Do You Want THE GREAT STORM.

NOTHING—:—NICER

THE HERALD'S Special Dispatches.]
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 13.—Reports from all over the Northwest indicate the prevailing storm to be the worst of the season. Its area of operations is from the Rockies to Lake Michigan, but Minnesota and Dakota are the worst sufferers. On roads running west from here all freights are abandoned and passenger trains only run at long intervals, though every effort is being made to keep them moving. At Huron, Dakota, the blizzard filled the air with a blinding snow, so that business men lost their way on the drive from their homes to their offices. In railroad shops whistles kept blowing to give people out in the storm their bearings. At Fargo the storm was the worst in eight years, with the mercury at 47 degrees below zero, and a hurricane blowing. Jamestown, on the Northern branch of the Northern Pacific, is entirely plugged up. At Pierre, Dakota, the wind is blowing sixty miles an hour and the roads are blocked. At Neiche, Dakota, 53 degrees below zero was reached.

AGED MRS. GARFIELD IS ILL.
The Dead President's Mother Likely to Soon Pass Away—Anarchists Likely to be Disintegrated.

Yuma Sentinel.
The Colorado River Canal Company have filed their articles of incorporation, and preparing for business. The dam to be built across the Colorado river is at a point about twenty-five miles above Yuma. The dam will raise the water about fifteen feet, and water taken out into two canals, one in Yuma county and the other in San Diego county. The object in damming the river is to have a sufficient head that the canals can at any time rid themselves of the mud in the bottom of the water ways; the main difficulty in ditching the Colorado has always been to get rid of the sediment; this plan will undoubtedly be successful and the water supply, being capabilities of this grand enterprise. Congress will be asked to grant the company a franchise, and immediately upon obtaining the right work will be inaugurated. The waters of the Colorado will be used not only in Arizona, but also in irrigating that magnificent piece of country which extends to New Water, Cal. At Stevenson's island the head of the Arizona canal will be taken out and the life-giving liquid will be carried over the thousands of acres of land until the Gila river is reached, when the water will be flumed across the Gila and carried to the magnificent lands below clear to the Mexican line, and perhaps on to the lovely fields of Sonora itself. The canal will be a success, and through its agency will develop this country into a veritable land of oriental wealth and solid prosperity. As stated before, the only difficulty heretofore found in taking out irrigating canals from the Colorado has been the trouble in managing the sediment, and this will be overcome by the plan proposed by the canal company. The canals will irrigate some 1,500,000 acres of as fine land as the sun shines upon—land which will produce wealth enough for a nation of people and build up immense communities of intelligent and prosperous citizens.

THE HUMAN JAW.
It Covers 167 Miles and Over in Seventy Years.

Philadelphia News.
The noon-day customers were dropping out one by one from a Sanson-street restaurant when a dyspeptic-looking man who sat at the next table startled me by saying: "Have you any idea how many miles a man's jaw will travel in the course of his life, assuming that he lives to be 70 years old?"

"Well, I never thought of it," answered a young man who halted in his wild career of beefsteak. The dyspeptic man changed his seat and exposed a much soiled piece of paper with some figures, which he proceeded to explain:

"For the first ten years a child's jaw will go about fifty five inches daily, or 200,750 inches altogether in a decade. From his tenth to his twentieth year, what with chewing food, gum and tobacco, he will work his jaws for, say, four hours a day, at an average of one-half of an inch per minute; that would make in a day 120 inches, or in ten years 438,000 inches.

During this time he will talk about five hours a day, traversing about three-fourths of an inch a minute with his jaw; that would give in ten years 822,250 inches to be added to our former figures.

"For the next forty-five years he will spend sixty minutes a day in eating, when he will open his mouth one-half an inch a minute, and seven hours in talking, when he will average five eighths of an inch; that is when you figure it out 5,908,625 inches.

"We now have our man sixty-five years old. For the last five years his jaw takes a rest. He will eat no more than thirty minutes a day at one-half inch a minute, or 27,345 inches, and in talking the distance traveled will not amount to more than 338,500 inches. Now for the total. If we add the various sums together we get 6,835,470 inches, and dividing by 63,360, the number of inches in a mile, you find that the maxillary journey is a distance of 107 miles and a fraction."

