth and asking at an intelligence office when the Deadwood stage is expected, so that they can attack it and rob it a few times?

I saw one of those kindergarten cowboys get off a train once and go up through the town. Afterward I saw him come back. He looked different somehow. When he got off at the station I noticed that he had long hair, which was tied back with a pale blue watered silk ribbon. He had long legs, which seemed to extend from Adam's apple to the ground. Death of Gen. Meacham's Widow at Walla Walla.

NEWS ALONG THE COAST.

The Trial of Belle McDonald for the Attempted Murder of her Father-in-Law—

Death of Gen. Sewall.

The HERALD'S Special Dispatches.]

WALLA WALLA, Jan. 9.—Mrs. O. Caroline Meacham, widow of Alfred B. Meacham, of Modoc war fame, died in this city Saturday night. Mrs. Meacham for many years resided at Salem, and subsequently Portland. She leaves two children, Geo. F. Meacham and Mrs. J. W. Redington. She has been for several years the recipient of a pension of $50 per month in acknowledgement of her husband's services in the Modoc war.

DEATH OF GEN. SEWALL.

His Two Sons Will Inherit His Large Fortune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Gen. Washington Sewall died at his apartments in Berkshire hotel this morning. His disease was enlargement of the liver which combined with weight of years caused his death. He leaves only two relatives his sons Bullitt and J. M. Sewall who will inherit the bulk of his large fortune.

Will be Tried at Last.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The actual trial of Clara Belle McDonald on the charge of assault with intent to kill her father-in-law, Richard H. McDonald was commenced before Judge Murphy and a jury to-day.

Dropped Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Thomas P. O'Connor, ex-clerk of supreme court, dropped dead in the supreme court room this morning.

BILL ME TAKES ABOUT COWBOYS.

He Feels an Incursion of Novices from the Old World.

The cable news from London would seem to indicate that the coming year will witness a large horde of armed gossings from England who intend to prosecute the cow gentleman and Deadwood stage robbery business on our frontier. It is perhaps unnecessary to state that Buffalo William, the graceful and courteous horse-wonder from Nebraska, is largely responsible for this. Wherever he has gone with his eccentric, dark red, self-made Indians and his speckled broncos he has sown the seeds of discontent in the grammar school and bred open rebellion and mutiny in the primary department.

Look along the red hot trail of B. William and you find the American and foreign youth alternating with undisciplined outlying from his educational pursuits to immerse his legs in a pair of chaps, to wield the brief but stinging quirt, to whom up the red eyed, bluish and high-tailed Texan Maverick, or stout large irregular holes into the otherwise poorly ventilated savage.

Gentle reader, we stand upon the crumbling brink of a great cowboy eruption from England, Ireland, Scotland, the continent and the great orient itself. I do not think that Buffalo Bill had any idea when he started in to rehearse his great society drama and horse play, that it would so soon disturb international relations and through our cactus forests and greecewood vineyards with juvenile cowboys from Greenland's icy mountains and India's coral strands. If he had he would have hesitated about it. He is billed for the Coliseum, and already people from Lyria and the citron groves of St. Lawrence county are coming into town bringing their dinners and hitching their teams to the fence behind the Coliseum.

OVER THE ROCKIES

A New York River Breaks from Its Embankments

AND DROWNS MANY WORKMEN.

A Scene of Intense Excitement—The Remains of Napoleon III Given a New Resting Place—Weather.

The HERALD'S Special Dispatches.]

CHATTANOOGA (N. Y.), Jan. 9.—At an early hour this morning about the time a gang of Italians, who worked in a quarry, at night were on their way home, the Potomac river forced its way through the narrow stretch of land dividing it from the aqueduct and broke through the walls with a deafening roar and flooded a new water way the entire length to the depth of fifty feet. The loss of life is very great, although at this hour it is impossible to ascertain just how many men were at work when the break occurred. All the mules belonging to the contractors also drowned. The excitement about the place is intense and men, women and children are running madly about in search of missing friends.

REMAINS OF NAPOLEON III.

They are Placed in the Tomb Prepared by Empress Eugenie.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The remains of Napoleon III and his son, the prince imperial, were removed to-day from Cheltenham to Farnborough, where they were deposited in the mausoleum erected by ex-Empress Eugenie. After religious services at Cheltenham the bodies were conveyed in solemn state to the railway station.

Our Grain Supply.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The produce exchange reports the visible supply of grain on Jan. 7th as follows: Wheat, 43,857,000 bushels; corn, 6,184,000 bushels; oats, 5,896,000 bushels; rye, 200,000 bushels; barley, 3,328,000 bushels.

A Trifle Colder.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 9.—The thermometer registered 37 degrees below zero at 4 A. M. to-day.

Cowboys Lassoing the Ballet.

One of the variety theaters at Dodge City, had for an attraction a company composed of gaudy-stocked blonds. The performance was awful in its wretchedness, and in no time the boys got uneasy and the whiskey in them began to call for fun. Joe Hooke arose gavel and called the performance to a halt, and asked for the manager. The impressive gentleman came into sight on the stage and asked what was wanted. Joe told him that a show, to be a success, should be plentifully sprinkled with local talent. The manager haughtily declined Joe's offer "to speak a piece" but his indignation was soon cut short by the whizzing of a lariat and a stern reminder that any kicking would speedily be followed by strangulation.

Joe mounted the stage and ordered the orchestra to play something "right sneaky like, and began a long piece to the effect that:

In de days of old
We'm all had gold
In fac till quite recently
When we'ms head a wake
On New York Jake
But couldn't bury in deenly

After that the performance proceeded until one of the boys, taking it into his head that the big fiddle was a nuisance, threw a lasso over the neck of it, and started for the door. The instrument was a complete wreck in a minute. The boys then began to lasso the girls on the stage, who were engaged in an Amazonian march, and, in less time than it takes to tell it, there was not a light burning in the house.—Kansas City Star.

DONT.

let that cold of yours run on. You think it is a light thing. But it may run into catarrh. Or into pneumonia. Or consumption.

Catarrh is disgusting. Pneumonia is dangerous. Consumption is death itself.

The breathing apparatus must be kept healthy and clear of all obstructions and offensive matter. Here there is trouble ahead.

All the diseases of these parts, head, nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, can be delightfully and entirely cured by the use of Boschee's German Syrup. If you don't know this already, thousands and thousands of people can tell you. They have been cured by it, and "know how it is, themselves." Bottle only 75 cents. Ask any druggist.

Ladies will find relief from headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, our stomach, restlessness, indigestion, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency by taking Simmons Liver Regulator. It is not unpleasant, is purely vegetable, and is not injurious to the most delicate constitution.
