ULTIMATE FAMILY MEDICINE

"I have used Simmons' Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."

WAKE OF THE STORM

Desolation and Death on Every Hand.

HORSES PERISH IN THEIR STALLS

Cattle in Transit Frozen to Death by the Carload—The Storm Extends into Texas.

The Herald's Special Dispatches.

KANSAS CITY (MO), Jan. 16.—Saturday and Sunday were the coldest ever experienced in this section. The thermometer registering at one time fifteen degrees below zero at one time. The reports of cases of freezing from different points in Kansas are appalling. The blizzard that raged through this section a few weeks ago left the people in an exhausted condition. It is estimated that 3000 people in Clark county are in a destitute condition.

The Presbyterian minister at Hartford, Kearney county, writes to the aid society imploring assistance for that section, saying: "If relief does not come soon hundreds will die."

GREAT LOSS OF STOCK.

Specials from different points indicate that the casualties among stock has been greater than ever before known in Kansas. Horses and cattle have perished in their stalls. Two trains of cattle coming in on the Missouri Pacific railroad were caught in the blizzard and every animal frozen to death. In Indian territory the entire range is frozen over, and cattle are drifting south and losses will be very great.

THE STORM IN TEXAS.

Telegrams from points in Texas report the mortality lower than ever before known, suffering among the poor people is very severe. Cattle on the ranges are drifting south in vast numbers, and cattle men at present great losses.

Our Fourth of July, Too.

Low do! I wonder why not only the birth but the birthday of every royalty is celebrated by firing a quantity of gunpowder through a mental tube? The princess of Wales was in Norfolk when her birthday was celebrated last week at Windsor in this silly fashion. She herself could hardly derive any personal pleasure from it. Who then did? Indeed, I may go even further and ask what sane human being, not a native of Ashantee or other such barbarous hole, can possibly derive any pleasure from being with in earshot of a hideous noise? I wonder how many starving children might be given a good meal for the money which is annually expended in royal salutes?

Explanation.

In another column appears under our signature an advertisement announcing the closing out of our shoe business altogether at cost. Why we sell at actual cost is because we won't buy any more and wish to clear out every shoe as quick as we can. Of course the public understand very well that if we intended to continue the shoe business such a course would be to say the least, nonsensical, and our announcement to that effect would be considered deceptive. Ladies will please note this fact and govern themselves accordingly.

SOMETHING ABOUT EGGS.

Their Use as Food, as Medicine and in the Industries.

London Standard.
Eggs are a meal themselves. Every element necessary to the support of man is contained within the limits of an egg shell, in the most palatable form. Plain boiled, they are wholesome. The masters of French cookery, however, affirm that it is easy to dress them in more than 500 different ways, each method not only economical but salutary in the highest degree. No honest appetite ever yet rejected an egg in some guise. It is nutriment in the most portable form and in the most concentrated shape. Whole nations of mankind rarely touch any other animal food. Kings eat them plain as readily as do the humble tribesmen.

After the victory of Muhlberg, when the Kaiser Ludwig sat at meat with his burggraves and great captains, he determined on a piece of luxury—"one egg to every man and two to the excellently valiant Schwepperman." Far more than fish, for its watery diet, eggs are the scolar's fare. They contain phosphorus, which is brain food and sulphur, which performs a variety of functions in the economy. And they are the best nutriment for children, for, in a compact form, they contain everything that is necessary for the growth of the youthful frame. Eggs are, however, not only food. They are medicine also. The white is the most efficacious of remedies for burns, and the oil extractable from the yolk is regarded by the Russians as an almost miraculous salve for cuts, bruises and scratches.

A raw egg, if swallowed in time, will effectually detach a fish-bone in the throat, and the white of two eggs will render the deadly corrosive sublimate as harmless as a dose of cologne. They strengthen the consumptive, invigorate the feeble and render the most susceptible all but proof against jaundice in its more malignant phase. They can also be drunk in the shape of that "egg flip," which sustains the oratorical efforts of a modern statesman. The merits of eggs do not end even here. In France alone the wine charities use more than 80,000,000 a year, and the Alsations consume fully 38,000,000 in calico printing and for dressing the leather used in making the finest of French kid gloves. Finally, do not mention various other employments for eggs in the arts, which may, of course, almost without trouble on the farmer's part, be converted into fowls, which, in any shape, are profitable to the seller and welcome to the buyer. Even egg-shells are valuable, for allopah and homoeopath alike agree in regarding them as the purist of carbonate of lime.

THE BEST SHOT IN ENGLAND.

How Earl de Grey Bagged a Covey of Five Partridges.

Court Journal.

Earl de Grey, who was shooting with Colonel Tomaline at Stratton Hall recently, is reported to be the best shot in England. It is a curious thing that our crack shots are both Welshmen, the second Grey being Lord Walsingham, who is very little behind his namesake with the prefix "de." Perhaps the story is not true that de Grey tried to drop a driven partridge down the chimney of his keeper's cottage, and at last succeeded, but a really true and still better anecdote of him is related. The writer of it was grouse driving in Yorkshire, and Lord de Grey, past master of the gunnery, was in the next butt. He had three guns ready for use, and toward him a small covey of five birds came flying. How to kill the lot was the problem. A brace coming and a brace going would be easy to such an adept, but the fifth bird would get away. One of the grouse was a bit in advance, and taking a long shot at it, Lord de Grey killed it, and, with out using the second barrel, dropped gun No. 1, took up gun No. 2, killed two birds coming, then took up gun No. 3, and killed two going. Probably there is no other man in England who would have done it.

The Ounce of Prevention.

The satisfaction of feeling safe from catching any disease from drinking water, from impure air, from a sick person, from contact with foul clothing, infection or contagion from any source, is complete and all anxiety allayed by the use of Darby's Prophylactic Fluid. A bottle will give more safety, comfort and confidence than all the doctoring in the world.

Ladies will find relief from costive-ness, headache, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, indigestion, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency by taking Simmons' Liver Regulator. It is not unpleasant, is purely vegetable, and is not injurious to the most delicate constitutions.

ANOTHER ELECTIONEERING TOUR

The President Will Go to Florida—Farnell Interviewed The McDonald Case Submitted to the Jury.

The Herald's Special Dispatches.

BREKIN, Jan. 16.—Several Italian staff officers are here consulting with German military authorities. It is reported that their mission is in connection with Italy's undertaking to send 150,000 troops to Galicia in event of war.

FARNELL TALKS.

He Urges His Followers to Reopen the Land Question.

DUBLIN, Jan. 16.—A Freeman's Journal reporter has had an interview with Farnell. Farnell believes there is no doubt that grave dissension exists among the members of the cabinet, and that the government, party crisis may occur at any time next session over some English question. He urges Farnell and radicals to facilitate government business and thus avoid the charge of obstruction. He says the liberal unionists are certain to separate on English matters. Farnell says that recent reduction in rent made by land commissioners are not half what the tenants of Ireland are entitled to, and urges the party to take such action as will oblige sub-commissioners to re-examine the land question. He expresses his belief that the nationalists will gain three members at the next parliamentary election.

San Journey.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Senator Blackburn yesterday received a despatch from his eldest daughter, Mrs. Stewart who with her husband are now in Los Angeles, stating that Mr. Stewart was lying at the point of death with consumption. The case is particularly sad as they are a young couple who married but a few months since. The senator and Mrs. Blackburn left for Los Angeles last night.