"That is certainly interesting," said the young man. Have you ever calculated the same lip-trip for a woman?"

"My dear boy," came the slow, sad reply, "life is short."

A Flower for Each Month.
January is the time for snowdrops; February, of the crocus; March, of daffodils; April, of narcissus; May, of iris; June, of roses; July, of lilies and snapdragons; August, of sunflowers and hollyhock; September, of phlox, and clematis; October, of asters; November, of chrysanthemums; and December, of hellebores or Christmas roses.

Nothing better can be applied to a cut or bruise than cold turpentine; it will give relief almost instantly.

OVER THE ROCKIES.
A Terrible Tragedy in an Alabama Town.

AGED MRS. GARFIELD IS ILL.
The Dead President's Mother Likely to Soon Pass Away—Anarchists Likely to be Disintegrated.

ANNISTON (Ala.), Jan. 13.—R. A. Evans and W. R. Williams killed each other at the Parker house yesterday. Williams was proprietor of the house and Evans and wife were boarders. Williams made objection to them some days ago and words passed between them. Evans returned yesterday intoxicated and renewed the difficulty, and began firing. Evans emptied five barrels of his revolver and Williams four. When Williams fired his last shot they were down on the floor together, and the powder burned Evans' coat. Williams killed Evans after he himself had received mortal wounds.

MRS. GARFIELD ILL.
The Dead President's Mother Likely to Soon Pass Away.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 13.—Grandma Garfield's mother is called by those who know her, is ill at the old homestead at Mentor. She wants to see "Jimmy," as she terms her dead son, and although not very sick, it is thought her end is drawing near, as she is very aged.

A Rascal Arrested.
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—After eluding detectives for a year the man who so successfully swindled the citizens of the city of Mexico out of nearly $30,000 by a spurious advance sale of tickets for a series of concerts by Mme. Patti, has been arrested. He is supposed to be Charles Bourton, who lived here for a short time. The swindle in the city of Mexico is not the only crime for which he is wanted. He is one of the most successful and dangerous counterfeit men, and has operated successfully all over Europe, and if Mexican authorities do not want him he will be held to answer for some other of his many offenses.

Row Over the Anarchists.
CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—The directors of the Waldheim cemetery in which the anarchists are buried insisted on the defense signing an ironclad agreement this morning to have no demonstrations over the graves, and pending settlement are withholding the lease. Members now favor disinterring the bodies and having them cremated, so that an annual demonstration can be held over the ashes.

Platt Must Step Down.
ALBANY, Jan. 13.—The jury in the case of the State against Thos. G. Platt, to oust him from his position of quarantine commissioner of the city of New York, on the ground that he is not a resident of that city, this morning returned a verdict against Platt.

The Queen Will Travel.
LONDON, Jan. 13.—Queen Victoria will go to San Remo by way of Switzerland.

What Our Grandchildren May Expect
North American Review.
The civilization of the future will, however, respectfully decline Mr. Ruskin's plan for regaining Arcadia by the substitution of moonshine and manual labor for gas-light and steam engines. Labor-saving machinery has come to stay, and if steam should not monopolize the rough work of the next century it is only because it will share its functions with its twin giant of electricity. We shall have steam quarries and steam digging machinery, and the speed of travel is destined to surpass the achievements of the present age by just as much as a modern express train surpasses a mediæval mail coach.

The coming American autocar of the breakfast table will growl at the delay of the morning mail per night boat from Europe. Excursion trains leaving Boston after breakfast will avoid the night fogs of the Cordilleras by reaching the City of Mexico in time for supper. The competition of rail and ocean routes with balloon bee line will make travel cheap enough to familiarize our tourists with every zone of their continent; and climatic excursions will probably contrive to enjoy a perpetual Summer by conveying their July picnics in the Yellowstone Park and their New York's symposium in Valparaiso.

A Useful Hint From Jack.
It was a bashful youth who had his girl out rowing at Bar Harbor and was working his boat along close to the shore, when an old seaman took in the situation at once and shouted:

"I say, there, my bold skipper, give up hugging the shore and try a little of it on the girl!"
She wears a solitaire now.
